Mailing of summons and complaint to court clerk on last day of statute of limitations did not constitute "filing" within meaning of commencement-by-filing procedure under CLS CPLR § 304, and thus action against city was time-barred, where papers were not actually received by clerk until after statute of limitations under CLS Gen Mun § 50-i had expired. Enos v City of Rochester, 206 A.D.2d 159, 619 N.Y.S.2d 459, 1994 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11976 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1994), app. denied, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2069 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't Feb. 3, 1995).

Statue of Limitations under CLS Gen Mun § 50-i did not bar claim under CLS Gen Mun § 205-e on basis that notice of claim failed to specify that particular legal theory since neither CLS Gen Mun § 50-i nor governing case law imposed such requirement, notice of claim herein described in sufficient detail time, place, and manner of occurrence and plaintiff's damages to advise city of basis for claim so as to have opportunity to investigate, and imposing such theory-specific requirement in instant case would be inconsistent with remedial purpose of amendment to CLS Gen Mun § 205-e. Simons v City of New York, 252 A.D.2d 451, 675 N.Y.S.2d 597, 1998 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8417 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1998).

Tort action against county employees was properly dismissed where acts or events that allegedly occurred before date when notice of claim allegedly was served fell beyond limitations period prescribed in either CLS Gen Mun § 50-i or CLS CPLR § 215(3), and plaintiff's failure to comply with notice of claim provisions of § 50-i was fatal as to any wrongful or negligent acts allegedly committed after that date. Pravda v County of Saratoga, 255 A.D.2d 717, 680 N.Y.S.2d 705, 1998 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11901 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1998), app. dismissed, 93 N.Y.2d 1000, 695 N.Y.S.2d 745, 717 N.E.2d 1082, 1999 N.Y. LEXIS 1963 (N.Y. 1999), cert. denied, 528 U.S. 1063, 120 S. Ct. 619, 145 L. Ed. 2d 513, 1999 U.S. LEXIS 8308 (U.S. 1999).

For statute of limitations purposes, cause of action under 42 USC § 1983 alleging federal civil rights violations is characterized as personal injury action and is not subject to notice claim requirements of CLS Gen Mun § 50-i. Lopez v Shaughnessy, 260 A.D.2d 551, 688 N.Y.S.2d 614, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4104 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1999).

Compressed air did not qualify as a toxic substance under N.Y. C.P.L.R. 214-c, and, therefore, parties injured by exposure to compressed air could not rely on the date of discovery rule; thus, their application for leave to serve late notices of claim against city was time-barred under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law §§ 50-e(5), 50-i(1). Huggler v City of New York, 289 A.D.2d 240, 733 N.Y.S.2d 725, 2001 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11831 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2001), app. denied, 98 N.Y.2d 614, 751 N.Y.S.2d 169, 780 N.E.2d 980, 2002 N.Y. LEXIS 3139 (N.Y. 2002).

N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i(3) provided that nothing in N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-h would extend the statute of limitations; thus, when the trial court granted plaintiff in a personal injury suit an additional 60 days after a § 50-h examination to commence an action, the trial court had no jurisdiction to extend the statute of limitations. Cinqumani v County of Nassau, 28 A.D.3d 699, 814 N.Y.S.2d 663, 2006 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4770 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2006).

Alleged injured party timely commenced a special proceeding against a city within the one year and 90-day statute of limitations in N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law §§ 50-e(5) and 50-i(1) when he filed an unsigned order to show cause, his attorney's affirmation and a verified proposed notice of claim because the affirmation and proposed notice were properly viewed as the petition (N.Y. C.P.L.R. 402) required to commence a special proceeding (N.Y. C.P.L.R. 304), and, having timely commenced the special proceeding, that proceeding could not be deemed a nullity despite his failure to serve the order to show cause within the time prescribed by the trial court, as any defect in service of the order merely raised an issue regarding whether the trial court had personal jurisdiction over the city. Matter of Jordan v City of New York, 38 A.D.3d 336, 833 N.Y.S.2d 8, 2007 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3638 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 2007).

Plaintiffs' medical malpractice action should have been dismissed for failure to comply with N.Y. Unconsol. Law § 7401(2) and N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law §§ 50-e(5) and 50-i because before bringing suit, plaintiffs neither served a timely notice of claim nor sought leave to serve a late notice of claim with the one-year-and-90-day limitations period. McGriff v New York City Health & Hosps. Corp., 38 A.D.3d 504, 831 N.Y.S.2d 486, 2007 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2580 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2007).

N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-e(5), which permitted the extension of the time to serve a notice of claim, was of no help to a former arrestee whose N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-e notice of claim did not include allegations of false arrest and malicious prosecution, because the former arrestee did not seek to file a late notice and was time-barred from bringing any new claims under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i(1). Scott v City of New York, 40 A.D.3d 408, 836 N.Y.S.2d 140, 2007 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6075 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 2007).

Although the trial court providently granted an inmate's motion for leave to serve a late notice of claim based on alleged sexual abuse, it should have limited the late notice of claim only to those claims not barred by the applicable statute of limitations. Catterson v Suffolk County Dept. of Health Servs., 49 A.D.3d 792, 854 N.Y.S.2d 205, 2008 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2742 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2008).

In a medical malpractice case against a city, the trial court erred in denying plaintiff's unopposed motion to strike the city's statute of limitations defense because the action was commenced within one year and 90 days of the happening of the event and thus was not time-barred. Brunson v New York City Health & Hosps. Corp., 144 A.D.3d 854, 42 N.Y.S.3d 34, 2016 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7503 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2016).

Any claims of an arrestee against a village for excessive force, assault and battery, and negligent training and supervision were barred by the statute of limitations, which, except for malicious prosecution, accrued on the date of the arrestee's arrest, as the complaint was filed more than 1 year and 90 days after his arrest. O'Dell v County of Livingston, 174 A.D.3d 1307, 103 N.Y.S.3d 730, 2019 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5425 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2019).

Although court may extend time to serve notice of claim on municipality under CLS Gen Mun L § 50-e(5), despite notice of claim requirement being express condition precedent to commencement of action, court may not grant leave to file late notice on those claims where applicable statute of limitations has expired. Piesco v New York, 693 F. Supp. 86, 1988 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 9962 (S.D.N.Y. 1988).

As a father did not allege in his complaint that he filed a notice of claim with a municipality, more than thirty days passed without resolution of the claim prior to filing the member case, and he did not argue in opposition to a motion to dismiss that he had complied with the notice of claim requirements, the municipality was entitled to dismissal of the claim against it. Parent v New York, 786 F. Supp. 2d 516, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 55713 (N.D.N.Y. 2011), aff'd, 485 Fed. Appx. 500, 2012 U.S. App. LEXIS 12267 (2d Cir. N.Y. 2012).

New York City and its insurer breached a settlement agreement with workers who were injured due to performing clean-up work at the World Trade Center site; contingent payments were due because the number of new claims against the City and its contractors that were active on a specified date did not exceed a certain threshold. Many cases that were filed in order to meet state and federal statutory deadlines were withdrawn or dismissed prior to the specified date. In re World Trade Ctr. Disaster Site Litig., 879 F. Supp. 2d 396, 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 98451 (S.D.N.Y. 2012), rev'd, 754 F.3d 114, 2014 U.S. App. LEXIS 10681 (2d Cir. N.Y. 2014).

12. —Computation of period

Under rule that time is to be computed by excluding day of event and including last day up to midnight of that day, plaintiffs who were allegedly injured by city vehicle at 2:35 p.m. on July 22, 1985, and who had one year and 90 days within which to commence action under CLS Gen Mun § 50-i, were required to serve municipal defendants by midnight on October 20, 1986; exclusion of first full day and inclusion of last day did not result in period ending at 2:34 p.m. on October 21, 1986, as contended by plaintiffs. Bacalokonstantis v Nichols, 141 A.D.2d 482, 529 N.Y.S.2d 111, 1988 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6305 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1988).

In action against city arising from accident which occurred sometime between 11:30 p.m. on May 10 and 12:30 a.m. on May 11, complaint served one year and 91 days after May 10 was not rendered timely on basis that word "day" should be viewed in 24-hour increments when computing limitation period under CLS Gen Mun § 50-i, since such analysis would contravene long-settled prevailing rule that fractions of day will not be utilized when computing time periods unless they are material to resolution of competing claims. Pietrowski v New York, 166 A.D.2d 423, 560 N.Y.S.2d 662, 1990 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11855 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1990).

Lessee's claim arising from the village's allegedly negligent construction and installation of the water and sewer main was time-barred because the alleged tortious conduct consisted of discrete acts of negligence that ceased upon completion of the water and sewer main construction in December 2009, but the lessee did not file suit until July 2014. 461 Broadway, LLC v Village of Monticello, 144 A.D.3d 1464, 42 N.Y.S.3d 419, 2016 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7749 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2016).

Gas company's claim that the municipalities' alleged interference with the company's gas laterals during the installation of the sewer and water systems was untimely because the alleged interference occurred more than one year and 90 days ago and the interference was a singular event; the municipalities' alleged negligent conduct ceased once the water and sewer main construction was completed in the 1960s. New York State Elec. & Gas Corp. v County of Chemung, 137 A.D.3d 1550, 29 N.Y.S.3d 579, 2016 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2435 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2016).

Gas company's claim that the municipalities' failed to maintain the sewer and water mains proximate to the company's gas laterals were timely because each municipality had a continuing duty to maintain its systems and the breach of the ongoing duty was the "event" that formed the basis for the claim. New York State Elec. & Gas Corp. v County of Chemung, 137 A.D.3d 1550, 29 N.Y.S.3d 579, 2016 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2435 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2016).

Gas company's claim for continuing trespass against three municipalities, alleging continuing interference with the company's utilities, was timely because the company alleged the municipalities placed these a log or pole electrical tape on the company's service laterals and the continuing presence of the same caused some damage. New York State Elec. & Gas Corp. v County of Chemung, 137 A.D.3d 1550, 29 N.Y.S.3d 579, 2016 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2435 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2016).

Trial court properly denied a motor vehicle passenger's motion for leave to serve a late notice of claim on the city and the city department of transportation, arising from alleged injuries when the vehicle he was riding in struck an open manhole on an expressway, as the motion was untimely because it was not made within 90 days and was not made before the one-year-and-90-day statute of limitations expired. Matter of Lubin v City of New York, 148 A.D.3d 898, 50 N.Y.S.3d 405, 2017 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1788 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2017).

Worker's asbestos-related claims against a county and a hockey team were time-barred because more than three years prior to the commencement of the instant action on November 12, 2015, the worker had an objective level of awareness of the dangers and consequences of asbestos exposure sufficient to place him on notice of the primary condition on which his claims were based. O'Brien v County of Nassau, 164 A.D.3d 684, 83 N.Y.S.3d 311, 2018 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5716 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2018).

13. —Continuing negligence

Because a store had legal rights against trespass for an unlawful encroachment by a conduit in its right of way, and because its actual damages arose from the need to install the new drainpipe in a different location, the store had a viable continuous causes of action sounding in trespass and private nuisance, for which the statute of limitations in N.Y. Pub. Auth. Law § 1212(2) and N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i had not yet run. Bloomingdales, Inc. v New York City Tr. Auth., 13 N.Y.3d 61, 886 N.Y.S.2d 663, 915 N.E.2d 608, 2009 N.Y. LEXIS 1846 (N.Y. 2009).

Plaintiff's claim against city for injuries she sustained in fall due to defective sidewalk was not time-barred on ground that city's removal of tree stump, which created crack in sidewalk, was "happening of the event" that initiated running of limitations period and occurred more than one year and 90 days prior to accident (CLS Gen Mun § 50-i), since city's active negligence created unsafe condition and constituted breach of its duty to maintain sidewalk in safe condition which occurred anew each day condition continued; in such circumstance, accident to plaintiff was "happening of the event," and insofar as complaint stated cause of action in passive negligence, action accrued at time of accident. Kiernan v Thompson, 134 A.D.2d 27, 522 N.Y.S.2d 719, 1987 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 50861 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1987), aff'd, 73 N.Y.2d 840, 537 N.Y.S.2d 122, 534 N.E.2d 39, 1988 N.Y. LEXIS 3532 (N.Y. 1988).

Lessee's claim that a village failed to properly maintain and/or repair its sewer and water mains was not time-barred because the village's negligence, if any, in failing to maintain or repair its water and/or sewage system constituted a continuing wrong that gave rise to a new cause of action for each injury that occurred. 461 Broadway, LLC v Village of Monticello, 144 A.D.3d 1464, 42 N.Y.S.3d 419, 2016 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7749 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2016).

14. —Additional causes of action

In an action against a county and others to recover damages for wrongful death, additional causes of action for conscious pain and suffering and for medical malpractice were properly ruled to be untimely where neither was commenced within the one-year and ninety-day period of limitation specified by Gen Mun Law § 50-i. Alessi v County of Nassau, 100 A.D.2d 561, 473 N.Y.S.2d 487, 1984 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 17535 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1984).

Trial court erred in granting personal injury plaintiff's motion to amend negligence complaint against municipality to add derivative cause of action on behalf of wife, even though notice of claim was timely filed and advised municipality of derivative claim, where complaint filed just within one-year-and-90-day time limitation did not include wife's claim, and plaintiff did not seek order to add cause until 3 ½ years later. Kettle v Sweet Home Cent. School Dist., 152 A.D.2d 956, 543 N.Y.S.2d 783, 1989 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 16823 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1989).

As plaintiff's motion to add an additional claim under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-e was filed three years after her alleged injury without any compelling excuse for the delay, and she sought to present a entirely new theory of liability that defendants would have to investigate, the trial court did not abuse its discretion in denying the motion. Chirse v City School Dist. of Albany, 83 A.D.3d 1232, 920 N.Y.S.2d 841, 2011 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3072 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2011).

15. —Actions of government employees

Former deputy city police chief's actions in impounding motor vehicle and in denying owner's request for its return were not ultra vires or outside scope of his employment, so as to remove owner's action against chief for conversion and trespass to chattels from purview of one-year 90-day statute of limitations of CLS Gen Mun § 50-i, where chief was acting under direction of district attorney, and no evidence suggested that chief was pursuing interests other than city business. Pileckas v Trzaskos, 126 A.D.2d 926, 511 N.Y.S.2d 438, 1987 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 42024 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't), app. denied, 70 N.Y.2d 601, 518 N.Y.S.2d 1023, 512 N.E.2d 549, 1987 N.Y. LEXIS 17377 (N.Y. 1987).

Action against city for negligence and tortious interference with business was barred by statute of limitations where plaintiff failed to serve his complaint within one year and 90 days after city employee erroneously advised him that his proposed gymnasium was valid use under local zoning ordinance. McVan v New Rochelle, 127 A.D.2d 825, 511 N.Y.S.2d 942, 1987 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 43317 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1987).

Fact that action for intentional infliction of emotional distress arising from activities of police officer was timely commenced against municipal defendants within one year and 90 days as required by CLS Gen Mun § 50-i was insufficient to preserve untimely individual claim against officer, despite any duty municipal defendants might have had to defend officer under CLS Gen Mun § 50-k(2). Tumminello v City of New York, 212 A.D.2d 434, 622 N.Y.S.2d 714, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1616 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1995).

Plaintiff's contention that she could not properly commence an action against defendants until she complied with defendants' demand for a hearing pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-h was without merit, where the parties agreed to adjourn the scheduled hearing dates and the hearing was indefinitely postponed beyond the 90-day period from service of the demand. And, since the County failed to reschedule the hearing for the earliest possible date available, and the 90-day period had elapsed, plaintiff was entitled to commence this action before a hearing was conducted; thus, plaintiff was not prevented from commencing this action prior to the expiration of the statute of limitations. Artup v Simeone, 2020 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7762 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2020).

By virtue of ¶ 2 of §§ 50-i and 101 of the General Construction Law, the General Municipal Law prevails over a general statute of limitations with respect to the commencement of actions in tort against a public corporation, and with respect to an action for libel and slander instituted against two city employees and the city the provisions of General Municipal Law § 50-i apply not only to the action against the city but also to the action against the city's employees, so that the employee's asserted defense pursuant to CPLR 215 was invalid. Sorge v New York, 56 Misc. 2d 414, 288 N.Y.S.2d 787, 1968 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1650 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1968).

Trial court erred in dismissing, as untimely, a slander claim against a justice based on statements made by the justice at a town board meeting relating to the termination of a former employee; as the former employee did not allege that the justice was acting outside the scope of his employment and the former employee referred to him throughout the complaint by his official title, the town was the real party in interest, and, therefore, N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i applied. Thus, the slander claim was timely because it was filed less than a year and 90 days after the statements were made. Coe v Town of Conklin, 94 A.D.3d 1197, 942 N.Y.S.2d 255, 2012 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2562 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2012).

16. —Relation to other limitations periods

For claims against a public corporation arising after September 1, 1975, the outer limit of the period during which the claimant may apply for leave to serve late notice of his claim is to be measured by the time limited for the commencement of the action by the claimant against a public corporation, as specified in the current version of subdivision 5 of section 50-e of the General Municipal Law, and not by the one-year period following the happening of the event upon which the claim is based as was required by the predecessor provision, since no serious prejudice to the potentially liable public corporation would result from such a limited retroactive application of the amendment because the public corporation was already at risk with respect to these claims on the amendment's effective date pursuant to the former version of subdivision 5 of section 50-e and there is thus no danger of the revival of ancient claims as distinguished from the mere continuance of ones that have not finally expired. Furthermore, the period during which a court may grant an extension of the time within which to serve notice of claim is tolled during the infancy of the claimant in accordance with CPLR 208, since the amended version of subdivision 5 of section 50-e makes the period during which such an extension may be granted coextensive with the Statute of Limitations governing the claim (General Municipal Law, § 50-i, subd 1, par [c]), and where the time for commencing an action on the claim is tolled under CPLR 208, there will be a concomitant tolling of the time during which late notice of claim may be served. The mere availability of the toll does not in itself mandate that an extension be granted in every case involving a disability covered by CPLR 208, since the decision to grant or deny an extension under subdivision 5 of section 50-e is still purely a discretionary one, and the courts remain free to deny an application for an extension in the interests of fairness to the potentially liable public corporation. Cohen v Pearl River Union Free School Dist., 51 N.Y.2d 256, 434 N.Y.S.2d 138, 414 N.E.2d 639, 1980 N.Y. LEXIS 2723 (N.Y. 1980).

By fair construction, the General Municipal Law provision requiring a personal injury action against a county to be commenced within one year and 90 days after the event can coexist with the Highway Law provision stating that a county is liable for injuries sustained due to a defective highway but that the county shall not be liable unless a notice of claim shall have been made and served and the action commenced within one year from the date of service; thus, in the instant case, since plaintiff complied with the Highway Law, her wrongful death action was not subject to dismissal, even though the county was not served with summons and complaint until more than two years after accident. Forero v Tuxedo, 51 A.D.2d 443, 382 N.Y.S.2d 328, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11101 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1976).

In an action for damages alleging wrongful acts by a county Department of Health in ordering cessation of construction of plaintiff's apartment complexes, in which plaintiff timely served a notice of claim and a summons and complaint pursuant to Gen Mun Law, defendant's affirmative defense claiming that plaintiff's cause of action was barred by the six-month statute of limitations contained within Pub Health Law § 329 was properly struck since Gen Mun Law § 50-i(2) supersedes the shorter statute of limitations contained in the Pub Health Law. Johnson v County of Chautauqua, 84 A.D.2d 960, 446 N.Y.S.2d 723, 1981 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 16236 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1981).

In personal injury action involving county-owned bus which had been leased to transportation authority, wherein plaintiff's action against authority was barred by one-year 30-day limitations period provided in CLS Pub A § 1276, court properly denied county's motion for dismissal on ground that same limitations period which applied to authority should apply to county because authority was "real party in interest" due to its contractual duty to indemnify county; pursuant to CLS County § 52, one-year 90-day limitations period set forth in CLS Gen Mun § 50-i was applicable to county, and county's contention—that authority's potential liability to county (if county did not have benefit of shorter statute) would circumvent operation of shorter statute as to authority—was irrelevant, because authority remained potentially liable in any event pursuant to third-party complaints interposed by other codefendants. Orkin v County of Nassau, 126 A.D.2d 618, 511 N.Y.S.2d 55, 1987 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 41751 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1987).

Court had no discretion to extend plaintiff's time to file late notices of claim in negligence action against town, where notices were filed after statute of limitations had expired and there was no evidence that town defendants engaged in misconduct preventing plaintiff from timely filing his claim. Smith v Town of Ellisburg, 234 A.D.2d 938, 651 N.Y.S.2d 772, 1996 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13665 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1996).

Personal injury action against city based on defective sidewalk was timely, despite one-year limitations period for such actions in city charter, where CLS Gen Mun § 50-i(1) provides that claims for personal injuries allegedly sustained by reason of city's negligence "shall be commenced within one year and ninety days after the happening of the event upon which the claim is based," and CLS Gen Mun § 50-i(2) provides that "[t]his section shall be applicable notwithstanding any inconsistent provisions of law, general, special or local, or any limitation contained in the provisions of a city charter." Allen v Matthews, 266 A.D.2d 782, 699 N.Y.S.2d 166, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12121 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1999).

In personal injury action against city based on defective sidewalk, plaintiff did not forfeit his right to application of proper limitations period by his failure to respond to that part of city's motion for summary judgment under CLS CPLR § 3212, even though better practice would have been to address, however perfunctorily, both grounds on which motion was based, where city neither raised limitations defense in its amended answer nor moved to dismiss complaint on that ground under CLS CPLR § 3211(a), and plaintiff was entitled to presume that issue would be decided in accordance with controlling law. Allen v Matthews, 266 A.D.2d 782, 699 N.Y.S.2d 166, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12121 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1999).

Action seeking money damages allegedly caused by the failure of the city to discharge a duty imposed upon it by law, specifically to provide a wage differential, sounded in tort; therefore, where the decedent failed to serve his claim upon the city within 90 days after the claim arose, pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-e, or within the statute of limitations period of one year and 90 days, pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law §§ 50-e and 50-i, the action was dismissed. Estate of Kalis v City of Buffalo, 306 A.D.2d 932, 762 N.Y.S.2d 195, 2003 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6774 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't), app. denied, 100 N.Y.2d 515, 769 N.Y.S.2d 202, 801 N.E.2d 423, 2003 N.Y. LEXIS 3375 (N.Y. 2003).

Municipal corporation does not waive right to examination under § 50-h by failing to demand hearing within 90 days of filing of notice of claim; however, since demand for examination does not toll time within which claimant must commence action, claimant need not wait until hearing is held before commencing action where demand for examination is not timely filed. Rizzi v Patchogue Medford UFSD #24, 132 Misc. 2d 408, 503 N.Y.S.2d 967, 1986 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2706 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1986).

17. — —CPLR

CPLR § 204(a) is not applicable to the statutory stays contained in § 50-h and this section of the General Municipal Law so as to extend the statute of limitations for the commencement of actions against a city based on a tort claim arising out of events occurring after September 1, 1959. Joiner v New York, 26 A.D.2d 840, 274 N.Y.S.2d 362, 1966 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3174 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1966).

Motor vehicle owner's action seeking to recover damages against former deputy city chief of police for conversion and trespass to chattels was governed by one-year 90-day statute of limitations of CLS Gen Mun § 50-i, rather than 3-year period of CLS CPLR § 214, since CLS Gen Mun § 50-j governs actions against police officers for torts committed in performance of duty, owner sought recovery for common-law tort following impoundment of his vehicle after routine traffic safety stop, and thus any claim under federal civil rights statute (42 USCS § 1983) that would activate 3-year limitation period would not apply. Pileckas v Trzaskos, 126 A.D.2d 926, 511 N.Y.S.2d 438, 1987 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 42024 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't), app. denied, 70 N.Y.2d 601, 518 N.Y.S.2d 1023, 512 N.E.2d 549, 1987 N.Y. LEXIS 17377 (N.Y. 1987).

Plaintiff's actions against city police officer, alleging intentional torts on her part, were not required to be brought within one year of their inception where city admitted that officer was acting within scope of her employment, and thus benefitted by save-harmless requirement of CLS Gen Mun § 50-j(l), which in turn invokes provisions of CLS Gen Mun § 50-i, and instant actions were initiated within one year and 90-day requirements of CLS Gen Mun § 50-e; only where finding is made that police officer's acts were clearly not within scope of employment is one-year limitations period of CLS CPLR § 215(3) applicable. Clark v City of Ithaca, 235 A.D.2d 746, 652 N.Y.S.2d 819, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 322 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1997).

Plaintiffs' claims based on allegations of intentional tortious conduct by municipal defendants were governed by one-year-and-90-day period set forth in CLS Gen Mun § 50-i, not one-year statutory period under CLS CPLR § 215. Wright v City of Newburgh, 259 A.D.2d 485, 686 N.Y.S.2d 74, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2038 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1999).

Action for assault, intentional infliction of emotional distress, false arrest and imprisonment, battery, and "embarrassment and humiliation" arising out of plaintiff's arrest by New York City Housing Authority officers outside of her parents' apartment is governed by one year statute of limitations in CPLR § 215(3) governing intentional torts, not by the one year and 90 days limitation period of General Municipal Law § 50-i, because the latter does not apply to the Housing Authority or its personnel. Rosado v New York, 713 F. Supp. 124, 1989 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 6053 (S.D.N.Y. 1989).

Statute of limitations applicable to intentional tort claims brought against defendants after they became New York City police officers, but premised on actions taken when they were still Housing Authority officers, was one year period applied to intentional torts of Housing Authority police officers under CLS CPLR § 215(3), not one year and 90-day period applied to intentional torts of New York City police officers under CLS Gen Mun § 50-i. Morales v Irizarry, 976 F. Supp. 256, 1997 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 13979 (S.D.N.Y. 1997).

18. —Pleading limitations period as defense

Plaintiffs asserting claim against village for mistakenly issuing building permit to construct residence within boundaries of floodplain, and for erroneously issuing certificate of occupancy following construction, were not excused from compliance with one-year 90-day statute of limitations of CLS Gen Mun § 50-i because of alleged misrepresentations by village where only representation made by village was generalized statement in certificate of occupancy that structure complied with all laws, which later turned out to be incorrect. Okie v Village of Hamburg, 196 A.D.2d 228, 609 N.Y.S.2d 986, 1994 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3396 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1994).

This section only applies to causes of action which arose after September 1, 1959, and a defense that the action is barred by limitations cannot be raised, in any event, by motion pursuant to rule 106(4) of the Rules of Civil Practice. Fichtner v Babylon, 24 Misc. 2d 56, 203 N.Y.S.2d 533, 1960 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2611 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1960).

In an action for damages for personal injuries sustained by plaintiff as a result of defendant city's alleged negligence in maintaining a defective sidewalk, defendant's motion to dismiss contending that the action was time barred under Gen Mun Law § 50-i would be granted where, although a settlement and resulting payment by the city had essentially been a waiver of the defense of the statute of limitations, such a waiver by a city is impermissible and ineffective in light of the strong public policy against payment by public bodies of time barred claims. Burg v New York, 108 Misc. 2d 357, 437 N.Y.S.2d 593, 1981 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2206 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1981).

The one-year, 90-day period within which to serve a complaint pursuant to Gen Mun Law § 50-i(1)(c) constitutes a statute of limitations rather than a condition precedent to suit and must be asserted by a defendant municipality by a motion to dismiss prior to answer or as a specific affirmative defense in the answer and a municipality which does neither must be deemed to have waived the defense, since no compelling reason or authority has been found for treating a municipality differently from other litigants, and the court is without authority sua sponte to deem the defense included in a municipality's answer. Eagle Ins. Co. v New York (New York City Health & Hospitals Corp.), 120 Misc. 2d 188, 466 N.Y.S.2d 134, 1983 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3689 (N.Y. Civ. Ct. 1983).

19. Grounds for extension of limitations period

Trial court erred in dismissing an injured party's personal injury action against a city; the time limitation in N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i was a statute of limitations, and therefore a tolling statute, N.Y. C.P.L.R. 205(a), applied to the action, and the action was therefore filed in a timely fashion after a federal civil rights action was dismissed. Campbell v City of New York, 4 N.Y.3d 200, 791 N.Y.S.2d 880, 825 N.E.2d 121, 2005 N.Y. LEXIS 174 (N.Y. 2005).

In negligence action against city to recover damages for personal injuries, trial court acted properly in denying plaintiff motion to extend her time to serve complaint and for leave to file notice of claim nunc pro tunc, since court lacked power to grant extension beyond applicable period of limitations, one year and 90 days. Pavlicko v New York, 56 A.D.2d 840, 392 N.Y.S.2d 77, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11170 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1977).

Where, at time motion seeking permission to serve late notice of claim was made, more than one year and 90 days had elapsed from time cause of action accrued, court was without discretion to grant relief sought. Ferrara v Terryville Fire Dist., 110 A.D.2d 749, 488 N.Y.S.2d 45, 1985 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 48651 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1985).

Special Term was without authority to grant application to serve late notice of claim against City of New York in personal injury action where application was made after expiration of one-year and 90-day limitations provided by CLS Gen Mun §§ 50-e and 50-i and record contained no facts to support finding of equitable estoppel against city. Siahaan v New York, 123 A.D.2d 620, 506 N.Y.S.2d 777, 1986 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 60768 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1986).

Time for petitioner to file notice of claim against city hospital was not tolled on theory that claim was based on medical malpractice and continuous treatment doctrine applied, since petitioner's cause of action, for negligent hiring and retention, was based on negligence rather than malpractice. Bates v New York City Health & Hosps. Corp., 194 A.D.2d 422, 599 N.Y.S.2d 246, 1993 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6285 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1993).

As plaintiff was a minor at the time of her alleged injury in gym class and thus eligible for the infancy toll of N.Y. C.P.L.R. 208, and was confused as to the date of accident, and as defendants had timely notice of all of the essential facts, the trial court properly granted her motion to serve a late claim under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-e to correct the date of the injury. Chirse v City School Dist. of Albany, 83 A.D.3d 1232, 920 N.Y.S.2d 841, 2011 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3072 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2011).

The one-year and 90-day period in which to commence an action against a municipality (General Municipal Law, § 50-i, subd 1) may not be extended by operation of any other provision of law (General Municipal Law, § 50-i, subds 2, 3); therefore the 60-day period after a Comptroller's hearing in the City of New York during which a claimant is barred from initiating an action against the city will not operate to toll the Statute of Limitations for at least 60 days after the one-year and 90-day period in an action in which a Comptroller's hearing was waived by the city. Hayes v New York, 100 Misc. 2d 922, 420 N.Y.S.2d 269, 1979 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2578 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1979).

In personal injury action arising from collision involving town-owned motor vehicle operated by town employee, statute of limitations was not tolled pursuant to CLS CPLR § 210 as against both town and driver, as parties united in interest, based on death of driver prior to expiration of statute of limitations; thus where service was not made on town until 3 days after expiration of statute, and service was never effected on deceased driver, town was entitled to summary judgment dismissing complaint. Anselmo v Copertino, 134 Misc. 2d 956, 513 N.Y.S.2d 596, 1987 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2134 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1987).

Infant's application for leave to file a late notice of claim on a department of education and a board of education was denied because, although the infant had a reasonable excuse for the failure to file timely notice and the department and the board had actual notice, the order to show cause named and was served on the wrong party and thus the court lacked jurisdiction. Nacipucha v City of New York, 849 N.Y.S.2d 414, 18 Misc. 3d 846, 2008 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 13 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 2008).

20. —Delivery of summons for service

Action to recover damages for blasting operation allegedly performed was properly dismissed where it was not commenced within one year and 90 days after the happening of the event upon which the claim was based (Gen Mun L § 50-i), the tolling provision afforded by CPLR 204 subd a being inapplicable, and CPLR § 203, subd b(5) being of no aid to plaintiffs where there was no proof that summons was delivered to sheriff for service upon the defendant before the limitation period of § 50-i of the General Municipal Law had run. Bellows v County of Montgomery, 42 A.D.2d 1020, 348 N.Y.S.2d 248, 1973 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3326 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1973).

Provision for 60-day tolling of applicable statute of limitations following delivery of a summons to the sheriff is not inconsistent with provisions of the General Municipal Law governing negligence actions and was applicable to action brought against school district to recover expenses for student's medical, nursing and hospital care following an accident. Clough v Board of Education, 56 A.D.2d 233, 392 N.Y.S.2d 170, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10052 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1977).

Service of demand by New York City for examination under CLS Gen Mun § 50-h does not toll one year and 90-day statute of limitations contained in CLS Gen Mun § 50-i. Cruz v City of New York, 232 A.D.2d 446, 648 N.Y.S.2d 467, 1996 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10151 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1996).

CPLR 203 providing that a claim is interposed against a defendant when summons is delivered for service if such summons is served within 60 days thereafter does not extend the period of service of claim upon a municipal corporation within one year and 90 days provided for in General Municipal Law § 50-i. Family Bargain Centers, Inc. v Herkimer (1968) 56 Misc 2d 768, 290 NYS2d 207, holding that notice of claim served on village more than one year and 90 days after cause of action arose was not timely even though delivered to sheriff within such time and served within 60 days of such delivery .

Where summons was served, within period in which action was required to be commenced under General Municipal Law, on sheriff, who plaintiff claimed was entitled under statute to additional 60 days to serve defendant county, and who did not serve defendant county until day, action having already been commenced, additional days should not be viewed in terms of stay, nor as extension of time, but rather as condition subsequent which had to be satisfied and plaintiff having opted to serve sheriff within one year and 90-day period timely commenced action on condition that service was subsequently perfected, which in fact it was. Maurer v County of Putnam, 89 Misc. 2d 302, 391 N.Y.S.2d 801, 1977 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1841 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1977).

21. —Proceeding to file late claim

One-year statute of limitations was tolled when personal injury claimant initiated successful proceedings to file a late claim 5 days before expiration of limitation period. Barchet v New York City Transit Authority, 20 N.Y.2d 1, 281 N.Y.S.2d 289, 228 N.E.2d 361, 1967 N.Y. LEXIS 1446 (N.Y. 1967).

In three separate actions seeking money damages against a city in which permissions to file late notices of claim were requested after the limitations period for commencing actions against a municipality had expired under Gen Mun Law § 50-i, the trial court erred in granting the claimant's motion to strike the city's defense that there was no compliance with the notice of claim requirement of Gen Mun Law § 50-e and claimants would be granted leave to file late notices of claim nunc pro tunc since an application for an extension may be made before or after the commencement of the action but not more than one year and 90 days after the cause of action accrued, unless the statute has been tolled; to allow a court to grant an extension which exceeded the statute of limitations would render meaningless that portion of Gen Mun Law § 50-e which expressly prohibits a court from doing so. Pierson v New York, 56 N.Y.2d 950, 453 N.Y.S.2d 615, 439 N.E.2d 331, 1982 N.Y. LEXIS 3523 (N.Y. 1982).

In a proceeding for leave to serve a late notice of claim against the city, leave to serve a late notice would be denied where counsel's delinquency in failing to timely commence the action would not be an acceptable excuse. Ferro v New York, Dep't of Correction, 88 A.D.2d 914, 450 N.Y.S.2d 571, 1982 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 17248 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1982).

Renewal of motion to file late notice of claim under CLS Gen Mun § 50-e in action against municipality does not relate back to date of initial motion which was denied with leave to renew. Rieara v New York, Dep't of Parks & Recreation, 156 A.D.2d 206, 548 N.Y.S.2d 466, 1989 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 15470 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1989).

Plaintiff was properly granted leave to serve late notice of claim, even though it offered no excuse for failing to file notice of claim within statutory 90-day period, where (1) plaintiff made persuasive showing that town had acquired actual notice of claim due to fact that one of its police officers was involved in accident, police promptly investigated, and they prepared written report, and (2) town made no particularized or persuasive showing that delay caused it substantial prejudice. Wetzel Servs. Corp. v Town of Amherst, 207 A.D.2d 965, 616 N.Y.S.2d 832, 1994 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10135 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1994).

Lack of index number and file stamp mark on summons filed against New York City Health and Hospitals Corporation (HHC) in medical malpractice action was correctable, not jurisdictional, defect where plaintiff successfully moved by order to show cause for leave to file late notice of claim and had purchased index number in connection with that special proceeding, and that show-cause order was served on HHC, with copy of summons and complaint attached, on last day of one year and 90 day limitations period for filing of late notice of claim. Rybka v New York City Health & Hosps. Corp., 263 A.D.2d 403, 693 N.Y.S.2d 566, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8243 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1999).

In proceeding under CLS Gen Mun § 50-e(5) for leave to serve late notice of claim against county medical center, continuous treatment doctrine did not apply where gap between petitioner's treatments at center was from July 1996 to January 1998, which exceeded applicable limitations period of one year and 90 days under CLS Gen Mun § 50-i. Bulger v Nassau County Med. Ctr., 266 A.D.2d 212, 697 N.Y.S.2d 345, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11101 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1999), overruled in part, Lohnas v Luzi, 30 N.Y.3d 752, 94 N.E.3d 892, 71 N.Y.S.3d 404, 2018 N.Y. LEXIS 215 (N.Y. 2018)).

Supreme Court lacked authority to grant application under CLS Gen Mun § 50-e(5) for leave to serve late notice of claim against county medical center where petitioner did not seek such leave until well after expiration of applicable limitations period of one year and 90 days under CLS Gen Mun § 50-i. Bulger v Nassau County Med. Ctr., 266 A.D.2d 212, 697 N.Y.S.2d 345, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11101 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1999), overruled in part, Lohnas v Luzi, 30 N.Y.3d 752, 94 N.E.3d 892, 71 N.Y.S.3d 404, 2018 N.Y. LEXIS 215 (N.Y. 2018)).

Supreme court abused its discretion in granting a patient's motion for leave to serve a late notice of claim approximately 10 years after the alleged malpractice occurred, as: (1) the 10-year delay was not the product of the patient's infancy, and the fact that the patient was not aware of the requirement to serve a notice of claim within 90 days of its accrual was not a reasonable excuse for the failure to do so; (2) the appeals court was not persuaded that the doctors had actual notice of the claim within the requisite 90-day period, or within a reasonable time thereafter; and (3) the patient failed to establish that the doctors would not be substantially prejudiced in maintaining their defense on the merits as a result of the lengthy delay in moving for leave to serve a late notice of claim. Williams v Nassau County Med. Ctr., 13 A.D.3d 363, 786 N.Y.S.2d 207, 2004 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 14888 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2004), aff'd, 6 N.Y.3d 531, 814 N.Y.S.2d 580, 847 N.E.2d 1154, 2006 N.Y. LEXIS 650 (N.Y. 2006).

Court errs in deeming a notice of claim timely served under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law §§ 50-e(1)(a), 50-i(1)(a), nunc pro tunc, in the absence of a motion for such relief under N.Y. C.P.L.R. 2215. Pierre v City of New York, 22 A.D.3d 733, 804 N.Y.S.2d 365, 2005 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11343 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2005).

Although an injured worker was properly granted leave to serve a late notice of claim under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i(1)(b), because the complaint failed to allege that 30 days had elapsed since service of the notice and that the claim had been neglected or refused, as required by N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-e, it should have been dismissed. Perkins v City of New York, 26 A.D.3d 483, 810 N.Y.S.2d 218, 2006 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2363 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2006).

Order granting leave to a parent to file a late notice of her minor son's claim against a school board pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-e(5) and N.Y. Educ. Law § 3813(2-a) was proper because the school board had actual notice of the essential facts and had not shown prejudice by the delay; although the parent did not establish a nexus between the delay and the child's infancy, the parent's failure to show a reasonable excuse for delay was not fatal to the application. Although the parent sought leave to file the late notice over four years after the alleged incident, the statute of limitations was tolled by the son's infancy, and the school board had actual knowledge of the essential facts of the claim no later than approximately four months after the incident. Matter of Hinton v New Paltz Cent. School Dist., 50 A.D.3d 1414, 857 N.Y.S.2d 753, 2008 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3680 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2008).

Leave for parents to file late notice of claim pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law §§ 50-e, 50-i, was proper because, among other things, the parents' lack of awareness that the child had been injured was a reasonable excuse, and, further, the record indicated that the notice of claim may not have been untimely as to all the events alleged therein; in addition to casting doubt on the lateness of the notice of claim, the police report provided the school district with actual knowledge of at least some of the facts constituting the claim about two months after the most recent assault occurred and, thus, within a reasonable time after the claim arose. The school district alleged that the memories of the children involved were likely to have faded and that it had no documents or records related to the alleged incidents, but this was not established as the school district had not interviewed the children. Mindy O. v Binghamton City School Dist., 83 A.D.3d 1335, 921 N.Y.S.2d 696, 2011 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3098 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2011).

In a medical malpractice case, the trial court erred in denying plaintiff's motion for leave to serve a late notice of claim on defendant city or to deem the proposed notice of claim timely served nunc pro tunc, as the city received the notice of claim less than one month after the expiration of the 90-day period for filing it and was not prejudiced since it acquired actual knowledge of the essential facts underlying the claim within a reasonable time after the 90-day period expired. Brunson v New York City Health & Hosps. Corp., 144 A.D.3d 854, 42 N.Y.S.3d 34, 2016 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7503 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2016).

The time limitation of one year and 90 days after happening of the event upon which a claim against a county is based for commencement of suit is not extended by the fact that, at that time, an appeal from an order permitting late filing of notice of claim is still pending, as a plaintiff is free to commence his action at any time following 30 days from service of notice of claim. Shane v County of Albany, 44 Misc. 2d 100, 252 N.Y.S.2d 962, 1964 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1408 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1964).

Trial court properly denied a vehicle owner's motion for summary judgment and granted a city's motions for summary judgment because the owner failed to file a timely notice of claim against the city and failed to apply for an extension. Jagroop v Ramdhanny, 50 Misc. 3d 115, 26 N.Y.S.3d 821, 2016 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 389 (N.Y. App. Term 2016).

22. — —Pendency of motion to file late notice of claim

The limitations period in Gen Mun Law § 50-i for bringing an action against a municipality is tolled from the date of the plaintiff's application to serve a late notice of claim until the date of an order granting such an application. Therefore, an action to recover damages for personal injuries was timely, despite the fact that it was commenced one year and 91 days after the date of the accident, where the limitations period was tolled for 65 days, from the date of plaintiff's order to show cause requesting leave to serve a late notice of claim until the date of the order granting the application. Flynn v Long Beach, 108 A.D.2d 840, 485 N.Y.S.2d 565, 1985 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 43165 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1985).

Statute of limitations for commencement of action against municipality is tolled from time plaintiff seeks leave to serve late notice of claim until order granting such relief goes into effect. Rieara v New York, Dep't of Parks & Recreation, 156 A.D.2d 206, 548 N.Y.S.2d 466, 1989 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 15470 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1989).

Defendant county was entitled to dismissal of malicious prosecution action on basis of one-year-and-90-day statute of limitations contained in CLS Gen Mun § 50-i(1) where (1) action accrued on October 6, 1987, (2) on August 23, 1988, plaintiff attempted to serve motion for leave to file late notice of claim on county and Supreme Court Justice, but papers were returned as no request for judicial intervention had been filed and matter had not been assigned to Justice, (3) plaintiff obtained proper forms and index number and filed motion for leave to file late notice of claim on October 18, 1988, (4) motion was granted and order was entered on December 22, 1988, and (5) summons and complaint were served on April 18, 1989; statute of limitations was tolled only from October 18 until December 22, not from August 23 until December 22. Farber v County of Hamilton, 158 A.D.2d 902, 551 N.Y.S.2d 699, 1990 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1846 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1990).

Amendment of General Municipal Law provision governing applications to obtain leave to file late notice of claim did not preclude application of rule tolling statute of limitations during pendency of such application to action commenced against school district after elapse of one year and 90-day period by plaintiff, whose application for leave to file late notice was not granted until after elapse of that period, and consequently action was not barred by statute of limitations. Colantuono v Valley Cent. School Dist., 90 Misc. 2d 918, 396 N.Y.S.2d 590, 1977 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2189 (N.Y. Sup. Ct.), aff'd, 59 A.D.2d 926, 399 N.Y.S.2d 262, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 14144 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1977).

In an action for damages, the statute of limitations under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i(1) was tolled under N.Y. C.P.L.R. 204(a) during a 12-day period in which an initial application to proceed by order to show cause for leave to serve a late notice of claim was pending, as well as a period during which a second application for similar relief was pending. Ambrus v City of New York, 87 A.D.3d 341, 928 N.Y.S.2d 719, 2011 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5789 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2011).

23. —Reliance upon representations of defendant

Where there was no evidence in record that defendant made any representation or engaged in any course of conduct which led plaintiff to believe that it would be unnecessary to commence litigation in order to settle plaintiff's claim or that if litigation were commenced, the statute of limitations would not be pleased in bar, defendant's motion to dismiss plaintiff's complaint pursuant to General Municipal Law § 50-i should have been granted. Brands v Sperduti, 43 A.D.2d 903, 351 N.Y.S.2d 249, 1974 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5956 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1974).

In a personal injury suit to recover for injuries sustained when plaintiff was struck by a bus operated by a city, plaintiff's summons and complaint, served one year and 58 days after the accrual of plaintiff's action, was untimely, even though defendant had requested a hearing pursuant to Gen Mun Law § 50-h, where the one-year statute of limitations in Pub A Law § 1317 governed plaintiff's action and defendant's wish to have a Gen Mun Law § 50-h hearing would not make the statute of limitations in Gen Mun Law § 50-i applicable or estop defendant from invoking the shorter statute of limitations in Pub A Law § 1317, where even if defendant's actions were misleading plaintiff was charged with knowledge of the proper statute of limitations, and where even if the action were governed by the period in Gen Mun Law § 50-i the action would be untimely in that specific language in § 50-i precluded any tolling of the statute of limitations due to a request by the municipality for hearing. Simon v Capital Dist. Transp. Authority, 95 A.D.2d 902, 463 N.Y.S.2d 913, 1983 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 18873 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1983).

Town was not estopped from invoking statute of limitations of CLS Gen Mun § 50-i where plaintiffs had filed timely notice of claim in compliance with CLS Gen Mun § 50-e, but claimed they were induced to forego further proceedings while awaiting settlement promised by town's insurance company, since evidence did not support assertion that town consented to or induced stay or postponement of suit so as to warrant estoppel, as there was no written or oral stipulation between parties agreeing to postpone commencement of action. Goyea v Bangor, 144 A.D.2d 886, 535 N.Y.S.2d 205, 1988 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11850 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1988).

Dismissal of a pedestrian's suit for his slip and fall on a sidewalk next to a road was proper since his suit against a village was filed late under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i and the late filing was not due to his being misled by the village about its responsibility for the repair of the road and sidewalk to mislead him to delay his suit. The village was not estopped. Dowdell v Greene County, 14 A.D.3d 750, 788 N.Y.S.2d 439, 2005 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 85 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2005).

In a personal injury action against a city in which a timely notice of claim was served but plaintiff failed to serve a summons and complaint within the one-year and 90-day period required by subdivision 1 of section 50-i of the General Municipal Law, plaintiff is not entitled to an order compelling the city to accept service of a summons and complaint or an order estopping the city from asserting the Statute of Limitations as a defense since the city's waiver of a Comptroller's hearing did not amount to misrepresentation which would lull the plaintiff into a sense of security, and there was no communication by the city which could be interpreted to be fraudulent or misleading. Hayes v New York, 100 Misc. 2d 922, 420 N.Y.S.2d 269, 1979 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2578 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1979).

24. —Statutory stays

For purpose of section of General Municipal Law declaring the one year and 90-day period of limitations to be applicable "not withstanding any inconsistent provisions of law," statute providing that where the commencement of an action is stayed by statutory prohibition, the statute of limitations affecting such action is tolled for the duration of the stay is an "inconsistent provision" and statute of limitations applicable to tort claims against a municipality are not extended by the statutory stays. Serravillo v New York City Transit Authority, 51 A.D.2d 1027, 381 N.Y.S.2d 308, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11819 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1976), aff'd, 42 N.Y.2d 918, 397 N.Y.S.2d 1006, 366 N.E.2d 1360, 1977 N.Y. LEXIS 2250 (N.Y. 1977).

Serving notice of motion for permission to file late notice of claim had effect of tolling statute of limitations until time when such permission was granted by Special Term, but statute was no longer tolled thereafter, even though municipality appealed from Special Term's order, and thus statute resumed running and barred plaintiff's action when he failed to serve timely notice of claim; time for serving notice was not further extended by provision of CLS CPLR § 5519, giving municipalities automatic stay of "all proceedings to enforce the judgement or order appealed from," since statute did not prohibit plaintiff from serving notice of claim while municipality's appeal was pending. Dublanica v Rome Hospital/Murphy Memorial Hospital, 126 A.D.2d 977, 511 N.Y.S.2d 752, 1987 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 42097 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't), app. denied, 70 N.Y.2d 605, 519 N.Y.S.2d 1028, 513 N.E.2d 1308, 1987 N.Y. LEXIS 18221 (N.Y. 1987).

Court rejected plaintiffs' excuse for not commencing action within one-year-and-90-day limitation period, as extended during pendency of their application for leave to serve late notice of claim, as CLS CPLR § 204(a) toll lasted only until entry of order granting leave to file late notice of claim, there being no indication that plaintiffs did not then have complete control over acts necessary to comply with notice of claim requirements, and fact that order granting leave concluded with statement that proposed notice of claim would be deemed timely served if order with notice of entry was served within 20 days, without directing settlement of judgment, should not have created any confusion. T.K. Jewelry Inc. v City of New York, 283 A.D.2d 170, 724 N.Y.S.2d 590, 2001 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4252 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 2001).

This section is applicable only to claims arising out of injuries occurring on or after September 1, 1959, and, as to prior injuries, it is still the rule that when commencement of an action against the municipality is stayed by statute until a prescribed procedure is carried out, the limitation period is extended for the full period of the statutory stay. De Jose v Hempstead, 25 Misc. 2d 780, 208 N.Y.S.2d 6, 1960 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2323 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1960).

The one-year and 90-day period in which to commence an action against a municipality (General Municipal Law, § 50-i, subd 1) may not be extended by operation of any other provision of law (General Municipal Law, § 50-i, subds 2, 3); therefore the 60-day period after a Comptroller's hearing in the City of New York during which a claimant is barred from initiating an action against the city will not operate to toll the Statute of Limitations for at least 60 days after the one-year and 90-day period in an action in which a Comptroller's hearing was waived by the city. Hayes v New York, 100 Misc. 2d 922, 420 N.Y.S.2d 269, 1979 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2578 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1979).

Time within which personal injury action must be commenced against municipality and municipality's board of education under CLS Gen Mun § 50-i, CLS Educ § 3813, is not tolled during time claimant moves to file amended notice of claim under CLS Gen Mun § 50-e. Gomez v New York, 130 Misc. 2d 272, 496 N.Y.S.2d 216, 1985 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3178 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1985).

25. —Estoppel of defendant

Plaintiff's allegations that he retained law firm in which his prior attorney was partner to represent him in his claim against village, that former attorney was partner of attorney for village and that former attorney who negotiated settlement of claim failed to advise plaintiff that he could not represent him because he was partner of attorney for village were insufficient to raise triable issue of fact as to whether plaintiff's former attorney's actions were attributable to village so as to estop village from asserting affirmative defenses, inter alia, of plaintiff's failure to file notice of claim, failure to timely commence action and execution of valid general release with respect to claim. Ogilvie v Hoosick Falls, 55 A.D.2d 797, 389 N.Y.S.2d 907, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 15593 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1976).

Where multicar accident giving rise to alleged claim against county occurred in May 1972, where no notice of claim was ever served by petitioners and no suit against county was commenced by them, where application for leave to serve late notice of claim was not made until June 1976, where such application was motivated by April 1976 jury verdict against county in another action arising out of same accident, and where petitioners failed to establish any viable claim of estoppel against county, failure to seek leave to file late claim at time petitioners' counsel knew or should have known of possible "involvement" of county constituted laches and claim was absolutely time barred. Self v County of Nassau, 57 A.D.2d 963, 395 N.Y.S.2d 67, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12243 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't), app. denied, 42 N.Y.2d 811, 1977 N.Y. LEXIS 3922 (N.Y. 1977).

Defendants county and county hospital were not collaterally estopped from raising question of timely service of notice of claim on cross motions for summary judgment by reason of prior order in disclosure motion that at time of injury infant plaintiff was ward of county and thus notice provisions did not apply. Umlauf v County of Erie, 58 A.D.2d 991, 397 N.Y.S.2d 487, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13203 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1977).

In a damages action, the complaint was properly dismissed where the city-defendant's demand for examination did not toll the statute of limitations, and where the city was not equitably estopped from asserting the statute of limitations in that plaintiffs made no attempt to preserve their action by requesting that the examination be rescheduled for an earlier date. Graber v New York, 89 A.D.2d 598, 452 N.Y.S.2d 468, 1982 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 17680 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1982).

Where an estate administrator filed an untimely notice of claim against the New York City Health and Hospitals Corporation (HHC) because the medical malpractice claim accrued on the day the decedent was discharged from the HHC hospital and continuous treatment did not toll the statute of limitations, equitable estoppel barred HHC's statute of limitations defense because HHC delayed in furnishing a complete set of records. Walker v New York City Health & Hosps. Corp., 234 N.Y.L.J. 114, 2005 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3552 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. Dec. 14, 2005), rev'd, 36 A.D.3d 509, 828 N.Y.S.2d 365, 2007 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 598 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 2007).

26. —Continuous treatment of plaintiff

Defendant, New York City Health and Hospitals Corporation, was properly denied summary judgment in action alleging failure to timely diagnose and treat plaintiff's breast cancer, despite its contention that alleged misdiagnosis was made more than 1 year and 90 days prior to filing of plaintiff's notice of claim, where fact issue existed as to whether frequency and intensity of intervening monitoring of plaintiff constituted continuous treatment so as to toll limitations period. Oksman v City of New York, 271 A.D.2d 213, 705 N.Y.S.2d 360, 2000 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3874 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 2000).

Appeals court reversed order dismissing patients' suit against municipal health care providers and remitted for trial court to determine if continuous treatment doctrine made claims for particular conditions' treatments before the N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law §§ 50-e, 50-i one year and 90-day claim deadline timely filed. McCoy v City of New York, 10 A.D.3d 724, 782 N.Y.S.2d 120, 2004 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11068 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2004).

Under the continuous treatment doctrine, a notice of claim period does not begin to run until the course of treatment which includes the wrongful acts or omissions has run continuously and is related to the same original condition or complaint. There existed questions of fact as to whether the doctrine was applicable, so dismissal of certain claims was not appropriate. McCoy v City of New York, 10 A.D.3d 724, 782 N.Y.S.2d 120, 2004 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11068 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2004).

27. —Other grounds for extension

Action commenced in October 1994, arising from automobile accident that occurred prior to 1992 amendment to CLS Gen Mun § 205-e, was timely under revival provision of amended statute, and defendant city was not entitled to summary judgment on ground that action was not timely commenced under CLS Gen Mun § 50-i; 1992 amendment of § 205-e, in response to judicial decisions under prior statutory amendment, was intended to encompass claims for any non-premises-related accidents occurring on or after effective date of original enactment (January 1, 1987) and on or before effective date of 1992 amendment (July 17, 1992). Schiavone v City of New York, 92 N.Y.2d 308, 680 N.Y.S.2d 445, 703 N.E.2d 256, 1998 N.Y. LEXIS 3215 (N.Y. 1998).

Arrangements between counsel resulting in adjournments of Comptroller's hearings did not extend statutory period of limitations nor form basis of estoppel where there remains a reasonable period of time within which to commence action. Ortiz v New York, 28 A.D.2d 1098, 284 N.Y.S.2d 370, 1967 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3091 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1967).

Action to recover damages for blasting operation allegedly performed was properly dismissed where it was not commenced within one year and 90 days after the happening of the event upon which the claim was based (Gen Mun L § 50-i), the tolling provision afforded by CPLR 204 subd a being inapplicable, and CPLR § 203, subd b(5) being of no aid to plaintiffs where there was no proof that summons was delivered to sheriff for service upon the defendant before the limitation period of § 50-i of the General Municipal Law had run. Bellows v County of Montgomery, 42 A.D.2d 1020, 348 N.Y.S.2d 248, 1973 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3326 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1973).

Where timely action was filed against county in federal district court for trespass to lands, and such action later was dismissed for want of jurisdiction, statute of limitations was tolled and suit brought in state court within six months after dismissal of federal action was timely. Smith v Rensselaer County, 52 A.D.2d 384, 384 N.Y.S.2d 223, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12004 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1976).

Any delay on the part of plaintiffs in a medical malpractice action in serving the notice of claim and in commencing the action was attributable solely to the acts and omissions of defendants in failing promptly to furnish plaintiffs with the hospital record which contained the evidentiary matter upon which the action was based, and which for a period of over two years following plaintiffs' request had been kept from their counsel's view. Under the circumstances, service of the notice of claim, pursuant to Gen Mun Law § 50-e, approximately 32 months after the operation complained of was timely, and the commencement of the action 49 days thereafter was also within the time limit mandated by Gen Mun Law § 50-i. Cassidy v County of Nassau, 84 A.D.2d 742, 443 N.Y.S.2d 742, 1981 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 15908 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1981).

After claimant's service of notice of claim on Metropolitan Transit Authority and its subsidiary commuter railroad, their service of notice of oral examination on claimant did not operate to toll period to bring suit under either CLS Pub A § 1276 or CLS Gen Mun § 50-i. Rose v Metro N. C. Railroad, 143 A.D.2d 993, 533 N.Y.S.2d 629, 1988 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10424 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1988), app. dismissed, 73 N.Y.2d 994, 540 N.Y.S.2d 1005, 538 N.E.2d 357, 1989 N.Y. LEXIS 266 (N.Y. 1989).

Plaintiff was not entitled to serve late notice of claim with regard to civil rights and defamation causes of action where he alleged that certain defendants illegally accessed state computer records in February 1994 and learned that plaintiff had been arrested for rape many years earlier, he claimed he first learned of identity of defendants in October 1994, and he offered no reasonable excuse for his failure to take legal action until January 1995. Gorman v Sachem Cent. Sch. Dist., 232 A.D.2d 452, 648 N.Y.S.2d 461, 1996 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10167 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1996).

Where a claimant has prematurely instituted suit against a city, prior to submitting to examination with respect to his claim as required by subd. 5 of § 50-h, and stipulated to a discontinuance on demand of the city at time of examination, the discontinuance cannot be vacated, nor can a new action be instituted, after lapse of the maximum time period for instituting an action under this section. Where noncompliance of the plaintiff with the above statute was caused by defendant's conduct in unlawfully placing plaintiff under restraint, it will not be heard to complain of his failure to comply with the conditions precedent to the beginning of an action specified in such statute. Caminito v New York, 45 Misc. 2d 241, 256 N.Y.S.2d 670, 1965 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2278 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1965), aff'd in part, modified, 25 A.D.2d 848, 269 N.Y.S.2d 826, 1966 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4364 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1966).

Action, which was brought by automobile driver to recover for injuries allegedly sustained in collision with school bus and which was not commenced within one year and 90 days after collision, was barred under statute providing that action against school district for injuries allegedly sustained by reason of negligence or wrongful act of school district or its employee must be commenced within one year and 90 days after happening of event upon which claim is based, despite automobile driver's claim that she did not incur necessary hospital, medical and prescription drug charges within statutory time period and thus could not have commenced suit within such period. Cota v Madison Cent. School Dist., 89 Misc. 2d 646, 392 N.Y.S.2d 233, 1977 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1913 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1977), aff'd, 62 A.D.2d 1083, 404 N.Y.S.2d 547, 1978 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11178 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1978).

Claims for false arrest, assault and battery, and intentional infliction of emotional distress against a police lieutenant (LT) were not time-barred as the relation back doctrine applied since: (1) the claims arose out of the same incident as those against the City; (2) the City, as the employer of LT, might be vicariously liable for LT's alleged wrongful conduct committed while he was engaged in the City's business; (3) LT and the City were united in interest; (4) by reason of the employer-employee relationship, LT was charged with notice of the action; and (5) the detainee's failure to name LT in the original complaint was a mistake and not an intentional decision to gain a tactical advantage over the City. Scott v City of New Rochelle, 986 N.Y.S.2d 819, 44 Misc. 3d 366, 2014 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2279 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 2014).

28. Infancy as toll

For claims against a public corporation arising after September 1, 1975, the outer limit of the period during which the claimant may apply for leave to serve late notice of his claim is to be measured by the time limited for the commencement of the action by the claimant against a public corporation, as specified in the current version of subdivision 5 of section 50-e of the General Municipal Law, and not by the one-year period following the happening of the event upon which the claim is based as was required by the predecessor provision, since no serious prejudice to the potentially liable public corporation would result from such a limited retroactive application of the amendment because the public corporation was already at risk with respect to these claims on the amendment's effective date pursuant to the former version of subdivision 5 of section 50-e and there is thus no danger of the revival of ancient claims as distinguished from the mere continuance of ones that have not finally expired. Furthermore, the period during which a court may grant an extension of the time within which to serve notice of claim is tolled during the infancy of the claimant in accordance with CPLR 208, since the amended version of subdivision 5 of section 50-e makes the period during which such an extension may be granted coextensive with the Statute of Limitations governing the claim (General Municipal Law, § 50-i, subd 1, par [c]), and where the time for commencing an action on the claim is tolled under CPLR 208, there will be a concomitant tolling of the time during which late notice of claim may be served. The mere availability of the toll does not in itself mandate that an extension be granted in every case involving a disability covered by CPLR 208, since the decision to grant or deny an extension under subdivision 5 of section 50-e is still purely a discretionary one, and the courts remain free to deny an application for an extension in the interests of fairness to the potentially liable public corporation. Cohen v Pearl River Union

Free School Dist., 51 N.Y.2d 256, 434 N.Y.S.2d 138, 414 N.E.2d 639, 1980 N.Y. LEXIS 2723 (N.Y. 1980).

Subdivision 2 of this section reflects only a legislative intent to supersede the numerous specific statutes which preceded § 50-i, but not to eliminate the applicability of § 60 of the Civil Practice Act (now CPLR § 208) tolling time limitations during infancy, which is still applicable in favor of an infant as against the requirement that a tort action against a municipality be commenced within one year and 90 days after happening of the event upon which the claim is based. La Fave v Franklin, 20 A.D.2d 738, 247 N.Y.S.2d 72, 1964 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4385 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1964).

The time of disability by reason of infancy is not part of the time limited by subdivisions 1 and 2 § 50-i of the General Municipal Law for the commencement of an action against a municipality. Abbatemarco v Brookhaven, 26 A.D.2d 664, 272 N.Y.S.2d 450, 1966 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3733 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1966).

The infancy tolling provisions of CPLR 208 are available to a plaintiff maintaining an action against a municipality notwithstanding the limitations provisions contained in General Municipal Law § 50-i. Corbett v Fayetteville-Manlius Cent. School Dist., 34 A.D.2d 379, 311 N.Y.S.2d 540, 1970 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4361 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1970).

The period in which an extension of time to serve a notice of claim against a public corporation can be granted pursuant to Gen Mun §§ 5-e, 50a in a medical malpractice case is tolled by the infancy provisions of CPLR § 208. Yepez v County of Nassau, 79 A.D.2d 1023, 435 N.Y.S.2d 51, 1981 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 9935 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1981).

In a negligence action against a school district to recover damages for personal injuries, plaintiffs' crossmotion for leave to serve a late notice of claim was properly denied where the crossmotion was made more than one year and 90 days after plaintiff attained his majority, and where the school district's knowledge of the accident and receipt of statements for medical and dental services within 90 days from the date of the accident could not be equated with written notice of the claim. Briganti v Harrison Cent. School Dist., 91 A.D.2d 648, 457 N.Y.S.2d 89, 1982 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 19513 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1982).

A personal injury action against the school district was properly dismissed as barred by the statute of limitations, even though CPLR § 208 tolled the statute of limitations during the infant plaintiff's minority, where the action still had to be brought within the one year and 90 day period contained in Gen Mun Law § 50-i after plaintiff obtained majority, and where the claim was not filed within that period. Corpas v Copiague Union Free School Dist., 100 A.D.2d 951, 475 N.Y.S.2d 76, 1984 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 18092 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1984).

Proceeding seeking leave to file late summons and complaint on City of New York based on claimed toll for infancy should be dismissed since no cause of action exists for leave to file late summons and complaint. Meletiche v City of New York, 260 A.D.2d 385, 686 N.Y.S.2d 316, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3556 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1999).

No toll for infancy would apply where injured infant was represented by her mother as guardian, and by counsel, both of whom were in position to adequately protect her interests. Meletiche v City of New York, 260 A.D.2d 385, 686 N.Y.S.2d 316, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3556 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1999).

In action arising from school playground accident resulting in injuries to infant plaintiff, toll for infancy applied to statute of limitations set forth in CLS Gen Mun § 50-i even though mother timely served notice of claim on defendant school district; thus, infant plaintiff's personal injury claim, commenced more than one year and 90 days after accident, was not time-barred but mother's derivative claim was properly dismissed. Blackburn v Three Village Cent. Sch. Dist., 270 A.D.2d 298, 705 N.Y.S.2d 53, 2000 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2707 (N.Y. App. Term 2000).

Although infancy automatically tolled the statutory period for commencing an action against a municipality, under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i and N.Y. C.P.L.R. 208, the infancy of an injured claimant, standing alone, did not compel the granting of an application for leave to serve a late notice of claim; in determining whether to grant leave to serve a late notice of claim, the court had to consider certain factors, including whether the claim involved an infant, whether the claimant demonstrated a reasonable excuse for failing to timely serve a notice of claim, whether the municipality acquired actual knowledge of the facts constituting the claim within 90 days from its accrual or a reasonable time thereafter, and whether the municipality was substantially prejudiced by the delay, under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-e(5). Nairne v N.Y. City Health & Hosps. Corp., 303 A.D.2d 409, 755 N.Y.S.2d 855, 2003 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2124 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2003).

Trial court properly denied a motion which was, in effect, for leave to serve a late notice of claim upon a department of education (DOE) on behalf of an infant; the mother and the infant failed to show that the DOE acquired timely, actual knowledge of the essential facts of the claim, and did not offer a reasonable excuse for the delay in seeking leave to serve a late notice. Further, the infancy, without any showing of a nexus between the infancy and the delay, was insufficient to constitute a reasonable excuse. Bazile v City of New York, 94 A.D.3d 929, 943 N.Y.S.2d 131, 2012 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2808 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2012).

Amendments to Civil Practice Law and Rules providing that an infant is a person who has not attained the age of 18 years may not be applied so as to result in a finding that the infant's disability, or the appropriate statute of limitations, had expired prior to the effective date of the amendments when the disability or statute of limitations had not yet expired under the original version of the statute. Atwell v Playland Rye Com., 86 Misc. 2d 13, 380 N.Y.S.2d 845, 1975 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3355 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1975), aff'd, Atwell v Rye Playland Com., 58 A.D.2d 636, 396 N.Y.S.2d 39, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12708 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1977).

29. —Particular actions

An action to recover damages for injuries sustained by parents and infant son who ran into an open ditch excavated by the village as untimely commenced and absent a showing of fraud as rightfully dismissed for failure to file timely summonses and complaints upon the village within the statutory period of one year and 90 days; however the infant's action was entitled to the benefit of the tolling provisions of CPLR 208 and his action was timely. Rathbun v Waverly, 35 A.D.2d 227, 315 N.Y.S.2d 237, 1970 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3501 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1970).

Unless infant was ward of county and thus exempt from serving notice of claim upon county and county hospital for injury allegedly result of malpractice in hospital, complaint was required to be dismissed for failure to serve timely notices upon county and hospital. Umlauf v County of Erie, 58 A.D.2d 991, 397 N.Y.S.2d 487, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13203 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1977).

Statute of limitations was tolled during infancy of infant plaintiff who allegedly was injured as result of medical malpractice in county hospital. Umlauf v County of Erie, 58 A.D.2d 991, 397 N.Y.S.2d 487, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13203 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1977).

Where plaintiff did not reach her majority until September 1, 1974, she in effect had until September 1, 1975, plus an additional 90 days, within which to commence negligence action to recover damages for injuries sustained by her at age 12 ½ while performing required physical dexterity test at school on March 27, 1968, and she fulfilled that requirement by serving a summons and complaint in November, 1975. McGill v Board of Education, 59 A.D.2d 888, 399 N.Y.S.2d 41, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 14075 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1977), app. dismissed, 43 N.Y.2d 949, 1978 N.Y. LEXIS 2879 (N.Y. 1978), app. dismissed, 43 N.Y.2d 893, 403 N.Y.S.2d 499, 374 N.E.2d 396, 1978 N.Y. LEXIS 1815 (N.Y. 1978).

In an administratrix' action against a city for wrongful death, and for conscious pain and suffering of her infant children who died in a residential fire, the causes of action for conscious pain and suffering were properly dismissed on the ground of an untimely notice of claim, although the cause of action for wrongful death was properly not dismissed, since the period for serving notice of claim for wrongful death was measured from the appointment of the administratrix, rather than from the date of the fire. Further, the administratrix' motion for leave to file a late notice of claim for conscious pain and suffering was properly denied as untimely where any tolling of the time in which to seek permission to serve a late notice would be improper in that the infancy disability had been removed by the death of the infants on the date of the fire. Gibbons v Troy, 91 A.D.2d 707, 457 N.Y.S.2d 950, 1982 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 19593 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1982).

Since plaintiff's decedent died "immediately," there was no period during which limitation period of CLS Gen Mun § 50-i could be tolled by reason of disability of infancy as to those causes of action concerning decedent infant's personal injuries and conscious pain and suffering. Myrick v County of Suffolk, 139 A.D.2d 633, 527 N.Y.S.2d 273, 1988 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4386 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1988).

In action against municipal defendants brought by decedent's mother on behalf of decedent's infant daughter (his sole distributee), who was born 5 weeks after decedent's death, court erred in applying CLS CPLR § 208 to extend one-year and 90-day statute of limitations to estate's cause of action to recover for decedent's conscious pain and suffering; unlike wrongful death cause of action, action for personal injuries suffered by decedent is personal to decedent. Hidalgo v New York City Health & Hosps. Corp., 210 A.D.2d 481, 620 N.Y.S.2d 471, 1994 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13127 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1994).

IAS court correctly applied one year and 90-day limitation period from date of plaintiff's 18th birthday in action to recover for personal injuries sustained at birth allegedly due to negligence and malpractice of employees of New York City Health and Hospitals Corporation, rather than 3-year limitation period applicable at time when his cause of action accrued, where action was instituted after July 13, 1979 effective date of statutory amendments providing for such one year 90-day period. Lozada by Lozada v Baeck, 225 A.D.2d 405, 640 N.Y.S.2d 3, 1996 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2708 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't), app. denied, 88 N.Y.2d 816, 651 N.Y.S.2d 406, 674 N.E.2d 336, 1996 N.Y. LEXIS 3348 (N.Y. 1996).

Tort action against city would be remitted for decision on infant plaintiff's application for permission to file late notice of claim where Statute of Limitations and time within which to file late notice of claim were tolled by infancy, and defendant did not have opportunity to respond to application because Supreme Court did not address that issue. Perry v City of New York, 238 A.D.2d 326, 656 N.Y.S.2d 301, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3415 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1997).

Infant plaintiffs were not under "disability because of infancy" so as to invoke tolling provisions CLS CPLR § 208, and thus their personal injury action against city was barred by limitations under CLS Gen Mun § 50-i, where their interests were protected by law guardian and counsel, who filed timely notice of claim under CLS Gen Mun § 50-e. Henry v City of New York, 244 A.D.2d 93, 676 N.Y.S.2d 616, 1998 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8805 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1998), rev'd, 94 N.Y.2d 275, 702 N.Y.S.2d 580, 724 N.E.2d 372, 1999 N.Y. LEXIS 3928 (N.Y. 1999).

Although infant plaintiff's guardian, represented by counsel, failed to commence action within applicable one year and 90-day limitations period, infant's tort action against city was not time-barred where initial prosecution of his claim by his legal representatives did not preclude him from invoking disability toll under CLS CPLR § 208; unlike situation of wrongful death action, which at least technically is that of estate, causes of action at issue were in all respects those of infant, who should not be penalized for failures or neglect of his guardian or attorney. Rosado by Olivencia v Langsam Prop. Serv. Corp., 251 A.D.2d 258, 675 N.Y.S.2d 53, 1998 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7791 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1998).

Where plaintiff was 19 years old at time of accident at county playland on July 14, 1974, her disability to commence an action ended on September 1, 1974, the effective date of amendments to Civil Practice Law and Rules providing that an infant is a person who has not attained the age of 18 years, and disability did not continue until she attained age of 21 years. Atwell v Playland Rye Com., 86 Misc. 2d 13, 380 N.Y.S.2d 845, 1975 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3355 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1975), aff'd, Atwell v Rye Playland Com., 58 A.D.2d 636, 396 N.Y.S.2d 39, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12708 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1977).

30. —Derivative actions

The provisions of CPLR 208 which extend the time within which the action may be brought by an infant toll the time limitations of § 50-i of the General Municipal Law during infancy but the suspension of the running of the statute of limitations during infancy does not inure to the benefit of the parent's cause of action for loss of services and medical expenses. Kratz v Dussault, 33 A.D.2d 826, 305 N.Y.S.2d 734, 1969 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2706 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1969).

An action to recover damages for injuries sustained by parents and infant son who ran into an open ditch excavated by the village was untimely commenced and absent a showing of fraud was rightfully dismissed for failure to file timely summonses and complaints upon the village within the statutory period of one year and 90 days; however the infant's action was entitled to the benefit of the tolling provisions of CPLR 208 and his action was timely. Rathbun v Waverly, 35 A.D.2d 227, 315 N.Y.S.2d 237, 1970 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3501 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1970).

Where summons and complaint were served on March 16, 1973, with respect to injuries sustained by infant plaintiff on playground on April 5, 1967, commencement was timely as to infant plaintiff but not as to father, since as to father action was governed by one year plus 90 day limitations. Not suspended by infancy. Sadler v Horvath, 44 A.D.2d 905, 357 N.Y.S.2d 558, 1974 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4894 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1974).

In tort action against city, living infant plaintiff's mother could not claim protection of infancy disability toll under CLS CPLR § 208. Rosado by Olivencia v Langsam Prop. Serv. Corp., 251 A.D.2d 258, 675 N.Y.S.2d 53, 1998 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7791 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1998).

Trial court properly denied the motion of a mother, in her individual capacity, for leave to file a late notice of a personal injury claim pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-e(5) on a department of education after the statute of limitations had expired because the infancy toll, N.Y. C.P.L.R. 208, was personal to the infant and did not extend to a derivative cause of action. Bazile v City of New York, 94 A.D.3d 929, 943 N.Y.S.2d 131, 2012 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2808 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2012).

Where plaintiffs, an infant and his mother, timely served a notice of claim on a town alleging its nonfunctioning street lights caused the infant to be hit by a car, their amended notice of claim with respect to the mother's derivative claim was time-barred because the statute of limitations expired before plaintiffs moved to serve a late notice of claim, and the toll for infancy pursuant to N.Y. C.P.L.R. 208 did not apply to a parent's derivative cause of action. Palacios v Town of N. Hempstead, 165 A.D.3d 967, 86 N.Y.S.3d 117, 2018 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6841 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2018).

Trial court acted within its discretion by not allowing a late notice of claim to be served upon the city on behalf of the mother in her individual capacity because the statute of limitations for her derivative cause of action had expired at the time the motion was made. E.R. v Windham, 181 A.D.3d 736, 122 N.Y.S.3d 106, 2020 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1684 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2020).

Although derivative cause of action of father and natural guardian of infant plaintiffs had expired, this section was not a bar to the infants' cause of action. Berment v County of Erie, 53 Misc. 2d 366, 278 N.Y.S.2d 551, 1967 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1643 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1967).

Father's derivative cause of action against county playland commission for injuries sustained by daughter in bumper car-ride collision at playland was barred by statute requiring action against county playland commission to be commenced within period of nine months from date of the accident, even if daughter's cause of action survived by reason of her infancy at time of the accident. Atwell v Playland Rye Com., 86 Misc. 2d 13, 380 N.Y.S.2d 845, 1975 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3355 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1975), aff'd, Atwell v Rye Playland Com., 58 A.D.2d 636, 396 N.Y.S.2d 39, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12708 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1977).

31. Waiting period before commencement of action

A provision formerly appeared in § 50-c requiring a 30-day time lapse between service of notice of claim and commencement of suit "against the municipality and the appointee," which was deemed applicable only where suit was against both jointly, not where it was against the appointee only. Circle Cab Corp. v Rizzuto, 295 N.Y.S. 185, 162 Misc. 547, 1937 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1644 (N.Y. Mun. Ct. 1937).

The provision for 30 days' notice in the above statute extends the 3 months' statute of limitations contained in General Municipal Law § 71. Mr. Paint Shop, Inc. v Rochester, 44 Misc. 2d 684, 254 N.Y.S.2d 728, 1964 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1175 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1964).

32. —Action commencement before waiting period has elapsed

A complaint against a town fails to state a cause of action where it is based upon a claim within the coverage of § 50-e and it appears on the face of the complaint that 30 days had not elapsed between service of notice under that section and commencement of action against the town. Renwick v Allegany, 18 A.D.2d 877, 236 N.Y.S.2d 902, 1963 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4731 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1963).

In an action resulting from a fall allegedly sustained on a municipal golf course, as to which plaintiffs had served an untimely notice of claim on defendant-town had moved to have the notice declared duly served pursuant to Gen Mun Law §§ 50-e and 50-i, and, while the decision on the motion was still pending, had served a summons and complaint alleging compliance with service of the notice of claim requirement of Gen Mun Law § 50-e, plaintiffs were not entitled to default judgment when defendant failed to comply with provisions of CPLR § 320(a) requiring it to move, appear and/or answer within 20 days where, when plaintiffs had moved to validate their notice of claim, defendant, being on notice of such motion, could reasonably have relied on the fact that plaintiffs themselves realized that their notice was deficient so that when the complaint had been received by defendant, before the motion to validate had been decided, defendant could again reasonably rely on the fact that compliance with Gen Mun Law § 50-e, as alleged in the complaint, could only be considered complete if plaintiffs' motion to validate was granted, which did not happen until well after the complaint was served, and the reasonable reliance permitted defendant under the circumstances provided sufficient excuse for delay or default in answering, especially since no prejudice whatever had been shown by plaintiff. Kilbride v Fallsburg, 108 A.D.2d 1100, 485 N.Y.S.2d 668, 1985 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 43397 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1985).

Trial court properly dismissed cause of action for malicious prosecution against city where claim was filed on July 20, 1982, but cause did not accrue until April 28, 1983 when claimant was acquitted of criminal charges, and though claimant attached copy of notice of claim to complaint, he did not serve new notice of claim. McCoy v Travelers Ins. Cos., 152 A.D.2d 955, 543 N.Y.S.2d 840, 1989 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 9844 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1989).

Defense motion to dismiss personal injury complaint would be granted without prejudice to plaintiff serving new complaint on complying with CLS Gen Mun § 50-h(1), pursuant to CLS CPLR § 205, despite expiration of one-year-and-90-day limitation period of CLS Gen Mun § 50-i. Secor v Town of Orangetown, 250 A.D.2d 588, 672 N.Y.S.2d 392, 1998 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4903 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1998)).

A cross motion by defendant city to accelerate an affirmative defense seeking to dismiss plaintiffs' complaint in a personal injury action as fatally defective under Gen Mun Law § 50-i in that the action was commenced within 30 days after the filing of the notice of claim would be denied, where the city's answer both asserted and denied that there had been compliance with the statute and since there was no conceivable prejudice in denying the cross motion in view of the fact that the city apparently had no intention of adjusting the claim nor ever exhibited such an intention. Torres v New York, 123 Misc. 2d 107, 473 N.Y.S.2d 101, 1984 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2950 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1984).

In wrongful death action against city, requirements of CLS Gen Mun § 50-i(1)(b) were not satisfied by filing and service of amended complaint, where original complaint was never served on defendants, who thus were not given notice of action within 2-year limitations period. Mroz v City of Tonawanda, 999 F. Supp. 436, 1998 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 4577 (W.D.N.Y. 1998).

Mother's wrongful death claim on behalf of son who committed suicide on February 5, 1994 after rough treatment by police is time-barred, even though she was appointed administratrix on January 30, 1996, filed summons and complaint in state court and served defendants with notice of claim on February 2, 1996, and action was timely commenced within 2-year wrongful death statute of limitations, because complaint did not and could not allege that 30 days had elapsed since service of notice of claim, which is precondition of suit against municipality and its police officers imposed by CLS Gen Mun Law § 50-i(1)(b). Mroz v City of Tonawanda, 999 F. Supp. 436, 1998 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 4577 (W.D.N.Y. 1998).

33. —Pleading requirements

Default judgment obtained against a municipality is not subject to motion to vacate because the complaint on the basis of which such judgment was obtained did not contain an allegation that 30 days had elapsed since service of notice of claim, as required by this section, the defect not being jurisdictional. Cochrane v Gates, 18 A.D.2d 1048, 238 N.Y.S.2d 411, 1963 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4244 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1963).

Failure of a complaint against a municipality to allege that more than 30 days have elapsed since service of notice of claim does not affect jurisdiction of the court in which the action was brought to proceed to judgment in the absence of any objection to sufficiency of the complaint. Cochrane v Gates, 18 A.D.2d 1048, 238 N.Y.S.2d 411, 1963 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4244 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1963).

The complaint in a tort action against a school district is required to contain the allegation that 30 days have elapsed since filing of the notice of claim, since § 3813, subd. 2 of the Education Law requires filing of notice of claim in accordance with § 50-e. Widger v Central School Dist., 20 A.D.2d 296, 247 N.Y.S.2d 364, 1964 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4290 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1964).

Failure of personal injury claim against school board to allege that 30 days had elapsed since service of notice of claim as required by General Municipal Law § 50-i was not jurisdictional. Snyder v Board of Education, 42 A.D.2d 912, 347 N.Y.S.2d 727, 1973 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3550 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1973).

34. Applicability to particular entities; city

Where a municipal employee is operating a municipally owned vehicle within the scope of his employment at the time of an accident and is entitled to be idemnified under General Municipal Law § 50-b, the municipality is the real party defendant in interest and the provisions of § 50-e and § 50-i of the General Municipal Law relative to the service of a notice of claim and the short statute of limitations of one year and 90 days is applicable to any action against the employee arising therefrom. Fitzgerald v Lyons, 39 A.D.2d 473, 336 N.Y.S.2d 940, 1972 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3606 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1972).

In an action brought by the original low bidder for a city construction contract, alleging that the city appropriated its design and incorporated it into specifications accompanying a second advertisement for bids after the first bidding procedure was declared illegal, the city's motion to dismiss the complaint was properly granted where the bidder did not comply with notice requirements in his filing of a previous notice of claim that referred only to the city's alleged failure to carry out the original bidding procedure in conformity with law, where the previous notice was in connection with a complaint that was dismissed for failure to state a cause of action, and where the instant causes of action seeking money damages for the city's alleged failure to discharge its duty by providing compensation for the taking of private property for public use were not included in the original notice of claim. Phelps Steel, Inc. v Glens Falls, 89 A.D.2d 652, 453 N.Y.S.2d 118, 1982 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 17768 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1982).

Plaintiff's service of notice of claim against city was untimely where event on which claim was based was city's alleged negligent failure to supervise installation of sewer line by town in 1988. Scarzfava v City of Newburgh, 255 A.D.2d 436, 680 N.Y.S.2d 595, 1998 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11994 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1998).

Regarding the libel action against the village, for the alleged wrongful act of one of its officials, the correction officer was required to comply with the notice of claim requirement set forth in N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-e; it thus followed that the time limitation in N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i(1)(c) applied. Ruggiero v Phillips, 292 A.D.2d 41, 739 N.Y.S.2d 797, 2002 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2741 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2002).

Action seeking money damages allegedly caused by the failure of the city to discharge a duty imposed upon it by law, specifically to provide a wage differential, sounded in tort; therefore, where the decedent failed to serve his claim upon the city within 90 days after the claim arose, pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-e, or within the statute of limitations period of one year and 90 days, pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law §§ 50-e and 50-i, the action was dismissed. Estate of Kalis v City of Buffalo, 306 A.D.2d 932, 762 N.Y.S.2d 195, 2003 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6774 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't), app. denied, 100 N.Y.2d 515, 769 N.Y.S.2d 202, 801 N.E.2d 423, 2003 N.Y. LEXIS 3375 (N.Y. 2003).

Even though no statute explicitly identified a public library as a public corporation entitled to notice of personal injury claims, a library operated on land owned by a school district that was largely funded by the school district clearly qualified as a municipal public corporation and was entitled to timely notice of a claim by a patron injured in a fall on the sidewalk approaching the library. Bovich v East Meadow Pub. Lib., 16 A.D.3d 11, 789 N.Y.S.2d 511, 2005 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1354 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2005).

Trial court did not err in granting a city summary judgment on plaintiff's common law harassment claim, based on the city's issuance of notices of violation, as New York did not recognize that cause of action and plaintiff failed to serve a timely notice of claim on the city. Shahid v City of New York, 144 A.D.3d 1127, 43 N.Y.S.3d 88, 2016 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7907 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2016).

Trial court properly granted a city's motion to dismiss an injured worker's complaint and denied his cross-motion for leave to amend the complaint because he failed to serve a timely notice of claim, and his proposed complaint alleging a "maritime tort," in addition to the Labor Law causes of action, was patently devoid of merit inasmuch as the accident allegedly occurred at a location not subject to maritime jurisdiction. Fernandez v City of New York, 148 A.D.3d 995, 51 N.Y.S.3d 100, 2017 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1986 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2017).

This section, in requiring that an action must be commenced within one year and 90 days after the accident, applies not only to an action against the city but also to an action against a city employee for whose neglect or misconduct the city is responsible. Hahin v Buffalo, 41 Misc. 2d 1018, 246 N.Y.S.2d 917, 1964 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2043 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1964).

By virtue of ¶ 2 of §§ 50-i and 101 of the General Construction Law, the General Municipal Law prevails over a general statute of limitations with respect to the commencement of actions in tort against a public corporation, and with respect to an action for libel and slander instituted against two city employees and the city the provisions of General Municipal Law § 50-i apply not only to the action against the city but also to the action against the city's employees, so that the employee's asserted defense pursuant to CPLR 215 was invalid. Sorge v New York, 56 Misc. 2d 414, 288 N.Y.S.2d 787, 1968 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1650 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1968).

Where both the employees and the City of New York are sued as defendants, and the employees are entitled to indemnity, then a claim against all the defendants must be filed with the city in accordance with General Municipal Law § 50-e and suit must be instituted pursuant to General Municipal Law § 50-i. Sorge v New York, 56 Misc. 2d 414, 288 N.Y.S.2d 787, 1968 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1650 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1968).

Plaintiff, whose complaint against the City of New York based upon the conduct of a marshal in carrying out an eviction was dismissed because a marshal is not an agent, servant or employee of the city, is not granted leave to replead and assert a new cause of action in bailment against the city since such claim is now time-barred. Iorio v New York, 96 Misc. 2d 955, 410 N.Y.S.2d 195, 1978 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2711 (N.Y. Civ. Ct. 1978).

Action against City of New York by Pennsylvania resident who was riparian owner of land along Delaware river to recover damages resulting from diversion of water alleged a continuing trespass and delay in filing notice of claim barred any claim for damages incurred more than 90 days prior to filing. Gregory v New York, 346 F. Supp. 140, 1972 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 12974 (S.D.N.Y. 1972), disapproved, Fountain v Metropolitan Atlanta Rapid Transit Authority, 678 F.2d 1038, 1982 U.S. App. LEXIS 18222 (11th Cir. 1982).

Recycling company's tortious-interference with prospective advantage claim against a city was dismissed for failure to comply with N.Y. Gen. Mun. Laws §§ 50-e(1)(a) and 50-i(1) for the failure to timely serve a notice of claim. Further, the company could not assert equitable estoppel to prevent the dismissal as there was no allegation that the city induced the company not to serve a notice of claim within 90 days of accrual of the company's cause of action. Allocco Recycling, Ltd. v Doherty, 378 F. Supp. 2d 348, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 14269 (S.D.N.Y. 2005).

35. —County

In an action to determine adverse claims of title to real estate and to recover damages for trespass brought against a town and county, it was held that no statutory notice of claim was necessary as a prerequisite to the action against the town. However, the action against the county was governed by § 52 of the County Law, and plaintiff could not maintain such an action without compliance with §§ 50-e and 50-i of the General Municipal Law. Seabreeze Marina at Smithtown, Inc. v Smithtown, 25 A.D.2d 780, 269 N.Y.S.2d 662, 1966 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4497 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1966).

In wrongful death action against county based on improper highway maintenance, running of statute of limitations was governed by statute relating to liability of counties for injuries caused by defective highways, and not by General Municipal Law, so that the time began to run from the service of notice of claim and not from the time of accident. Treib v County of Dutchess, 56 A.D.2d 866, 392 N.Y.S.2d 473, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11228 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't), app. dismissed, 42 N.Y.2d 824, 1977 N.Y. LEXIS 3951 (N.Y. 1977).

Although it is unnecessary to file a notice of claim in an equitable action against a county seeking only injunctive relief, inasmuch as any claim or notice of claim against a county for damages arising at law or in equity must be made and served in compliance with section 50-e of the General Municipal Law and the action must be commenced pursuant to the provisions of section 50-i of the General Municipal Law (County Law, § 52), if plaintiffs do not file a notice of claim pursuant to section 52 of the County Law and the complaint seeks both injunctive and monetary relief, a motion to dismiss the cause of action for damages is granted, leaving a viable cause of action for injunctive relief; plaintiffs should not be permitted to frustrate the legitimate purposes of the notice-of-claim statutes by grafting a claim for monetary damages to a claim seeking injunctive relief. Malcuria v Seneca, 66 A.D.2d 421, 414 N.Y.S.2d 401, 1979 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10029 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1979).

Any claim or notice of claim against a county for damages arising at law or in equity must be made and served in compliance with section 50-e of the General Municipal Law and the action must be commenced pursuant to the provisions of section 50-i of the General Municipal Law (County Law, § 52); in an equitable action seeking only injunctive relief, it is unnecessary to file a notice of claim. Malcuria v Seneca, 66 A.D.2d 421, 414 N.Y.S.2d 401, 1979 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10029 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1979).

In a wrongful death action against a county arising from circumstances indicating that plaintiff's decedent, while a prisoner in the custody of the county, was hospitalized on August 22, 1979, and from that date until his death on December 25, 1979, decedent was continuously in a coma, and a notice of claim was filed on March 25, 1980 but no application for leave to file a late notice of claim was made until November 18, 1982, an order granting the decedent's administrator's application for leave to file a late notice of claim was erroneous since, giving plaintiff the benefit of tolling of the statute of limitations, under CPLR § 208, during the entire period that he was in a coma, the application was not made until approximately 35 months after the disability ceased and after the expiration of the maximum period permitted by Gen Mun Law §§ 50-e, 50-i. Donovan v County of Niagara, 100 A.D.2d 740, 473 N.Y.S.2d 635, 1984 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 17744 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1984), aff'd, 64 N.Y.2d 973, 489 N.Y.S.2d 61, 478 N.E.2d 202, 1985 N.Y. LEXIS 16673 (N.Y. 1985).

In action for wrongful autopsy performed by county medical examiner, court erred in dismissing complaint as time barred under one-year limitation period applicable to coroners under CLS CPLR § 215(1), for regardless of whether offices of medical examiner and coroner were same, action was brought against county, not medical examiner, so that one-year 90-day limitation period of CLS Gen Mun § 50-i was applicable. Estate of Adkins v County of Nassau, 141 A.D.2d 603, 529 N.Y.S.2d 524, 1988 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6589 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1988).

In action under Human Rights Law, in which court dismissed claim that county employee was subjected to retaliatory demotion by certain county official because plaintiffs failed to allege discriminatory intent or to allege that other county defendants acquiesced in demotion, plaintiffs were properly permitted to replead claim against individual defendants; however, leave to replead claim against county should have been denied, since notice of claim was not filed within 90 days, and motion to file late notice was not made within period of statute of limitations. Summers v County of Monroe, 147 A.D.2d 949, 537 N.Y.S.2d 703, 1989 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1294 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't), app. dismissed, 74 N.Y.2d 735, 544 N.Y.S.2d 819, 543 N.E.2d 84, 1989 N.Y. LEXIS 4950 (N.Y. 1989).

In tort action against county defendants, 90-day notice provision of CLS Gen Mun § 50-i(1)(a) applied where plaintiff did not request extension or allege that county employees acted beyond scope of their employment, and plaintiff merely asserted that employees' acts, in furtherance of their duties, should not be condoned as "municipal functions." Pravda v County of Saratoga, 255 A.D.2d 717, 680 N.Y.S.2d 705, 1998 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11901 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1998), app. dismissed, 93 N.Y.2d 1000, 695 N.Y.S.2d 745, 717 N.E.2d 1082, 1999 N.Y. LEXIS 1963 (N.Y. 1999), cert. denied, 528 U.S. 1063, 120 S. Ct. 619, 145 L. Ed. 2d 513, 1999 U.S. LEXIS 8308 (U.S. 1999).

In a medical malpractice action, the trial court properly rejected the patient's claim that the continuous treatment doctrine tolled the statute of limitations, as the patient did not rebut the county medical center's showing that there was no relationship between the medical center and the subsequently treating hospital; thus, summary judgment was properly granted to medical center for the patient's failure to commence the action within the one-year and 90-day statute of limitations contained in N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i. Conway v Nassau County Med. Ctr., 298 A.D.2d 423, 748 N.Y.S.2d 390, 2002 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 9870 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2002).

County caseworker, accompanied police officers who entered the arrestee's home, conducted a search, discovered marihuana and arrested her; after the criminal charge was dismissed, the arrestee filed an action alleging a violation of her Fourth Amendment rights, pursuant to 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983, and her state constitutional rights. Because the record did not indicate that the arrestee timely filed a notice of claim and the complaint was not filed within one year and 90 days of the date the action accrued, it did not appear the arrestee could prevail in her cause of action alleging a state constitutional tort against the county. Pierce v Village of Horseheads Police Dept., 107 A.D.3d 1354, 970 N.Y.S.2d 95, 2013 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4775 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2013).

Trial court was statutorily prohibited from extending the time in which an inmate had to serve her notice of claim upon the county because the inmate's failure to file her 2013 application with the proper clerk amounted to a nonwaivable jurisdictional defect, rendering the proceeding a nullity, and, as such, the inmate's 2015 submissions did not relate back to her 2013 attempted application. Matter of Dougherty v County of Greene, 161 A.D.3d 1253, 76 N.Y.S.3d 648, 2018 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3146 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2018).

Worker's fraud claim against the county, alleging the fraud was the concealment of the presence of asbestos at the hockey arena, was time-barred because the worker admitted he became aware on March 24, 2012, but commenced the instant action more than 1 year and 90 days after his discovery of the alleged fraud. O'Brien v County of Nassau, 164 A.D.3d 684, 83 N.Y.S.3d 311, 2018 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5716 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2018).

Fact that county first initiated litigation against defendant motorist does not relieve the defendant from complying with the provisions of General Municipal Law §§ 50-e and 50-i relating to service of notice of claim, where the defendant seeks affirmative relief by way of a counterclaim, and counterclaim should be dismissed in the absence of such compliance. County of Nassau v Wolfe, 51 Misc. 2d 848, 273 N.Y.S.2d 984, 1966 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1410 (N.Y. Dist. Ct. 1966).

Action against Town Justice, town and county for malicious prosecution, false arrest and false imprisonment, which, as to county, was based on acts of deputy sheriff, was subject to limitations period of one year and 90 days provided by statute governing actions against, inter alia, a town or county, rather than one-year period prescribed for actions against, inter alia, a sheriff or for, inter alia, false imprisonment or malicious prosecution. Szerlip v Finnegan, 77 Misc. 2d 655, 354 N.Y.S.2d 555, 1974 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1209 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1974), aff'd, 47 A.D.2d 603, 365 N.Y.S.2d 1016, 1975 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13000 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1975).

A medical malpractice action commenced against defendant physician, who treated plaintiff solely as a county employee, was barred by Gen Mun Law § 50-i where the action was not commenced within one year and 90 days of the accident, in that the provisions of said section apply not only to an action against a municipality but also to an action against the municipality's employee. Wahrmann v County of Nassau, 114 Misc. 2d 89, 450 N.Y.S.2d 742, 1982 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3439 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1982).

Inmate's motion for leave to amend was denied because amendment would be futile when there was insufficient evidence to support a finding that the inmate complied with the notice of claim requirements before filing his state law claims against the county and the county officials, pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law §§ 50-d, 50-e, and 50-i, and as required by N.Y. County Law § 52. Although there were provisions under N.Y. Mun. Law § 50-e for addressing a late notice of claim, such a late claim needed to be addressed by a state court and not by the federal district court if the inmate wanted to pursue state law claims against the county and the county officials. Horvath v Daniel, 423 F. Supp. 2d 421, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 18439 (S.D.N.Y. 2006).

Battery claims that a former prisoner asserted against a county were barred by N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50 because the prisoner did not file timely notices of claim as required by N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-e and the prisoner's action was filed after the expiration of the one-year-and-ninety-day statute of limitations set forth in N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i(1). Varricchio v County of Nassau, 702 F. Supp. 2d 40, 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 24976 (E.D.N.Y. 2010).

36. —Hospitals

City hospital was not estopped, on grounds of its alleged failure to publicize its municipal status, from asserting defense to malpractice action that statutes required 90-day notice of claim against it. Guarrera v Lee Mem. Hosp., 51 A.D.2d 867, 380 N.Y.S.2d 161, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11485 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't), app. dismissed, 39 N.Y.2d 942, 1976 N.Y. LEXIS 3538 (N.Y. 1976).

Adoptive father's cause of action against county for adoptive's infant's injuries arising out of claimed medical malpractice of physician in county hospital was barred by applicable statute of limitations. Umlauf v County of Erie, 58 A.D.2d 991, 397 N.Y.S.2d 487, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13203 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1977).

In a malpractice action arising out of the defendant doctor's allegedly negligent treatment of plaintiff at a New York City ambulatory care facility, the defendant's motion for summary judgment dismissing the complaint is granted, the Court of Appeals having determinined on a prior appeal involving the defendant's attempt to implead the city that the facility was a public institution maintained in part by the City of New York within the meaning of subdivision 1 of section 50-d of the General Municipal Law and that, accordingly, the city was required to indemnify the doctor, since plaintiff failed to comply with subdivision 2 of section 50-d of the General Municipal Law in that no notice of claim was served on the city pursuant to section 50-e of the General Municipal Law and the action was commenced well beyond the one-year and three-month Statute of Limitations provided in section 50-i of the General Municipal Law; the fact that the city did not interpose the statutory defenses in the prior impleader action does not require denial of the motion, since plaintiff was in no way misled by the city's previous position that under a contractual arrangement it was not required to indemnify the defendant doctor and in no way relied on it, and, moreover, the motion for summary judgment was brought by the defendant doctor. Additionally, the notice of claim and short Statute of Limitations provisions of sections 50-e and 50-i are defenses which may be raised by the doctor even though he, and not the city, was sued, and defendant is not estopped from interposing the statutory defenses since there was no evidence that the city had entered into arrangements with regard to the facility that had the capacity to, and in fact did, mislead the plaintiff to her detriment. Norr v Spiegler, 72 A.D.2d 20, 423 N.Y.S.2d 177, 1980 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 9653 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1980), aff'd, 53 N.Y.2d 661, 438 N.Y.S.2d 1000, 421 N.E.2d 120, 1981 N.Y. LEXIS 2319 (N.Y. 1981).

In a medical malpractice action, a motion for summary judgment by defendant municipality on the ground that the action was barred by the statute of limitations was properly denied where, under the circumstances, the "continuous treatment" doctrine was applicable to toll operation of the statutory period. Petrushansky v New York City Health & Hospitals Corp., 102 A.D.2d 819, 476 N.Y.S.2d 378, 1984 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 18992 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1984).

Coney Island Medical Group (CIMG), as well as doctors who serviced Coney Island Hospital, were employees of Health and Hospitals Corporation of New York City (HHC) by terms of affiliation agreement between CIMG and HHC, and were thus entitled to benefits of abbreviated period of limitation under CLS Gen Mun § 50-i. DeGradi v Coney Island Medical Group, P. C., 172 A.D.2d 582, 568 N.Y.S.2d 412, 1991 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4672 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't), app. denied, 78 N.Y.2d 860, 576 N.Y.S.2d 218, 582 N.E.2d 601, 1991 N.Y. LEXIS 4686 (N.Y. 1991).

One-year-and-90-day statute of limitations, applicable in medical malpractice action against New York City Health and Hospitals Corporation (HHC) and several of its employees, was not tolled during waiting period between demand by HHC for hearing under CLS Gen Mun § 50-h and date of hearing; court's prior holding in Hauptman v New York City Health and Hospitals Corporation, 162 AD2d 588, was no longer to be followed. Mignott v New York City Health & Hosps. Corp., 250 A.D.2d 165, 680 N.Y.S.2d 565, 1998 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12391 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1998), app. denied, 93 N.Y.2d 807, 691 N.Y.S.2d 1, 712 N.E.2d 1244, 1999 N.Y. LEXIS 1168 (N.Y. 1999).

Plaintiffs in medical malpractice action failed to comply with conditions precedent to commencing action, as specified in CLS Gen Mun §§ 50-e and 50-i, where plaintiffs' counsel, with minimum effort, could have surmised that it was necessary to file notice of claim, because name at top of all prenatal care records for plaintiff patient, which were on file with defendant hospital's labor and delivery unit, was Suffolk County Department of Health Services. Fuentes v Brookhaven Mem'l Hosp., 251 A.D.2d 540, 674 N.Y.S.2d 744, 1998 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7535 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1998).

Defendant county hospital in medical malpractice action was not estopped from asserting plaintiffs' failure to comply with conditions precedent to commencing action, as specified in CLS Gen Mun §§ 50-e and 50-i, where action was commenced 2 ½ years after occurrence of alleged malpractice, and plaintiffs failed to show when they hired their counsel or that counsel was misled so as to affect filing of notice of claim. Fuentes v Brookhaven Mem'l Hosp., 251 A.D.2d 540, 674 N.Y.S.2d 744, 1998 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7535 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1998).

Although a hospital delayed in furnishing a complete medical file to a patient, the patient was not induced to refrain from filing suit or conducting an investigation into the relevant facts; the trial court erred in denying the hospital's motion to dismiss the patient's malpractice claim for failure to serve a timely N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law §§ 50-e, 50-i notice of claim. Walker v New York City Health & Hosps. Corp., 36 A.D.3d 509, 828 N.Y.S.2d 365, 2007 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 598 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 2007).

A motion by defendant public benefit corporation to dismiss a wrongful death action by plaintiff, who was appointed administratrix 16 months after decedent's death, on the basis that the notice of claim was untimely would be denied, since the New York City Health and Hospitals Corporation Act § 20(2) requires that an action against the corporation be commenced within one year and 90 days after the cause of action accrued, and a personal representative's right to file a notice of claim does not accrue until the date of appointment under EPTL § 5-4.1; Gen Mun Law § 50-i(1) does not apply to public benefit corporations under the provisions of the Act. St. Hill v New York City Health & Hospitals Corp., 112 Misc. 2d 1008, 448 N.Y.S.2d 105, 1982 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3231 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1982).

Personal injury complaint against New York City Health and Hospitals Corporation (NYCHH) was not time-barred inasmuch as stay was in force during pendency of hearing on NYCHH's demand for examination of claimant under CLS Gen Mun § 50-h; restriction against extending period of limitations (CLS Gen Mun § 50-i) was inapplicable to NYCHH, and thus absent express restriction, tolling provision of CLS CPLR § 204 applied. Sobkowicz v New York City Health & Hospitals Corp., 137 Misc. 2d 121, 520 N.Y.S.2d 103, 1987 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2657 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1987).

Notice of claim was a condition precedent to suit against hospital which was a department of the County of Greene and therefore was entitled to all of the immunity and protection afforded the county itself. Pope v Memorial Hospital of Greene County, 387 F. Supp. 331, 1974 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 6276 (S.D.N.Y. 1974).

37. —Playland Commission

Actions against county playland commission must normally be commenced within period of nine months from date of the accident and not within the one-year and 90-day period under the General Municipal Law. Atwell v Playland Rye Com., 86 Misc. 2d 13, 380 N.Y.S.2d 845, 1975 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3355 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1975), aff'd, Atwell v Rye Playland Com., 58 A.D.2d 636, 396 N.Y.S.2d 39, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12708 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1977).

Since the provisions of this section are specifically limited to actions against a "city, county, town, or village," and the Westchester County Playland Commission is a "public benefit corporation," not within any of such terms, this section is inapplicable to extend the time to sue such commission on a claim for damages for personal injuries sustained, as against the limitations contained in ch. 826 § 10 of the Laws of 1940, specially applicable to claims and actions against the Commission. Percudani v Westchester County Playland Com., 226 N.Y.S.2d 517, 1962 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 4249 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1962).

38. —School district

Under CPLR § 203, subd b(6), claim against school district and bus driver for personal injuries arising from collision with school bus was validly commenced within the statutory period of one year and 90 days (General Municipal Law § 50-i, subd 1(c)) by proper service of summons and complaint upon bus driver, even though claim, properly noticed to school district was not served upon proper school official. Jordan v Westhill Cent. School Dist., 42 A.D.2d 1043, 348 N.Y.S.2d 620, 1973 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3308 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1973).

In an action brought by an infant and her mother against the City of New York and the Board of Education for personal injuries sustained by the infant on the school premises, although the infant's disability tolled the applicable statute of limitations under CPLR § 208, service of notice of claim upon the city did not constitute service upon the Board which was a separate and distinct entity. Therefore the Board was never made party to the action and the infant was not entitled to relief. Gold v New York, 80 A.D.2d 138, 437 N.Y.S.2d 973, 1981 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 9758 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1981).

Petitioner properly made application for leave to file late notice of claim against school district within one-year-and-90-day period where (1) on last day of period, petitioner obtained order to show cause seeking permission to file late notice, (2) process server learned that president of board of education was not available and thus went to school district administrative offices and asked to see superintendent, (3) process server was informed that superintendent would not be available until next day and then asked if there was attendance officer available to accept service, (4) process server served papers on person to whom was directed, and (5) school district asserted that papers were served on secretary and not on supervisor of attendance; school district received actual notice in ample time, so that application for leave to file late notice of claim was made when papers were served and not when they were actually received by school officer as required by CLS CPLR § 311(7). Ireland v Hinkle, 178 A.D.2d 823, 577 N.Y.S.2d 541, 1991 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 16725 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1991).

Court erred in dismissing public school teacher's complaint against her principal on ground that teacher failed to serve notice of claim on city board of education as required by CLS Educ § 3813(2), since statute requires notice of claim only when alleged tort was committed by employee acting in discharge of duties within scope of employment, and allegations of complaint, which was filed against defendant individually, reflected conduct bearing no relation to proper discharge of duties of defendant as school principal. Radvany v Jones, 184 A.D.2d 349, 585 N.Y.S.2d 343, 1992 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8115 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1992).

Personal injury claim against school district was properly dismissed where (1) plaintiff did not serve timely notice of claim, (2) plaintiff's cross motion for leave to serve late notice of claim was made over one year and 90 days after accrual of claim, and (3) thus, court did not have authority to grant cross motion. Warren v Baldwin Union Free Sch. Dist., 281 A.D.2d 413, 721 N.Y.S.2d 289, 2001 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2046 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2001).

Appeals court reversed a trial court order that had granted a land owner permission to file a late (under N.Y. Educ. Law 3813(2) and N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law 50-e(1)(a) as being served more than 90 days after the owner's claim accrued) notice of claim against a school for its sewer discharges; the trial court's permission could not be granted since the N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i(1) one-year and 90-day statute of limitations period had expired. Schwinghammer v Sullivan W. Cent. Sch. Dist., 2 A.D.3d 1126, 768 N.Y.S.2d 696, 2003 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13534 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2003).

Lower court's denial of an application for leave to file late notice to the municipal school district and other related municipal agencies was affirmed; fact that the injured party was an infant, by itself, did not excuse the filing of a timely notice to the agencies, and petitioners had failed to establish any reasonable excuse for the delay, particularly when there was no nexus between the injured party's infancy and the delay in serving notice. Rennell S. v N. Junior High Sch., 12 A.D.3d 518, 784 N.Y.S.2d 623, 2004 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13663 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2004).

Trial court properly granted a school district's motion for summary judgment in a student athlete's personal injury action and denied the student's cross-motion for leave to serve an amended complaint because the student failed to serve a timely notice of claim or commence a timely proceeding for leave to serve a late notice of claim, there was no evidence in the record demonstrating that the district engaged in any misleading conduct that would support a finding of equitable estoppel, the district's participation in pretrial discovery did not preclude it from raising the untimeliness of the notice of claim, and the student's proposed amendment was palpably insufficient or devoid of merit. Sanchez v Jericho Sch. Dist., 180 A.D.3d 828, 120 N.Y.S.3d 163, 2020 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1130 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2020).

Action, which was brought by automobile driver to recover for injuries allegedly sustained in collision with school bus and which was not commenced within one year and 90 days after collision, was barred under statute providing that action against school district for injuries allegedly sustained by reason of negligence or wrongful act of school district or its employee must be commenced within one year and 90 days after happening of event upon which claim is based, despite automobile driver's claim that she did not incur necessary hospital, medical and prescription drug charges within statutory time period and thus could not have commenced suit within such period. Cota v Madison Cent. School Dist., 89 Misc. 2d 646, 392 N.Y.S.2d 233, 1977 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1913 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1977), aff'd, 62 A.D.2d 1083, 404 N.Y.S.2d 547, 1978 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11178 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1978).

Education Law § 3813 and General Municipal Law § 50-i were the most appropriate statutes relating to limitations on bringing a Fourteenth Amendment claim against a school district for damages relating to termination of probationary position and teaching license. Lombard v Board of Education, 440 F. Supp. 577, 1977 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 12936 (E.D.N.Y. 1977).

Teacher's notice to a school district of her claims of slander, libel, defamation, prima facie tort, and intentional infliction of emotional distress substantially complied with N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-1 for purposes of N.Y. Educ. Law § 3813(2) because the teacher's EEOC charge, which was served on an officer of the school district, alleged a retaliatory investigation against her into her character and job performance and that she was falsely accused of selling drugs to and having sex with students, such that amendment was permitted under Fed. R. Civ. P. 15(a). Carlson v Geneva City Sch. Dist., 679 F. Supp. 2d 355, 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 1556 (W.D.N.Y. 2010).

Student failed to provide adequate and timely notice of her claim against a school district and others because the notice did not adequately advise of the exact nature of the claim and an attempted amendment of the notice was not timely. Tyrrell v Seaford Union Free Sch. Dist., 792 F. Supp. 2d 601, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 61418 (E.D.N.Y. 2011).

A town may not pay a claim for damage to real property where the claimant has failed to give notice within 90 days or such additional time as the court might allow. 1966 Ops St Compt File #385.

39. —Town

In an action to determine adverse claims of title to real estate and to recover damages for trespass brought against a town and county, it was held that no statutory notice of claim was necessary as a prerequisite to the action against the town. However, the action against the county was governed by § 52 of the County Law, and plaintiff could not maintain such an action without compliance with §§ 50-e and 50-i of the General Municipal Law. Seabreeze Marina at Smithtown, Inc. v Smithtown, 25 A.D.2d 780, 269 N.Y.S.2d 662, 1966 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4497 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1966).

Town's regulation of water level is proprietary function and it can therefore be held liable for damages caused by its improper methodology in carrying out such operations; accordingly, in action to recover for personal injuries sustained when plaintiff dove off dock on lake and struck head on bottom of lake, which action was commenced against town, owner and operator of dam which regulates water level of lake, Special Term properly denied defendant town's motion for summary judgment dismissing complaint; plaintiff's conduct did not, as matter of law, constitute such an unforeseeable superseding event as to absolve town of all liability. Searles v Horicon, 116 A.D.2d 93, 500 N.Y.S.2d 402, 1986 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 50367 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1986).

Town, the town's planning board, and town officials (town) were entitled to summary judgment in a land buyer's claim alleging a violation of equal protection under the New York State Constitution because the buyer failed to serve a timely notice of claim upon the town, which was a condition precedent to the assertion of the claim. East End Resources, LLC v Town of Southold Planning Bd., 135 A.D.3d 899, 26 N.Y.S.3d 79, 2016 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 473 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2016).

Causes of action involving money damages for property and maintaining a nuisance against town for permitting certain septic tanks located on private property near plaintiff's real property to be maintained in a defective condition in violation of town ordinances should not be stricken since plaintiffs are not required to plead compliance with the requirements of the statute on such causes of action. Malloy v Niskayuna, 64 Misc. 2d 676, 315 N.Y.S.2d 502, 1970 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1171 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1970).

Action against Town Justice, town and county for malicious prosecution, false arrest and false imprisonment, which, as to county, was based on acts of deputy sheriff, was subject to limitations period of one year and 90 days provided by statute governing actions against, inter alia, a town or county, rather than one-year period prescribed for actions against, inter alia, a sheriff or for, inter alia, false imprisonment or malicious prosecution. Szerlip v Finnegan, 77 Misc. 2d 655, 354 N.Y.S.2d 555, 1974 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1209 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1974), aff'd, 47 A.D.2d 603, 365 N.Y.S.2d 1016, 1975 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13000 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1975).

Where, inter alia, property owners alleged in complaint for money damages that defendant town did not obey a consent judgment which directed the town to discontinue operation of an open disposal dump, allegation amounted to charge that defendant town did not perform a duty imposed on it by law and, therefore, action sounded in tort and notice provisions of General Municipal Law were applicable. Mazo v Shawangunk, 87 Misc. 2d 597, 386 N.Y.S.2d 519, 1976 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2262 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1976), aff'd, 60 A.D.2d 734, 401 N.Y.S.2d 305, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 14772 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1977).

In action arising out of allegedly defective construction of plaintiffs' house, plaintiffs would be permitted to file late notice of claim against defendant town, as special relationship existed between plaintiffs and town through town building inspector, who told plaintiffs he would carefully inspect their house and then issued certificate of occupancy without conducting any inspection; thus, town was not entitled to summary judgment based on statute of limitations contained in General Municipal Law. Corona v Gallinger Real Estate Better Homes & Gardens, 168 Misc. 2d 429, 642 N.Y.S.2d 802, 1996 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 146 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1996), aff'd, 242 A.D.2d 961, 665 N.Y.S.2d 598, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10578 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1997).

40. —Water district

Under section 50-i of the General Municipal Law, service of a notice of claim is not a prerequisite to an action in negligence against a water district. Fraccola v Utica, 77 A.D.2d 161, 432 N.Y.S.2d 943, 1980 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13008 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1980).

Inasmuch as a water district is not covered directly by General Municipal Law § 50-i, this would qualify the reference to public corporations in § 50-e(1) of that law and the provisions of Town Law § 67, and consequently the filing of a notice of claim is not a condition precedent to the commencement of a tort action against a water district. Harrigan v Smithtown, 54 Misc. 2d 793, 283 N.Y.S.2d 424, 1967 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1199 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1967).

Service of notice of claim on the water district is not a condition precedent to commencement of an action against district on a tort claim. Martin v Esopus, 57 Misc. 2d 487, 293 N.Y.S.2d 571, 1968 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1271 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1968).

Federal civil rights action for alleged police brutality was timely commenced where complaint was filed within period prescribed by General Municipal Law § 50-i, and 90-day notice provision of such statute would not operate to bar civil rights action. Davis v Krauss, 478 F. Supp. 823, 1979 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8975 (E.D.N.Y. 1979).

41. —Miscellaneous entities

Notice of claim under CLS Gen Mun §§ 50-e and 50-i was condition precedent to tort action against trustees of Schenectady County Community College since county has statutory obligation to indemnify its employees under CLS Educ § 6308, and thus claimant must comply with provisions of law pertaining to commencement of action against county (set forth in CLS County § 52) even if she chooses to sue only county's employees; CLS Educ § 6308 does not relieve claimant of responsibility for giving notice under other laws. Butterfield v Board of Trustees, 131 A.D.2d 963, 516 N.Y.S.2d 544, 1987 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 48371 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1987).

In action against city and its employee for personal injuries allegedly sustained by plaintiffs in automobile accident involving vehicle owned by city and driven by employee, one-year-and-90-day statute of limitations contained in CLS Gen Mun § 50-i was applicable to plaintiffs' action against employee, as well as action against city, where (1) plaintiffs alleged in complaint that employee had been acting within scope of his employment when accident occurred, and (2) although city's answer had originally denied such allegation, Corporation Counsel indicated that such denial was purely inadvertent, and Corporation Counsel was in fact representing employee in belief that he had been acting within scope of his employment. Bacalokonstantis v Nichols, 141 A.D.2d 482, 529 N.Y.S.2d 111, 1988 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6305 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1988).

Plaintiff who offered no evidence that individual defendants were acting outside scope of their employment in making allegedly false arrest could not maintain action against them where no notice of claim had been filed as required by General Municipal Law. Zwecker v Clinch, 279 A.D.2d 572, 720 N.Y.S.2d 150, 2001 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 565 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2001).

Failure to file notice of claim against municipality would not necessarily preclude plaintiff from asserting cause of action against individual defendants based on alleged false arrest, since provisions of CLS Gen Mun § 50-e apply to claims against individual defendants only if municipality is obligated to indemnify them. Zwecker v Clinch, 279 A.D.2d 572, 720 N.Y.S.2d 150, 2001 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 565 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2001).

As the police officer was acting in the performance of his duties and within the scope of his employment when he committed the alleged tort, the village had to indemnify him for damages arising therefrom; thus, the village was the real party in interest and the time limitation in N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i(1)(c) applied to the libel cause of action against the police officer. Ruggiero v Phillips, 292 A.D.2d 41, 739 N.Y.S.2d 797, 2002 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2741 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2002).

Applicable statute of limitations for personal injury actions against the Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority was the one-year period found in N.Y. Pub. Auth. Law § 569-a(2), and not the one-year and 90-day period found in N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i(1) since the Authority was not a not a N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i(1) entity. Arcuri v Ramos, 7 A.D.3d 741, 776 N.Y.S.2d 895, 2004 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7292 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2004).

Mother, in her individual capacity, was not entitled to serve a late notice of claim upon the village because the statute of limitations for her derivative cause of action had expired at the time the proceeding was commenced, and the infancy toll was personal to the child and did not extend to the mother's derivative cause of action Matter of R.N. v Village of New Sq., 164 A.D.3d 508, 83 N.Y.S.3d 102, 2018 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5543 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2018).

Claimant was not permitted to add the Fire District as a defendant because although a notice of claim was served upon the volunteer company, there was no evidence the claimant served a notice of claim specifically upon the Fire District, and timely service of the notice of claim upon the company did not equate to timely service upon the Fire District. Roberts v Coeymans Hollow Volunteer Fire Co., 168 A.D.3d 1144, 91 N.Y.S.3d 590, 2019 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 47 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't), app. denied, 33 N.Y.3d 903, 124 N.E.3d 256, 100 N.Y.S.3d 706, 2019 N.Y. LEXIS 1299 (N.Y. 2019).

General Municipal Law § 50-i, which provided that no action shall be maintained for personal injury by reason of the negligence of any volunteer fireman whose services have been accepted pursuant to § 209-i, unless a notice is served pursuant to General Municipal Law § 50-e is misleading, because prior to September 1, 1963, the requirements of General Municipal Law § 50-e did not apply to a claim against a fire district which arose out of the negligence of volunteer firemen pursuant to General Municipal Law § 205-b. Hopkins v East Syracuse Fire Dist., 49 Misc. 2d 197, 267 N.Y.S.2d 61, 1966 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2216 (N.Y. City Ct. 1966).

In an action against a community college outside the City of New York, compliance with County Law § 52 and General Municipal Law §§ 50-3, 50-i is not a condition precedent to maintenance of the action. Brown v North Country Community College, 63 Misc. 2d 442, 311 N.Y.S.2d 517, 1970 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1527 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1970).

Plaintiff's negligence suit against the Brooklyn Public Library survived its motion to dismiss; as the Library was not a "municipal corporation," plaintiff did not have to file a notice of claim pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law §§ 50-e and 50-i to commence a tort action against the Library. Rodriguez v Brooklyn Pub. Lib., 934 N.Y.S.2d 291, 34 Misc. 3d 310, 2011 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 5611 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 2011).

Plaintiff was not required to file a notice of claim before suing the owner in a premises liability suit because the owner was not a public benefit corporation entitled to notice under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i(1). Hughey v RHM-88, LLC, 77 A.D.3d 520, 912 N.Y.S.2d 175, 2010 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7652 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 2010).

Appellee, which was a public corporation, did not qualify for any exception to the general rule that state entities lack the capacity to raise constitutional challenges to state statutes, and its challenge to Jimmy Nolan's Law, which revived for one year all time-barred claims against public corporations for personal injuries sustained by workers who participated in post-9/11 cleanup efforts, was therefore rejected. Stanislaw Faltynowicz v Battery Park City Auth. (In re World Trade Ctr. Lower Manhattan Disaster Site Litig.), 892 F.3d 108, 2018 U.S. App. LEXIS 15181 (2d Cir. 2018).

Under applicable New York statutory law no action may be commenced against a village for injury to property rights unless (1) a notice is served and filed within 90 days after the claim arises; (2) at least 30 days are allowed to elapse; and (3) the action is commenced within one year and 90 days after the happening of the event on which the claim is based. Hackensack Water Co. v Nyack, 289 F. Supp. 671, 1968 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 10010 (S.D.N.Y. 1968).

County public health service is summarily dismissed from medical malpractice action, where service and county are so interrelated that county is real party in interest, because plaintiffs' failure to provide service with notice of claim required under CLS Gen Mun Law § 50-i is fatal to their cause of action. Donnelly v McLellan, 889 F. Supp. 136, 1995 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8545 (D. Vt. 1995).

County was real party in interest for purposes of medical malpractice action against county public health service, and thus notice of claim statute (CLS Gen Mun § 50-i) applied, since liability insurance policy issued to county obligated county to indemnify public health service for any losses incurred by it, and New York courts have regularly applied notice provisions to municipal agencies and other entities not specifically mentioned in statute. Donnelly v McLellan, 889 F. Supp. 136, 1995 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8545 (D. Vt. 1995).

In action against Metropolitan Transportation Authority (MTA) and Metro-North Commuter Railroad (Metro-North) by passenger who was injured while disembarking from train, court would apply limitation period under CLS Pub A § 1276 rather than period under CLS Gen Mun § 50-i, and thus action was time barred given fact that complaint was filed more than 130 days after date of alleged accident; MTA is public authority, and Metro-North is wholly owned subsidiary of MTA. Celli v Metro-North Commuter R.R., 891 F. Supp. 124, 1995 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8621 (S.D.N.Y. 1995), aff'd, 101 F.3d 108, 1996 U.S. App. LEXIS 39287 (2d Cir. N.Y. 1996).

In action arising from alleged negligent inspection of wiring of house that burned down, Board of Fire Underwriters was not protected by short limitations period of CLS Gen Mun § 50-i based on its status as town's authorized representative for conducting electrical inspections, where board inspectors were not town employees entitled to be indemnified by town, and town was not real party in interest. Royal Ins. Co. of Am. v Ru-Val Elec. Corp., 918 F. Supp. 647, 1996 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 1723 (E.D.N.Y.), amended, 918 F. Supp. 647 (E.D.N.Y. 1996).

Negligent hiring, training and supervision claims brought by two plaintiffs against city had to be dismissed because those plaintiffs failed to provide proper notice of claim as they failed to indicate legal theories on which they now proceeded against city, and their notices of claim did not set forth any facts that in any way suggested claim for negligent hiring, training and supervision. Hargroves v City of New York, 2014 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 41661 (E.D.N.Y. Mar. 26, 2014).

State law claims of city employee, who worked for a city taxi and limousine commission, against several supervisory city employees brought against them in their official capacities were dismissed because the employee failed to file a required notice of claim prior to filing suit. Manon v Pons, 131 F. Supp. 3d 219, 2015 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 125134 (S.D.N.Y. 2015).

Child, who was injured after being struck by a car in the vicinity of some excavation work being carried out by the village, was foreclosed from asserting a derivative claim against the village because the derivative claim was not set forth in the notice of claim served upon the village. Gonzalez v Povoski, 149 A.D.3d 1472, 53 N.Y.S.3d 423, 2017 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3264 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2017).

42. Applicability in particular actions

Appeals court dismissed plaintiffs' personal injury suit against a city since the plaintiffs did not serve a notice of claim against the city within 90 days after the accrual of their claim as required by N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law §§ 50-e(1)(a), 50-i(1)(a) and did not request leave to file late claim within one and one-half years after claim's accrual. Pierre v City of New York, 22 A.D.3d 733, 804 N.Y.S.2d 365, 2005 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11343 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2005).

In a particular case involving a nonvehicular tort if it is found and determined that there is a public corporate responsibility to indemnify the alleged tortfeasor, the public corporation becomes the real party in interest and in any such case there must be a compliance with General Municipal Law §§ 50-e and 50-i. Sorge v New York, 56 Misc. 2d 414, 288 N.Y.S.2d 787, 1968 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1650 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1968).

Using February 22, 2002, as the accrual date for his claim of intentional infliction of emotional distress, the arrestee complied with the N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law §§ 50-i, 50-e by filing his notice of claim on May 22, 2002 and commencing his action on December 18, 2002. Accordingly, the arrestee's motion to dismiss the detectives and the police officers' notice of claim affirmative defense was granted, and the detectives and the police officers' motion to dismiss the arrestee's intentional infliction of emotional distress claim as time-barred was denied. Llerando-Phipps v City of New York, 390 F. Supp. 2d 372, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 22246 (S.D.N.Y. 2005).

43. —Admiralty actions

In an action arising out of the death of plaintiff's decedent after he was struck by a pleasure boat while crabbing within the navigable waters of the state, the defendant town's motion to dismiss the complaint for failure to comply with the notice of claim provisions of Gen Mun Law §§ 50-e and 50-i was properly denied, since in an action governed by general maritime law, state statutes do not operate so as to interfere with a plaintiff's substantive admiralty rights and thus the notice of claim provisions of the General Municipal Law are inapplicable. Scholl v Babylon, 95 A.D.2d 475, 466 N.Y.S.2d 976, 1983 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 19644 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1983).

Where the plaintiff's cause of action was based upon maritime law, the plaintiff's failure to bring suit within one year and 90 days after the accident as required by General Municipal Law § 50-i subd 1(c) did not preclude recovery. Rogers v New York, 46 Misc. 2d 373, 259 N.Y.S.2d 604, 1965 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2026 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1965).

Suit within admiralty jurisdiction is not subject to requirements of General Municipal Law § 50-i(l). National Sea Clammers Ass'n v New York (1980, CA3 NJ) 616 F2d 1222, 15 Envt Rep

Cas 1314, 10 ELR 20155, vacated on other grounds, remanded (1981) 453 US 1, 101 S Ct 2615, 69 L Ed 2d 435, 16 Envt Rep Cas 1118, 11 ELR 20684 and questioned in Denison v Kitzhaber (2001, DC Or) 2001 US Dist LEXIS 12514) (applying New York law).

Statute of limitations on claim for loss of property due to county's failure to maintain beach groins is not barred by statute of limitations where failure to maintain groins is continuing event from which limitations period is measured. Rapf v Suffolk County of New York, 755 F.2d 282, 1985 U.S. App. LEXIS 28483 (2d Cir. N.Y. 1985).

44. —Civil rights actions

Former property owner's due process action against city for alleged tax abuse, brought under Federal Civil Rights Act of 1871 (42 USCS § 1983) after property had been sold for nonpayment of taxes, required dismissal where former owner failed to file notice of claim as called for by CLS Gen Mun § 50e or to apply for extension of time to do so within 3 year limitations period; application in Federal civil rights actions of notice of claim requirements of CLS Gen Mun § 50i as limited by § 50e is proper given importance of providing municipality with timely notice, ease of compliance, and opportunity afforded by § 50e of applying for leave to file late notice at any time during full 3 year limitation period. 423 South Salina Street, Inc. v Syracuse, 68 N.Y.2d 474, 510 N.Y.S.2d 507, 503 N.E.2d 63, 1986 N.Y. LEXIS 20894 (N.Y. 1986), cert. denied, 481 U.S. 1008, 107 S. Ct. 1880, 95 L. Ed. 2d 488, 1987 U.S. LEXIS 1595 (U.S. 1987).

Former property owner's due process action against city for damages for alleged tax abuse brought under Federal Civil Rights Act of 1871 (42 USCS § 1983) would be governed by 3 year limitations period for damages for personal injuries (CLS CPLR § 214) rather than one year 90 day period for tort claims against city (CLS Gen Mun § 50i) since US Supreme Court in Wilson v Garcia (1985) 471 US 261, 85 L Ed 2d 254, 105 S Ct 1938required that each state select "the one most appropriate statute of limitations for all § 1983 claims" and found that "the characterization of all § 1983 actions as involving claims for personal injuries minimizes the risk that the choice of a state statute of limitations would not fairly serve the federal interests" of countering the "very ineffectiveness of state remedies that led Congress to enact the Civil Rights Acts in the first place. 423 South Salina Street, Inc. v Syracuse, 68 N.Y.2d 474, 510 N.Y.S.2d 507, 503 N.E.2d 63, 1986 N.Y. LEXIS 20894 (N.Y. 1986), cert. denied, 481 U.S. 1008, 107 S. Ct. 1880, 95 L. Ed. 2d 488, 1987 U.S. LEXIS 1595 (U.S. 1987).

The one year and 90 days limitations period applicable to actions to recover from a municipality for its employees' negligence or wrongful act (Gen Mun Law § 50-i), rather than the three-year limitations period applicable to actions to recover upon a liability, penalty or forfeiture created or imposed by statute (CPLR § 214(2)), governed an action brought against a municipality and seeking to recover for certain municipal police officers' alleged violations of plaintiffs' rights under 42 USCS §§ 1983, 1985. The most appropriate limitations period provided by state law is to be applied in actions brought under 42 USCS §§ 1983, 1985 since such statutes do not provide their own limitations period. Staffen v Rochester, 80 A.D.2d 16, 437 N.Y.S.2d 821, 1981 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 9737 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1981).

Actions against municipality to recover for federal and state civil rights violations are not subject to notice of claim requirements of CLS Gen Mun § 50-i. Liu v New York City Police Dep't, 216 A.D.2d 67, 627 N.Y.S.2d 683, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6308 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't), app. denied, 87 N.Y.2d 802, 638 N.Y.S.2d 425, 661 N.E.2d 999, 1995 N.Y. LEXIS 4984 (N.Y. 1995), cert. denied, 517 U.S. 1167, 116 S. Ct. 1566, 134 L. Ed. 2d 666, 1996 U.S. LEXIS 2825 (U.S. 1996).

Notice of claim requirements under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law §§ 50-e and 50-i, were held inapplicable to claims pursuant to 42 USCS § 1983; thus, a plaintiff's failure to file a notice of claim did not require dismissal. Mompoint v City of New York, 299 A.D.2d 527, 751 N.Y.S.2d 38, 2002 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11476 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2002).

Federal civil rights action alleging that defendant hospital confined plaintiff against his will and in violation of CLS Men Hyg § 9.39 was governed by 3-year statute of limitations, not one-year-and-90-day period under New York City Health and Hospitals Corporation Act (CLS Unconsol Ch 214-A § 20) and CLS Gen Mun § 50-i; actions under 42 USCS § 1983 are characterized as personal injury actions which must be commenced within 3 years under CLS CPLR § 214(5). Feuer v New York City Health & Hosps. Corp., 170 Misc. 2d 838, 657 N.Y.S.2d 283, 1996 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 500 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1996).

General Municipal Law § 50-i generally serves to limit municipality's duty to respond, or indemnify, by requiring that certain actions be speedily brought; § 50-i has never been applied to bar federal civil rights action commenced more than one year and 90 days, but less than 3 years, after event in question. Taylor v Mayone, 626 F.2d 247, 1980 U.S. App. LEXIS 16190 (2d Cir. N.Y. 1980).

In a civil rights action against a village and several of its police officers, the three-year limitation period of CPLR § 214 ordinarily applicable to civil rights actions, rather than the more specific 1-year and 90-day limitation period provisions of General Municipal Law §§ 50-i and 50-j, would control where, at the time of the incidents involved, § 50-j applied only to cities having a population of one million or more and its amendment to include every city, county, town, village, authority or agency became effective well after plaintiff's cause of action accrued, and under New York law statutes of limitations are given prospective application unless a contrary intent is clearly indicated. Sanabria v Monticello, 424 F. Supp. 402, 1976 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 11691 (S.D.N.Y. 1976).

A federal civil rights action alleging that various New York state and New York city officials committed a wholesale violation of plaintiffs' Constitutional rights would be governed by the three year limitations period provided by CPLR § 214(2), rather than by the one year 90-day limitation period provided by General Municipal Law § 50-i which governs tort claims against municipalities. Martin Hodas, East Coast Cinematics, Inc. v Lindsay, 431 F. Supp. 637, 1977 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 16280 (S.D.N.Y. 1977).

Statute of limitation period prescribed by CLS General Municipal Law § 50-e which requires the filing of a notice of claim within 90 days of the subject alleged tortious conduct, and the statute of limitation period of one year and 90 days prescribed by CLS General Municipal Law § 50-i, also applicable to alleged tortious conduct, are not applicable to actions commenced under 42 USCS § 1983; the statute of limitations applicable to such federal actions is the three-year period prescribed by CLS CPLR § 214(2). Altaire Builders, Inc. v Horseheads, 551 F. Supp. 1066, 1982 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 16155 (W.D.N.Y. 1982), disapproved, RRI Realty Corp. v Southampton, 870 F.2d 911, 1989 U.S. App. LEXIS 4753 (2d Cir. N.Y. 1989)).

New York State notice of claim requirements are inapplicable in civil rights action brought against municipality in federal court under 42 USCS § 1983. Burroughs v Holiday Inn, 621 F. Supp. 351, 1985 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 14420 (W.D.N.Y. 1985).

Arrestees' state-law claims against village police are not time-barred, where defendants rely on one-year statute of limitations set forth in CLS CPLR § 215, because applicable statute is rather one-year-and-90-day period for filing suit against municipalities and their employees in CLS Gen Mun Law § 50-i. Barnett v Dillon, 890 F. Supp. 83, 1995 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8660 (N.D.N.Y. 1995).

Employee's failure to serve municipality with notice of claim under CLS Gen Mun §§ 50-e and 50-i did not bar his Title VII action, as requiring notice of claim would alter important rights created by Title VII. Tout v Erie Community College, 923 F. Supp. 13, 1995 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 20796 (W.D.N.Y. 1995).

Plaintiff's pendent state law tort claims, brought as part of plaintiff's action under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983, were dismissed when plaintiff did not follow the procedure for filing a notice of the claim prior to commencement of the action as required under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i(1), and waiver of the time for presentment requirement would be futile when the limitations period had already expired under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-e. Warner v Goshen Police Dep't, 256 F. Supp. 2d 171, 2003 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 6368 (S.D.N.Y. 2003).

In a suit against a village, its clerk, its election inspector, a nearby town, and a certain police officer, alleging violation of plaintiff's civil rights from various events, including a certain allegedly harassing traffic stop, improper police responses to calls regarding child visitation disputes with her ex-husband, police failing to respond to complaints about a neighbor, the forced removal of plaintiff from her post as an election poll watcher, improper trimming of her trees, and harassment by a certain police officer, plaintiff's claims under a state human rights act and her common law claims of slander and assault were dismissed because she failed to comply with the notice requirement under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i(1), and she did not apply for leave to serve a late notice. Cotz v Mastroeni, 476 F. Supp. 2d 332, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 13019 (S.D.N.Y. 2007).

In an arrestee's suit alleging constitutional and state law violations by several county employees and officials and others, based on a police standoff incident at his home, the arrestee's state law claims against the county employees and officials were barred because he failed to file a notice of claim as required by N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i(1) prior to commencing litigation. Maloney v County of Nassau, 623 F. Supp. 2d 277, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 71162 (E.D.N.Y. 2007).

45. — —Discrimination

CLS Gen Mun § 50-i is confined to claims for personal injury, wrongful death and property damage, and does not apply to discrimination claims. Parry v Tompkins County, 260 A.D.2d 987, 689 N.Y.S.2d 296, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4418 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1999).

Biologist claiming age and sex discrimination in termination of her employment with county health department was entitled to judgment declaring that she was not required to file notice of claim as prerequisite to maintaining that claim under CLS Exec § 296 with State Division of Human Rights (DHR) where (1) notice of claim requirements for tort claims against municipality apply to private discriminatory practice claims under § 296 that are commenced in court of law, not before administrative agency, (2) once person has elected to pursue § 296 claim with administrative agency, he or she is precluded by CLS Exec § 297(9) from pursuing same claim in court of law and thus should not be subjected to rules applicable to court claims, and (3) underlying purpose of notice of claim requirements was satisfied by DHR's compliance with administrative procedures set forth in Human Rights Law that gave county ample opportunity to investigate claim Freudenthal v County of Nassau, 283 A.D.2d 6, 726 N.Y.S.2d 116, 2001 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5645 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2001), aff'd, 99 N.Y.2d 285, 755 N.Y.S.2d 56, 784 N.E.2d 1165, 2003 N.Y. LEXIS 139 (N.Y. 2003).

Before formal complaint was filed, county health department was on notice of potential claim against it under CLS Exec § 296 for age and sex discrimination in termination of biologist's employment and had ample opportunity to investigate and address that claim, and thus underlying purpose of statutory notice of claim requirements was satisfied despite lack of formal notice of claim with county, where (1) within weeks after termination on January 9, 1992, county human rights commission began investigating biologist's claim, (2) that investigation included conversations with some of biologist's former colleagues, including at least one bureau chief, (3) formal charges of discrimination were filed with State Division of Human Rights (DHR) on April 21, 1992, less than 4 months after termination, (4) DHR requested that county health department respond to discovery requests no later than June 24, 1992, and (5) at least twice between July and September 1992, county health department offered to DHR documentation and explanations to support its actions. Freudenthal v County of Nassau, 283 A.D.2d 6, 726 N.Y.S.2d 116, 2001 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5645 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2001), aff'd, 99 N.Y.2d 285, 755 N.Y.S.2d 56, 784 N.E.2d 1165, 2003 N.Y. LEXIS 139 (N.Y. 2003).

Trial court properly granted dismissal of the cause of action alleging violations of the State Constitution on the ground that the administrative law judge failed to serve a notice of claim because the action did not fall within the public interest exception to the notice of claim requirement, since the complaint sought to vindicate the private rights of the administrative law judge, and the disposition of the claim would not directly affect or vindicate the rights of others. Further, although the complaint named the individual defendants in their individual capacities, it alleged retaliation by them as part of their employment, and thus, the notice of claim requirement applied. Kassapian v City of New York, 155 A.D.3d 851, 65 N.Y.S.3d 562, 2017 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8070 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2017).

Disability discrimination and hostile working environment claims that a former employee filed against a county pursuant to the New York State Human Rights Law, N.Y. Exec. Law § 296, were dismissed because the employee did not serve a timely notice of claim upon the county as required by N.Y. County Law § 52 and N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law §§ 50-e and 50-i; (2) the federal district court did not have jurisdiction under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-e(5) and (7) to grant the employee's application for leave to serve a late notice of claim; and (3) N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law §§ 50-e(5) and 50-i(1)(c) and N.Y. County Law § 52(1) barred the court from granting leave to serve a late notice where more than one year and ninety days had passed since the employee's claims arose when the employee was terminated. Costabile v County of Westchester, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 29787 (S.D.N.Y. Apr. 20, 2007), amended, 485 F. Supp. 2d 424, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 33484 (S.D.N.Y. 2007).

There was no dispute that the former employee never filed a notice of claim, nor did the employee leave to file a late notice of claim, and as the employee sought enforcement of a private right, as she sought relief in the form of money damages and placement in a tenured position with the school district on the basis that she alone was denied such a position on the basis of her national origin, defendants' motion for summary judgment with respect to the employee's state law claim brought under N.Y. Exec. Law § 296 was granted. Augustin v Enlarged City Sch. Dist. of Newburgh, 616 F. Supp. 2d 422, 2009 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 39949 (S.D.N.Y. 2009).

Employee's claims of retaliation under N.Y. Exec. Law § 296(3) were barred because the employee failed to file a notice of claim in accordance with N.Y. County Law § 52; grievances and correspondence between the employee and the employer from 2001 to 2006 did not constitute notice because the one year and 90-day time limit in N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i was not observed. Russell v County of Nassau, 696 F. Supp. 2d 213, 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 14018 (E.D.N.Y. 2010).

Employment discrimination claims brought pursuant to N.Y. Exec. Law § 296 were not subject to the statutory notice requirements Barella v Vill. of Freeport, 16 F. Supp. 3d 144, 2014 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 58827 (E.D.N.Y. 2014).

46. — —Police brutality

Federal civil rights action for alleged police brutality was timely commenced where complaint was filed within period prescribed by General Municipal Law § 50-i, and 90-day notice provision of such statute would not operate to bar civil rights action. Davis v Krauss, 478 F. Supp. 823, 1979 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8975 (E.D.N.Y. 1979).

Federal civil rights action alleging police brutality invoked indemnity provisions of General Municipal Law § 50-j, and was thus governed by the 1 year, 90-day limitation period set forth in General Municipal Law § 50-i, rather than the 3-year period provided by CPLR 214(2). Davis v Krauss, 478 F. Supp. 823, 1979 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8975 (E.D.N.Y. 1979).

47. —Actions involving constitution

Discharged county correction lieutenant's cause of action alleging denial of his constitutional rights to due process and collective bargaining was barred by his failure to comply with CLS Gen Mun § 50-i where he was served with written notice of his termination in 1994, and his constitutional claims were not interposed until 1998. Monroe v Schenectady County, 266 A.D.2d 792, 699 N.Y.S.2d 164, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12120 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1999).

Plaintiffs' constitutional claims against defendant county involving issues of due process, equal protection, freedom from self incrimination and freedom from unreasonable search and seizure arising out of their involuntary detention and interrogation at a police station on the purported authority of Grand Jury subpoenas issued by the Assistant District Attorney made returnable at the police station rather than before the Grand Jury which was not even convened to hear the testimony for which the subpoenas were issued, are governed by the one-year and 90-day Statute of Limitations applicable to "tort claims" against a municipality (General Municipal Law, § 50-i), and are therefore timely. Drake v City of Rochester, 96 Misc. 2d 86, 408 N.Y.S.2d 847, 1978 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2557 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1978), aff'd, 74 A.D.2d 996, 429 N.Y.S.2d 394, 1980 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10816 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1980).

A federal civil rights action alleging that various New York state and New York city officials committed a wholesale violation of plaintiffs' Constitutional rights would be governed by the three year limitations period provided by CPLR § 214(2), rather than by the one year 90-day limitation period provided by General Municipal Law § 50-i which governs tort claims against municipalities. Martin Hodas, East Coast Cinematics, Inc. v Lindsay, 431 F. Supp. 637, 1977 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 16280 (S.D.N.Y. 1977).

A claim against the city of New York for damages due to claimed violation of plaintiff's Constitutional rights under the Fourth and Fourteenth Amendments, arising out of an allegedly unlawful search of plaintiff's apartment by city police on March 31, 1973 and plaintiff's subsequent incarceration, was timely filed where the "event" which triggered commencement of the one year 90-day limitations period provided by General Municipal Law § 50-i, plaintiff's release from incarceration, did not occur until March 24, 1976, only some three months before the complaint was filed. Even if the federal cause of action were regarded as having arisen at the time of the illegal arrest, the action would not be dismissed since plaintiff had plausibly alleged that the conditions of his successive trials and of his incarceration virtually incapacitated him from bringing the suit until after his release, the proof of which allegations would establish a basis on which the statute of limitations should be tolled. Adekalu v New York City, 431 F. Supp. 812, 1977 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 15939 (S.D.N.Y. 1977).

Education Law § 3813 and General Municipal Law § 50-i were the most appropriate statutes relating to limitations on bringing a Fourteenth Amendment claim against a school district for damages relating to termination of probationary position and teaching license. Lombard v Board of Education, 440 F. Supp. 577, 1977 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 12936 (E.D.N.Y. 1977).

Three-year limitations period set forth in CPLR 214, subd 2, and not that provided by Gen Mun Law § 50-i, governed claims for monetary relief under Fourteenth Amendment, since (1) complaint was not couched in terms of tort action, (2) defendants were individuals rather than city, and (3) Fourteenth Amendment claims were interrelated with statutory claims under 42 USCS §§ 1981, 1983, and 1985(3). Lavender-Cabellero v Department of Consumer Affairs, 458 F. Supp. 213, 1978 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 14754 (S.D.N.Y. 1978).

Owner's notice of claim did not invoke the New York State Constitution, and thus its state constitutional claims against a town were barred. DC3, LLC v Town of Geneva, 783 F. Supp. 2d 418, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 39616 (W.D.N.Y. 2011).

48. —Continuing trespass

Property owners' continuing trespass and nuisance claims against a town for allegedly damaging their property by piling plowed snow against the wall of their building were untimely; all the evidence indicated that the owners neglected the building for years, and only noticed the water damage when they tried to sell it. Alamio v Town of Rockland, 302 A.D.2d 842, 755 N.Y.S.2d 754, 2003 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1738 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2003).

Because paving a street did not constitute an artificial means of diversion, the owners failed to establish that a town created a continuing trespass or nuisance; inasmuch as the owners did not timely serve the town with notice under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law §§ 50-e(1)(a), 50-i(1), the town was properly granted summary judgment. Smith v Town of Long Lake, 40 A.D.3d 1381, 837 N.Y.S.2d 391, 2007 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6517 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2007).

Because the cutting of a store's storm drainpipe by a transit authority and its subcontractors interfered with a store's easement and right of access to a sewer, it constituted a continuing trespass and resulted in successive causes of action that were timely under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law §§ 50-e, 50-i, N.Y. Pub. Auth. Law § 1212, and N.Y. C.P.L.R. 214. Bloomingdales, Inc. v New York City Tr. Auth., 52 A.D.3d 120, 859 N.Y.S.2d 22, 2008 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4153 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 2008), aff'd, 13 N.Y.3d 61, 886 N.Y.S.2d 663, 915 N.E.2d 608, 2009 N.Y. LEXIS 1846 (N.Y. 2009).

Action against City of New York by Pennsylvania resident who was riparian owner of land along Delaware river to recover damages resulting from diversion of water alleged a continuing trespass and delay in filing notice of claim barred any claim for damages incurred more than 90 days prior to filing. Gregory v New York, 346 F. Supp. 140, 1972 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 12974 (S.D.N.Y. 1972), disapproved, Fountain v Metropolitan Atlanta Rapid Transit Authority, 678 F.2d 1038, 1982 U.S. App. LEXIS 18222 (11th Cir. 1982).

49. —Equity actions

Where city terminated landowner's right to enjoin trespass by condemning land, damages for trespass would be limited to 90 days prior to filing of statutory notice of claim, even though compliance with notice of claim requirements is not necessary where action is brought in equity to restrain continuing act and where demand for money damages is merely incidental to requested injunctive relief. Rand v New York, 47 A.D.2d 937, 367 N.Y.S.2d 80, 1975 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 9398 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1975).

Any claim or notice of claim against a county for damages arising at law or in equity must be made and served in compliance with section 50-e of the General Municipal Law and the action must be commenced pursuant to the provisions of section 50-i of the General Municipal Law (County Law, § 52); in an equitable action seeking only injunctive relief, it is unnecessary to file a notice of claim. Malcuria v Seneca, 66 A.D.2d 421, 414 N.Y.S.2d 401, 1979 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10029 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1979).

Although it is unnecessary to file a notice of claim in an equitable action against a county seeking only injunctive relief, inasmuch as any claim or notice of claim against a county for damages arising at law or in equity must be made and served in compliance with section 50-e of the General Municipal Law and the action must be commenced pursuant to the provisions of section 50-i of the General Municipal Law (County Law, § 52), if plaintiffs do not file a notice of claim pursuant to section 52 of the County Law and the complaint seeks both injunctive and monetary relief, a motion to dismiss the cause of action for damages is granted, leaving a viable cause of action for injunctive relief; plaintiffs should not be permitted to frustrate the legitimate purposes of the notice-of-claim statutes by grafting a claim for monetary damages to a claim seeking injunctive relief. Malcuria v Seneca, 66 A.D.2d 421, 414 N.Y.S.2d 401, 1979 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10029 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1979).

The notice of claim provisions of section 50-i of the General Municipal Law do not apply to contract actions; furthermore, it is unnecessary to file a notice of claim in an equitable action seeking only injunctive relief. Accordingly, where causes of action asserted in a complaint are for breach of contract and specific performance, it is unnecessary to pass upon the timeliness of an application for leave to serve a late notice of claim. Fraccola v Utica, 77 A.D.2d 161, 432 N.Y.S.2d 943, 1980 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13008 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1980).

In an action by a landowner, who attempted to build a wall to prevent water from further inundating his land as a result of a municipality's bridge repair efforts, in which the landowner sought damages, an injunction to prevent the town from continuing to divert water onto his land, and an injunction against his prosecution on charges of interfering with the banks of a trout stream tributary, the trial court incorrectly dismissed the complaint on the grounds that there was no personal jurisdiction over the town highway superintendent and the town as the summons was improperly served, since a notice of claim under Gen Mun Law § 50-e is not required for an action brought in equity against a municipality when the demand for money damages is incidental and subordinate to the requested injunctive relief, and although plaintiff sought money damages to compensate him for the alleged harm, the claims were subordinate and incidental to his cause of action seeking equitable relief. Likewise, Gen Mun Law § 50-i, was inapplicable. Dutcher v Shandaken, 97 A.D.2d 922, 470 N.Y.S.2d 767, 1983 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 20711 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1983).

No notice of claim is required in action against municipality if money damages demanded are incidental to equitable relief sought. Greaney v Springer, 266 A.D.2d 707, 701 N.Y.S.2d 450, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11842 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1999).

Where the nature of plaintiff's action is equitable to enjoin the village from continuing a wrong and to abate a nuisance, the General Municipal Law requiring a notice of claim and a lapse of 30 days from notice has no applicability even though money damages are sought as incidental to the main relief. Kyle v Catskill, 81 Misc. 2d 1035, 367 N.Y.S.2d 158, 1975 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2524 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1975).

50. —Federal actions

Petitioners should have been granted leave to serve late notice of claim with respect to claimed violations by county of federal Civil Rights Act of 1871 where (1) petitioners, in their initial notice of claim, alleged claims for false arrest, false imprisonment, malicious prosecution and abuse of process, (2) permission to serve late notice of claim was sought some 4 months after Court of Appeals resolved uncertainty in law by deciding in unrelated case that notice of claim requirements of CLS Gen Mun § 50-i (as limited by CLS Gen Mun § 50-e) applied to federal civil rights actions, and (3) scope of common-law claims was sufficiently broad, and facts were sufficiently similar to federal claim, that county was not prejudiced by delay. Delzotto v County of Warren, 137 A.D.2d 950, 525 N.Y.S.2d 373, 1988 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1752 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1988).

Action against school district and village alleging Federal civil rights violations was not subject to notice of claim requirements of CLS Gen Mun § 50-i. Gorman v Sachem Cent. Sch. Dist., 232 A.D.2d 452, 648 N.Y.S.2d 461, 1996 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10167 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1996).

General Municipal Law § 50-i generally serves to limit municipality's duty to respond, or indemnify, by requiring that certain actions be speedily brought; § 50-i has never been applied to bar federal civil rights action commenced more than one year and 90 days, but less than 3 years, after event in question. Taylor v Mayone, 626 F.2d 247, 1980 U.S. App. LEXIS 16190 (2d Cir. N.Y. 1980).

A federal civil rights action alleging that various New York state and New York city officials committed a wholesale violation of plaintiffs' Constitutional rights would be governed by the three year limitations period provided by CPLR § 214(2), rather than by the one year 90-day limitation period provided by General Municipal Law § 50-i which governs tort claims against municipalities. Martin Hodas, East Coast Cinematics, Inc. v Lindsay, 431 F. Supp. 637, 1977 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 16280 (S.D.N.Y. 1977).

Federal civil rights action alleging police brutality invoked indemnity provisions of General Municipal Law § 50-j, and was thus governed by the 1 year, 90-day limitation period set forth in General Municipal Law § 50-i, rather than the 3-year period provided by CPLR 214(2). Davis v Krauss, 478 F. Supp. 823, 1979 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8975 (E.D.N.Y. 1979).

Commencement provisions of CLS Gen Mun §§ 50-e and 50-i are applicable in federal action for prima facie tort, intentional infliction of mental distress, and constitutional claims based upon termination of plaintiff's employment with city; there is no direct conflict between CLS Gen Mun §§ 50-e, and 50-i and Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rules 3 and 4, such that, in federal court action state commencement rules must be complied with. Piesco v New York, Dep't of Personnel, 650 F. Supp. 896, 1987 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 5013 (S.D.N.Y. 1987).

In federal court civil rights action, filing of notice of claim with town was prerequisite to plaintiff's maintenance of pendent state claims for violations of New York statutes governing treatment of juveniles upon their arrest and detention, violations of town police department's own policies, and negligent infliction of emotional distress. Johns v Town of E. Hampton, 942 F. Supp. 99, 1996 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 15020 (E.D.N.Y. 1996).

In federal court civil rights action, filing of notice of claim with town was prerequisite to plaintiff's maintenance of pendent state claim for negligent infliction of emotional distress against town officials in their individual capacities. Johns v Town of E. Hampton, 942 F. Supp. 99, 1996 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 15020 (E.D.N.Y. 1996).

51. —False arrest or imprisonment or malicious prosecution

Former correction officer's cause of action against county for false arrest would be dismissed as untimely since claim was not interposed within one year of date of his arrest and release from custody. Sanchez v County of Westchester, 146 A.D.2d 620, 536 N.Y.S.2d 529, 1989 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 477 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1989).

Plaintiffs' claims against defendant county for false arrest, false imprisonment, abuse of process and negligence, commenced on September 14, 1977, based upon incidents occurring on June 16 and 17, 1976 when plaintiffs were involuntarily detained and interrogated at a police station on the purported authority of Grand Jury subpoenas issued by the Assistant District Attorney made returnable at the police station rather than before the Grand Jury which was not even convened to hear the testimony for which the subpoenas were issued, are not time-barred by the one-year Statute of Limitations ordinarily applicable to claims for false imprisonment (CPLR 215) since plaintiffs' claims are instead governed by the one-year and 90-day limitation applicable to "tort claims" against a county for "personal injury", which includes claims for false imprisonment and malicious prosecution (General Construction Law, § 37-a), caused by the negligence or wrongful act of a county official, which time limitation supersedes "any inconsistent provisions of law" (General Municipal Law, § 50-i) thus rendering plaintiffs' claims timely. Drake v City of Rochester, 96 Misc. 2d 86, 408 N.Y.S.2d 847, 1978 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2557 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1978), aff'd, 74 A.D.2d 996, 429 N.Y.S.2d 394, 1980 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10816 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1980).

The timeliness of plaintiff's notice of claim and institution of cause of action for malicious prosecution, with respect to requirements of general municipal law §§ 50-e and 50-i, was to be measured from date action accrued, even though both filings were made prior to accrual of action, where city was not prejudiced by premature filing of plaintiff's claim. Jastrzebski v New York, 423 F. Supp. 669, 1976 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 12429 (S.D.N.Y. 1976) (applying New York law).

Individual's state law claims against a county, sheriff's department, sheriff, and officers were dismissed as time-barred under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i, where the individual commenced the claims arising from his arrest and prosecution for, inter alia, assault and resisting arrest over one year and 10 months after the occurrence of the events. Houghton v Cardone, 295 F. Supp. 2d 268, 2003 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 22647 (W.D.N.Y. 2003).

Plaintiffs' state law claims against a city for false arrest, false imprisonment, and malicious prosecution were allowed to stand because plaintiffs were granted leave to file a late notice of claim as permitted by N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-e(5); however, plaintiffs' claim for negligent or intentional infliction of emotional distress was dismissed in accordance with N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i because the notice of claim did not state such a claim. Richards v City of New York, 433 F. Supp. 2d 404, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 39312 (S.D.N.Y. 2006).

Arrestee's state law claims for malicious prosecution, which accrued on June 21, 2007, when the charges against him were dropped, were barred under the time limitations for notice in N.Y. County Law § 52 and N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law §§ 50-e, 50-i where the arrestee did not file suit until a year and over four months later, on November 10, 2008. Martin v County of Nassau, 692 F. Supp. 2d 282, 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 22989 (E.D.N.Y. 2010).

Plaintiff failed to satisfy the notice-of-claim requirement before bringing state law claims against a municipality arising from plaintiff's prosecution; filing a summons with notice in state court did not satisfy the requirement that a separate notice of claim be filed prior to the initiation of a lawsuit. Berry v Millbrook, 815 F. Supp. 2d 711, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 109404 (S.D.N.Y. 2011).

52. —Actions involving infants

Court was powerless to grant leave for extension of time for infant to file notice of claim against school where no application for such leave was made within 1 year after accident from which claim arose, and claim was further prohibited under General Municipal Law § 50-i by claimant's failure to commence action within 1 year, 90 days after accident. Schiermeyer v Averill Park Cent. School Dist., 42 A.D.2d 654, 345 N.Y.S.2d 210, 1973 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4046 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1973).

Because timely filing of notice of claim is condition precedent to commencement of tort action against city, dismissal of adult plaintiff's action for infant plaintiff's exposure to toxic substance was required where adult plaintiff's application for permission to file late notice of claim was made after time to commence action had expired. Perry v City of New York, 238 A.D.2d 326, 656 N.Y.S.2d 301, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3415 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1997).

Where plaintiffs, an infant and his mother, timely served a notice of claim on a town alleging its nonfunctioning street lights caused the infant to be hit by a car, the trial court did not err in denying plaintiffs' motion for leave to serve a late, amended notice of claim because plaintiffs failed to proffer a reasonable excuse for the delay in serving a notice of claim that described the infant plaintiff's injuries as arising from any negligence on the part of the town other than that related to the nonfunctioning street lights described in the original notice of claim; and plaintiffs did not show that, within 90 days after the accident or a reasonable time thereafter, the town knew the essential facts constituting the claim that it was negligent with respect to anything other than the street lights or that the town would not be substantially prejudiced by the delay. Palacios v Town of N. Hempstead, 165 A.D.3d 967, 86 N.Y.S.3d 117, 2018 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6841 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2018).

Where plaintiffs, an infant and his mother, timely served a notice of claim on a town alleging its nonfunctioning street lights caused the infant to be hit by a car, the trial court did not err in denying plaintiffs' motion for leave to serve a late, amended notice of claim because the proposed amendments added new theories of liability related to the town's ownership, operation, control, design, planning, study, retention, supervision, maintenance, repair, inspection, and management of the street and sidewalks, and such amendments were not technical in nature and were not permitted as late-filed amendments to a notice of claim. Palacios v Town of N. Hempstead, 165 A.D.3d 967, 86 N.Y.S.3d 117, 2018 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6841 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2018).

Although an application to file a late claim for medical malpractice would be granted with respect to an infant claimant when it was filed within one year and 90 days of the accrual of the cause of action under Gen Mun Law § 50-i(1)(a), an application to file a late claim with respect to the derivative action of the parent based upon the claimant daughter's infancy would be denied, where no showing was made concerning the reasons for the parent's failure to serve and file the notice of claim within the statutory period; the 1976 amendment to Gen Mun Law § 50-e(5) was not intended to give parents an automatic right to file late with respect to a derivative claim where the infant is granted an extension of time based upon the infancy. Manfredonio v New York City Health & Hospitals Corp., 116 Misc. 2d 652, 455 N.Y.S.2d 1010, 1982 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3936 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1982).

53. —Real property actions

In action by mortgagee bank to recover condemnation proceeds that town paid to mortgagor, alleging that town's failure to notify bank of condemnation proceedings resulted in financial loss to bank after mortgagor defaulted on loan, town was entitled to summary judgment based on statute of limitations defense in that bank's claim against town accrued when town paid mortgagor, not when bank learned of payment, and town was not equitably estopped from raising statute of limitations defense where it had published public notices and posted additional notices regarding condemnation proceedings, and its failure to notify bank was not calculated to lull bank into inactivity. North Side Sav. Bank v Town of Hempstead, 236 A.D.2d 456, 653 N.Y.S.2d 649, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1202 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1997).

In action to set aside tax sale and subsequent conveyances of real property previously owned by plaintiffs, summary judgment for defendants was not required by plaintiffs' failure to file notice of claim under CLS County § 52 and CLS Gen Mun §§ 50-e and 50-i where plaintiffs' primary objective was to set aside tax sale and conveyances and to obtain judgment declaring them to be owners of property, and any money damages sought were purely incidental to their attempt to regain title. Greaney v Springer, 266 A.D.2d 707, 701 N.Y.S.2d 450, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11842 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1999).

In mortgage foreclosure action, mortgagee city was entitled to summary judgment dismissing mortgagor's counterclaims for breach of contract and tortious interference with contract where mortgagor did not allege compliance with claim presentment requirements of CLS Gen Mun §§ 50-e and 50-i and NYC Admin Code § 7-201(a). City of New York v 611 West 152nd St., Inc., 273 A.D.2d 125, 710 N.Y.S.2d 36, 2000 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7113 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 2000).

City was entitled to dismissal of action against it where (1) action sounded in tort, not de facto taking of property, and thus notice of claim was required under CLS Gen Mun § 50-e(1)(a), (2) no such notice was filed, (3) action was not commenced within one year and 90 days "after the happening of the event upon which the claim is based" under CLS Gen Mun § 50-i(1)(c), and (4) plaintiff's request for leave to serve late notice of claim was untimely under CLS Gen Mun § 50-e(5). Grimaldi v City of Tonawanda, 275 A.D.2d 917, 715 N.Y.S.2d 175, 2000 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 9610 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2000).

In an action between a county and a property owner, arising from problems with their closing of the owner's property, it was error to grant summary judgment dismissal to the county on the owner's inverse condemnation counterclaim, as statutory notice was not necessary since the claim did not sound in tort. County of Jefferson v Onondaga Dev., LLC, 151 A.D.3d 1793, 59 N.Y.S.3d 203, 2017 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4912 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2017).

Causes of action involving money damages for property and maintaining a nuisance against town for permitting certain septic tanks located on private property near plaintiff's real property to be maintained in a defective condition in violation of town ordinances should not be stricken since plaintiffs are not required to plead compliance with the requirements of the statute on such causes of action. Malloy v Niskayuna, 64 Misc. 2d 676, 315 N.Y.S.2d 502, 1970 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1171 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1970).

Action to enjoin village from improperly maintaining a catch basin on property adjoining the plaintiff's which caused surface water to be discharged onto the plaintiff's premises with resultant damage, and which also sought to have condition declared a nuisance and additionally demanded money damages as incidental to prime relief, which action was commenced more than one year and 90 days since accrual of the claim as alleged in the notices was not untimely. Kyle v Catskill, 81 Misc. 2d 1035, 367 N.Y.S.2d 158, 1975 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2524 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1975).

In plaintiff county's action for a declaratory judgment as to defendants insurers' duty to indemnify and defend an action brought by a landowner alleging negligent design and construction of a sea wall, the landowner had alleged a continuing tort which accrued anew each day, and by filing a notice of claim against the county under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-e(1)(a) (McKinney 2002), that provision and N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i (McKinney 2002), and N.Y. County Law § 52 (McKinney 2002), were satisfied; the landowner was not limited to damages sustained within 90 days preceding the notice. County of Suffolk v Travelers Ins. Co., 267 F. Supp. 2d 288, 2003 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 1409 (E.D.N.Y. 2003).

A town may not pay a claim for damage to real property where the claimant has failed to give notice within 90 days or such additional time as the court might allow. 1966 Ops St Compt File 385.

54. —Third party actions

Claimant's filing notice of claim against city did not commence action against the city; thus, alleged discontinuance of claim without insurer's consent did not constitute discontinuance of a third-party action such as would have absolved insurer of further responsibility for workmen's compensation. McCormick v Albany Urban Renewal Agency, 47 A.D.2d 779, 365 N.Y.S.2d 65, 1975 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 9084 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1975).

Cause of action against town based on allegation that town has been derelict in duty to properly assess fire district tax is subject to notice of claim requirements and statute of limitations applicable to torts. Stanford Heights Fire Dist. v Niskayuna, 120 A.D.2d 878, 502 N.Y.S.2d 548, 1986 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 56975 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1986).

Although defendant village was not entitled to amend its answer to assert affirmative defense of statute of limitations, since plaintiff would be thereby prejudiced, third party defendant was nevertheless entitled to summary judgment dismissing third-party complaint on ground that first-party action was not timely commenced. Taylor v Village of Ilion, 265 A.D.2d 841, 695 N.Y.S.2d 467, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 9910 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1999), app. denied, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13947 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't Dec. 30, 1999).

With respect to third-party claims, such as a claim seeking right to reimbursement against municipal corporations, the period of limitation set up in this section runs from accrual of the third-party plaintiff's cause of action, not from accrual of the original plaintiff's cause of action against the municipality. Rizzo v Steiner, 36 Misc. 2d 701, 233 N.Y.S.2d 647, 1962 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2445 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1962).

In an action brought in tort in which one of the defendants has properly brought a third-party action in indemnity against the City of New York, a motion by the plaintiff in the main tort action to amend the complaint to assert a new cause of action in tort against the city is denied; plaintiff has not served a notice of claim upon the city within 90 days of the date on which the underlying occurrence took place (General Municipal Law, § 50-e) and has not brought its action within one year and 90 days after said date (General Municipal Law, § 50-i) and, therefore, sections 50-e and 50-i are complete bars to the tort action against the city. While plaintiff may not have known that the city was a third-party defendant until it was too late to bring a direct tort action against the city, that factor does not fit any of the grounds under section 50-e or the recent amendments thereto, and, even if it did, section 50-e denies any such relief if the time for commencement of the action under section 50-i has long since expired. It is of no consequence that the city has not as yet answered the third-party complaint. 2999 Realty Corp. v Hallen Constr. Corp., 95 Misc. 2d 227, 406 N.Y.S.2d 951, 1978 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2406 (N.Y. Civ. Ct. 1978).

Neither notice of claim requirement of General Municipal Law § 50-e nor limitations period set forth in General Municipal Law § 50-i applies in third-party actions against municipal defendants. Haehl v Port Chester, 463 F. Supp. 845, 1978 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 14253 (S.D.N.Y. 1978).

55. —Wrongful death actions

In an action against a municipality alleging negligence in the wrongful death of plaintiff's husband which was commenced within two years of the husband's death but beyond the one year and 90 day limitations period set forth in former Subd 1 of Gen Mun Law § 50-i, the court improperly granted the municipality's motion to dismiss the complaint, where the action was governed by the two-year limitations period for wrongful death actions found in EPTL § 5-4.1 and was not subject to the limitations period contained in Gen Mun Law § 50-i. Collins v New York, 55 N.Y.2d 646, 446 N.Y.S.2d 258, 430 N.E.2d 1311, 1981 N.Y. LEXIS 3229 (N.Y. 1981).

In a wrongful death action against the New York City Health and Hospitals Corporation, the two-year general limitation period for wrongful death actions established by EPTL § 5-4.1 and the two-year provision of Gen Mun Law § 50-i were inapplicable to the action against the public benefits corporation which existed independently of the City of New York and notice of the claim was required to be filed within 90 days after death except for extensions up to one year and 90 days, as permitted by Gen Mun Law § 50-e, and the action was required to be commenced within one year and 90 days from the date of the decedent's death. Brennan v New York, 59 N.Y.2d 791, 464 N.Y.S.2d 731, 451 N.E.2d 478, 1983 N.Y. LEXIS 3134 (N.Y. 1983).

General Municipal Law § 50-i further mandates that any action based on a wrongful death claim must be commenced within one year and 90 days after the happening of the event upon which the claim is based and such action is not timely if brought more than such period of time after the happening of such event even though brought within four days after the appointment of an administrator. Erickson v Henderson, 30 A.D.2d 282, 291 N.Y.S.2d 403, 1968 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3557 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1968).

In wrongful death action against county based on improper highway maintenance, running of statute of limitations was governed by statute relating to liability of counties for injuries caused by defective highways, and not by General Municipal Law, so that the time began to run from the service of notice of claim and not from the time of accident. Treib v County of Dutchess, 56 A.D.2d 866, 392 N.Y.S.2d 473, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11228 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't), app. dismissed, 42 N.Y.2d 824, 1977 N.Y. LEXIS 3951 (N.Y. 1977).

A cause of action for wrongful death was timely since the two-year limitations period in EPTL 5-4.1 controlled inasmuch as Gen Mun Law § 50-i did not specifically refer to wrongful death at the time the suit was initiated, although other causes of action for pain and suffering, and for loss of consortium, were dismissed as untimely. Puliafico v New York, 87 A.D.2d 512, 447 N.Y.S.2d 731, 1982 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 15750 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1982).

In an action against a county and others to recover damages for wrongful death, additional causes of action for conscious pain and suffering and for medical malpractice were properly ruled to be untimely where neither was commenced within the one-year and ninety-day period of limitation specified by Gen Mun Law § 50-i. Alessi v County of Nassau, 100 A.D.2d 561, 473 N.Y.S.2d 487, 1984 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 17535 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1984).

It was proper exercise of discretion to permit plaintiff to file late notice of claim in wrongful death action against county hospital where application was made within one year and 90 days of accrual of action, plaintiff's attorney acted promptly upon discovery of hospital's correct status, and hospital did not claim substantial prejudice. Wendal v Memorial Hospital of Greene County, 127 A.D.2d 592, 511 N.Y.S.2d 649, 1987 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 43060 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1987).

In wrongful death action commenced on behalf of decedent nearly 2 years after he was struck and killed by bus owned by New York City Transit Authority and operated by its subsidiary Manhattan Bronx Surface Transit Operating Authority, court properly allowed authorities to amend their answer to add affirmative defense that plaintiff failed to comply with 1-year 90-day limitation period of CLS Pub A § 1212, since 2-year limitation period for wrongful death actions against municipalities under CLS Gen Mun § 50-i and CLS EPTL § 5-4.1 does not apply to defendant authorities. Melendez v Manhattan & Bronx Surface Transit Operating Authority, 137 A.D.2d 390, 529 N.Y.S.2d 95, 1988 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6534 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1988).

Although the estate representative's notices of claim regarding the wrongful death suit she was filing alleging that the city was responsible for the death of her sister during the sister's transportation from a criminal courtroom to prison were deficient because they were not properly verified, not properly served, nor sufficiently specific, she would be given a chance to replead in view of the fact that it took her so long to obtain her letters of administration in order to file her suit that she was compelled to file her complaint in the less than the 30 days she was required to give notice to the city of her claim so that the city could try and resolve it, as her complaint would have been otherwise time barred for not being filed within the two-year wrongful death statute of limitations. McKune v City of New York, 19 A.D.3d 308, 799 N.Y.S.2d 25, 2005 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7254 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 2005).

Trial court properly granted municipal defendants' motion to dismiss wrongful death and conscious pain and suffering claims by plaintiff, as plaintiff failed to timely serve a notice of claim on defendants with respect to the injuries in question as required by N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-e, and failed to commence an action with regard to the injuries within the requisite limitations period, N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i. Braun v County of Orange, 31 A.D.3d 593, 819 N.Y.S.2d 296, 2006 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 9387 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2006).

Term "personal injury," as referred to in one-year and 90-day statute of limitations period applicable to actions for personal injury alleged to have been sustained by reason of negligence or wrongful act of municipality, does not include wrongful death. Priebe v Canandaigua, 91 Misc. 2d 1047, 399 N.Y.S.2d 179, 1977 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2477 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1977).

Wrongful death claim against city was time barred, although plaintiff served notice of claim within 90 days of being appointed administratrix of decedent's estate, because complaint did not (and could not) allege that 30 days had passed since serving defendants with notice of claim pursuant to CLS Gen Mun § 50-i(3) where no such claim had then been served. Mroz v City of Tonawanda, 999 F. Supp. 436, 1998 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 4577 (W.D.N.Y. 1998).

56. —Arbitration

A municipal self-insurer may not avoid the mandatory arbitration provisions of Ins Law § 674, the no-fault automobile insurance law, by alleging that the insurer demanding arbitration has failed to comply with a notice of claim provisions of Gen Mun Law §§ 50-e, 50-i, since the comprehensive nature of the no-fault legislation and the absence therefrom of any requirement for compliance with Gen Mun Law §§ 50-e, 50-i, indicate a legislative intent that the provisions of such statutes should have no application to the statutory arbitration proceedings between insurers or self-insurers. Syracuse v Utica Mut. Ins. Co., 61 N.Y.2d 691, 472 N.Y.S.2d 600, 460 N.E.2d 1085, 1984 N.Y. LEXIS 4005 (N.Y. 1984).

A failure to comply with the special shortened Statute of Limitations for torts claims, under Gen Mun Law § 15-i(1)(c), would not be a bar to an insurance-loss transfer mandatory arbitration procedure. Syracuse v Utica Mut. Ins. Co., 90 A.D.2d 979, 456 N.Y.S.2d 571, 1982 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 19259 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1982), aff'd, 61 N.Y.2d 691, 472 N.Y.S.2d 600, 460 N.E.2d 1085, 1984 N.Y. LEXIS 4005 (N.Y. 1984).

57. —Contract actions

The notice of claim provisions of section 50-i of the General Municipal Law do not apply to contract actions; furthermore, it is unnecessary to file a notice of claim in an equitable action seeking only injunctive relief. Accordingly, where causes of action asserted in a complaint are for breach of contract and specific performance, it is unnecessary to pass upon the timeliness of an application for leave to serve a late notice of claim. Fraccola v Utica, 77 A.D.2d 161, 432 N.Y.S.2d 943, 1980 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13008 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1980).

58. —Conversion actions

Action for alleged conversion of property, which had been removed from plaintiffs' premises by town defendants and sold at sheriff's sale pursuant to court order, was properly dismissed for failure to serve notice of claim under CLS Gen Mun §§ 50-e and 50-i, as action was one for damage to personal property. Kranz v Town of Tusten, 236 A.D.2d 675, 653 N.Y.S.2d 194, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1119 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1997).

59. —Indemnification and contribution actions

One-year 90-day limitations period of CLS Gen Mun § 50-i has no application to action for indemnification and/or contribution. Petrucci v New York, 167 A.D.2d 29, 569 N.Y.S.2d 624, 1991 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5567 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1991).

60. —Replevin actions

Until the motion to suppress money seized by police in a gambling raid had been granted, money was not subject to replevin so that notice on 90th day after the claim arose and present action seeking to recover the money seized, begun less than a year later as required by Gen Mun L §§ 59-e and 50-i, were timely. Dwyer v County of Nassau, 66 Misc. 2d 1039, 322 N.Y.S.2d 811, 1971 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1602 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1971).

Action against City of New York for replevin of money taken from plain tiff at time of his arrest on narcotics charge was not timely under CLS Gen Mun § 50-i where it was commenced more than one year and 90 days after imposition of sentence on plaintiff, notwithstanding plaintiff's contention that suit could not have been brought until appellate proceedings had concluded. Beck v New York, 133 Misc. 2d 265, 507 N.Y.S.2d 129, 1986 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2861 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1986).

61. —Defamation actions

Former foster parent's defamation claim against a county and a child services agency was time-barred because the notice of claim and amended complaint asserted that the letter containing the allegedly defamatory statements was disseminated to various individuals at the meeting that took place on March 10, 2015, and the foster parent commenced litigation more than one year and 90 days from that date. Ripka v County of Madison, 162 A.D.3d 1371, 80 N.Y.S.3d 479, 2018 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4564 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2018).

Former foster parent's defamation claim against two employees of the child services agency was time-barred whether the employees were acting within the scope of their employment when they made the allegedly defamatory statements or acting on their own behalf when such statements were made because the foster parent commenced litigation more than one year and 90 days from the date the allegedly defamatory statements were disseminated to various individuals at a meeting. Ripka v County of Madison, 162 A.D.3d 1371, 80 N.Y.S.3d 479, 2018 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4564 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2018).

By virtue of ¶ 2 of §§ 50-i and 101 of the General Construction Law, the General Municipal Law prevails over a general statute of limitations with respect to the commencement of actions in tort against a public corporation, and with respect to an action for libel and slander instituted against two city employees and the city the provisions of General Municipal Law § 50-i apply not only to the action against the city but also to the action against the city's employees, so that the employee's asserted defense pursuant to CPLR 215 was invalid. Sorge v New York, 56 Misc. 2d 414, 288 N.Y.S.2d 787, 1968 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1650 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1968).

Applicant's claims of libel and prima facie tort failed because the applicant did not meet the notice of claim requirements of N.Y. Educ. Law § 3813(2) and N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law §§ 50-e and 50-i where he did not file a notice of claim with the school board or the superintendent of schools and the district's human resources director; the applicant's age discrimination charge to the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission did not fulfill the notice of claim requirements because it did not mention the state law claims. Avgerinos v Palmyra-Macedon Cent. Sch. Dist., 690 F. Supp. 2d 115, 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 11988 (W.D.N.Y. 2010).

62. —Malpractice actions

In a proceeding against a county hospital for medical malpractice, the trial court erred in treating a second application for leave to serve a late claim against the hospital as a reinstatement of an earlier, withdrawn application, and in granting the application, where there was no provision in the CPLR for reinstatement of a withdrawn motion, where withdrawal of a motion leaves the record as if the motion had not been made, and where the court was without jurisdiction to grant the application, in that the second application was brought approximately 22 months after the medical malpractice occurred and after the expiration of the applicable one-year and 90-day statutes of limitations in Gen Mun Law §§ 50-e and 50-i. Stoute v New York, 91 A.D.2d 1043, 458 N.Y.S.2d 640, 1983 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 16366 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't), app. dismissed, 59 N.Y.2d 762, 1983 N.Y. LEXIS 5026 (N.Y. 1983).

In an action to recover damages for an allegedly unauthorized disclosure of confidential information received pursuant to the physician-patient relationship existing between plaintiff and a mental health center maintained by a county, the complaint would be dismissed for failure to comply with Gen Mun Law §§ 50-e and 50-i, since the alleged improper disclosure of confidential information is merely a facet of medical malpractice which sounds in tort, not contract, the bill of particulars evidences a malpractice claim, the damages sought are largely for noneconomic loss, and actions sounding in tort require compliance with Gen Mun Law §§ 50-e and 50-i. Silberstein v County of Westchester, 92 A.D.2d 867, 459 N.Y.S.2d 838, 1983 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 17239 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't), app. dismissed, 60 N.Y.2d 703, 1983 N.Y. LEXIS 6285 (N.Y. 1983), aff'd, 62 N.Y.2d 675, 476 N.Y.S.2d 291, 464 N.E.2d 989, 1984 N.Y. LEXIS 4283 (N.Y. 1984).

Statutory period for filing notice of claim was not tolled by patient's continuous treatment by defendant, since ongoing general relationship with clinic for routine periodic health examinations did not constitute continuous treatment of condition on which allegations of malpractice were based. Vazquez v New York City Health & Hosps. Corp., 279 A.D.2d 368, 720 N.Y.S.2d 20, 2001 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 646 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 2001).

Patient's second cause of action, sounding in medical malpractice, was properly dismissed, since, under the circumstances, it was time-barred pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i and N.Y. C.P.L.R. 208; in this regard, the second cause of action was asserted against doctors, who allegedly had physician-patient relationships with the patient. The second cause of action was based upon certain alleged departures of those doctors from good and accepted medical practice in their treatment of the patient. Wade v New York City Health & Hosps. Corp., 59 A.D.3d 528, 874 N.Y.S.2d 171, 2009 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1156 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2009).

So much of a patient's first cause of action as alleged inadequate supervision and training of a city hospital's obstetrical personnel sounded in negligence, and was, under the circumstances, timely asserted pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i and N.Y. C.P.L.R. 208; in this regard, that portion of the first cause of action, asserted only against the city hospital, was not based upon an allegation that the city hospital was vicariously liable for the defendant doctors' alleged medical malpractice, which would rendered that portion of the cause of action untimely, but, rather, that portion of the first cause of action, as well as the other allegations concerning the city hospital's failure, among other things, to promulgate and enforce proper procedures and regulations, which the trial court found sounded in negligence, were based upon certain alleged omissions of the city hospital's management. This challenged conduct did not constitute medical treatment or bear a substantial relationship to the rendition of medical treatment by a licensed physician, and did not require an analysis of the medical treatment furnished to the patient by the city hospital's employees Wade v New York City Health & Hosps. Corp., 59 A.D.3d 528, 874 N.Y.S.2d 171, 2009 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1156 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2009).

One-year and 90-day period for commencement of a suit against the Erie County Medical Center Corporation (ECMCC) was not a condition precedent to suit but was a statute of limitations such that this suit was timely under N.Y. C.P.L.R. 205 as: (1) N.Y. Pub. Auth. Law § 3641 did not contain express conditional language; (2) § 205 applied to proceedings commenced under this section, which was identical to § 3641; and (3) § 3641 did not create the medical malpractice and wrongful death claims alleged as N.Y. Pub. Auth. Law art. 10-C, tit. 6 did not condition ECMCC's waiver of sovereign immunity and consent to suit on timely commencement. Benedetti v Erie County Med. Ctr. Corp., 129 A.D.3d 1462, 11 N.Y.S.3d 375, 2015 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5001 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't), app. denied, 132 A.D.3d 1329, 17 N.Y.S.3d 341, 2015 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7075 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2015).

Medical malpractice claim against physician who is clearly county employee, rather than independent contractor, is subject to notice of claim requirements of CLS Gen Mun Law § 50-e and time limitations of CLS Gen Mun law § 50-i, notwithstanding fact that physician maintains independent medical malpractice insurance; municipality's indemnification obligation pursuant to CLS Gen Mun Law § 50-d is not excused by existence of physican's insurance. Hilligas v Veznedaroglu, 129 Misc. 2d 781, 493 N.Y.S.2d 974, 1985 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2710 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1985).

New York City Health and Hospitals Corporation was not entitled to dismissal of mother's derivative cause of action for medical malpractice on grounds that action was time-barred under CLS Gen Mun § 50-i, since issue of fact existed as to whether statute was tolled based upon continuous treatment doctrine, where county hospital, which treated mother's child for neurological damage from birth, directly referred child to better-equipped medical center, and some nexus between the 2 hospitals was shown by medical center's transfer of child back to county hospital for further specialized testing. Frias v New York, 134 Misc. 2d 463, 511 N.Y.S.2d 469, 1986 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3120 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1986).

63. —Actions involving emotional distress or psychic trauma

Plaintiff's causes of action against village for loss of companionship and services of son, for psychic trauma, and for son's personal injuries and conscious pain and suffering, were governed by one-year-90-day limitation period of CLS Gen Mun § 50-i. Myrick v County of Suffolk, 139 A.D.2d 633, 527 N.Y.S.2d 273, 1988 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4386 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1988).

Court erred in dismissing public school teacher's complaint against her principal for intentional infliction of emotional distress on ground that plaintiff failed to serve notice of claim on city board of education as required by CLS Gen Mun § 50-i, since municipal entity must receive notice of claim only when it has obligation to reimburse its employee for offending conduct, and pursuant to CLS Gen Mun § 50-k(3), municipal entity has no duty to indemnify where injury or damage resulted from intentional wrongdoing or recklessness on part of employee. Radvany v Jones, 184 A.D.2d 349, 585 N.Y.S.2d 343, 1992 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8115 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1992).

Court would not dismiss action for negligent and intentional infliction of emotion distress brought by father of child whose death had mistakenly been reported as homicide, since defendants city, police department and medical examiner were equitably estopped from asserting defense of statute of limitations by medical examiner's failure, for some 18 months, to disclose that further examination revealed that child had died of natural causes; circumstances presented exception to general rule that equitable estoppel will not be applied against governmental agencies. Lauer v City of New York, 171 Misc. 2d 832, 656 N.Y.S.2d 93, 1997 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 83 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1997), aff'd in part, modified, 258 A.D.2d 92, 693 N.Y.S.2d 167, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7674 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1999).

Former inmate's intentional infliction of emotional distress (IIED) claim against a city was not time-barred because the IIED claim involved continuous tortious conduct and injury that spanned the criminal proceedings against the inmate and ended only when the criminal charges were dismissed and the statute of limitations on an IIED claim against a municipality and involving a continuous injury did not begin to run until the conduct ceased. Rentas v Ruffin, 816 F.3d 214, 2016 U.S. App. LEXIS 4306 (2d Cir. N.Y. 2016).

64. —Miscellaneous actions

Action to recover damages for blasting operation allegedly performed was properly dismissed where it was not commenced within one year and 90 days after the happening of the event upon which the claim was based (Gen Mun L § 50-i), the tolling provision afforded by CPLR 204 subd a being inapplicable, and CPLR § 203, subd b(5) being of no aid to plaintiffs where there was no proof that summons was delivered to sheriff for service upon the defendant before the limitation period of § 50-i of the General Municipal Law had run. Bellows v County of Montgomery, 42 A.D.2d 1020, 348 N.Y.S.2d 248, 1973 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3326 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1973).

An order denying defendant city's motion to dismiss the complaint and granting plaintiffs' cross motion for an order deeming the summons and complaint to be a notice of claim and extending the time to file such notice of claim nunc pro tunc would be reversed and the complaint dismissed, where plaintiffs served the summons within one year of the subject accident and served the complaint within one year and 90 days of the accident, but where plaintiffs did not serve a notice of claim or submit to examination by defendant and did not move for permission to file a late notice of claim until almost four years after the accident. Tarquinio v New York, 84 A.D.2d 265, 445 N.Y.S.2d 732, 1982 N.Y. App. Div.

LEXIS 14919 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't), aff'd, 56 N.Y.2d 950, 453 N.Y.S.2d 615, 439 N.E.2d 331, 1982 N.Y. LEXIS 3523 (N.Y. 1982).

In a negligence action against a city and its employee, who was driving a city-owned vehicle which allegedly struck plaintiff, commenced more than one year and 90 days after the accident in violation of Gen Mun Law § 50-i, plaintiff's complaint against the employee was properly dismissed as time-barred. The city was the real party in interest and claims against both defendants were governed by the statute of limitations in Gen Mun Law § 50-i, where there was no factual issue as to whether the employee was operating the vehicle with the permission and consent of the city and within the scope of his employment and thus entitled to indemnification by the city. Urraro v Green, 106 A.D.2d 567, 483 N.Y.S.2d 80, 1984 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 21875 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1984).

Action brought against county alleging latent effects of exposure to toxic substances was time barred where plaintiffs were diagnosed with multiple chemical sensitivities in November 1987, and notice of claim was served on county on June 7, 1990 and summons and complaint served on April 24, 1991. Hedlund v County of Tompkins, 235 A.D.2d 980, 652 N.Y.S.2d 877, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 744 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't), app. dismissed, 89 N.Y.2d 1086, 659 N.Y.S.2d 859, 681 N.E.2d 1306, 1997 N.Y. LEXIS 1233 (N.Y. 1997), app. denied, 90 N.Y.2d 808, 664 N.Y.S.2d 269, 686 N.E.2d 1364, 1997 N.Y. LEXIS 3086 (N.Y. 1997).

Claim that defendant "Brooklyn District Attorney" engaged in continuous campaign of "harassment" of plaintiff and her son after she resigned as defendant's employee was barred by her failure to file notice of claim before commencing action where notice of claim that she filed after commencing action was without leave of court and without inclusion of information required by CLS Gen Mun § 50-e(2). Drakeford v Brooklyn DA, 266 A.D.2d 134, 700 N.Y.S.2d 1, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12337 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1999), app. dismissed, 95 N.Y.2d 877, 715 N.Y.S.2d 212, 738 N.E.2d 359, 2000 N.Y. LEXIS 2310 (N.Y. 2000).

City was entitled to summary judgment dismissing action for slip and fall on dirt and grime on outdoor basketball court on which plaintiff was playing where such condition naturally occurred in outdoor setting and was not concealed, and plaintiff produced no evidence that city failed to use reasonable care. Flores v City of New York, 266 A.D.2d 148, 699 N.Y.S.2d 345, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12331 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1999).

Plaintiff raised triable issue of fact as to whether city created dangerous condition of sidewalk, thus obviating need for city to have received prior written notice of defect, where plaintiff fell into 8-foot-deep vault in sidewalk covered by large piece of plywood, there was evidence that metal grate that had previously covered vault had been broken out so that fire department could run hoses into basement of building and pump out water, and plywood was surrounded by "DPW" barricades presumably placed by Department of Public Works. Allen v Matthews, 266 A.D.2d 782, 699 N.Y.S.2d 166, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12121 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1999).

Notice to the City of New York of a discharged law firm's charging lien, pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i(1), was unnecessary because that provision was inapplicable to the law firm's action seeking to collect its fees earned in an underlying action wherein it represented infants in a lead paint exposure case. Schneider, Kleinick, Weitz, Damashek & Shoot v City of New York, 302 A.D.2d 183, 754 N.Y.S.2d 220, 2002 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12853 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 2002).

In an action which a farmer filed against a village, alleging that the village negligently failed to repair power lines under its control and that the farmer's dairy herd was damaged as a result, the trial court properly denied the farmer's claims for punitive damages and for compensatory damages arising more than 90 days before the farmer served a notice of claim on the village, and did not abuse its discretion by denying the farmer's motion for leave to serve a late amended notice of claim and a second amended complaint. Bliss v Vill. of Arcade, 306 A.D.2d 902, 761 N.Y.S.2d 573, 2003 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6820 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2003).

Action seeking money damages allegedly caused by the failure of the city to discharge a duty imposed upon it by law, specifically to provide a wage differential, sounded in tort; therefore, where the decedent failed to serve his claim upon the city within 90 days after the claim arose, pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-e, or within the statute of limitations period of one year and 90 days, pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law §§ 50-e and 50-i, the action was dismissed. Estate of Kalis v City of Buffalo, 306 A.D.2d 932, 762 N.Y.S.2d 195, 2003 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6774 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't), app. denied, 100 N.Y.2d 515, 769 N.Y.S.2d 202, 801 N.E.2d 423, 2003 N.Y. LEXIS 3375 (N.Y. 2003).

Trial court properly denied an individual's petition for leave to serve a late notice of claim against a county health care corporation as the individual conceded that she filed her petition well after the one year and 90-day statute of limitations period had expired and there was no delayed discovery rule to toll the statute of limitations in actions to recover damages for personal injuries based on sexual abuse. N.M. v Westchester County Health Care Corp., 10 A.D.3d 421, 781 N.Y.S.2d 370, 2004 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10310 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2004).

Dismissal of a building owner's claims against a city for, inter alia, tortious interference of a lease for the building was proper because the owner did not file a notice of claim or request permission to file a late notice of claim, the claim sounded in tort, the claim was thus subject to the notice requirement, and the lack of notice was fatal to this claim; the owner's cause of action against the city for diminution in property value, to the extent it was even cognizable, clearly sounded in tort, as it alleged a breach of a duty of care, and thus the lack of a notice of claim was fatal to this claim as well. Montano v City of Watervliet, 47 A.D.3d 1106, 850 N.Y.S.2d 273, 2008 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 279 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2008).

Dismissal of claims by condominium communities and a joint homeowners' association against a village engineer, arising from his issuance of certificates of occupancy for premises that contained construction defects, was not warranted on the basis of the failure to comply with the notice of claim requirements because it was unclear whether the engineer performed the inspections in his capacity as the village engineer or privately. Encore Lake Grove Homeowners Assn., Inc. v Cashin Assoc., P.C., 111 A.D.3d 881, 976 N.Y.S.2d 143, 2013 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7863 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2013).

Requirement of notice in subd 1 of the above statute held not to have been satisfied where action was for injury arising from mobs or riots under § 71 of this statute because such liability had been suspended by Unconsolidated Laws ch 131 § 113 as extended by § 121 of same statute. Hart's Food Stores, Inc. v Rochester, 44 Misc. 2d 938, 255 N.Y.S.2d 390, 1965 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2374 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1965).

In an action against the City of New York for personal injuries and property damage suffered as a result of the alleged negligent acts and omissions of the city in connection with a fire in a city-owned pier, a motion by plaintiffs for an order determining that their actions may proceed as a class action would be denied as violative of Gen Mun Law § 50-i, where the purpose of the notice requirement of that section would be frustrated by a class action involving potentially hundreds of thousands of unknown claimants living in the geographic bounds of the intended class in the instant action and where the statute of limitations for commencing actions against the city in the instant case having already expired perspective members of the class could not apply for leave to serve late notices of claim even if class action status were granted. Eisner v New York, 118 Misc. 2d 672, 461 N.Y.S.2d 216, 1983 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3381 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1983).

Appropriate statute of limitations governing claims based upon negligent hiring and respondeat superior against sheriff of county on charges of intentional torts of assault and battery by police officers is one year and 90 days. Brown v Albion, 128 Misc. 2d 586, 490 N.Y.S.2d 958, 1985 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2961 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1985).

Complaint was one for moneys had and received, not conversion, and plaintiff was not required to file notice of claim on defendant town or commence action within 1 year and 90 days from accrual of action, where complaint sought return of building permit application fee previously paid by plaintiff to town. Inte-

Small claims action against municipality, seeking reimbursement for cost of replacing sewer line leading from main line, running under town road, to curb outside of plaintiffs' house, was based on theory of unjust enrichment, and thus General Municipal Law notice of claim requirements did not apply. Schneider v Town of Orangetown, 175 Misc. 2d 899, 673 N.Y.S.2d 281, 1998 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 140 (N.Y. App. Term 1998).

Failure to comply with terms of General Municipal Law § 50-i(l)(c) requires dismissal of plaintiffs' claims under New York Tort Claims Act; however, dismissal should be without prejudice to present compliance with requirements of those statutes and suit thereunder in future; failure to comply with requisites of state tort claims statutes, however, only bars suit under those statutes, but does not preclude suit if alternative basis for suit against defendants is pleaded. National Sea Clammers Ass'n v New York (1980, CA3 NJ) 616 F2d 1222, 15 Envt Rep Cas 1314, 10 ELR 20155, vacated on other grounds, remanded (1981) 453 US 1, 101 S Ct 2615, 69 L Ed 2d 435, 16 Envt Rep Cas 1118, 11 ELR 20684 and questioned in Denison v Kitzhaber (2001, DC Or) 2001 US Dist LEXIS 12514) (applying New York law).

City did not violate arrestee's right to procedural due process by allegedly misinforming him that his effort to press counterclaim in forfeiture action would be rejected, and that arrestee could not interpose counterclaim in civil forfeiture action unless he already filed notice of claim with city under CLS Gen Mun Law § 50-i(1), since statement was factually accurate. Mackey v Property Clerk of N.Y. City Police Dep't, 26 F. Supp. 2d 585, 1998 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8013 (S.D.N.Y. 1998).

Public school teacher's claim of assault was time barred under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i where the claim was not filed within one year and 90 days of when the teacher's supervisor allegedly elbowed him as the two passed through a doorway. Pearson v Bd. of Educ., 499 F. Supp. 2d 575, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 59244 (S.D.N.Y. 2007).

Arrestee's state law claims for false arrest, false imprisonment, illegal search, gross incompetence, deliberate indifference, negligence in training, supervising and discipline, negligent entrustment, libel and defamation of character, and intentional infliction of emotional distress accrued at the latest on January 18, 2006, which was two days after the arrest and when he was released from jail, and because the arrestee did not provide notice to defendants of the claims until more than one year later, on August 24, 2007, the claims were barred under the time limitations for notice in N.Y. County Law § 52 and N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law §§ 50-e, 50-i Martin v County of Nassau, 692 F. Supp. 2d 282, 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 22989 (E.D.N.Y. 2010).

Notes to Unpublished Decisions

Analysis

1. Applicability to particular entities; city
2. Applicability in particular actions
3. —False arrest or imprisonment or malicious prosecution

1. Applicability to particular entities; city

Unpublished decision: Dismissal of appellant's state law trespass claim against a city was appropriate, inasmuch as the record reflected that neither appellant's pleadings nor his motion papers established that at least 30 days had elapsed since the service of such notice. Parent v New York, 485 Fed. Appx. 500, 2012 U.S. App. LEXIS 12267 (2d Cir. N.Y.), cert. denied, 568 U.S. 1027, 133 S. Ct. 652, 184 L. Ed. 2d 460, 2012 U.S. LEXIS 9026 (U.S. 2012).

2. Applicability in particular actions

3. —False arrest or imprisonment or malicious prosecution

Unpublished decision: It is undisputed that plaintiff did not file a notice of claim with the city until over two-and-a-half years after the arrest at issue. Thus, to the extent he was able to state constitutional tort claims against the city arising out of those events, they would fail to comply with the 90-day notice requirement in N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 50-i. Felmine v City of New York, 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 77299 (E.D.N.Y. June 4, 2012).

1. In general

A town board, by resolution, ordinance or local law, may insure or self-insure its officers and employees against tort damage claims and may provide for indemnification of its officers and employees by means of a collective bargaining agreement. General Municipal Law § 52 by implication supersedes implied prohibition of Town Law § 116(2) against indemnification of employees. Reconsideration and clarification of 1981 Opn St Compt File #81-71.

Town may purchase liability insurance to protect town justices, however, town may not, pursuant to either CLS Gen Mun § 52 or CLS Pub O § 18, purchase insurance which provides coverage for disciplinary or removal proceedings brought against town or village justices. 1987 Op St Comp No. 86-89.

2. Constitutionality

County may purchase liability insurance to indemnify sheriff against civil liability without violating Article XIII, § 13 of Constitution, and purchase of such insurance coverage is authorized by CLS Gen Mun § 52; however, county may not make expenditures from its insurance reserve fund for any loss or claim of sheriff or for any action or judgment against him notwithstanding provisions of CLS Gen Mun § 6-n. The County of Erie may purchase liability insurance for the purpose of protecting emergency medical technicians who are employed by the County against liability for claims arising from their acts while in good faith purporting to perform their duties, but there is no authority for the County of Erie to provide a complete indemnity to ambulance service agencies and their emergency medical technicians who are not employees of the County of Erie. 1977 NY Ops Atty Gen March 21.

1. In general

Plaintiffs were properly awarded damages under Gen Mun Law § 71-a for injuries sustained when they responded to an alleged command for assistance by a police officer for defendant village who was struggling with several persons during an arrest, where, although neither plaintiff testified that they were personally summoned by the officer, there was evidence that the command for assistance was directed toward the occupants of the truck in which plaintiffs were riding, and the trial court properly charged the jury that no precise words of command were required so long as the direction for assistance was evident from the language employed. Schiaroli v Ellenville, 111 A.D.2d 947, 490 N.Y.S.2d 43, 1985 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 50225 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1985).

City was entitled to summary judgment in action brought against it under CLS Gen Mun § 71-a where plaintiff's assistance to police officers was being provided at investigatory stage, and matter had not proceeded to stage where officers were effectuating or securing arrest. Fredericks v City of Elmira, 228 A.D.2d 911, 644 N.Y.S.2d 822, 1996 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7221 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't), app. denied, 88 N.Y.2d 815, 651 N.Y.S.2d 17, 673 N.E.2d 1244, 1996 N.Y. Inference that chauffeur was in discharge of his duty at time of collision which resulted in his death, arising from fact that he was in charge of car at request of his employer, is not neutralized by evidence that he was chasing escaping criminal by order of policeman at time of accident, since in sending its employee upon highway employer knew or is chargeable with knowledge that man and car alike would have to answer call for assistance from officer under this section and in so far, therefore, as danger of pursuit was danger incidental to management of car it was one of risks of employment and so covered by Workmen's Compensation Law. Babington v Yellow Taxi Corp., 250 N.Y. 14, 164 N.E. 726, 250 N.Y. (N.Y.S.) 14, 1928 N.Y. LEXIS 983 (N.Y. 1928).

A public spirited young man "put the finger on" a notorious criminal, received threats on his life, asked for police protection, got none, and was killed by an unknown assassin. Held: the complaint in a wrongful death action against the City of New York was good where it alleged the City was negligent in its special duty to provide the young man with police protection upon demand, and recklessly exposing him to danger and in heedlessly giving him a false impression of safety (the police told the young man not to worry about the threats). Schuster v New York, 5 N.Y.2d 75, 180 N.Y.S.2d 265, 154 N.E.2d 534, 1958 N.Y. LEXIS 745 (N.Y. 1958).

A police officer has the right and duty to commandeer a standing unoccupied automobile and to pursue fleeing suspects who entered another automobile and speeded away, as regards city's liability for policeman's negligence. This section is constitutional. Sawyer v Southport, 6 A.D.2d 553, 179 N.Y.S.2d 897, 1958 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4043 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1958).

This section applies to a county. A complaint against a county was good where it alleged that the plaintiff was injured after complying with a command of a county deputy sheriff to assist in making an arrest. Sawyer v Southport, 6 A.D.2d 553, 179 N.Y.S.2d 897, 1958 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4043 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1958).

Under this section, a city was liable to a private detective who, heeding the call of a police officer to help him disperse rowdies throwing missiles at officer, was hit by a brick which broke his arm. No precise words of command by the police officer were required so long as the direction for assistance was evidenced from the language employed. Riker v New York, 126 N.Y.S.2d 229, 204 Misc. 878, 1953 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2426 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1953), aff'd, 286 A.D. 808, 143 N.Y.S.2d 620, 1955 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4181 (N.Y. App. Div. 1955).

Municipality is not liable under this section for failure to furnish adequate police protection to decedent killed after identifying dangerous criminal to police where complaint did not allege that decedent was, in effect pressed into service by police and where shooting of decedent occurred subsequent to the arrest of the criminal. Schuster v New York, 121 N.Y.S.2d 735, 207 Misc. 1102, 1953 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1784 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1953), aff'd, 286 A.D. 389, 143 N.Y.S.2d 778, 1955 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4051 (N.Y. App. Div. 1955).

Sheriff sent two deputies to scene where husband had beaten his wife and the deputies commanded plaintiff to aid in arresting and apprehending the husband but then left the plaintiff alone at the scene. When the husband returned the plaintiff was injured. The complaint was insufficient for failure to state sufficient facts. Farley v Stone, 140 N.Y.S.2d 579, 207 Misc. 934, 1955 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3173 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1955), modified, 3 A.D.2d 810, 160 N.Y.S.2d 340, 1957 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6227 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1957).

The provisions of this section did not apply where plaintiff was engaged at the request of police officer in directing traffic at scene where dog had been hit by automobile. Adamo v P. G. § 72-g. Expenses of volunteer firefighters attending training schools and instruction courses

1. The chief officer of the fire department of a municipal corporation or fire district, subject to any rules or regulations governing such department, may authorize the volunteer members of the department to attend training schools or courses of instruction for firefighters.

a. If any such school is located, or any such course is given, outside the county or outside one of the counties in which the municipal corporation or fire district is located, such authorization shall be subject to the prior approval of the governing board of the municipal corporation or fire district.

b. If any such school is located, or any such course is given, outside the state, in addition to the approval required in paragraph a of this subdivision, such authorization shall be subject to a finding from the governing board that such training course or school of instruction is necessary and in the public interest and is not available within a reasonable distance and time period in the state.

c. Notification and proof of attendance of any out-of-state training school from the chief officer shall be provided to the state office of fire prevention and control.

2. The governing board by resolution may provide for the payment, in the same manner as other claims against the municipal corporation or fire district are audited, allowed and paid, of all actual and necessary registration fees not in excess of fifty dollars and all actual and necessary expenses of travel, meals and lodging and all necessary tuition fees incurred by such volunteer members in attending such a training school, or course of instruction, in this country or in Canada.

3. If such travel is by car owned by the volunteer firefighter, he or she may be paid a reasonable mileage allowance for each mile actually and necessarily traveled by him or her in attending such school or course of instruction. Such mileage allowance shall not exceed the standard travel allowance for mileage adopted or prescribed for federal income tax purposes. Any claim for such expenses or reimbursement shall have endorsed thereon, or attached thereto, a statement by the chief officer of the fire department that the attendance had been duly authorized by him or her. The provisions of this section shall not be deemed to have amended the provisions of subdivision one of section two hundred nine of this chapter in relation to participation in fire training programs which are not conducted as training schools or regular or special courses of instruction for firefighters.

Revision Notes: [1960, ch 100] This act was recommended by the Joint Legislative Committee on Fire Laws. Advisory members of such Committee who represented the Firemen's Association of the State of New York, the New York State Association of Fire Chiefs and the Association of Fire Districts of the State of New York recommended the deletion of the former provisions of § 72-g relating to reimbursement for loss of earnings at a rate not exceeding $5.00 per day. It was believed that there had been relatively few cases where such reimbursement had been claimed in the past.

5. Procedure for reimbursement

1. In general

Laws authorizing payment of expenses of municipal officers and employees in going to and from and attending conferences of municipal officials, training courses and schools, generally cover traveling, hotel and eating expenses, but do not cover personal registration or membership fees of individual officers in various associations. 1946 Ops St Compt 60.

2. Authority to establish training programs

A town may not appropriate or expend town funds for a fire training program. 1947 Ops St Compt 501.

Neither a town nor a fire protection district has authority to maintain a training school for volunteer firemen or to enter into a joint agreement for operation of such a school. 1963 Ops St Compt #112.

Fire districts may not cooperate in establishing joint training programs to be conducted on lands owned by one of them, may not jointly acquire equipment and supplies, jointly construct improvements, or jointly employ instructors. 1963 Ops St Compt #626.

3. Reimbursement for particular expenses; conferences and conventions

A village may reimburse volunteer firemen for actual and necessary expenses incurred in attending the New York State Volunteer Firemen's Association Convention, if said convention falls within the category of a training school or offers instruction courses. 1960 Ops St Compt File #561.

The members of a village volunteer fire department may not be reimbursed under section 77-b of the General Municipal Law for expenses incurred in attending a convention, but such reimbursement may be allowed under 72-g, if the convention is actually a "training school" or "course of instruction" within the scope of the latter section. 1967 Ops St Compt File #807.

A volunteer fireman of a fire district fire department may not be authorized to attend and be reimbursed for attending a convention unless said convention is actually a training school or course of instruction within the scope of General Municipal Law, § 72-g. 1968 Ops St Compt File #811.

4. —Training schools and instruction courses

Fire district may pay expenses of volunteer firemen to and from factory within the State for purpose of obtaining instruction in operation of new fire truck. 1955 Ops St Compt File #7392.

The term "members of the fire department" includes volunteer firemen who are members of the fire department. Accordingly, the village may pay for the expenses incurred by the volunteer firemen who are members of the village fire department and who have been authorized by the village to attend a fire training school within the state. 1959 Ops St Compt File #800.

A fire district may authorize attendance of volunteer members of its fire department at a first aid clinic conducted by the Empire State Rescue and First Aid Association and pay actual expenses incurred in connection therewith, if such clinic may be deemed either a training school or an instruction course. 1964 Ops St Compt #427.

Fire district may pay expenses of volunteer firefighters attending emergency medical services conference if board of fire commissioners, based on review of program, determines that it is significantly devoted to technical training of firefighters who would attend. 1996 Op St Compt No. 96-17.

Fire district may reimburse volunteer firefighters for tuition expenses incurred for completing college courses, such as course leading to degree in fire science, if board of fire commissioners determines that course provides, to significant extent, technical training relevant to duties of firefighters who would attend. 1996 Op St Compt No. 96-17.

This section, in providing for payment of expenses of volunteer firemen attending training schools and instruction courses, contains no authority for granting them "limited expense accounts" for such purposes. 1961 Ops St Comp File #36.

5. Procedure for reimbursement

A village board may require receipts for actual expenditures to be submitted by volunteer firemen in order to receive reimbursement for expenses incurred in attending training schools and instruction courses. 1960 Ops St Compt File #561.

Fire district may pay tuition and expenses of volunteer firemen in attending training schools or courses of instruction for firemen. 1979 Op St Compt File #533.

A fire district may pay the expenses incurred by firemen under the age of 18, including the expense of travel to drills or for instruction, and may also pay for the purchase of equipment in connection with a properly authorized youth program. 1979 Op St Compt File #877.

A volunteer fireman may be authorized to attend a convention and obtain reimbursement for expenses only if it is actually a training school or course of instruction. The New York State Volunteer Fireman's Association convention fulfills this requirement but the New York State Fire Chief's convention does not. However, a fire chief or assistant fire chief could be authorized to attend and obtain reimbursement for any convention believed to be for the betterment of the municipality. 1979 Op St Compt File #311.

Volunteer firemen may be authorized to attend the New York State Association of Fire Chiefs' Annual Conference and may be reimbursed for certain expenses. (24 Opns St Comp, 1968, p 769, is hereby superseded and Opns St Comp, 1979, No. 79-311 is superseded to the extent it is inconsistent with this opinion). 1980 Op St Compt File #237.

The board of fire commissioners in a fire district may authorize a past-chief who is still an active fireman to attend conventions, conferences, or schools that would be for the benefit of the fire district. 1981 Op St Compt File #81-159.

Section covers only persons regularly employed and compensated and expenses allowable are those for attending Municipal Section only. 37. Advance payments

City school district did not violate provisions of assistant superintendent's employment contract by withholding his salary pursuant to CLS Gen Mun § 77-b(1), even though contract provided that he was entitled to normal salary and benefits during period of suspension until employer determined merits of misconduct charges against him, since audit had revealed that he had received cash advances in excess of his expenditures, and district was recouping such excess by making deductions from his salary; thus, assistant superintendent was still technically receiving salary, but entire net amount was being applied to reimburse excess advances in accordance with statute. Duffy v Poughkeepsie City School Dist., 183 A.D.2d 1047, 583 N.Y.S.2d 658, 1992 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7143 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1992).

Assistant superintendent was not entitled to enjoin city school district from withholding his salary, pursuant to CLS Gen Mun § 77-b(1), pending decision in disciplinary proceeding, where withholding was based on excess advances allegedly due to inappropriate and wasteful purchases made by assistant superintendent on behalf of district, as well as personal purchases made on district's credit cards, but charges in disciplinary proceeding did not include issue of excess advances, and such issue would therefore not be determined in disciplinary proceeding; thus, final determination in disciplinary action was not necessary to resolve injunction issue. A city may not make advance lump sum payments for travel expense of its officials at air or railroad rates where such officials are using their own automobiles and the city has established a mileage rate; nor may it purchase airplane tickets for private use of its officials, even though they ultimately reimburse the city therefor. 1960 Ops St Compt File #669.

(24 Opns St Comp, 1968, p 769, is hereby superseded and Opns St Comp, 1979, No. 79-311 is superseded to the extent it is inconsistent with this opinion). 1980 Op St Compt File #237.

6. —Conferences for town officers

A justice court clerk who, as an employee of the town, has received prior authorization to attend the Association of Towns meeting would be entitled to receive reimbursement for his or her actual and necessary expenses. The fact that the clerk also happens to be the spouse of the town justice is of no relevance. 1980 Op St Compt File #273.

7. —Miscellaneous conferences

The board of turstees of a public library may reimburse employees who attend intra-state library conferences, meetings and seminars for the purpose of improving their knowledge of library business and management. 1979 Op St Compt File #743.

A school district may not adopt a resolution authorizing board members to attend such conferences as they may select, unless the conferences are specifically enumerated in the resolution. 1979 Op St Compt File #795.

11. —Fire district employees

A volunteer fireman may be authorized to attend a convention and obtain reimbursement for expenses only if it is actually a training school or course of instruction. The New York State Volunteer Fireman's Association convention fulfills this requirement but the New York State Fire Chief's convention does not.

However, a fire chief or assistant fire chief could be authorized to attend and obtain reimbursement for any convention believed to be for the betterment of the municipality. 1979 Op St Compt File #311.

A town or village justice court clerk, or justice who does his own clerical work, may recover hs actual and necessary expenses incurred in attending a seminar conducted by the New York State Association of Magistrates Court Clerks, if attendance is authorized in advance by the local governing board upon the board's determination that attendance at the seminar is of benefit to the municipality. 1980 Op St Compt File #380.

14. —Expenses for spouse

(1) A school district may pay actual and necessary registration fees up to $50 for persons it authorizes to attend a conference. Reimbursement may be deferred until the person has actually paid the expenses and has submitted vouchers and a signed document authorizing him to attend the conference; (2) A school district may not pay the expenses of a spouse in attending a conference, but, if the spouse does attend, reimbursement for lodging or public transportation may be at the amount normally expended for one person. 1979 Op St Compt File #358.

15. —Registration fees

(1) A school district may pay actual and necessary registration fees up to $50 for persons it authorizes to attend a conference. Reimbursement may be deferred until the person has actually paid the expenses and has submitted vouchers and a signed document authorizing him to attend the conference; (2) A school district may not pay the expenses of a spouse in attending a conference, but, if the spouse does attend, reimbursement for lodging or public transportation may be at the amount normally expended for one person. 1979 Op St Compt File #358.

16. —Travel expenses

The governing board, in the first instance, determines whether a given expense of attending a conference is actual and necessary. An officer or employee is not entitled to a mileage allowance when he either travels to a conference in a vehicle owned by a colleague who also attends the conference, or by bus. 1979 Op St Compt File #579.

A mileage allowance may not be paid to a member of the board of education for attending committee meetings, workshops, or special board meetings which take place at the same location as the regular board meetings. 1979 Op St Compt File #684.

A governing board of a county may reimburse a county officer for lodging where such lodging involves the sub-leasing of an apartment if the cost is reasonable and comparable to that of either a hotel or motel. In addition to a certified voucher submitted to the governing board, the board should require receipts as documentation but where receipts are not available, cancelled checks will suffice. Travel expenses may be paid on a mileage basis and in such a case no documentation other than a voucher would be required. 1982 Op St Compt File #82-20.

17. —Miscellaneous expenses which are reimbursable

An attorney retained by a town board as an independent contractor, may be reimbursed for conference expenses if his contract so provides. 1979 Op St Compt File #203.

The sales tax added on to a restaurant bill for meals consumed by a school district official on authorized business travel is reimbursable by the district as an actual and necessary expense. It is a long standing public policy and the policy of this Department that a board of education may not reimburse officials for alcoholic beverages consumed with meals. 1980 Op St Compt File #163.

A town board might, in its discretion, determine that the fee incurred by a town justice in securing traveler's checks in connection with the annual meeting of the Association of Towns is an actual and necessary expense. However, interest on a 30-day note secured by a town justice to pay his travel expense is not a proper town charge. 1980 Op St Compt File #221.

Tips to bellboys or maids are a reimbursable travel expense for an officer or employee authorized by a municipality to attend a conference. However, tips to bellboys or maids should not be included on a voucher as part of mileage expenses. 1980 Op St Compt File #717.

The board of commissioners of a water district may not pay a per diem meal allowance to officers or employees of the district when they travel on district business but may only reimburse them for those meal expenses actually incurred. 18. —Miscellaneous expenses which are not reimbursable

The sales tax added on to a restaurant bill for meals consumed by a school district official on authorized business travel is reimbursable by the district as an actual and necessary expense. It is a long standing public policy and the policy of this Department that a board of education may not reimburse officials for alcoholic beverages consumed with meals. 1980 Op St Compt File #163.

A town board might, in its discretion, determine that the fee incurred by a town justice in securing traveler's checks in connection with the annual meeting of the Association of Towns is an actual and necessary expense. 21. Training expenses; attorneys

22. —Firemen

A volunteer fireman may be authorized to attend a convention and obtain reimbursement for expenses only if it is actually a training school or course of instruction. The New York State Volunteer Fireman's Association convention fulfills this requirement but the New York State Fire Chief's convention does not. However, a fire chief or assistant fire chief could be authorized to attend and obtain reimbursement for any convention believed to be for the betterment of the municipality. 1979 Op St Compt File #311.

23. —Town employees

If a town assessor enrolls in a real estate appraisal course at a local community college, he may be reimbursed for the cost of tuition and travel provided the town board has determined that attendance at the course will be of benefit to the town. However, since a college course is not a conference within the meaning of General Municipal Law, § 77-b(1)(c), the mechanisms of reimbursement provided by that section are inapplicable. 1981 Op St Compt File #81-152.

24. Advance payments

In addition to the authority for cash advances for travel contained in G.M.L., § 77-b, a town may enact a local law which would authorize the payment of cash advances to cover the cost of other anticipated expenses incurred by officers and employees in the performance of their official duties. 1979 Op St Compt File #202.

A B.O.C.E.S. may not make advance payments to teachers for certain expenses payable under a collective bargaining agreement, except as authorized in General Municipal Law, § 77-b(6) for expenses incurred in connection with conferences. § 7. This act shall take effect on the one hundred twentieth day after it shall have become a law; provided, however, that the prohibition against the distribution, sale or offering for sale of any package of cigarettes unless the manufacturer has placed the letters "FSC" as required by subdivision 6 of section 156-c of the executive law on such package; and the testing requirements set forth in paragraph a of subdivision 3 of section 156-c of the executive law as amended by section four of this act shall take effect twelve months after this act shall have become a law. Nothing in this act shall prohibit wholesale dealers or retail dealers from selling their inventory of cigarettes existing on the date that is 12 months after this act takes effect; provided that such cigarettes contain a marking in compliance with section 8 of the office of fire prevention and control regulations at Title 19 NYCRR Part 429, as in existence as of the date this act becomes a law; provided, further, that such wholesale dealer or retail dealer can establish that New York state cigarette tax stamps were affixed to such cigarettes prior to the date that is 12 months after this act takes effect, and provided further that such wholesale dealer or retail dealer can establish that such inventory was purchased prior to such date in comparable quantity to the inventory purchased during the same period in the preceding year.

Agency Opinions

A fire district may have implied authority to offer a reward for information leading to the apprehension, arrest and conviction of a person responsible for a suspected arson but in light of the General Municipal Law provisions pertaining to rewards and arson investigation, the best course of action may be for the fire district commissioners to discuss with the town officials the possibility of the town offering a reward and to determine what steps the town may be taking to apprehend a suspected arsonist. 1982 Op St Compt File #82-242.

§ 92-a. Medical, surgical and hospital services or insurance for officers, employees and retired officers and employees of public corporations and their families

1. As used in this section, the term "public corporation" shall mean a municipal corporation, a district corporation, a school district, a consolidated health district and a county or town special district or a joint special district, governed by a separate board of commissioners. Officers, employees and retired officers and employees of a county or town special district which is not governed by a separate board of commissioners shall be deemed to be county or town officers and employees, or retired officers and employees, respectively.

1-a. As used in this section the term "retired officer" shall include any former school board member with twenty years or more service in such position. The total cost of participation by such former school board members and their families shall be borne by such former members.

2. A public corporation may contract with a non-profit membership corporation, organized under article forty-three of the insurance law and approved by the superintendent of financial services and the state board of social welfare, or with any insurance company authorized to do business in this state for the purpose of furnishing medical and surgical services and hospital service as defined in such article forty-three, or medical and surgical and hospital insurance to persons who contract with such non-profit membership corporation or insurance company, or who subscribe to a plan or plans, as hereinafter provided. Any such contract entered into by a public corporation shall permit any officer or employee or group of officers or employees of an agency or department of the public corporation voluntarily to subscribe to a plan or plans providing for medical and surgical and hospital insurance for, or medical and surgical services and hospital service to, such officers or employees and their families. Any such contract entered into by a public corporation may, if authorized by the governing board or body and subject to such conditions, limitations and eligibility requirements as may be fixed by such board or body, permit any retired officers and employees or group of retired officers and employees of an agency or department of the public corporation voluntarily to subscribe to such a plan or plans to provide such insurance for or service to themselves and their families. The comptroller or other disbursing officer of the public corporation, or of any fund out of which officers or employees of such public corporation are paid, is authorized to deduct from the wages or salary of such contracting or subscribing officer or employee, with his prior consent, in writing, the sums required to be paid by such officer or employee to such non-profit membership corporation or insurance company. Such public corporation, if such contract or plan provides that the employer shall contribute a share of the cost of such medical and surgical services and hospital service, or medical and surgical and hospital insurance, for its officers and employees or retired officers and employees, is authorized to appropriate a sum required to be paid under such contract by the public corporation as employer. The sum to be paid by it under such contract, in the discretion of such public corporation, may be any percentage of the total cost including the whole thereof. Where the compensation of any officer or employee whose position is covered by medical and surgical services and hospital service or medical and surgical and hospital insurance pursuant to this section is paid from a special or administrative fund provided for by law, the contributions required to be paid by the public corporation for such coverage shall be paid from such special or administrative fund. The public corporation shall be authorized to pay directly to such non-profit membership corporation or to such insurance company, the total of such appropriation and of such officer and employee deductions.

3. The authority conferred upon public corporations by this section shall be in addition to and in no way a limitation upon the authority conferred upon such public corporations to provide the same or similar benefits for their officers and employees pursuant to article eleven of the civil service law.

4. The provisions of this section shall apply to school board members, provided however, that the total cost of participation by such school board members and their families shall be borne by such members.

5. Any contract or contracts made pursuant to this section by a city with a population of one million or more inhabitants and any plan or plans effectuated by any such contract or contracts shall be administered by the department of personnel or the office of municipal labor relations of such city, or if there be no such department or office therein, by a department, agency, or officer thereof designated by the mayor of such city.

6. (a) Notwithstanding any general, special or local law to the contrary, the governing board of a public corporation that, in lieu of contracting pursuant to subdivision two of this section, self-funds medical, surgical or hospital benefits, may enter into agreements with duly qualified contract administrators or other service providers to receive, investigate, make recommendations on, audit, approve or make payment of claims for such benefits. Such agreements shall be entered into pursuant to competitive bidding, or written request for proposals in accordance with the procurement policies and procedures of the public corporation adopted pursuant to section one hundred four-b of this chapter.

(b) In order to authorize the payment of claims for benefits audited and approved by a contract administrator or other service provider, an agreement entered into pursuant to this subdivision may provide that after claims have been audited by the contract administrator or other service provider, the contract administrator or other service provider shall periodically inform the public corporation of the total amount payable in satisfaction of the audited and approved claims, together with such other supporting information as the public corporation may require, and the public corporation may transfer moneys in that amount to the contract administrator or other service provider for disbursement to the claimants entitled thereto. Any such agreement shall provide that if a check issued by the contract administrator or other service provider in satisfaction of a claim remains unpaid after one hundred eighty days, the moneys payable in satisfaction of that claim shall be returned to the public corporation.

(c) Any agreement entered into pursuant to this subdivision shall contain, at a minimum, the following:

(i) a clear statement of the charges, fees or other compensation for the services provided under the agreement;

(ii) a statement that payment for the services provided under the agreement shall be made only after the services are rendered;

(iii) a provision stating that the contract administrator or other service provider to which functions are delegated shall be liable to the public corporation for all loss or damage that may result from any failure by the contract administrator or other service provider to discharge their duties, or from any improper or incorrect discharge of those duties, and a provision that expressly reserves to the public corporation all legal rights of set-off. The contract administrator or service provider shall save the public corporation free and harmless from any and all loss occasioned by or incurred in the performance of services under an agreement pursuant to this subdivision;

(iv) a provision requiring the contract administrator or other service provider to furnish a surety bond, irrevocable letter of credit or equivalent security, in a form and amount acceptable to the governing board of the public corporation, to secure the contract administrator's or other service provider's performance under the agreement;

(v) a provision requiring the contract administrator or service provider to establish, maintain and retain for a specified period complete and accurate books, records, documents, accounts and other evidence pertinent to performance under the agreement, and to submit quarterly and annual reports, in a form acceptable to the governing board of the public corporation, detailing the payment of claims and other activities of the contract administrator or other service provider during the relevant period. The auditing body or official of the public corporation shall have access to and may examine such books, records, documents, accounts and other evidence pertinent to performance under the agreement upon reasonable notice to the contract administrator or service provider;

(vi) a provision requiring an annual audit, and opinions thereon, by an independent certified public accountant, of the accounting procedures and internal control procedures of the contract administrator or other service provider;

(vii) a provision by which the contract administrator or other service provider agrees to maintain the confidentiality of medical records in its possession and that such confidentiality may only be waived upon the written consent of the covered person; and

(viii) a provision by which the contract administrator or other service provider acknowledges that those records maintained on behalf of the public corporation are subject to the provisions of article six of the public officers law.

(d) A contract entered into pursuant to this section shall be for a term not to exceed five years, except that it shall be subject to cancellation by the municipal corporation at any time upon thirty days' notice.

7. The provisions of this section shall permit a public corporation to provide coverage for volunteer firefighters, as defined in section three of the volunteer firefighters' benefit law, and volunteer ambulance workers, as defined in subdivision one of section three of the volunteer ambulance workers' benefit law, provided however, that the total cost of participation by such volunteers and their families shall be borne by such volunteers.

1. In general

A municipality may directly contract with any insurance company authorized to do business in the state for the purpose of furnishing medical and surgical services. International Brotherhood of Teamsters v Cortlandt, 68 Misc. 2d 645, 327 N.Y.S.2d 143, 1971 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1524 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1971).

A municipality may confer fringe benefits upon its employees and officers only where such a conferral is specifically authorized by statute. 1968 Ops St Compt File #651.

Based on CLS Gen Mun § 92-a, municipal corporation may supplement medical insurance coverage by direct cash reimbursements for specified non-covered health care expenses. 2004 Op St Compt No. 04-8.

Indemnification provision of agreement between Municipal Cooperative Health Benefit Plan (MCHBP) and Health Maintenance Organization (HMO), which does not require HMO to indemnify MCHBP for negligence of HMO, renders agreement in non-compliance with specific mandate of CLS Gen Mun § 92-a(6)(c)(iii) that "any failure of the contract administrator" be indemnified, and thus in non-compliance with CLS Ins § 4705(d)(2)(D). Insurance Department, Opinions of General Counsel, Opinion Number 05-05-11.

Indemnification provision of agreement between Municipal Cooperative Health Benefit Plan (MCHBP) and Health Maintenance Organization (HMO), which authorizes HMO to settle claims in its own discretion, is settlement provision common in liability insurance policies and is not contrary to General Municipal Law or other relevant statute since such claims are not health claims, but in nature of tort claims, and cost will be borne by HMO (not public fisc). Insurance Department, Opinions of General Counsel, Opinion Number 05-05-11.

2. Officers and employees

Elected officers are "officers" within the meaning of this section. 1959 Ops St Compt File #499.

3. Retirees

Because a school district violated the moratorium provided by 2003 N.Y. Laws ch. 48 by ceasing to reimburse retirees for Medicare Part B premiums under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 92-a(2), and because reimbursement did not violate N.Y. Const. art. VIII, § 1, the trial court properly ordered the board of education to reimburse the retirees; however, the trial court erred in granting relief to those similarly situated since such relief was not requested. Matter of Baker v Board of Educ., 29 A.D.3d 574, 815 N.Y.S.2d 112, 2006 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6019 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't), app. denied, 7 N.Y.3d 708, 822 N.Y.S.2d 482, 855 N.E.2d 798, 2006 N.Y. LEXIS 2519 (N.Y. 2006).

City and mayor did not exceed their authority by enacting NYC Local Law No. 27, entitling registered domestic partners of current and retired city employees to certain medical, health and retirement benefits in that (1) power conferred by CLS NY Const Art IX § 2 on local governments to determine salary of employees encompasses such benefits, (2) CLS Gen City § 20(29) authorizes city to furnish medical benefits to current city employees "and their families," which is not restricted to those who have formalized their relationship by obtaining marriage certificate or adoption order, and (3) CLS Gen Mun § 92-a(2) gives city power to offer medical and related services or insurance to retired employees and their families. Slattery v City of New York, 179 Misc. 2d 740, 686 N.Y.S.2d 683, 1999 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 35 (N.Y. Sup. Ct.), transferred, 93 N.Y.2d 883, 689 N.Y.S.2d 426, 711 N.E.2d 640, 1999 N.Y. LEXIS 692 (N.Y. 1999).

A municipality may undertake the payment of the full cost of Blue Cross and Blue Shield health insurance for its retired employees, under a plan entered into pursuant to section 92-a of the General Municipal Law or section 163(2) of the Civil Service Law, provided such retired employees retire subsequent to the adoption of such increased benefit plan. 1969 Ops St Compt File #431.

A municipality operating under a local health insurance plan may not cover former employees or officers after they separate from service by other than retirement until such time as they become retirees. 1983 Op St Comp File #83-85.

4. Effect of other benefits; sick leave credits

5. —Miscellaneous benefits

A county employee receiving workmen's compensation for injuries suffered in course of employment must be continued under coverage of the County Hospitalization, Medical, and Surgical Benefits Plan if he so desires, during the period of temporary disability. 1961 Ops St Compt File #35.

Employees of a municipality which participates in the State health insurance program may not, with certain exceptions, participate in such program unless they are employed at least twenty hours per week. There is no such restriction in health insurance programs contracted for by a municipality pursuant to General Municipal Law, § 92-a. 1966 Ops St Compt File #156.

Where a municipality pays hospitalization and medical insurance premiums for its employees and retired employees under a private plan, it may reimburse those 65 and older for Medicare premiums without the formality of a local law. 1972 Ops St Compt File #956.

6. Cities

City of New York did not exceed its authority by enacting Domestic Partners Law, which extends health and other benefits to domestic partners of city employees, including retired and deceased employees, where (1) CLS Gen City § 20(29) empowers city to enter into insurance contracts or health plans that "shall permit any . . . employee . . . who is paid out of the city treasury voluntarily to subscribe to a plan or plans providing for medical and surgical services and hospital service to such . . . employees and their families," (2) term "family" has been defined expansively in context of eviction protection laws, (3) there was no reason to adopt more limited definition of "family in present context, and (4) CLS Gen City § 20(29-a) refers to "the widowed spouses and dependent children" of retired or deceased employees. Slattery v City of New York, 266 A.D.2d 24, 697 N.Y.S.2d 603, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11158 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1999), app. dismissed, 94 N.Y.2d 897, 706 N.Y.S.2d 699, 727 N.E.2d 1253, 2000 N.Y. LEXIS 231 (N.Y. 2000), app. dismissed, 95 N.Y.2d 823, 712 N.Y.S.2d 907, 734 N.E.2d 1208, 2000 N.Y. LEXIS 1865 (N.Y. 2000).

City of New York did not violate state or public policy by enacting Domestic Partners Law, which extends health and other benefits to domestic partners of city employees, where state has extended certain derivative health benefits to domestic partners of state employees and has allowed nonstate agencies that participate in state's health insurance program to offer same coverage to domestic partners of their employees. Slattery v City of New York, 266 A.D.2d 24, 697 N.Y.S.2d 603, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11158 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1999), app. dismissed, 94 N.Y.2d 897, 706 N.Y.S.2d 699, 727 N.E.2d 1253, 2000 N.Y. LEXIS 231 (N.Y. 2000), app. dismissed, 95 N.Y.2d 823, 712 N.Y.S.2d 907, 734 N.E.2d 1208, 2000 N.Y. LEXIS 1865 (N.Y. 2000).

City of New York, by enacting Domestic Partners Law, which extends health and other benefits to domestic partners of city employees, did not transform domestic partnership into form of common-law marriage and thus did not impinge on state's exclusive right to regulate institution of marriage since there are enormous differences between marriage and domestic partnership. Slattery v City of New York, 266 A.D.2d 24, 697 N.Y.S.2d 603, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11158 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1999), app. dismissed, 94 N.Y.2d 897, 706 N.Y.S.2d 699, 727 N.E.2d 1253, 2000 N.Y. LEXIS 231 (N.Y. 2000), app. dismissed, 95 N.Y.2d 823, 712 N.Y.S.2d 907, 734 N.E.2d 1208, 2000 N.Y. LEXIS 1865 (N.Y. 2000).

A city other than New York City has the choice of proceeding under either § 92-a of the General Municipal Law or § 20, subd. (29) of the General City Law in taking care of hospital and medical insurance and expense for its officers and employees. 1962 Ops St Compt #1016.

A city may pay the whole cost of providing hospital, medical, and surgical insurance for its employees and their families, pursuant to this section. 1964 Ops St Compt #697.

7. Counties; coverage of separated employees

8. —Coverage of other employees

It is doubtful whether a part-time county employee not carried on the payroll may participate in a county group health insurance plan. The county may not accept from him direct premium contributions, nor may it pay part of the cost of such insurance for his benefit. Retired municipal employees may participate in such insurance provided they are carried on the municipal payroll. 1959 Ops St Compt #196.

A county employee receiving workmen's compensation for injuries suffered in course of employment must be continued under coverage of the County Hospitalization, Medical, and Surgical Benefits Plan if he so desires, during the period of temporary disability. 1961 Ops St Compt File #35.

9. Fire districts; scope of coverage

This section is believed to provide authority for purchase of accident and health insurance coverage for paid employees, but not volunteer employees, of the fire department. 1961 Ops St Compt #228.

A fire district may, within the provisions of the statute, purchase hospital insurance for its officers and employees. 1961 Ops St Compt #430.

A fire district may purchase group hospital and medical insurance for its prior retired employees and their dependents. 1972 Ops St Compt File #846.

10. —Benefits

A fire district may not purchase group insurance which would supply blood, crutches and wheel chairs to fire district firemen and members of their families. 1963 Ops St Compt #247.

A fire district may not pay the premiums for hospital and medical insurance, now paid by an employee, to the Social Security Administration. 1969 Ops St Compt File #731.

11. Police departments

A town may not agree to pay the police association of the town $50 a year for each policeman to be used by the association for group health, life, retirement and disability insurance. 1968 Ops St Compt File #840.

Special police district board of commissioners may authorize the payment of compensation in the form of accident and health insurance coverage while on duty to special policemen appointed to serve with pay in specified situations, but may not provide such coverage for special policemen appointed to serve without pay in the event of certain public emergencies. 1969 Ops St Compt File #1.

The Port Washington Police District may agree in a contract with the Police Benevolent Association, to pay to it a lump sum to be used to purchase a dental insurance plan for its members. 1972 Ops St Compt File #68.

12. School districts

School district was not entitled to permanent stay of arbitration of faculty association's grievance concerning change in prescription drug coverage under health insurance plan provided to association members and other county employees on ground that parties' collective bargaining agreement (CBA) did not bind district to arbitrate disputes between association and third party health plan because, where CBA specifically included "prescription drug coverage," issues of who brought about reduction in benefits as between nonparty plan's governing board and school district, and whether district violated CBA, were for arbitrator to resolve. Richfield Springs Cent. Sch. Dist. v Allen, 270 A.D.2d 734, 705 N.Y.S.2d 709, 2000 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3106 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2000).

The enactment of new legislation authorizing collective bargaining between an employees' organization or union and a political subdivision, including a school district, does not enlarge or alter the school district's authority with respect to the granting of benefits to its nonteaching employees in the following categories: terminal leave payments; converting sick leave accruals into cash; salary in lieu of weekly compensation awards; health and group life insurance plans; automobile expense. 1967 Ops St Compt File #378.

A school district is authorized to purchase group life, accident or health insurance for its teachers but may not purchase group income protection insurance. Any dividends received by the school district, where it pays the full premium, belongs to the district and may not be paid to the treasury of the teachers' association. 1969 Ops St Compt File #39.

School district may not reimburse former school board member who participates in municipal cooperative health benefit plan for Part B Medicare premiums paid by former school board member (1985 Op St Compt No. 85-3 superseded to extent inconsistent). 1997 Op St Compt No. 97-2.

Former unsalaried school board members, who are not members of, and eligible to receive a retirement allowance from, a public retirement system, may not be included in a health insurance plan established pursuant to General Municipal Law, § 92-a. 1985 Op St Comp 85-3.

13. Towns

A town, as a municipal corporation, may contract with a private insurance company to furnish hospital, medical and surgical coverage for town officers and employees. 1964 Ops St Compt #244.

14. —Scope of coverage

Where a town enters into a contract for medical, surgical, and hospital coverage for its highway employees, with the town paying one-third of the cost, whether or not other town employees may be included in the plan, with no contribution by the town, depends upon whether or not such discrimination is legally justifiable on the facts. 1964 Ops St Compt #138.

A town which has established a local health insurance plan under GML, § 92 may discontinue health insurance coverage for future employees, while continuing such coverage for current employees until separation from service. 1982 Op St. Compt File #82-2.

15. —Source of funds for purchasing insurance

Where a town grants hospital insurance coverage for its highway employees and its town officials, the cost of such coverage is a charge against the fund (town general, special or administrative) out of which their respective compensations are paid. 1960 Ops St Compt File #262.

A town's share of cost of health insurance and social security payments for highway employees is chargeable to the same fund from which their salaries are paid. 1964 Ops St Compt #282.

A town which furnishes hospital and medical insurance for its employees pursuant to section 92-a of the General Municipal Law, lacks authority to commute accumulated and unused sick leave time of its employees, who are to retire, into a cash value for the purpose of acquiring hospital and medical insurance. 1967 Ops St Compt File #828.

A town may purchase medical, surgical and hospital insurance for its officers and employees. The fund used to pay the town's share of such insurance should be the fund which pays the officer's or employee's compensation. 1968 Ops St Compt File #248.

16. Villages

A municipality may contract for hospital, medical and surgical insurance on behalf of certain village employees with private insurance companies. It is not required that all village employees be covered by the contract. 1959 Ops St Compt File #524.

A village of the first class may increase the amount of its contribution toward payment of employees' premiums under a plan of hospital, medical and surgical insurance either by resolution or local law, depending upon the type of local legislation originally used to establish the village's participation. 1963 Ops St Compt #331.

No prohibited conflict of interest exists where a village police justice sells group hospitalization and life insurance to the village in which he is such officer for the benefit of its employees and officers. 1967 Ops St Compt File #397.

The board of managers of a village public hospital may agree with an independent contractor to make payroll deductions and pay these funds directly to a third party. 1968 Ops St Compt File #350.

Village may not establish reserve fund for direct cash reimbursements by village for health care benefits of its officers and employees. 2004 Op St Compt No. 04-8.

Village may join State Health Plan during fiscal year although annual budget contained no provision for expense of participating. 1964 Ops St Compt File #1097.

17. —Coverage of other employees

A village may furnish medical and hospitalization coverage for village employees, or a class thereof, but it is doubtful whether it can provide such coverage for a single employee. 1963 Ops St Compt #348.

The only type of insurance which may be purchased by a village for the benefit of the volunteer members of the fire department is blanket accident insurance as authorized by section 213 of the Village Law. 1969 Ops St Compt File #413.

18. Other public corporations

Special district may "self-insure" optical plan for employees where such plan consists of nothing more than annual appropriations to meet optical claims arising in that year. 1976 Ops St Compt #950.

19. Joint plans

Cooperative self insurance plan, formed by several school districts pursuant to CLS Gen Mun Art 5-G, was extension or part of each of participating school districts and subject to their control, and, was thus not independent legal entity amenable to suit by qualified employee who sought entitlement to coverage under plan for cost of heart transplant operation and follow-up prescriptions. Rice v Cayuga-Onondaga Healthcare Plan, 190 A.D.2d 330, 599 N.Y.S.2d 344, 1993 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5683 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1993).

1. In general

A municipality may, as part of a collective bargaining agreement, agree to pay money on behalf of its employees into a union fund for the purchase of life insurance, health insurance, retirement or disability insurance. To the extent that Opns St Comp, 1968, No. 68-840 reported at 24 Opns St Comp, 1968, p 795 is inconsistent with this opinion it is hereby superseded. 1980 Op St Compt 80-281, 1980 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 253.

Where a county is a member of the state-wide insurance plan it may not, as part of a collective bargaining agreement, agree to expand the coverage which is authorized and administered by the Civil Service Commission. A municipality may agree to benefits which are greater than those offered by the state-wide plan where the municipality has adopted or intends to adopt a local insurance plan in addition to the state-wide plan. 1982 Op St Compt File #82-328.

The term "compensation", when referring to compensation of public officers and employees, normally is construed as including salary and fringe benefits. Therefore, a city charter provision prohibiting change of compensation of elective officers after their elections would preclude increase of fringe benefits unless that term, as used therein, is intended to mean only annual salary. 1984 Op St Compt File #84-4.

2. Officers and employees

Both elective and appointed officials may be covered. So much or all of premium may be paid by village as is authorized by Board of Trustee. 1966 NY Ops Atty Gen Dec 9.

3. Retirees

Medical, surgical and hospital insurance for surviving dependents of deceased retired municipal employees may not be provided by a municipality which carries such insurance for officers and employees and retired officers and employees and their families under the authority of General Municipal Law, § 92-a. 1975 NY Ops Atty Gen June 6.

Opinion No. 80-105 is hereby amended to provide that the views expressed therein are applicable only to those municipalities which maintain their own health insurance programs. For those municipalities which participate in the State Health Insurance Plan, they may not discontinue coverage for those retirees who become eligible for medicare. Municipalities in the State plan may establish a service requirement greater than five years for those retireees who were hired after April 1, 1975. 1980 Op St Compt File #105-A.

Pursuant to collective bargaining, a school district may agree to pay dental benefits, on a self-insured basis, to current employees after they separate from service, where each individual pays to the school district an amount equal to the premium which would be payable to a private insurance company for similar coverage. The practical advisability of providing such coverage should be carefully considered by the school district. 1984 Op St Compt File #84-10.

4. Effect of other benefits; sick leave credits

A municipality operating a local health plan is authorized, either unilaterally or pursuant to collective bargaining, to apply accumulated, unused sick leave credits of a covered retiree as an offset against his contributions to the plan. 1978 Op St Compt File #874.

A community college operating under a local health plan may, either unilaterally or pursuant to collective bargaining, apply accumulated, unused sick leave credits of a covered retiree as an offset against his contributions to the plan. 1979 Op St Compt File #186.

5. Cities

City council may adopt an ordinance conferring upon the city manager the duty to determine the extent of medical and hospitalization insurance for active and retired city officers and employees, and to initiate future changes in the program. 1979 Op St Compt File #332.

A city which has a local health insurance plan may provide coverage for the surviving dependents of deceased retired city employees pursuant to a collective bargaining agreement. 1980 Op St Compt File #512.

6. Counties; coverage of separated employees

7. —Coverage of other employees

A county and town(s) within the county may enter into a group self-insurance plan, and contract with a private firm to administer the plan, but claims may not be settled and paid by the private firm out of a joint municipal self-insurance fund without first being audited and approved and checks disbursed by the proper municipal officials. This opinion supersedes in part Opns St Comp, 1978, No. 78-405. 1982 Op St Compt File #82-197.

A county may not permit former employees who separate from service by other than retirement to subscribe to its health and hospitalization insurance plan, even if such individuals pay the entire cost of the coverage. 1979 Op St Compt File #656.

8. Police departments

A school district operating under a local health insurance plan may not, unilaterally, permit former employees who have separated from service by other than retirement to be included in the plan even if such individuals reimburse the school district for the entire cost of coverage. However, it would appear that a collective bargaining agreement could provide that current employees be permitted to participate in a local plan at their own expense after separation from service. 1983 Op St Compt File #83-195.

9. School districts

Education Law § 1709(8-c), added by L. 1978, c. 781, does not authorize a school district to establish a reserve fund to pay health care benefits. 1978 Op St Compt File #1029.

A common school district may provide paid-in-full hospitalization insurance to both its active and retired employees. 1979 Op St Compt File #61.

When a city school district contracts with an Art. IX-C corporation for administration of its self-insurance plan to provide health care benefits for its employees and dependents, contract may not provide for determination and payment of claims by corporation prior to audit and approval by school district; nor may corporation be paid for services before services are rendered. 1979 Op St Compt File #471.

Several school districts and a BOCES may jointly self-insure health care benefits for their employees, but may not establish a joint reserve fund for that purpose. Furthermore, moneys pooled for a group self-insurance plan would be subject to statutory fiscal requirements in the Education Law relating to custody, investment, and disbursement of funds. 1981 Op St Compt File #80-487.

Several school districts and a BOCES may jointly purchase a single health insurance policy, and establish a joint body to administer a health plan. 1982 Op St Compt File #82-109.

10. Towns

11. —Scope of coverage

If a town provides health insurance for its employees and their dependents, there is no legal requirement to compensate single employees without dependents for the value of a policy which covers dependents. 1979 Op St Compt File #375.

Town board resolution providing that town will pay hospitalization insurance premiums for retirees over the age of 65 with more than 15 years of service with the town must be considered in light of constitutional guarantees of equal protection of the law. The town could discontinue coverage of retirees provided that it gives reasonable notice of its intention to do so to the officers and employees affected. 1980 Op St Compt File #30.

A town and its employees may agree, in a collective bargaining contract, to provide for partial self-insurance of health care benefits through a plan whereby the town appropriates each year a specified medical deductible for each employee to cover small medical claims (large claims are covered by insurance) and the unused portions of the deductibles belong to the employees, and are payable when employment ceases. The town may hold these moneys in trust for the employees, but may not establish a reserve fund and hold them as municipal moneys. 1983 Op St Compt File #83-212.

12. —Retirees

A town may provide health insurance benefits for its retired employees. 1979 Op St Compt File #35.

A town providing health insurance benefits for retirees may, by resolution, discontinue benefits to all those in the class of retirees eligible for medicare. 1979 Op St Compt File #402.

Town board resolution providing that town will pay hospitalization insurance premiums for retirees over the age of 65 with more than 15 years of service with the town must be considered in light of constitutional guarantees of equal protection of the law. The town could discontinue coverage of retirees provided that it gives reasonable notice of its intention to do so to the officers and employees affected. 1980 Op St Compt File #30.

A town may provide health insurance to employees who retire from town service and may terminate such coverage when the retiree becomes eligible for medicare benefits. The town may also provide health insurance for its former employees based on the length of service to the town. 1980 Op St Compt File #105.

13. Villages

14. —Coverage of retirees

Section 92-a of the General Municipal Law does not authorize the provision of health insurance for dependents of deceased retired local government employees. Such coverage is available if a local government participates in the State health insurance plan. A local government, through agreement with an employee organization authorized by the Taylor Law, may provide health insurance coverage to dependents of deceased retired employees. N.Y. Op. Att'y Gen. No. 85-19.

A village may pay the premiums for medical and hospital insurance for its retired officers and employees. 1978 Op St Compt File #818.

A village board may discontinue its policy of paying the premiums for health insurance covering retired employees and, therefore, terminate such payments upon giving reasonable notice to those employees affected. 1978 Op St Compt File #826.

A village may cease paying premiums for health insurance providing benefits for retirees who have not as yet retired, although contractual obligations should be taken into consideration. 1978 Op St Compt File #826.

A village may not reimburse prior retirees for amounts expended for hospitalization insurance between the date of retirement and date health insurance plan or the collective bargaining agreement is implemented, unless the provision of hospitalization insurance for retirees is a previously unresolved issue of collective bargaining, in which case it may, pursuant to a collective bargaining agreement, reimburse retirees from the date such issue began to be negotiated. 1979 Op St Compt File #389.

General Municipal Law § 29-a authorizes expenditure of village funds to pay health insurance premiums for retired employees. 1978 Op St Compt File #826.

15. —Coverage of other employees

Both elective and appointed officials may be covered. So much or all of premium may be paid by village as is authorized by Board of Trustee. 1966 NY Ops Atty Gen Dec 9.

Where a village board of trustees informally agreed to extend medical insurance benefits to village officers at a meeting in 1973, and did so but without formal resolution, village board may now ratify such action by adoption of resolution or local law. 1979 Op St Compt File #266.

16. Other public corporations

A regional off-track betting corporation which does not participate in the State health insurance plan may include its directors in a health insurance plan provided for its officers and employees. 1978 Op St Compt File #811.

The employees of a faculty-student association may not be included as additional insureds in a health insurance policy purchased by a community college for its employees, even if the FSA pays for the additional cost. 1982 Op St Compt File #82-116.

17. Joint plans

Two or more counties, cities, villages, towns or school districts may jointly self-insure health care benefits for their employees, but may not establish a joint reserve fund for that purpose. 1978 Op St Compt File #405.

A joint self-insurance plan would not be subject to regulation by Insurance Dept. under Insurance Law, Art. IX-C. 1978 Op St Compt File #405.

Moneys contributed to the plan by one participating municipality may not be used to pay benefits to an employee of another participating municipality. 1978 Op St Compt File #405.

Municipalities participating in joint self-insurance plan may not create a separate governmental entity to administer plan; also, contract with private independent contractor, such as an existing health insurance carrier, to administer plan probably would be both unworkable and illegal. 1978 Op St Compt File #405, 406.

Several school districts and a BOCES may jointly self-insure health care benefits for their employees, but may not establish a joint reserve fund for that purpose. Furthermore, moneys pooled for a group self-insurance plan would be subject to statutory fiscal requirements in the Education Law relating to custody, investment, and disbursement of funds. 1981 Op St Compt File #80-487.

The sum to be paid by it under such plan, in the discretion of the municipal corporation, may be any percentage of the total cost, including the whole thereof. For the purposes of this section, the term employee shall include the volunteer firefighters of the municipality or fire district or employees, commissioners, or officers of a town improvement district governed by a separate board of commissioners.

§ 97. Power of municipalities to furnish and contract for fire and police communication system

In a county having a population of more than five hundred twenty-five thousand and less than six hundred fifty thousand according to the last decennial federal census, it shall be lawful for a city located therein, and for said county and any town or village located therein, to enter into a contract for such a term of years as deemed advisable for the furnishing by said city to such a county, any town or village therein, broadcasting services, auto radio repair service and services incidental to and in connection with a fire and police radio communication system. Such system of communication shall be maintained and operated by the city. Each municipality electing to have such service rendered by the city shall pay to such city such sum or sums as shall be agreed upon toward the cost of the operation and maintenance of such system. The contract shall state the type of service to be rendered, the amount to be paid therefor, the time when such payment shall be made and shall contain such other terms and conditions as may be agreed upon between the parties thereto.

§ 98. Operation and maintenance of railroad passenger stations in certain municipalities

1. For the purposes of this section only, "municipality" means (i) a county not wholly contained within a city, (ii) a city having a population of more than twenty-five thousand but less than one million inhabitants according to the most recent federal decennial census, and (iii) a town of the first class.

2. Each municipality may from time to time contract with a railroad corporation providing passenger service by rail to or from any passenger station within the municipality for the operation and maintenance of one or more such stations owned or used by such railroad, including the buildings, appurtenances, platforms, land and approaches incidental or adjacent thereto, provided, however, that such contract shall contain provisions pursuant to which:

a. The railroad agrees for the term of such contract not to discontinue all passenger or all freight service, or petition any regulatory agency having jurisdiction in respect thereof for permission to discontinue all passenger or all freight service, to or from such stations without the consent of the municipality;

b. The railroad agrees for the term of such contract to continue the operation and maintenance of such existing facilities or portions thereof as may be required in the public interest for the sale of passenger tickets and the handling of baggage, mail and freight at such stations;

c. The railroad shall continue responsible for all railroad operations and the maintenance and upkeep of all tracks, rights-of-way, yard facilities, signalling devices, automatic protective devices, third rail and catenary systems, electric power transmission and distribution facilities, bridges, tunnels and other roadway structures and facilities used by such railroad in its railroad operations;

d. With respect to the portion of any such station which is not required by the railroad for the sale of passenger tickets, the handling of baggage, mail and freight or its railroad operations, the municipality or, if the contracting municipality is a county, the city, town or village within which such station is located, with the consent of such county, or if the contracting municipality is a town, the village within which such station is located, with the consent of such town, may use the same for public purposes, or may lease the same to others for uses generally available to or serving the general public, including but not limited to access to the railroad and related services, facilities for the convenience and comfort of the general public, the parking of vehicles, public assembly, recreation, cultural activities, shelter, and terminal facilities for other modes of transportation; and

e. Such contract shall expire not later than the first day of July next succeeding its effective date.

Any contract made pursuant to this subdivision may contain such other terms and conditions, not inconsistent with the foregoing, as the municipality and the railroad may agree.

3. The municipality may provide the operation and maintenance required under such contract through its own employees or agents, or may, in its discretion, arrange for the performance of such operation and maintenance by the contracting railroad or, if the contracting municipality is a county, by the city, town or village within which such station is located, or, if the contracting municipality is a town, by the village within which such station is located. The county, and any city, town or village performing such operation and maintenance, are hereby authorized to repair, reconstruct, refurbish, paint, alter and otherwise maintain such station subject, however, to the provisions of the contract entered into between the contracting municipality and such railroad pursuant to this section.

4. The maintenance and operation of such stations are hereby declared county, city and town purposes. The cost of any part thereof shall be a county, city or town charge, as the case may be, and shall be paid from funds of the municipality appropriated, raised and expended in the manner provided by law for general county, city or town purposes. Such funds shall be appropriated or made available in accordance with applicable law (a) in the budget of the municipality or in any amendment or modification thereof, (b) by supplemental or emergency appropriation, (c) by transfer of appropriations, or (d) from a contingent fund, the unexpended balance of any appropriation, unanticipated revenues, any unappropriated unreserved fund balance, as defined in section six-e of this chapter, or similar source.

5. All action authorized to be taken hereunder by a municipality shall be taken by its governing board by local law, ordinance or resolution and, in the case of a county, upon the recommendation of or with the separate approval of its county executive, and any such local law, ordinance or resolution may be amended from time to time.

6. No contract entered into by a municipality pursuant to this section shall be effective until the terms and conditions thereof shall have been approved by the public service commission and the state commissioner of transportation.

Editor's Notes: Laws 1963, ch 606, § 1, provide as follows:

Section 1. Legislative declaration. Rail transportation is a vital element in the transportation network of the state. The ability of the state's railroads to continue and improve their passenger and freight transportation services is a matter of state concern affecting the commerce, defense and general welfare of the people of the state. The assumption by certain municipalities of the cost of maintaining and operating passenger stations of those railroads providing passenger and commuter service would materially enhance their financial ability to continue and improve passenger and commuter service. Similarly, the acquisition of railroad rights-of-way and other railroad facilities and property, both passenger and freight, by neighboring municipalities may permit the resumption of rail service on abandoned lines or may avert threatened abandonments. It is accordingly in the public interest to authorize certain municipal corporations to operate and maintain passenger stations of railroads operating in the state, or to reimburse to such railroads the costs thereof, in order to insure the continuation of rail service to and from such stations, their proper operation and maintenance, and the availability of such stations for other services to the general public. It is further in the public interest to authorize neighboring municipal corporations in which abandoned rights-of-way and other railroad facilities and property are located or to and from which rail service may be abandoned, to acquire rights-of-way, railroad facilities and property and to lease the same to an existing railroad, upon such terms and conditions as may be appropriate, for resumed or improved operation thereof in the transportation of persons or property.

Laws 2000, ch 528, § 19, eff Oct 4, 2000, provides as follows:

§ 19. This act shall take effect immediately and shall apply to budgets for fiscal years commencing on or after January 1, 2001.

Prior Law: Former § 98, add, L 1952, ch 257, § 1; repealed, L 1958, ch 959, eff Oct 1, 1959, with substance transferred to Real P Tax Law § 572.

Revision Notes: [1963, ch 606] Section 850 of the County Law, which was repealed by this act as of July 1, 1963, contained substantially the same provisions as new § 98 of the General Municipal Law, added by § 2 hereof, except that it was applicable only to Westchester, Nassau and Suffolk Counties.

§ 99-r. Contracts for services

Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the governing board of any municipal corporation may enter into agreements and/or contracts with any state agency including any department, board, bureau, commission, division, office, council, committee, or officer of the state, whether permanent or temporary, or a public benefit corporation or public authority, or a soil and water conservation district, and any unit of the state university of New York, pursuant to and consistent with sections three hundred fifty-five and sixty-three hundred one of the education law within or without such municipal corporation to provide or receive fuel, equipment, maintenance and repair, supplies, water supply, street sweeping or maintenance, sidewalk maintenance, right-of-way maintenance, storm water and other drainage, sewage disposal, landscaping, mowing, technology services, or any other services of government. Such state agency, soil and water conservation district, or unit of the state university of New York, within the limits of any specific statutory appropriation authorized and made available therefor by the legislature or by the governing body responsible for the operation of such state agency, soil and water conservation district, or unit of the state university of New York may contract with any municipal corporation for such services as herein provided and may provide, in agreements and/or contracts entered into pursuant to this section, for the reciprocal provision of services or other consideration of approximately equivalent value, including, but not limited to, routine and/or emergency services, monies, equipment, buildings and facilities, materials or a commitment to provide future routine and/or emergency services, monies, equipment, buildings and facilities or materials. Any such contract may be entered into by direct negotiations and shall not be subject to the provisions of section one hundred three of this chapter.

Editor's Notes: Laws 2008, ch 165, § 1, eff July 7, 2008, provides as follows:

Section 1. Legislative findings. The legislature hereby finds and determines that intermunicipal cooperation as authorized by article 5-G of the general municipal law has proved to be an excellent method of providing certain governmental services in an effective and efficient manner, all to the benefit of the people of the state. The legislature upon recognizing the effectiveness of such intermunicipal cooperation expanded the authority of state departments and agencies to enter into similar agreements with municipalities. The dearth of such contracts, notwithstanding the obvious potential savings and efficiencies, attests to the existence of a statutory barrier. That barrier is a requirement that any revenues received by a contracting department must be returned to the state general fund and cannot be used by the department. The result is that the reward for achieving greater efficiency is a diminution of the revenues of the department. The legislature recognizes that the department of transportation offers great potential and enacts this legislation to assure such department that it will not lose revenues in the event it contracts to share its specialized equipment with municipalities.

Successive one-year leases of street light fixtures by a lighting district are not purchases required to be let by competitive bid. 1967 NY Ops Atty Gen July 12.

The term "political subdivision" as used in the Public Officers Law means the area from which an officer is selected and in the case of an elective officer, the area in which the people who elect him reside. 1977 NY Ops Atty Gen Aug 18 (Informal), 1977 N.Y. AG LEXIS 64.

An elected commissioner of Sanitary District No. 2 in the Town of Hempstead in the County of Nassau is a public officer of a political subdivision and not of a municipality; such a commissioner must be a resident of the sanitary district at the time of election; and if the sanitary district commissioner moves from that district to a new residence outside of the district, even though in the same town, the office becomes vacant under Public Officers Law § 30 subdivision 1 paragraph d. The provision of Public Officers Law § 30 subdivision 4-a, by its own terms, is confined in its operation to members of the department of sanitation of a municipality so it is not applicable to an officer of this political subdivision. 1977 NY Ops Atty Gen Aug 18 (Informal), 1977 N.Y. Analysis

1. In general
2. Excluding bidder or impeding competition
3. Inclusion of project labor agreement in specifications

1. In general

Competitive bidding statutes are not violated by lease to village of telephone terminal equipment under "two-tier" rate system, notwithstanding that under one part of rate structure, telephone company recovers cost of equipment provided, where title to all equipment remains in company, who assumes risk of loss due to events not within village's control and has obligation to service and repair equipment. Exley v Endicott, 51 N.Y.2d 426, 434 N.Y.S.2d 922, 415 N.E.2d 913, 1980 N.Y. LEXIS 2887 (N.Y. 1980).

Statutory requirements relating to bidding on public works projects are enacted for the benefit of property holders and taxpayers, not for the benefit or enrichment of bidders, and should be so construed and administered as to accomplish that purpose fairly and reasonably with sole reference to the public interest. Le Cesse Bros. Contracting, Inc. v Town Board of Williamson, 62 A.D.2d 28, 403 N.Y.S.2d 950, 1978 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10414 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1978), aff'd, 46 N.Y.2d 960, 415 N.Y.S.2d 413, 388 N.E.2d 737, 1979 N.Y. LEXIS 1871 (N.Y. 1979).

In an Article 78 proceeding reviewing contract awards for the collection, removal and disposal of solid waste within a municipal garbage district, the bid specifications submitted by the lowest bidder would be invalid where the bid submitted in connection with a readvertised notice to bidders was defective and remained uncured until 3 days after the bids were opened, and the vessel specified in the resubmitted bids, for use under the contracts, not only lacked the required United States Coast Guard certification but also was in dry-dock and laid up for repairs at the time bids were opened; the contract awards, therefore, were made in violation of the spirit of the provisions requiring sealed competitive bidding for public contracts under Gen Mun Law §§ 100-A and 103(1). Superior Hydraulic, Inc. v Town Bd. of Islip, 88 A.D.2d 404, 453 N.Y.S.2d 711, 1982 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 17088 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1982), app. dismissed, 58 N.Y.2d 824, 1983 N.Y. Defendant New York City Health and Hospitals Corporation was not estopped, on ground of defendant's alleged ratification of its agent's oral modification of written contract whereby plaintiff was to furnish defendant with diaper and washcloth service, from denying validity of oral modification, so as to enable plaintiff contractor to recover for work performed without compliance to written contract provisions, in light of fact that any change in contract terms necessitated written change order. Municipal contracts are to be so construed as to assure the prudent and economical use of public moneys for the benefit of all the inhabitants of municipalities and to facilitate the acquisition of facilities and commodities of maximum quality at the lowest possible cost. LEXIS 12598 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1978).

The inclusion of a provision in all construction contracts let by the City of New York under the Federally funded Public Works Employment Act of 1976 (US Code, tit 42, § 6701 et seq.) requiring contractors, in the event of a cancellation or reduction in Federal funding due to a breach of the terms of the Federal grant by the contractor, to assume liability for all damages flowing from the breach up to the amount of the total Federal grant, does not violate section 100-a of the General Municipal Law which requires the city, in letting contracts for public works projects, "to facilitate the acquisition of facilities and commodities of maximum quality at the lowest possible cost". If, to procure insurance against open streets, unfinished schools and public building reconstructions and other half-done projects, the city pays a somewhat higher price for these construction jobs than would otherwise be the case, it is no more to be faulted than it should be when it obtains other types of insurance. Subcontractors Trade Ass'n v Carroll, 92 Misc. 2d 917, 401 N.Y.S.2d 962, 1978 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1983 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1978).

Unsuccessful bidder on construction project for school districts could not maintain action for damages against public officials, since awarding of bids is discretionary function under CLS Gen Mun §§ 100-a and 103, and thus reviewable only through Article 78 proceedings. Di Berardino's, Inc. v Rome Consol. School Dist., 134 Misc. 2d 288, 510 N.Y.S.2d 791, 1986 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3101 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1986).

2. Excluding bidder or impeding competition

Competitive bidding statutes do not compel unfettered competition, but do demand that specifications that exclude class of would-be bidders be both rational and essential to public interest. Associated Gen. Contrs. v New York State Thruway Auth. (In re New York State Chapter), 88 N.Y.2d 56, 643 N.Y.S.2d 480, 666 N.E.2d 185, 1996 N.Y. LEXIS 314 (N.Y. 1996).

When public entity adopts specification in letting of public work contract that impedes competition to bid for such work, it must be rationally related to twin purposes of protecting public fisc by obtaining best work at lowest possible price, and preventing favoritism, improvidence, fraud, and corruption in awarding of public contracts. Associated Gen. Contrs. v New York State Thruway Auth. (In re New York State Chapter), 88 N.Y.2d 56, 643 N.Y.S.2d 480, 666 N.E.2d 185, 1996 N.Y. LEXIS 314 (N.Y. 1996).

New York City could include, in contracts for public infrastructure work, specification requiring successful bidder to commence immediate negotiations with affected utility companies regarding compensation for contractor's performance of necessary utility "interference work" and further providing that, if no agreement was reached by 4 weeks after award of contract, dispute with utility company would be submitted to expedited binding arbitration; challenged specification was valid bidding "precondition" which did not impede competition. General Contrs. Ass'n v Tormenta, 180 Misc. 2d 384, 687 N.Y.S.2d 871, 1999 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 126 (N.Y. Sup. Ct.), aff'd, 259 A.D.2d 177, 696 N.Y.S.2d 155, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10501 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1999).

3. Inclusion of project labor agreement in specifications

Project Labor Agreement (PLA) incorporated in bid specifications for county court facilities project did not violate competitive bidding laws or policy where, inter alia, (1) inclusion of no-strike clause in PLA would negate possibility of strike-induced delays that could disrupt abbreviated time schedule of project and thus imperil availability of $29 million in state funds, (2) elimination of potential labor unrest through use of PLA would avoid fixed fees of $41,400 per month payable to project's construction manager and architect, (3) use of PLA would result in savings of $2,111,250 by permitting designation of working forepersons and by excluding morning and afternoon work breaks, and (4) PLA contained no provisions that discriminated against nonunion contractors. Albany Specialties v County of Orange, 240 A.D.2d 739, 662 N.Y.S.2d 773, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7147 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1997), app. denied, 1997 N.Y. LEXIS 4088 (N.Y. Dec. 2, 1997).

Mere fact that county construction manager's report recommending use of Project Labor Agreement (PLA) in bid specifications for county court facilities project bore strong resemblance to earlier report by him analyzing use of PLA for county correctional facility project did not render report invalid or suspect where similarities between 2 reports were inevitable, given closeness in time and location of 2 projects and their common labor market. Albany Specialties v County of Orange, 240 A.D.2d 739, 662 N.Y.S.2d 773, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7147 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1997), app. denied, 1997 N.Y. LEXIS 4088 (N.Y. Dec. 2, 1997).

County construction manager's report recommending use of Project Labor Agreement (PLA) in bid specifications for county court facilities project in order to avoid potential labor strife did not suggest "capitulation to extortion," because avoidance of delays and work stoppages occasioned by labor strife is legitimate consideration in deciding whether to enter into PLA. Albany Specialties v County of Orange, 240 A.D.2d 739, 662 N.Y.S.2d 773, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7147 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1997), app. denied, 1997 N.Y. LEXIS 4088 (N.Y. Dec. 2, 1997).

Agency Opinions

1. In general

If providing service is a legitimate consideration in relation to an item to be purchased and the bids are unsatisfactory in this respect, all bids may be rejected and the invitation for bids may be readvertised, with new specifications, to make it clear to the selling public that ability to provide service for the item is of importance in reaching a determination as to who is the lowest responsible bidder but such a provision cannot be used as a pretext for eliminating unwanted bidders. 1978 NY Ops Atty Gen Jan 25 (Informal).

A county may, subject to competitive bidding requirements, expend moneys for the purpose of renovating property which the county leases from a private landlord. Neither may the county, without competitive bidding, renegotiate the lease and, pursuant to such renegotiated lease, agree to make higher rental payments over the remaining term of the lease where such higher payments are designed to compensate the landlord for the cost of making the renovations. 1978 Op St Compt File #958.

64 Am Jur 2d, Public Works and Contracts §§ 29 et seq.

§ 101. Separate specifications for certain public work

1. Except as otherwise provided in section two hundred twenty-two of the labor law, every officer, board or agency of a political subdivision or of any district therein, charged with the duty of preparing specifications or awarding or entering into contracts for the erection, construction, reconstruction or alteration of buildings, when the entire cost of such public work shall exceed three million dollars in the counties of the Bronx, Kings, New York, Queens, and Richmond; one million five hundred thousand dollars in the counties of Nassau, Suffolk and Westchester; and five hundred thousand dollars in all other counties within the state, shall prepare separate specifications for the following three subdivisions of the work to be performed:

a. Plumbing and gas fitting;

b. Steam heating, hot water heating, ventilating and air conditioning apparatus; and

c. Electric wiring and standard illuminating fixtures.

2. Such specifications shall be drawn so as to permit separate and independent bidding upon each of the above three subdivisions of work. All contracts awarded by any political subdivision or by an officer, board or agency thereof, or of any district therein, for the erection, construction, reconstruction or alteration of buildings, or any part thereof, shall award the three subdivisions of the above specified work separately in the manner provided by section one hundred three of this chapter. Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent any political subdivision from performing any such branches of work by or through their regular employees, or in the case of public institutions, by the inmates thereof.

3. In the county of Erie, specifications for public work pertaining to the construction of a county stadium may provide for assignment of responsibility for supervision and coordination of any of the contracts for such work to a single responsible and reliable person, firm or corporation.

4. In the county of Albany, specifications for work pertaining to the construction of a civic center may provide for assignment of responsibility for supervision and coordination of any or all of the contracts for such work to a single responsible and reliable person, firm or corporation.

5. Each bidder on a public work contract, where the preparation of separate specifications is not required, shall submit with its bid a separate sealed list that names each subcontractor that the bidder will use to perform work on the contract, and the agreed-upon amount to be paid to each, for: (a) plumbing and gas fitting, (b) steam heating, hot water heating, ventilating and air conditioning apparatus and (c) electric wiring and standard illuminating fixtures. After the low bid is announced, the sealed list of subcontractors submitted with such low bid shall be opened and the names of such subcontractors shall be announced, and thereafter any change of subcontractor or agreed-upon amount to be paid to each shall require the approval of the public owner, upon a showing presented to the public owner of legitimate construction need for such change, which shall be open to public inspection. Legitimate construction need shall include, but not be limited to, a change in project specifications, a change in construction material costs, a change to subcontractor status as determined pursuant to paragraph (e) of subdivision two of section two hundred twenty-two of the labor law, or the subcontractor has become otherwise unwilling, unable or unavailable to perform the subcontract. The sealed lists of subcontractors submitted by all other bidders shall be returned to them unopened after the contract award.

LEXIS 1023 (N.Y. 1996).

Separate bidding requirements applicable to public construction contracts requiring the preparation of separate specifications and separate and independent bidding thereon (General Municipal Law, § 101) are intended primarily for the protection of the taxpayers and municipalities as opposed to private interest contractor associations and, accordingly, in view of respondents' allegations that petitioner is associated with such an association and the fact separate bidding of construction contracts generates higher bid prices, respondent free association library was justified in putting out a single bid for a general contractor to do the entire construction job. French v Board of Education, 99 Misc. 2d 882, 417 N.Y.S.2d 389, 1979 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2353 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1979), aff'd, 72 A.D.2d 196, 424 N.Y.S.2d 235, 1980 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 9668 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1980).

A transaction whereby a not-for-profit corporation, without competitive bidding, constructs a public facility for use by a municipal corporation in the performance of its governmental functions and the municipal corporation acquires use of the facility under a lease agreement and has an option to purchase: (a) does not constitute indebtedness for purposes of the State Constitution and Local Finance Law if the lease agreement has an executory clause making the municipal corporation's obligation contingent on annual appropriations, although it is doubtful that a clause providing that, if the municipal corporation fails to appropriate money for the lease payments, the municipal corporation agrees not to purchase, lease or rent property to perform the same functions as the facility, would be enforceable; (b) constitutes a prohibited installment purchase contract if the total character of the transaction is that of a purchase rather than a lease; and (c) violates the competitive bidding requirements of General Municipal Law §§ 101, 103, if the total character of the transaction constitutes a contract for public work of the municipal corporation. 1991 Op St Compt No. 91-13.

2. Supervision of work by general contractor; instances where proper

Provisions of contract whereby contractor agreed with board of education to prepare its own work schedules on time and to coordinate its work with each of the other prime contractors did not shift the responsibility for project coordination and supervision from the owner to the contractor and, hence, did not violate the provisions of the General Municipal Law. J. A. Valenti Electric Co. v Board of Education, 56 A.D.2d 884, 392 N.Y.S.2d 482, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11267 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1977).

Requirement for bids on public works contract that general contractor perform "cutting and patching" for all work to be performed, including that of other prime contractors, did not constitute improper delegation of all coordinative and supervisory work to general contractor. Construction Contractors Ass'n v Board of Trustees, 192 A.D.2d 265, 600 N.Y.S.2d 953, 1993 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7539 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1993).

Agreement in state construction contract whereby general contractor was responsible for co-ordinating work of prime contractors did not violate General Municipal Law § 101 or State Finance Law § 135. KEC Corp. v New York State Environmental Facilities Corp., 76 Misc. 2d 170, 350 N.Y.S.2d 331, 1973 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2345 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1973).

Bid contract documents for restoration work on historic building, which included requirement that general contractor perform cutting and patching work for all contracts, including those of other prime contractors, did not violate principle that overall supervision and coordination of other prime contractors must reside with owner or its agent rather than general contractor where building to be restored, which was described as "work of art," included Tiffany windows, ornate woodwork, extensive areas of stone, onyx and marble, and classical ornamentation, since minimization or avoidance of harm to building required that delicate work of cutting and patching be left to general contractor. Construction Contractors Ass'n v Board of Trustees of Orange Community College, 149 Misc. 2d 440, 565 N.Y.S.2d 997, 1991 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 27 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1991), rev'd, 192 A.D.2d 265, 600 N.Y.S.2d 953, 1993 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7539 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1993).

3. —Instances where improper

Under the provisions of Public Authorities Law § 1287, subd 1, it is clear that the legislature did not intend to provide authority in the contracting municipality under State Finance Law § 135 or General Municipal Law § 101 to delegate to one of the prime contractors the supervisory and co-ordination responsibility and authority, and thus bid specifications which required the general contractor's superintendent to correlate all the work on the job, the separate prime contractors to co-ordinate their work schedules with that of the general contractor, and hold the general contractor responsible for setting the pace for the job and for all work in place was violative of § 101 of the General Municipal Law. General Bldg. Contractors, Inc. v Syracuse, 40 A.D.2d 584, 334 N.Y.S.2d 730, 1972 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4087 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1972), modified, 32 N.Y.2d 780, 344 N.Y.S.2d 961, 298 N.E.2d 122, 1973 N.Y. LEXIS 1314 (N.Y. 1973).

Contract specifications drawn by county violated General Municipal Law § 101 in that they imposed upon the general contractor responsibilities and obligations as to supervision and coordination not envisioned by the statute and which should be borne by the owner and/or the architect. General Bldg. Contractors, Inc. v County of Oneida, 54 Misc. 2d 260, 282 N.Y.S.2d 385, 1967 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1524 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1967).

Firm may not be engaged both as construction manager to act on behalf of town in coordinating work of prime contractors, and as prime contractor, on town building construction project subject to CLS Gen Mun § 101. 2002 Op St Compt No. 02-17.

The method set forth in the specifications for bids for construction of a school building for awarding subcontracts whereby the architect was authorized to accept bids and assign the successful bidder to the prime contractor was improper, as an owner such as a Board of Education may not require one prime contractor to supervise the work of other contractors to whom contracts were let by the owner. Ops Comr Ed No 8946.

The method for letting contracts under the system of allowances set forth in the specifications for bids for a school building which required the prime contractor to accept bids from at least three approved sources, and to assign subcontracts to the lowest bidders was improper, as the requirement that the school board approve or disapprove the proposed subcontractors interfered with free competitive bidding. Ops Comr of Ed No 8946.

4. Construction by public employees

A county community college may perform its own construction work with its own maintenance staff. 1967 Ops St Compt File #310.

Competitive bidding requirements of CLS Gen Mun §§ 101 and 103 are not violated by use of town employees to perform work in connection with construction of town salt storage shed, but purchases of materials and supplies for work would be subject to competitive bidding requirements if it is known or reasonably expected that competitive bidding monetary threshold for purchases will be exceeded; if it is not known or reasonably expected that competitive bidding threshold will be exceeded, town would be required to make such purchases in accordance with its procurement policies and procedures. 1999 Op St Compt No. 99-2.

5. Enforcement proceedings

It would have been inappropriate to grant Article 78 relief to compel compliance with General Municipal Law §§ 101 and 103 and Labor Law § 220 where delay by petitioner in commencing proceedings and absence of stay or restraining order pendente lite produced a situation where bids had already been received and opened, and construction begun. General Bldg. Contractors, Inc. v Board of Trustees, 42 A.D.2d 660, 345 N.Y.S.2d 195, 1973 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4055 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1973).

Contractor, having failed to voice any objections to any of the provisions of its contract with board of education at the bid stage, and having accepted the contract and performed under it, could not seek to avoid possible liability to the board by claiming that those same contract provisions were illegal. J. A. Valenti Electric Co. v Board of Education, 56 A.D.2d 884, 392 N.Y.S.2d 482, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11267 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1977).

Prior decision requiring that separate construction contracts for each type of work be made, which was complied with by city by having separate construction contracts for each type of work entered into between city's lessee and several prime contractors, was not binding on city on principles of collateral estoppel with respect to issue of city's liability as principal where such decision did not determine either expressly or by necessary implication that city and lessee could not agree that only "agent" should be liable on lessee's contract with one of several prime contractors. Renel Constr., Inc. v Brooklyn Cooperative Meat Distribution Center, Inc., 59 A.D.2d 391, 399 N.Y.S.2d 429, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13937 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1977), aff'd, 46 N.Y.2d 859, 414 N.Y.S.2d 511, 387 N.E.2d 222, 1979 N.Y. LEXIS 1817 (N.Y. 1979).

6. Libraries

A free association library, as defined in section 253 of the Education Law, is a private corporation chartered by the Board of Regents and, as a private organization, it is not within the purview of section 101 of the General Municipal Law, which requires every officer, board or agency of a political subdivision or any district therein charged with the duty of preparing specifications or awarding or entering into contracts for the construction or alteration of buildings, when the entire cost of such work exceeds $50,000, to prepare separate specifications so as to permit separate and independent bidding upon each of three categories of work. Accordingly, where the taxpayer residents of a school district approved a budget that included a provision for finance charges on a prospective mortgage to be obtained by a free association library, which is registered with the Board of Regents, to finance a proposed addition thereto, the library properly sought unitary bids on its entire construction project and awarded the contract to the lowest responsible bidder, since said free association library is not subject to the requirements of section 101. French v Board of Education, 72 A.D.2d 196, 424 N.Y.S.2d 235, 1980 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 9668 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1980).

Separate bidding requirements applicable to public construction contracts requiring the preparation of separate specifications and separate and independent bidding thereon (General Municipal Law, § 101) are intended primarily for the protection of the taxpayers and municipalities as opposed to private interest contractor associations and, accordingly, in view of respondents' allegations that petitioner is associated with such an association and the fact separate bidding of construction contracts generates higher bid prices, respondent free association library was justified in putting out a single bid for a general contractor to do the entire construction job. French v Board of Education, 99 Misc. 2d 882, 417 N.Y.S.2d 389, 1979 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2353 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1979), aff'd, 72 A.D.2d 196, 424 N.Y.S.2d 235, 1980 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 9668 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1980).

A nonpublic free association library, which used funds properly appropriated by respondent school district for the support of the library (Education Law, § 256) to pay the financing charges on a mortgage of the library's property in order to undertake a construction project to expand its facilities, may lawfully put out a single bid for a general contractor to do the entire job and is not bound by the separate bidding requirements applicable only to a "political subdivision" (General Municipal Law, § 101) since the school district's credit is in no way affected by the mortgage given by the library which owns the land, will completely control the erection of the building and the payments therefor and will end up owning and controlling everything; the fact that the money used by the library to cover the cost of mortgage financing originated with "tax dollars" by way of a contract with the school district to furnish library privileges does not make the library an entity subject to the separate bidding requirements and, in addition, the bidding requirements for the lease-purchase of a building to be erected on the district's property (Education Law, § 1726) are inapplicable. French v Board of Education, 99 Misc. 2d 882, 417 N.Y.S.2d 389, 1979 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2353 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1979), aff'd, 72 A.D.2d 196, 424 N.Y.S.2d 235, 1980 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 9668 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1980).

7. Schools; bidding requirements

Provisions of Education Law not only mandated school district's compliance with bidding requirements of General Municipal Law in respect to erection of an office building which district was then to lease from builder with an option to purchase at a later date, but specifically mandated district's compliance by requiring district to subdivide work and place it out for separately categorized bids. Liverpool Cent. School Dist. v Nyquist, 55 A.D.2d 194, 390 N.Y.S.2d 226, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 14081 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1976), app. denied, 41 N.Y.2d 803, 1977 N.Y. LEXIS 3025 (N.Y. 1977).

This article does not prohibit a combination of projects in one bid, a call for bids may direct combined bids and reserve right to accept the one which, in the board's judgment, is for the best interests of the school, and the school district may defer judgment on the bids until it has had opportunity to receive and weigh them and is not barred from exercising discretion in determining scope of the projects and awarding the contract to the lowest bidder on a combined bid. Bana Electric Corp. v Board of Education, 22 Misc. 2d 956, 194 N.Y.S.2d 657, 1959 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2346 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1959).

School board's action, after rejecting bids on a school construction project, in advertising and requesting only one bid for all of the work, instead of making separate specifications for plumbing, heating, and electrical wiring and lighting violated § 101 of the General Municipal Law. A. S. Reynolds Electric Co. v Board of Education, 46 Misc. 2d 140, 259 N.Y.S.2d 503, 1965 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2071 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1965).

Statute requiring separate bidding for specified items contained in contracts given by municipal corporations, including school districts, for erection of public buildings applies not only to school district which erects, constructs or alters public buildings itself but also applies to school district which causes a building to be erected by a private contractor who owns the building upon completion and which then leases the building with the option to buy. Liverpool Cent. School Dist. v Nyquist, 84 Misc. 2d 20, 374 N.Y.S.2d 942, 1975 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3080 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1975), aff'd, 55 A.D.2d 194, 390 N.Y.S.2d 226, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 14081 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1976).

Single bid by City University of New York (CUNY) for construction work exceeding $50,000 was valid despite provisions of CLS Gen Mun § 101, which requires fractionalization of bids for public construction contracts and applies to "Every officer, board or agency of political subdivision," since (1) CUNY is not "political subdivision" within meaning of statute, (2) if legislative intent was to include CUNY contracts under § 101, it could have so provided, and (3) CLS Educ § 6218, which applies to CUNY contracts and is more recent statute, does not require fractionalization of public contracts. Michael Mazzeo Electrical Corp. v Murphy, 137 Misc. 2d 853, 522 N.Y.S.2d 798, 1987 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2725 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1987).

The method set forth in the specification for bids for a school building whereunder the architect was authorized to designate a subcontractor without competitive bidding and assign him to the prime contractor was invalid. Ops Comr Ed No 8946.

8. —Miscellaneous

In view of this section and §§ 1709(6), 1804, 1805, and 7203, Education Law, and § 103, General Municipal Law, the legislature pre-empted not only the area of plans and specifications in the building of schools, but also the field of actual construction, and vested such power in the commissioner of education, so that a school board was not subject to local municipal building or plumbing codes in building schools. Poughkeepsie v Hopper Plumbing & Heating Corp., 46 Misc. 2d 761, 260 N.Y.S.2d 901, 1965 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1741 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1965), aff'd, 26 A.D.2d 772, 272 N.Y.S.2d 974, 1966 N.Y. App. Div. General contractor on school construction project may be required to provide a temporary water supply, and such requirement does not result in the general contractor performing plumbing work in contravention of General Municipal Law § 101. Ops Comr Ed No 8946.

9. Sewage plants

Provisions of General Municipal Law § 101 requiring that plumbing contracts be let separately applies only to those public works contracts pertaining to the erection, construction, reconstruction or alteration of buildings and does not apply to work in the nature of sewers which will benefit a general area and not a particular building. Plumbing Contractors Ass'n v Buffalo, 70 Misc. 2d 412, 334 N.Y.S.2d 9, 1972 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1802 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1972).

City was properly granted summary judgment in action alleging that "turnkey" contract for construction of new court and police facility was illegal for failure to comply with competitive bidding requirements where pre-1953 local law specifically provided for waiver of competitive bids when city manager determined that subject of proposed contract was such that completion was "impossible or impracticable" via competitive bidding process, and city manager found that competitive bidding was impractical because, inter alia, project required timely completion and cost-effective fixed price which competitive bidding could not secure, new facility was necessary, construction on privately-owned land was required, site owned by developer was most appropriate and environmentally safe, developer would not transfer site without being awarded contract, and condemnation of site was too costly. trial court properly dismissed petitioner's suit against the department of public works because the department's determination that petitioner's refusal to perform subcontract work on the terms set forth in general contractor's accepted bid constituted a "legitimate construction need" within the meaning of this section, and its approval of the general contractor's request to perform the subcontract itself was not arbitrary and capricious, affected by an error of law, or an abuse of discretion. 1. Notwithstanding any inconsistent provision of any general, special or local law, the officer, board or agency of any political subdivision or of any district therein, charged with the duty of preparing plans and specifications for and awarding or entering into contracts for the performance of public work, may require, as a deposit to guarantee the safe return of such plans and specifications, the payment of a fixed sum of money, not exceeding one hundred dollars for each copy thereof, by persons or corporations desiring a copy thereof. Any person or corporation desiring a copy of such plans and specifications and making the payment required by this section shall be furnished with one copy of the plans and specifications.

§ 103. Advertising for bids and offers; letting of contracts; criminal conspiracies

1. [Eff until June 1, 2023] Except as otherwise expressly provided by an act of the legislature or by a local law adopted prior to September first, nineteen hundred fifty-three, all contracts for public work involving an expenditure of more than thirty-five thousand dollars and all purchase contracts involving an expenditure of more than twenty thousand dollars, shall be awarded by the appropriate officer, board or agency of a political subdivision or of any district therein including but not limited to a soil conservation district to the lowest responsible bidder furnishing the required security after advertisement for sealed bids in the manner provided by this section, provided, however, that purchase contracts (including contracts for service work, but excluding any purchase contracts necessary for the completion of a public works contract pursuant to article eight of the labor law) may be awarded on the basis of best value, as defined in section one hundred sixty-three of the state finance law, to a responsive and responsible bidder or offerer in the manner provided by this section except that in a political subdivision other than a city with a population of one million inhabitants or more or any district, board or agency with jurisdiction exclusively therein the use of best value for awarding a purchase contract or purchase contracts must be authorized by local law or, in the case of a district corporation, school district or board of cooperative educational services, by rule, regulation or resolution adopted at a public meeting. In any case where a responsible bidder's or responsible offerer's gross price is reducible by an allowance for the value of used machinery, equipment, apparatus or tools to be traded in by a political subdivision, the gross price shall be reduced by the amount of such allowance, for the purpose of determining the best value. In cases where two or more responsible bidders furnishing the required security submit identical bids as to price, such officer, board or agency may award the contract to any of such bidders. Such officer, board or agency may, in his or her or its discretion, reject all bids or offers and readvertise for new bids or offers in the manner provided by this section. In determining whether a purchase is an expenditure within the discretionary threshold amounts established by this subdivision, the officer, board or agency of a political subdivision or of any district therein shall consider the reasonably expected aggregate amount of all purchases of the same commodities, services or technology to be made within the twelve-month period commencing on the date of purchase. Purchases of commodities, services or technology shall not be artificially divided for the purpose of satisfying the discretionary buying thresholds established by this subdivision. A change to or a renewal of a discretionary purchase shall not be permitted if the change or renewal would bring the reasonably expected aggregate amount of all purchases of the same commodities, services or technology from the same provider within the twelve-month period commencing on the date of the first purchase to an amount greater than the discretionary buying threshold amount. For purposes of this section, "sealed bids" and "sealed offers", as that term applies to purchase contracts, (including contracts for service work, but excluding any purchase contracts necessary for the completion of a public works contract pursuant to article eight of the labor law) shall include bids and offers submitted in an electronic format including submission of the statement of non-collusion required by section one hundred three-d of this article, provided that the governing board of the political subdivision or district, by resolution, has authorized the receipt of bids and offers in such format. Submission in electronic format may, for technology contracts only, be required as the sole method for the submission of bids and offers. Bids and offers submitted in an electronic format shall be transmitted by bidders and offerers to the receiving device designated by the political subdivision or district. Any method used to receive electronic bids and offers shall comply with article three of the state technology law, and any rules and regulations promulgated and guidelines developed thereunder and, at a minimum, must (a) document the time and date of receipt of each bid and offer received electronically; (b) authenticate the identity of the sender; (c) ensure the security of the information transmitted; and (d) ensure the confidentiality of the bid or offer until the time and date established for the opening of bids or offers. The timely submission of an electronic bid or offer in compliance with instructions provided for such submission in the advertisement for bids or offers and/or the specifications shall be the responsibility solely of each bidder or offerer or prospective bidder or offerer. No political subdivision or district therein shall incur any liability from delays of or interruptions in the receiving device designated for the submission and receipt of electronic bids and offers.

1. [Eff June 1, 2023] Except as otherwise expressly provided by an act of the legislature or by a local law adopted prior to September first, nineteen hundred fifty-three, all contracts for public work involving an expenditure of more than thirty-five thousand dollars and all purchase contracts involving an expenditure of more than twenty thousand dollars, shall be awarded by the appropriate officer, board or agency of a political subdivision or of any district therein including but not limited to a soil conservation district to the lowest responsible bidder furnishing the required security after advertisement for sealed bids in the manner provided by this section, provided, however, that purchase contracts (including contracts for service work, but excluding any purchase contracts necessary for the completion of a public works contract pursuant to article eight of the labor law) may be awarded on the basis of best value, as defined in section one hundred sixty-three of the state finance law, to a responsive and responsible bidder or offerer in the manner provided by this section except that in a political subdivision other than a city with a population of one million inhabitants or more or any district, board or agency with jurisdiction exclusively therein the use of best value of awarding a purchase contract or purchase contracts must be authorized by local law or, in the case of a district corporation, school district or board of cooperative educational services, by rule, regulation or resolution adopted at a public meeting. In determining whether a purchase is an expenditure within the discretionary threshold amounts established by this subdivision, the officer, board or agency of a political subdivision or of any district therein shall consider the reasonably expected aggregate amount of all purchases of the same commodities, services or technology to be made within the twelve-month period commencing on the date of purchase. Purchases of commodities, services or technology shall not be artificially divided for the purpose of satisfying the discretionary buying thresholds established by this subdivision. A change to or a renewal of a discretionary purchase shall not be permitted if the change or renewal would bring the reasonably expected aggregate amount of all purchases of the same commodities, services or technology from the same provider within the twelve-month period commencing on the date of the first purchase to an amount greater than the discretionary buying threshold amount. In any case where a responsible bidder's or responsible offerer's gross price is reducible by an allowance for the value of used machinery, equipment, apparatus or tools to be traded in by a political subdivision, the gross price shall be reduced by the amount of such allowance, for the purpose of determining the low bid or best value. In cases where two or more responsible bidders furnishing the required security submit identical bids as to price, such officer, board or agency may award the contract to any of such bidders. Such officer, board or agency may, in his, her or its discretion, reject all bids or offers and readvertise for new bids or offers in the manner provided by this section.

1-a. Whenever possible, practical, and feasible and consistent with open competitive bidding or competitive offering, the officer, board or agency of any political subdivision or of any district therein charged with the awarding of contracts may use the stock item specifications of manufacturers, producers and/or assemblers located in New York state in developing specifications for items to be let for bid or offer in its purchasing contracts and may use the data and information contained in stock item specifications forms as provided in section one hundred sixty-four-a of the state finance law to assist in his determination of what constitutes a stock item of a manufacturer, producer and/or assembler located in New York state for the purpose of helping to retain jobs, business and industry presently in the state of New York and attracting expanded and new business and industry to the state of New York so as to best promote the public interest.

[Expires and repealed March 18, 2021] In determining the lowest responsible bidder, the officer, board or agency of any political subdivision or of any district therein charged with awarding of contracts, shall consider whether or not the bidder, or any "substantially owned-affiliated entity" as defined by paragraph g of subdivision five of section two hundred twenty of the labor law, has been found to be in violation of the Davis-Bacon Act pursuant to 40 U.S.C. 3144, the Copeland Act pursuant to 18

8-a. (a) Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this section, a political subdivision, when letting contracts in accordance with this subdivision for the purchase of food products, may require provisions that mandate that the essential components of such food products are grown, produced or harvested in New York state, or that any processing of such food products take place in facilities located within New York state.

(b) The commissioner of agriculture and markets shall determine, using uniform criteria, those food products for which the requirements of this subdivision are deemed beneficial. (c) all such purchases shall be administered pursuant to regulations promulgated by the commissioner of education. Such regulations shall: be developed in consultation with the commissioner of agriculture and markets to accommodate and promote the provisions of the farm-to-school program established pursuant to subdivision five-b of section sixteen of the agriculture and markets law and subdivision thirty-one of section three hundred five of the education law as added by chapter two of the laws of two thousand two; ensure that the prices paid by a district or board of cooperative educational services for any items so purchased do not exceed the prices of comparable local farm products that are available to districts through their usual purchases of such items; ensure that all producers and growers who desire to sell to school districts or boards of cooperative educational services can readily access information in accordance with the farm-to-school law; include provisions for situations when more than one producer or grower seeks to sell the same product to a district or board of cooperative educational services to ensure that all such producers or growers have an equitable opportunity to do so in a manner similar to the usual purchasing practices of such districts or boards of cooperative educational services; develop guidelines for approval of purchases of items from associations of more than ten growers and producers; and, to the maximum extent practicable, minimize additional paperwork, recordkeeping and other similar requirements on both growers and producers and school districts.

(b) the amount that may be expended by a county in any fiscal year for such purchases shall not exceed the greater of:

(i) the expenditure threshold provided in subdivision one of this section; or

(ii) twenty cents multiplied by the total population of such county;

(c) all such purchases shall be administered pursuant to policies and procedures adopted by the county governing board and developed in consultation with the commissioner of agriculture and markets. Such policies and procedures shall ensure that the prices paid by a county for any items so purchased do not exceed the prices of comparable local farm products that are available to the political subdivision or district therein through their usual purchases of such items; include provisions for situations when more than one producer or grower seeks to sell the same product to a county to ensure that all such producers or growers have an equitable opportunity to do so in a manner similar to the usual purchasing practices of such county; include guidelines for the approval of purchases of items from associations of more than ten growers or producers; and, to the maximum extent practicable, minimize additional paperwork, recordkeeping and other similar requirements on both growers and producers and counties.

10. Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this section to the contrary, a board of education may, on behalf of its school district, separately purchase milk, directly from licensed milk processors employing less than forty people pursuant to the provisions of this subdivision. The amount that may be expended by a school district in any fiscal year pursuant to this section shall not exceed an amount equal to twenty-five cents multiplied by the total number of days in the school year multiplied by the total enrollment of such school district. All purchases made pursuant to this subdivision shall be administered pursuant to regulations promulgated by the commissioner of education. The regulations promulgated by the commissioner of education shall ensure that the prices paid by a school district for items purchased pursuant to this subdivision do not exceed the market value of such items and that all licensed processors who desire to sell to a school district pursuant to this subdivision have equal opportunities to do so.

11. Bid mistake; public projects. (a) In all contracts governed by this section, where a unilateral error or mistake is discovered in a bid, such bid may be withdrawn after a showing of the following: (1) the mistake is known or made known to the awarding officer, board or agency prior to the awarding of the contract or within three days after the opening of the bid, whichever period is shorter; and (2) the price bid was based on an error of such magnitude that enforcement would be unconscionable; and (3) the bid was submitted in good faith and the bidder submits credible evidence that the mistake was a clerical error as opposed to a judgment error; and (4) the error in the bid is actually due to an unintentional and substantial arithmetic error or an unintentional omission of a substantial quantity of work, labor, material, goods or services made directly in the compilation of the bid, which unintentional arithmetic error or unintentional omission can be clearly shown by objective evidence drawn from inspection of the original work paper, documents, or materials used in the preparation of the bid sought to be withdrawn; and (5) it is possible to place the public agency, board, officer, or subdivision in status quo ante.

(b) Unless otherwise required by law, the sole remedy for a bid mistake in accordance with this section shall be withdrawal of that bid and the return of the bid bond or other security, if any, to the bidder. Thereafter, the awarding officer, board or agency may, in its discretion, award the contract to the next lowest responsible bidder or rebid the contract. Any amendment to or reformation of a bid or a contract to rectify such an error or mistake therein is strictly prohibited.

12. Notwithstanding any other provision of this section or any other provision of law, boards of education shall have the authority to determine that a bidder on a contract for the purchase of apparel or sports equipment is not a responsible bidder for purposes of subdivision one of this section, based upon either or both of the following considerations: (a) the labor standards applicable to the manufacture of the apparel or sports equipment, including but not limited to employee compensation, working conditions, employee rights to form unions, and the use of child labor; or (b) the bidder's failure to provide information sufficient for boards of education to determine the labor standards applicable to the manufacture of the apparel or sports equipment.

13. [Expired]

15. (a) Notwithstanding any general, special or local law or rule or regulation to the contrary, an officer, board or agency of any county, any school district or any political subdivision of the state with a population of fifty thousand or more charged with awarding a contract for public work may establish guidelines governing the qualifications of bidders seeking to bid or enter into such contracts. If such officer, board or agency maintains an appropriate list of qualified bidders, the bidding shall be restricted to those who have qualified prior to the receipt of bids according to standards fixed by such officer, board or agency. In determining whether a prospective bidder qualifies for inclusion on a list of pre-qualified bidders, the officer, board or agency shall consider the experience and record of performance of the prospective bidder in the particular type of work, as well as: (i) the prospective bidder's ability to undertake the particular type and complexity of work; (ii) the financial capability, responsibility and reliability of the prospective bidder for such type and complexity of work; (iii) the record of the prospective bidder in complying with existing labor standards and maintaining harmonious labor relations; (iv) the prospective bidder's compliance with equal employment opportunity requirements and anti-discrimination laws, and demonstrated commitment to working with minority and women-owned businesses through joint ventures or subcontractor relationships; and (v) the record of the prospective bidder in protecting the health and safety of workers on public works projects and job sites as demonstrated by the prospective bidder's experience modification rate for each of the last three years.

(b) Such public officer, board or agency shall, not less than annually, publish in a newspaper of general circulation in such political subdivision an advertisement requesting prospective bidders to submit qualification statements. Lists of pre-qualified bidders may be established on a project-specific basis. Prequalified lists shall include all bidders that qualify; provided, however, that any such list shall have no less than five bidders but shall remain open for all additional qualified bidders. The public officer, board or agency's procedures for prequalifying bidders shall include an appeals process for those denied a place on a pre-qualified list. Any denial must be based upon substantial evidence, cannot be arbitrary or capricious, and shall be subject to judicial review pursuant to article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules. The public officer, board or agency may move forward on the contract award during such appeals.

(c) Any school district or political subdivision of the state with a population of less than fifty thousand may utilize a list of pre-qualified bidders maintained by the county within which the subdivision is located, if such list is maintained.

I. Generally

1. In general

The above statute is based upon motives of public economy and may have originated in some degree of distrust of the officers to whom the duty of making contracts for the public service was committed. If executed according to its intention it will preclude favoritism and jobbing, and it is obvious that a contract made in violation of its requirements is null and void. Gerzof v Sweeney, 16 N.Y.2d 206, 264 N.Y.S.2d 376, 211 N.E.2d 826, 1965 N.Y. LEXIS 1040 (N.Y. 1965), reh'g denied, 17 N.Y.2d 549, 1966 N.Y. LEXIS 1945 (N.Y. 1966).

In view of the strong policy considerations underlying the enactment of section 103 of the General Municipal Law, which requires competitive bidding in the letting of contracts for public work in order to promote economy and exclude favoritism, a public work contract let in violation of that statute is generally held to be void. Albion Industrial Center v Albion, 62 A.D.2d 478, 405 N.Y.S.2d 521, 1978 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10863 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't), app. denied, 45 N.Y.2d 710, 1978 N.Y. LEXIS 3174 (N.Y. 1978).

This section applies to purchases of materials and supplies by town superintendent where cost exceeds $1,000. No authority to dispense with competitive bidding where purchases "are made under state or county bid prices". Duties of county superintendent with reference to town highway purchases discussed. 1953 Op St Compt No. 53-6407.

Where a town has rejected all bids on a public works project, and where it can have the work done for less than $2,500, the town does not have to readvertise for new bids and may award the contract without complying with competitive bidding procedures. 1968 Op St Compt No. 68-831.

A municipality may exercise the option to purchase street lights contained in a lease with option to purchase if such contract was entered into in good faith and the option price represents the fair market value of the lights at the time of purchase. No competitive bidding would be necessary if the lease with option to purchase was initially competitively bid. The term of an expired public works contract may not be extended by mutual consent of the parties. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-458, 1979 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 191.

Town's determination that petitioner's bid for a refuse collection contract was deficient because petitioner failed to demonstrate it had either a license issued by the town or a valid joint venture agreement with a duly licensed carter, or that it had either the requisite experience or ability to fulfill the contract specifications, were sufficient to support rejection of petitioner's bid on the contract. Matter of AAA Carting & Rubbish Removal, Inc. v Town of Clarkstown, 132 A.D.3d 857, 18 N.Y.S.3d 124, 2015 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7720 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2015), app. denied, 26 N.Y.3d 918, 47 N.E.3d 93, 26 N.Y.S.3d 763, 2016 N.Y. LEXIS 153 (N.Y. 2016).

2. Purpose

Provisions mandating that public work contracts be awarded to lowest responsible bidder reflects purpose to guard against favoritism, improvidence, extravagance, fraud and corruption, and were intended to benefit taxpayers and be administered with sole reference to public interest. Conduit & Foundation Corp. v Metropolitan Transp. Authority, 66 N.Y.2d 144, 495 N.Y.S.2d 340, 485 N.E.2d 1005, 1985 N.Y. LEXIS 17168 (N.Y. 1985).

Section 103 of the General Municipal Law and similar statutes were enacted to protect municipalities and taxpayers, and not to benefit or enrich bidders. Allen v Eberling, 24 A.D.2d 594, 262 N.Y.S.2d 121, 1965 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3578 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1965).

The aim of the above statute is to obtain the lowest price for the purchase or work under consideration and under it every element which enters into the competitive scheme should be required equally for all and should not be left to the volition of the individual aspirant to follow or to disregard and thus to estimate his bid on a different basis than other contenders, a common standard by which all bidders are to be measured being implied by the statute. Gottfried Baking Co. v Allen, 45 Misc. 2d 708, 257 N.Y.S.2d 833, 1964 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1229 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1964).

General Municipal Law § 103 was enacted to protect municipalities and its taxpayers and not for the benefit of the bidders. Fonseca v Board of Education, 58 Misc. 2d 223, 294 N.Y.S.2d 952, 1968 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1179 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1968).

Petitioner was not entitled to be awarded a sewer contract as low bidder, even though federal notice requirements were complied with, where through inadvertence no advertisements inviting bids on the project appeared in the authorized county newspaper; the controlling statute was to be strictly construed and contracts awarded absent strict compliance were void since the purpose of the statute was to protect the public rather than the competing bidders. Marvec-All State, Inc. v Purcell, 110 Misc. 2d 67, 441 N.Y.S.2d 618, 1981 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3041 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1981), aff'd, 87 A.D.2d 593, 450 N.Y.S.2d 411, 1982 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 15861 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1982).

Statutory requirements for public bidding are not primarily enacted to enable a contractor to prosper in his business, but rather to assure that public affairs will be conducted economically, efficiently, and honestly, but nevertheless contractors should not be disqualified in advance from bidding by action of a Board of Education under subd. 12 of § 2556 of the Education Law without particularization of charges against them and an opportunity to be heard. Application of Pipe & Engineering Co., 220 N.Y.S.2d 175 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1961).

3. Construction

A contract which provides for a lesser income to the governmental unit than a competitor's contract might provide is an "expenditure" within the meaning of General Municipal L § 103. Signacon Controls, Inc. v Mulroy, 32 N.Y.2d 410, 345 N.Y.S.2d 527, 298 N.E.2d 670, 1973 N.Y. LEXIS 1214 (N.Y. 1973).

Unsuccessful bidder's Article 78 proceeding, which challenged city's selection of other contractors and sought preliminary injunction to prevent certification of let contracts, was converted into declaratory judgment action although injunctive proceeding was moot because work under contracts at issue was completely or substantially done, where issues raised in petition challenged validity of relatively new and pervasive public bidding regulations being used by city. Diamond Asphalt Corp. v Sander, 92 N.Y.2d 244, 678 N.Y.S.2d 567, 700 N.E.2d 1203, 1998 N.Y. LEXIS 1828 (N.Y. 1998).

In an action by the lowest bidder to challenge the award of a contract for the management of a town's refuse collection stations to the highest bidder, the town board had a rational basis for rejecting his bid and its decision was neither arbitrary nor capricious where, in light of the board's previous unsatisfactory experience with him and the potential use of unsatisfactory equipment by him, the board concluded that he was not a responsible bidder. Lauvas v Bovina, 86 A.D.2d 694, 446 N.Y.S.2d 516, 1982 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 15241 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1982).

CLS Gen Mun § 103, prescribing manner in which bids would be requested and contracts awarded, was enacted to protect municipalities and taxpayers, not to benefit bidders. Stride Contracting Corp. v Board of Contract & Supply, 181 A.D.2d 876, 581 N.Y.S.2d 446, 1992 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4978 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1992).

In requiring the letting of contracts to the lowest "responsible" bidder, the word quoted is the key word, meaning "accountable" or

"reliable." Meyer v Board of Education, 31 Misc. 2d 407, 221 N.Y.S.2d 500, 1961 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2271 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1961).

Subdivision 4 of this section authorizes letting of contracts without competitive bidding only in emergency situations, which means under "unforeseen occurrences or conditions," and competitive bidding cannot be suspended by resolution declaring an emergency if none in fact exists. Rodin v Director of Purchasing, 38 Misc. 2d 362, 238 N.Y.S.2d 2, 1963 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2314 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1963).

Statutes requiring competitive bidding for award of municipal contracts are enacted for benefit of property holders and taxpayers and not for benefit or enrichment of bidders; thus statutes should be construed and administered to accomplish such purpose fairly and reasonably with sole reference to public interest. Surdell v Oswego, 91 Misc. 2d 1041, 399 N.Y.S.2d 173, 1977 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2476 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1977).

4. Relationship to other laws

This section of the General Municipal Law must be regarded as superseding all local laws to the extent that a conflict exists between such local laws and this section. 1954 Op St Compt No. 54-6899.

Reaffirmance of Opn No. 79-557 to the effect that a Board of Cooperative Educational Services may enter into installment contracts, generally. If an agreement entered into by a BOCES purports to be a lease of personal property, it must be in compliance with the provisions of Education Law, § 1950(4)(y). 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-159.

Contracts which are entered into under State or county contracts, or pursuant to competitive bidding, are not excepted from the conflicts of interest statutes. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-633, 1980 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 244.

It would seem that General Municipal Law § 103(1) does not pre-empt the enactment of a local law requiring, among other "affirmative actions", that prime contractors on construction contracts which are subject to competitive bidding requirements set aside a certain percentage of their contracts for the award of subcontracts to minority business enterprises. This Department is not in a position to determine whether such a local law adopted by a county is inconsistent with General Municipal Law, § 103(1). Prior opinions superseded to the extent inconsistent. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-696.

It would appear that contracts entered into on or after June 26, 1980 for the operation of a sanitary landfill on municipal property may be entered into either pursuant to competitive bidding requirements of General Municipal Law, § 103 or pursuant to the alternate procedures set forth in General Municipal Law, § 120-w. It would appear that contracts for the operation of such a sanitary landfill prior to that date would be subject to the bidding requirements of section 103. 1981 Op St Compt No. 81-109, 1981 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 769.

It would appear that a provision in the Tompkins County Charter providing that perishable foods, drugs and medical supplies may be purchased without competitive bidding is preempted by section 103 of the General Municipal Law, unless such provision is essentially a revision or codification of a pre-September 1, 1953 special or local law. 1981 Op St Compt No. 81-109, 1981 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 769.

5. —Highway laws

Highway Law § 193, not this section, applies to letting of contracts for improvement of town highways. 1955 Op St Compt No. 55-7472.

Public advertisement for bids on highway equipment is not effected by notice pursuant to the repealed language of § 142 of the Highway Law concerning the town board's meeting to approve purchases of over $1,000. 1955 Ops St Compt No. 55-7654.

Discussion of county superintendent's power to approve purchase contracts pursuant to § 142(1, b) of the Highway Law. 1960 Op St Compt No. 60-673.

Provision in Subdivision 4 of CLS Highway Law § 142-c, which provides that work authorized by that section shall be performed upon such terms and conditions as may be agreed upon by town board and village board, clearly anticipates negotiated agreement between two governing boards, and therefore represents express statement by State Legislature that agreements entered into pursuant to § 142-c are not subject to competitive bidding requirements of CLS Gen Mun Laws § 103. 1989 Op State Compt No. 89-57, 1990 Op St Compt No. 89-57, 1990 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 1.

6. —Other laws

City of Rochester Ordinance 82-450, providing for preferences to be given to bidders on municipal contracts where bidders' employees participate in state-approved apprenticeship program for certain trades, is invalid as violative of Gen Mun Law § 103 and similar legislative enactments requiring competitive bidding; although public policy is to encourage sound apprenticeship training standards and to equalize minimum labor costs between union contracts and nonunion employers, predominent purpose of legislature was protection of public fisc by requiring competitive bidding, and while apprentice training is desirable end, it was not intended to affect qualification of an otherwise responsible low bidder. Associated Builders & Contractors, Inc. v Rochester, 67 N.Y.2d 854, 501 N.Y.S.2d 653, 492 N.E.2d 781, 1986 N.Y. LEXIS 17597 (N.Y. 1986).

New York City Charter § 313(b)(2) approved by voters in 1989, which transferred bypass authority from defunct New York City Board of Estimate under pre-1953 charter to mayor, was not mere "revision" of pre-1953 charter and thus did not continue city's authority to bypass bid selection procedures under CLS Gen Mun § 103(1), which provides that all public work contracts must be awarded to lowest responsible bidder "except as otherwise expressly provided by...local law adopted prior to September 1, 1953." Diamond Asphalt Corp. v Sander, 92 N.Y.2d 244, 678 N.Y.S.2d 567, 700 N.E.2d 1203, 1998 N.Y. LEXIS 1828 (N.Y. 1998).

New York City Equal Benefits Law, New York City, N.Y., Admin. Code § 6-126 is preempted by N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 103(1) because it is plainly in tension with the requirement that the city give contracts to the lowest bidder. Under N.Y. Const. art. 9, § 2c(ii) and N.Y. Gen. Mun. Home Rule Law § 10(1)(ii), a city is not allowed to adopt laws of this nature where the legislature restricted such. Matter of Council of City of N.Y. v Bloomberg, 6 N.Y.3d 380, 813 N.Y.S.2d 3, 846 N.E.2d 433, 2006 N.Y. LEXIS 149 (N.Y. 2006).

The General Municipal Law, providing for threshold of $3,500 for public work contracts and $1,500 for purchase contract prevailed over code provision that board of legislators shall fix a sum not to exceed $1,000 as limit above which any contract must be advertised for sealed bids where the county charter was not adopted until 1961 and the code a year later, and competitive bidding was not required as to installation of direct dialing system at the county-maintained hospital at cost of approximately $1,300. Williams v Bryant, 53 A.D.2d 229, 385 N.Y.S.2d 425, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12512 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1976).

An executive order that provided for a minimum of 10 percent of all construction contracts awarded by a city to be awarded to locally based enterprises would be declared unconstitutional, since it was an undisguised attempt on the part of the executive branch to mandate unconstitutional quotas, it violated Gen Mun Law § 103(1) by allowing locally based enterprises to escape the competitive bidding provisions that control on both state and municipal levels, and it violated Gen Mun Law § 103(1) by allowing locally based enterprises to proceed without posting proper security for their work. Subcontractors Trade Ass'n v Koch, 96 A.D.2d 774, 465 N.Y.S.2d 825, 1983 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 19371 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1983), aff'd, 62 N.Y.2d 422, 477 N.Y.S.2d 120, 465 N.E.2d 840, 1984 N.Y. New York City School Construction Authority is exempt from CLS Gen Mun § 103 under CLS Pub A § 1734(1)(a). George F. Kolsch, Inc. v New York City Sch. Constr. City was properly granted summary judgment in action alleging that "turnkey" contract for construction of new court and police facility was illegal for failure to comply with competitive bidding requirements where pre-1953 local law specifically provided for waiver of competitive bids when city manager determined that subject of proposed contract was such that completion was "impossible or impracticable" via competitive bidding process, and city manager found that competitive bidding was impractical because, inter alia, project required timely completion and cost-effective fixed price which competitive bidding could not secure, new facility was necessary, construction on privately-owned land was required, site owned by developer was most appropriate and environmentally safe, developer would not transfer site without being awarded contract, and condemnation of site was too costly. Imburgia v City of New Rochelle, 223 A.D.2d 44, 645 N.Y.S.2d 111, 1996 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7260 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't), app. denied, 88 N.Y.2d 815, 651 N.Y.S.2d 17, 673 N.E.2d 1244, 1996 N.Y. LEXIS 3299 (N.Y. 1996).

In view of this section and §§ 1709(6), 1804, 1805, and 7203, Education Law, and § 101, General Municipal Law, the legislature pre-empted not only the area of plans and specifications in the building of schools, but also the field of actual construction, and vested such power in the commissioner of education, so that a school board was not subject to local municipal building or plumbing codes in building schools. Poughkeepsie v Hopper Plumbing & Heating Corp., 46 Misc. 2d 761, 260 N.Y.S.2d 901, 1965 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1741 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1965), aff'd, 26 A.D.2d 772, 272 N.Y.S.2d 974, 1966 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6124 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1966).

CLS Gen Mun § 103(1), regarding competitive bidding requirements, did not preempt competitive bidding exceptions in new New York City Charter, even though new charter was promulgated after statute's September 1, 1953, date after which all local laws purporting to create bidding exceptions are preempted, since new charter was merely recodification, restatement and revision of pre-date provisions. United States v New York, 972 F.2d 464, 1992 U.S. App. LEXIS 18654 (2d Cir. N.Y. 1992).

Award of city contract for purchase of computer hardware did not fall within the service exception of CLS Gen Mun Law § 103(1), where city accepted a bid from vendor based, in part, on outdated and inaccurate information, but contended that it was not required to select the lowest bidder due to the service exception, because city did not invite innovative design proposals but a designated machine requiring only installation and maintenance. Pacificorp Capital, Inc. v New York, 741 F. Supp. 481, 1990 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8697 (S.D.N.Y. 1990).

A water district must let purchase contracts in accordance with this section and a town water district must let construction contracts in accordance with Town Law § 197. 1956 Op St Compt No. 56-8097.

II. Applicability of Bidding Requirements to Particular Agencies, Officials, etc.

7. In general

If the responsible municipal agency reasonably believes that the cost of an item of supply will aggregate more than $1,000.00 in an operating year, the contract must be submitted to competitive bidding. 1955 Op St Compt No. 55-7104.

Statutory public bidding and advertisement requirements are applicable to municipal corporations. 1967 Op St Compt No. 67-200.

8. Cities

Where the New York City charter required that contracts involving more than $2500 be founded on a sealed bid public letting, the comptroller was not arbitrary in refusing to register and certify as a valid contract a management consulting contract for $250,000 awarded by the mayor without competitive bidding and without the approval of the board of estimates. New York v Beame, 37 A.D.2d 89, 322 N.Y.S.2d 503, 1971 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3716 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1971).

The City of Jamestown may engage a private collection agency to assist it with delinquent accounts owing to its Board of Public Utilities, any such contract may be subject to competitive bidding. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-142.

9. Educational institutions

Although faculty-student association of community college advertised for bids on "skill and amusement games," where "information for bidders" provided that bids would be received by board of trustees of community college, that bids should be addressed to president of college, and both "information for bidders" and advertisement provided that board of trustees reserved right to reject any bids and to waive all formalities in bid, college was so united with association in advertising and awarding of contract that section of general municipal law relating to public work contracts governed award of contract. De Bonis v Hudson Valley Community College, 55 A.D.2d 778, 389 N.Y.S.2d 647, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 15566 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1976).

In a proceeding by an unsuccessful bidder in the award of a contract of purchase, service and supply to a food vending machine concession for a faculty-student association on a college campus, the trial court erred in annulling a contract between the association and the successful bidder where, pursuant to CPLR § 7804(h), the trial court should have ordered a trial and not proceeded in a summary fashion in that the record contained ample evidence to raise questions of fact with respect to whether the grantee of the food vending machine concession was so constrained by the contract between it and the college that the grantee could be deemed a functionary of the college when it awarded the contract, so as to make the contract subject to the competitive bidding requirements of Gen Mun Law § 103, whether the grantee's contractual rights to operate vending machines in the college's building constituted a franchise rather than a contract to perform public work, and whether the contract was illegal in that it anticipated use of the college's facilities by the grantee without any compensation to the college. Parkway Vending Services, Inc. v Faculty-Student Asso. of Broome Community College, Inc., 82 A.D.2d 933, 440 N.Y.S.2d 756, 1981 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 14664 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1981).

In an action seeking a declaration of the invalidity of a completion contract between a county sewer district and the sureties of the defaulting contractor, the award of the contract to the sureties did not violate Gen Mun Law § 103, which permits a municipal agency to reject all bids and readvertise for new bids where the advertising for bids specifically reserved the right. Furthermore, when a contractor had defaulted, the municipal agency may enter into a new contract with the surety for completion of the work without pursuing bid proposals under § 103. Spencer, White & Prentis, Inc. v Southwest Sewer Dist., 103 A.D.2d 802, 477 N.Y.S.2d 681, 1984 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 19426 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't), app. dismissed, 63 N.Y.2d 607, 1984 N.Y. LEXIS 5420 (N.Y. 1984), app. dismissed, 63 N.Y.2d 952, 1984 N.Y. LEXIS 6395 (N.Y. 1984).

School district award of a bid to a higher bidder over a low bidder who failed to bid on an alternate did not violate N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 103 because the failure to prioritize alternates prior to the bids being opened was not a sufficient ground to disturb an award to a higher bidder in the absence of a showing of actual favoritism or fraud, the school district provided a plausible explanation for not giving a priority ranking to the alternates in that it could not have done so because it did not know the cost of each alternate until it opened the bids, the school district provided a rational basis for its decision to have the alternate constructed and therefore reasonably rejected the low bid because it failed to bid on that alternate, and the school district did not improperly change the specifications after the close of the bidding process. Sicoli & Massaro, Inc. v Grand Island Cent. Sch. Dist., 309 A.D.2d 1229, 765 N.Y.S.2d 109, 2003 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10056 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2003).

Since this section, requiring the letting of purchase contracts involving more than $1000, to the lowest responsible bidder, does not exclude school boards, it is deemed applicable to purchases made by them, and a violation of its provisions is subject to judicial review without prior appeal to the Commissioner of Education. Buffalo Audio Center Arrolite Co. v Union Free School Dist., 29 Misc. 2d 871, 208 N.Y.S.2d 760, 1960 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1998 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1960), aff'd, 15 A.D.2d 991, 226 N.Y.S.2d 1024, 1962 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10696 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1962).

The City of Utica is not subject to the provisions of General Municipal Law, § 103(1) and (4) with the exception of the requirement for public bidding on contracts for public works involving an expenditure of more than $3500 and supply of

A school district may not award a contract to a discount house where the provisions of section 103 of the General Municipal Law are not complied with, if the amount of the purchase is over $1000. 1960 Op St Compt No. 60-731.

This section is inapplicable to Boards of Cooperative Educational Services. 1961 Op St Compt No. 61-754.

Where municipal or school district officials know, or have reason to believe, that purchase of a certain item of equipment or supply will amount to more than $1,000 in a fiscal year, all purchase contracts for that item must be competitively let even though each individual purchase contract is less than $1,000. 1962 Op St Compt No. 62-640.

A faculty-student association which owns vending machines and has a contract with a community college to supply food and vending services may enter into an agreement with a vending company for servicing and supplying of products for the vending machines without being subject to any requirement that contracts be let to the lowest responsible bidder after advertisement for bids. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-449, 1979 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 186.

In determining whether a bidder, a bus company for transportation of students, is a responsible bidder, the bidder's criminal record, a criminal investigation of, or an indictment against, the bidder, can be taken into account. When the determination of non-responsibility would adversely affect a bidder's ability to carry on his business, the bidder has a cognizable due process liberty interest and is entitled to notice of the reasons for the municipality's concern over his responsibility and an opportunity to rebut the charges. 1990 Op St Compt 90-48, 1990 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 44.

A transaction entered into by BOCES with a private contractor to construct educational facilities must be in compliance with section 1958 of the Education Law and section 103 of the General Municipal Law. The local assessor should make a determination as to the taxable or exempt status of the property and leave legal clarification of the issue of compliance with the above laws to the parties involved. 3 Op Counsel, SBEA No. 23.

School board's authorizing the district principal to purchase a truck at a certain cost was in violation of competitive bidding requirements. NY Ops Educ Comm No. 9003.

10. Fire districts

Town board was not required to seek competitive bids on contract for fire protection district. Riley v Town Board, Halfmoon, 86 Misc. 2d 114, 382 N.Y.S.2d 230, 1976 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2408 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1976).

A fire district has no authority to lease fire fighting apparatus. If such equipment is purchased, the contracts must be competitively let. Fire district may not make purchases on an installment payment plan. 1956 Op St Compt No. 56-7886.

A fire district may not purchase without complying with competitive bidding requirements a used pumper from a fire protection district located in the State of Maryland. 1965 Op St Compt No. 65-778.

The Camillus Volunteer Fire Department may, without public bidding, purchase an ambulance with its own funds and then donate the ambulance to the village. But, any purchase made with village funds must meet the requirements of public bidding. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-666.

There is no requirement that a town board on behalf of a fire protection district award contracts for fire protection pursuant to formal competitive bidding requirements. 1982 Op St Compt No. 82-163, 1982 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 555.

11. Highway departments

A County Superintendent of Highways is an officer, as defined in County Law, § 408(a)(1), and must therefore award contracts in accordance with the procedures outlined in General Municipal Law, § 103. Such contracts must be competitively bid, if the value exceeds $1,000.00 for purchase contracts or $2,500.00 for public works contracts, and the award must be made to the lowest responsible bidder. 1972 NY Ops Atty Gen June 23 (Informal), 1972 N.Y. AG LEXIS 107.

A purchase made without competitive bidding by the county superintendent of highways is illegal. 1954 Op St Compt No. 54-6575.

A town may not pay all or part of a claim for a certain item purchased by the town highway superintendent, without competitive bidding on five separate occasions even though one of the purchases was for less than $1,000. Under the circumstances, where town officers know, or have reason to believe, that the purchase of a certain item of supply will amount to more than $1,000 in a fiscal year, all purchase contracts for that item must be competitively let. In the absence of an agreement required by Section 284 of the Highway Law, expenditures for highway repair and improvement are illegal. 1968 Op St Compt No. 68-315.

12. Libraries

A petitioner attacked the validity of a resolution and awarding of publishing contracts by a city school board, on the ground, that there was no advertising for bids. He was not required to show, that he was an aggrieved party, or that he had a special interest, since the proper advertising for bids and the letting of contracts is a matter of public interest. The Court vacated the resolution and set aside the contracts for failure of the Board to advertise for bids. McDonough v Board of Education, 20 Misc. 2d 98, 189 N.Y.S.2d 401, 1959 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3188 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1959).

A town public library is required to submit to public bid a contract for the installation of a new heating plant which will cost over $1,000. 1956 Op St Compt No. 56-8093.

Where there is more than one source of supply, school district library's purchase of any particular book or set of books involving an expenditure of more than $1,000 in a fiscal year is subject to competitive bidding. 1956 Op St Compt No. 56-8185.

Moneys received by the trustees of a village public library from gifts, legacies and an endowment fund are subject to the provisions of Article 5-A of the General Municipal Law. 1959 Op St Compt No. 59-937.

A contract of a joint public library for the technical processing of its books, which involves an expenditure of more than $2,500, is subject to competitive bidding requirements. 1968 Ops St Compt No. 68-901.

It would appear that a free association library which is designated as a third party to implement part of a county community development program which involves removing architectural barriers at the library is acting as an agency of the county for that purpose and would be subject to the same competitive bidding requirements as the county. Bidding is not required if the portion of a given library contract which is allocable to the Community Development Project (removing architectural barriers) does not exceed the monetary bidding threshhold. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-54.

The purchase of books by a library system for or on behalf of a member library is subject to bidding requirements if such purchase would be subject to bidding requirements if made by the library itself. Opns St Comp, 1962, No. 62-835 and Opns St, 1980 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 364 (Comp 1976).

13. Towns

A town may not enter into a contract for public work or purchase of material above the statutory amount without advertising for bids. The impropriety of such a contract can not be overcome by a provision therein for subsequent public bidding on the several separable portions of the work. 1976 NY Ops Atty Gen August 12 (Informal), 1976 N.Y. The purchase by a town on behalf of a lighting district of certain lighting fixtures, light standards and cable would not constitute the purchase of a public utility system and would not be subject to a mandatory referendum. However, it would appear that such a purchase would be subject to competitive bidding. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-851.

A town may not designate a private company as the "agent" of the town for the purpose of making electrical inspections under the town's electrical code, although a contract therefor may be entered into with a company to assist the town code enforcement officer, which contract is subject to competitive bidding statutes. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-865.

Town may not make gratuitous payment to private individuals who voluntarily assist town in coordinating volunteers from not-for-profit organizations in providing services in connection with town's recycling program; however, town may (in accordance with applicable procurement procedures) contract with individuals for provision of such coordination services in connection with operation of town's recycling center and pay individuals consideration for such services pursuant to contract. 2002 Op St Compt No. 2002-9, 2002 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 9.

14. Villages

Where pursuant to village ordinance, village served notice upon plaintiff that his private roadway was improperly maintained and, upon plaintiff's failure to correct situation, village constructed fully complying road at expense of $8,374.49, failure of village to comply with requisites of competitive bidding statutes preclude village from recovering cost of repairs from landowner. D'Angelo v Cole, 67 N.Y.2d 65, 499 N.Y.S.2d 900, 490 N.E.2d 819, 1986 N.Y. LEXIS 16605 (N.Y. 1986).

17. Failure to comply with bidding requirements

Where pursuant to village ordinance, village served notice upon plaintiff that his private roadway was improperly maintained and, upon plaintiff's failure to correct situation, village constructed fully complying road at expense of $8,374.49, failure of village to comply with requisites of competitive bidding statutes preclude village from recovering cost of repairs from landowner. D'Angelo v Cole, 67 N.Y.2d 65, 499 N.Y.S.2d 900, 490 N.E.2d 819, 1986 N.Y. LEXIS 16605 (N.Y. 1986).

D'Angelo v Cole, 67 N.Y.2d 65, 499 N.Y.S.2d 900, 490 N.E.2d 819, 1986 N.Y. LEXIS 16605 (N.Y. 1986).

In annulling school district's award of public contract, Supreme Court erred in finding that company's bid failed to comply with bid requirements and in concluding that company thereby received substantial and material advantage over other bidders, despite company's failure to submit alternative bid with its base bid, where bid instructions did not require bid on both base and alternative proposals, did not require submission of alternative bid as condition of consideration and acceptance of base bid, and clearly reserved to school district right to consider base and alternative bids separately. Joseph Davis, Inc. v Mollenberg-Betz Machine Co., 124 A.D.2d 1071, 508 N.Y.S.2d 720, 1986 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 62434 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1986).

Town board resolution that authorized the town to enter into a recycling contract with respondent corporation was annulled because the town was required to procure the subject contract in compliance with N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 103 by obtaining sealed bids rather than simply requesting proposals in light of the considerable amounts involved; without sealed bids, it could not be determined whether respondent corporation's contract constituted a contract which provided for a lesser income to the town than a competing contract might provide and, thus, constituted an expenditure under § 103. Matter of Omni Recycling of Westbury, Inc. v Town of Oyster Bay, 41 A.D.3d 482, 837 N.Y.S.2d 317, 2007 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6946 (N.Y. Although the city failed to pay the contractor more than $1.5 million under two municipal building contracts, the contractor could not maintain a claim for fraudulent inducement, as he did not allege any false statement that induced him to execute the contracts and perform the work, it was only when the contracts' illegality due to the city's violation of the statute's bidding requirement was discovered that non-payment arose, and the contractor could, and should, have been aware of the bidding requirement. Michael R. Gianatasio, PE, P.C. v City of New York, 53 Misc. 3d 757, 37 N.Y.S.3d 828, 2016 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3110 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 2016), app. dismissed, 2017 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5847 (N.Y. Although the city failed to pay the contractor more than $1.5 million under two municipal building contracts, the contractor could not recover under an account stated theory, as the contracts were invalid due to the city's violation of the statute's bidding requirement. Michael R. Gianatasio, PE, P.C. v City of New York, 53 Misc. 3d 757, 37 N.Y.S.3d 828, 2016 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3110 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 2016), app. dismissed, 2017 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5847 (N.Y. III. Applicability of Bidding Requirements to Particular Contracts

This section, in requiring awarding of purchase contracts to "the lowest responsible bidder," by implication requires truly competive bidding. People v Bareika, 9 A.D.2d 1002, 195 N.Y.S.2d 97, 1959 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5326 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1959).

A county and a vendor may not agree to extend the term of a county purchase contract, which by its own terms has expired, so that municipalities may make purchases thereunder without competitive bidding. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-297, 1979 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 200.

Competitive bidding provisions of CLS Gen Mun § 103 have no application to purchases made pursuant to CLS Correc §§ 184 and 186 of goods manufactured in state correctional institutions, and Department of Correctional Services may be contacted to ascertain conditions under which waiver of requirements of CLS Correc §§ 184 and 186 may be obtained. 1986 Op St Compt No. 86-55, 1986 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 121.

19. Aggregate purchases above statutory minimum

A contract for services in conjunction with publishing a series of school district newsletters is subject to competitive bidding requirements as a public works contract where it can be reasonably anticipated that the aggregate cost of such services for a fiscal year will exceed $5,000. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-415, 1980 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 290.

(1) An Off-Track Betting Corporation may divide the single public works project of remodeling or constructing a building, which totals in excess of $10,000, into components so long as contracts for each component are subject to competitive bidding; (2) Generally, where it is known or there is reason to know that contracts for a particular type of public work will exceed the bidding threshold in the course of a fiscal year, all such contracts are subject to competitive bidding; (3) Generally, the purchase of furniture would be considered separate and distinct from the work performed in the construction or remodeling of a building for the purpose of the bidding monetary threshold. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-785.

Where it can be reasonably anticipated that purchases of a single item of maintenance supplies, or purchases of related items of supplies which are generally available from the same vendor, will exceed, in the aggregate, $3,000 in a fiscal year, all purchase contracts for the item or items are subject to competitive bidding. Second conclusion of Opn No. 6440, reported at 9 Opns St Compt, 1953, p 421, is hereby superseded to the extent inconsistent. 1981 Op St Compt No. 81-103, 1981 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 782.

Discussion of competitive bidding requirements with regard to telephone equipment. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-319.

The outright purchase and installation of telephone equipment is subject to competitive bidding requirements. Since it is unclear whether such a contract is a public works or purchase contract, the most prudent course would be to advertise for bids if an expenditure over the lower monetary limit were involved. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-762, 1980 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 383.

The outright purchase and installation of a telephone system is subject to competitive bidding requirements. A true lease of a telephone system is not subject to bidding requirements. 1981 Op St Compt No. 81-426, 1981 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 457.

However, the purchase of computer hardware or the purchase of a computer system consisting of both software and hardware is subject to bidding requirements, notwithstanding the fact that professional or technical services may be involved. Prior opinions superseded to the extent inconsistent with this opinion. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-465, 1980 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 280.

Contract involving both purchase and professional services may qualify under professional services exception if two criteria are met: (1) professional services component of contract is primary or predominant part of acquisition and (2) there is "inextricable integration" of professional services and "physical components"; in order to determine whether contract primarily involves professional services, "total character" of agreement must be examined to ascertain its essential character or focus; in case of acquisition of both computer software and professional computer services, following factors may be pertinent in making this determination: amount of time and effort involved in tailoring prepackaged or canned software, degree of customizing necessary, amount of time and effort involved in any personnel training services provided by vendor, and relative cost of prepackaged or canned software and services, respectively; if municipality objectively determines that particular prepackaged or canned software uniquely serves public interest and that software is available from only one source, it would appear that software could be acquired without competitive bidding under sole source exemption, and municipality should be prepared to show unique benefits to municipality of software to be purchased as compared to other software in marketplace, that no other software provides substantial equivalent or similar benefits, and that, considering benefits received, cost of software is reasonable in comparison to other software in marketplace; in appropriate circumstances, municipality may standardize on particular make of software if municipality can objectively demonstrate that efficiency and economy will be served. 1988 Op St Compt No. 88-35, 1988 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 31.

LEXIS 264.

Whether a contract to rehabilitate a fire truck is controlled by a sole source is a question of fact. However, the mere likelihood that only one firm will bid on the contract or the mere suspicion that one firm is better suited to do the work is not sufficient to justify a sole source procurement. 1983 Op St Compt No. 83-124, 1983 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 358.

Fire district may purchase firefighting vehicle from fire department at cost of more than $5,000 only after compliance with competitive bidding requirements of CLS Gen Mun § 103. 1986 Op St Compt No. 86-67, 1986 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 109.

Comp. LEXIS 115.

26. Garbage collection and disposal

In an Article 78 proceeding reviewing contract awards for the collection, removal and disposal of solid waste within a municipal garbage district, the bid specifications submitted by the lowest bidder would be invalid where the bid submitted in connection with a readvertised notice to bidders was defective and remained uncured until 3 days after the bids were opened, and the vessel specified in the resubmitted bids, for use under the contracts, not only lacked the required United States Coast Guard certification but also was in dry-dock and laid up for repairs at the time bids were opened; the contract awards, therefore, were made in violation of the spirit of the provisions requiring sealed competitive bidding for public contracts under Gen Mun Law §§ 100-A and 103(1). Superior Hydraulic, Inc. v Town Bd. of Islip, 88 A.D.2d 404, 453 N.Y.S.2d 711, 1982 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 17088 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1982), app. dismissed, 58 N.Y.2d 824, 1983 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 852.

Comp. LEXIS 852.

27. Health care services

Where pursuant to village ordinance, village served notice upon plaintiff that his private roadway was improperly maintained and, upon plaintiff's failure to correct situation, village constructed fully complying road at expense of $8,374.49, failure of village to comply with requisites of competitive bidding statutes preclude village from recovering cost of repairs from landowner. However, the rest of the operation of reproducing the records is a contract for public work, subject to the $2500 provision as to public bidding. 1957 Op St Compt No. 57-506.

36. Rental or lease agreements

In determining whether a contract between a municipality and the owner of land, under which the latter would erect a building upon its land and then lease the land and the building to the municipality for a public use, is a true lease of private property for public use, which would not require competitive bidding under section 103 of the General Municipal Law, or a contract for public work, which would require competitive bidding under the statute, it is not dispositive that the document is labeled a "Lease Agreement"; in view of the obvious potential of serving as a device to circumvent the competitive bidding statute, it is necessary to look to the substance of the agreement, the rights it confers, and the obligations it imposes in order to determine the true nature of the transaction and the relationship of the parties. Albion Industrial Center v Albion, 62 A.D.2d 478, 405 N.Y.S.2d 521, 1978 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10863 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't), app. denied, 45 N.Y.2d 710, 1978 N.Y. LEXIS 3174 (N.Y. 1978).

Where an agreement between a municipal corporation and a vendor for the use by the municipality of property or equipment for a stated period of time is termed a lease, the designation is a meaningless misnomer when the property or equipment is totally consumed in terms of its probable life during the stated period, and such a "lease" is a "purchase contract" within the meaning and intent of sections 100-a and 103 of the General Municipal Law, which require that public contracts be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder; moreover, the determination that a "lease" is in fact a public contract requiring competitive bidding need not rest on the fortuitous selection by the municipality of a capital cost recoupment period that is identical to a statutory period of probable usefulness, but is also established when the vendor is assured of recovering its full capital cost, even in those situations where service is prematurely terminated, by means of a termination charge. Exley v Endicott, 74 A.D.2d 96, 427 N.Y.S.2d 68, 1980 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10438 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't), modified, 51 N.Y.2d 426, 434 N.Y.S.2d 922, 415 N.E.2d 913, 1980 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 263.

Under certain circumstances, an agreement entitled a "lease" may constitute an installment purchase if the term of the agreement extends over the actual useful life of the item acquired under the agreement, even though title never passes to the lessee. An installment purchase agreement is subject to the provisions of General Municipal Law, § 109-b, including those relating to competitive bidding requirements. Prior inconsistent opinions superseded. 1984 Op St Compt No. 84-57, 1984 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 80.

A transaction whereby a not-for-profit corporation, without competitive bidding, constructs a public facility for use by a municipal corporation in the performance of its governmental functions and the municipal corporation acquires use of the facility under a lease agreement and has an option to purchase: (a) does not constitute indebtedness for purposes of the State Constitution and Local Finance Law if the lease agreement has an executory clause making the municipal corporation's obligation contingent on annual appropriations, although it is doubtful that a clause providing that, if the municipal corporation fails to appropriate money for the lease payments, the municipal corporation agrees not to purchase, lease or rent property to perform the same functions as the facility, would be enforceable; (b) constitutes a prohibited installment purchase contract if the total character of the transaction is that of a purchase rather than a lease; and (c) violates the competitive bidding requirements of General Municipal Law §§ 101, 103, if the total character of the transaction constitutes a contract for public work of the municipal corporation. 1991 Op St Compt No. 91-13, 1989 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 53.

Discussion of "lease-to-own" arrangements. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-794.

39. —Fire fighting apparatus

Arrangement whereby company would give county a central fire control console worth $35,000 in return for county's allowing them to charge an override cost on each transmitter sold to noncounty purchasers did not constitute a gift to the county thereby removing contract from competitive bidding provisions of General Municipal L § 103, particularly in light of fact that county would have to pay from $1500 to $1800 for each of the transmitters it purchased. Signacon Controls, Inc. v Mulroy, 32 N.Y.2d 410, 345 N.Y.S.2d 527, 298 N.E.2d 670, 1973 N.Y. LEXIS 1214 (N.Y. 1973).

41. —Involving real property

A true agreement for the purchase by or rental to a municipality of real property is not subject to the competitive bidding requirements of section 103 of the General Municipal Law, which requires that all contracts for public work involving an expenditure of more than $3,500 and all purchase contracts involving an expenditure of more than $1,500 be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. Albion Industrial Center v Albion, 62 A.D.2d 478, 405 N.Y.S.2d 521, 1978 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10863 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't), app. denied, 45 N.Y.2d 710, 1978 N.Y. LEXIS 3174 (N.Y. 1978).

42. —Effect of improvements on leased realty

A contract, entitled "Lease Agreement", which provided that the owner of land would erect a building upon it and then lease the land and the building to a town for use as a town garage and offices for a term of five years, at a rental of $1,000 per month for the first six months and $3,875 per month for the remaining 54 months, or a total rental of $215,250 over the five-year term, but that the town was to have the option to purchase the premises after the first day of the sixth month of the term, but prior to the commencement of the seventh month thereof, for $141,200, and that the option would expire if the town failed to exercise it prior to the seventh month of the term, and which made no provision for renewal at the expiration of the original five-year term, may not fairly be characterized as a true lease, which would not require competitive bidding under section 103 of the General Municipal Law; the transaction which was contemplated by the parties was one of construction and purchase, rather than one of rental, and their clear intent, as reflected in the agreement, was to circumvent the mandate of section 103 of the General Municipal Law that "all contracts for public work . . . shall be awarded . . . to the lowest responsible bidder". Albion Industrial Center v Albion, 62 A.D.2d 478, 405 N.Y.S.2d 521, 1978 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10863 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't), app. denied, 45 N.Y.2d 710, 1978 N.Y. LEXIS 3174 (N.Y. 1978).

Neither may the county, without competitive bidding, renegotiate the lease and, pursuant to such renegotiated lease, agree to make higher rental payments over the remaining term of the lease where such higher payments are designed to compensate the landlord for the cost of making the renovations. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-958, 1978 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 9.

43. —Miscellaneous

A contract between a municipality and the New York Telephone Company to provide telephone terminal systems under a two-tier rate, was a lease rather than a sale and therefore the municipality did not have to comply with the competitive bidding statute, Gen Mun Law § 103, since title for all equipment to be provided under the two-tier tariff system always remained in the New York Telephone Company, and the company assumed the risk of loss due to events not within the customer's control and the obligation to service and repair the equipment. Exley v Endicott, 51 N.Y.2d 426, 434 N.Y.S.2d 922, 415 N.E.2d 913, 1980 N.Y. LEXIS 2887 (N.Y. 1980).

Successive one-year leases of street light fixtures by a lighting district are not purchases required to be let by competitive bid. 1967 NY Ops Atty Gen July 12 (Informal), 1967 N.Y. AG LEXIS 96.

Discussion concerning proposed lease by village of ice-making and other equipment in view of competitive bidding and Local Finance Law requirements. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-1040.

Whether lease arrangements under which a city leases hospital equipment and the lessor retains title are subject to competitive bidding requirements depends upon whether the leases are for the actual useful life of the equipment. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-646, 1979 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 134.

An arrangement whereby a village leases a pistol range to several private organizations in exchange for repair and renovation work to be performed by the organizations could be viewed as a circumvention of statutory competitive bidding and/or local financing requirements. 1982 Op St Compt No. 82-144, 1982 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 572.

44. Security services

Where agreement to provide security guards for city of New York and the Housing and Development Administration was of indefinite duration and subject to cancellation by either party on reasonable notice and weekly billings fluctuated with extent of services rendered and never exceeded $550 for any single week, the agreement, which was entered into in 1971, at which time public works contracts involving expenditures of more than $2,500 were required to be competitively let, was not invalid because it was not subject to competitive bidding; agreement fell within exception to general rule of invalidity. Lance Investigation Service, Inc. v New York, 88 Misc. 2d 119, 387 N.Y.S.2d 32, 1976 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2592 (N.Y. App. Term 1976).

The City of Oneonta had the power to enter into contracts with a private security guard firm, since it appears there was no circumvention of civil service requirements. However, ultimate determination of this issue should be left to appropriate civil service agencies. Such contracts should have been let subject to appropriate competitive bidding requirements. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-50.

Where an independent contract for watchmen's services exceeds $2500, it is subject to competitive bidding. 1968 Op St Compt No. 68-98.

45. Sewerage contracts

Contract between village and owner of subdivision calling for latter to build at its own expense sewage pump station to service owner's and adjacent subdivision and dedicate it to village, whereupon village would collect from owner of each lot connecting to station pro rata share of construction cost and pay that over to builder, was not unenforceable for failure to comply with competitive bidding process of CLS Gen Mun § 103 since contract did not involve expenditure of public funds. Webster v Fairport, 150 Misc. 2d 390, 576 N.Y.S.2d 491, 1991 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 622 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1991).

A village must ask for formal bids where it wishes to purchase a machine costing $2,450, for cleaning its sanitary sewer mains, even though that is the only machine made that said village can afford to purchase and that will fulfill its needs. 1958 Op St Compt No. 58-372.

The purchase of a sewer treatment plant by a village from a corporation, organized under Article 10 of the Transportation Corporation Law, is not subject to competitive bidding. 1960 Op St Compt No. 60-700.

A contract for construction of a sewer line from the property of an outside user into a sewer district sewer main is not subject to the competitive bidding requirements of section 103 of the General Municipal Law. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-1010.

46. Transportation services and equipment

Notice of claim under CLS Educ § 3813(1) was not required in bus company's Article 78 proceeding against school district for violation of CLS Gen Mun § 103, which requires competitive bidding for public contracts, because purpose of § 103 is to protect public, and thus present proceeding did not solely seek enforcement of private right, but also vindication of public interest. Mary's Bus Serv. v Rondout Valley Cent. Sch. Dist., 238 A.D.2d 829, 656 N.Y.S.2d 534, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4272 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1997).

Trial court properly dismissed a private bus company's petition challenging the award of a transportation service contract because the county's bid specification requiring a safety rating higher than the minimum allowed did have some rational basis rooted in the public interest, namely, attempting to assure the safety of children being transported under the county's care, and the private bus company asserted only speculation concerning improper motives and/or unfair dealing. Matter of Blueline Commuter, Inc. v Montgomery County, 126 A.D.3d 1161, 4 N.Y.S.3d 763, 2015 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1986 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2015).

In an Article 78 proceeding by a bus company to enjoin the city's board of education from awarding contracts by public bidding for the supplying of transportation services to handicapped public school students, the bus company's petition would be dismissed where its contract with the board of education, that provided for the offering of any "increase" in bus services to existing contractors, had not applied to the replacement of the services of other bus companies that defaulted after a strike by school bus drivers, and where the contract provision for offering increases in services to existing contractors had been intended only to provide a convenient method for dealing with a modest increase as demanded by changes in the needs of the school system, rather than to provide a method for covering defaults. Master Coachman, Inc. v Board of Education, 116 Misc. 2d 965, 456 N.Y.S.2d 946, 1982 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3986 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1982).

Taxpayers had standing to seek declaratory and injunctive relief against transfer—to a private contractor—of claims processing work from former private bus companies being taken over by city's mass transit authority on grounds that proper bidding procedures had not been followed, since the bidding requirements were designed to prevent government waste. Andre v City of New York, 807 N.Y.S.2d 789, 10 Misc. 3d 361, 234 N.Y.L.J. 41, 2005 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1860 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 2005).

An arrangement whereby a town agrees to hire vehicles for the period of their useful life at a stipulated periodic payment, the vehicles to be turned back to the dealer and replaced by him with new vehicles, is subject to the requirements of this section. 1962 Op St Compt No. 62-329.

Purchases of recapped tires in excess of $1,000 during a fiscal year are subject to competitive bidding requirements. 1963 Op St Compt No. 63-157.

A contract for bus transportation is a public works contract and not a purchase contract. General discussion of when such transportation would be subject to competitive bidding requirements. 1967 Op St Compt No. 67-741.

Where a county is contracting for mass transportation services with bus operators who hold franchises for existing routes, competitive bidding is not required. It would appear to be to the county's advantage to request competitive bids where new bus line service is to be initiated. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-577.

Competitive bidding is not required for the sale of a damaged vehicle by a town, but is required for repair work to a damaged vehicle, if an expenditure in excess of the bidding monetary limit is involved. If no bidding is required for the repair work, the town is still obligated to secure such work at a reasonable cost and would be advised to obtain cost estimates in this regard. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-560.

A town may enter into an agreement with a private firm whereby the firm will install and maintain bus stop shelters along town roads in exchange for the right to sell and display advertising on the shelters, so long as the town receives fair and adequate consideration under the agreement. Although not free from doubt, it would seem that such an arrangement is not subject to competitive bidding. Prior inconsistent opinions superseded. 1982 Op St Compt No. 82-133, 1982 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 593.

When it is known or can be reasonably anticipated that the aggregate amount to be spent on similar types of vehicle repair work will exceed $7,000 in a fiscal year, competitive bidding requirements must be followed in procuring such work. 1984 Op St Compt No. 84-39, 1984 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 99.

In determining whether a bidder, a bus company for transportation of students, is a responsible bidder, the bidder's criminal record, a criminal investigation of, or an indictment against, the bidder, can be taken into account. When the determination of non-responsibility would adversely affect a bidder's ability to carry on his business, the bidder has a cognizable due process liberty interest and is entitled to notice of the reasons for the municipality's concern over his responsibility and an opportunity to rebut the charges. 1990 Op St Compt No. 90-48, 1990 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 44.

County contracts with private bus companies to provide paratransit services in connection with program in compliance with American with Disabilities Act of 1990 fall within professional services exception to competitive bidding requirements and may be procured through request for proposals process (RFP) in accordance with county's procurement policies and procedures. 2007 Op St Compt No. 2007-1, 2007 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 1.

Except as provided in General Municipal Law, § 103(6), the purchase of used equipment which is presently being used by a county pursuant to a true lease agreement is subject to competitive bidding if it involves an expenditure in excess of the bidding threshold. 1981 Op St. Compt No. 81-110, 1981 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 770.

48. Water supply systems, and service

Where a municipality plans to have its water wells inspected and repaired if needed, the situation involves two separate projects for bidding purposes. If either such project does not exceed $2500, public bidding is not required therefor. 1960 Op St Compt No. 60-192.

A village may not purchase without bids a water truck where village's present truck is worn out. 1960 Op St Compt No. 60-905.

It would be a violation of competitive bidding requirements for a village to retain an engineering firm which in turn retains a contractor, without competitive bidding, to construct a project at the village's water pollution control facility. 1982 Op St Compt No. 82-43, 1982 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 677.

It is not clear whether a contract for the provision of hot and cold water to county heating and air-conditioning facilities by a developer who acquires and modifies a utilities plant formerly owned by the county is a professional service exempt from competitive bidding requirements. 1983 Op St Compt No. 83-229, 1983 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 257.

Agreement by town on behalf of water district for removal and retention by contractor of underground water tanks and related equipment, in compliance with county health department order and in conjunction with connection to new water supply, constitutes contract for public work subject to competitive bidding under CLS Gen Mun § 103 if it involves direct or indirect expenditure in excess of $20,000; value of tanks and equipment exchanged as consideration for removal work constitutes indirect expenditure for purposes of competitive bidding monetary threshold. 1999 Op St Compt No. 99-14, 1999 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 14.

Construction of a village water system on property owned by the village or leased by it is subject to competitive bidding requirements and other applicable statutory requirements, even though the cost will be paid either by reimbursement or directed by a private utility. 1963 Op St Compt No. 63-226.

Where city purchased labor and materials involving an expenditure in excess of competitive bidding requirements from an independent contractor, without competitive bidding, for the construction of a salt storage bin, there is, under the facts presented, at the very least, serious question as to whether competitive bidding requirements were properly complied with. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-897, 1980 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 406.

Contract with not-for-profit organization for renovation of village property, involving expenditure of moneys received from gifts and State-aid in excess of $7,000, is subject to competitive bidding requirements, though materials and supplies gratuitously provided by volunteers in connection with village public works project are not subject to competitive bidding. 1987 Op St Compt No. 87-58, 1987 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 121.

51. Consultant and management

Where the New York City charter required that contracts involving more than $2500 be founded on a sealed bid public letting, the comptroller was not arbitrary in refusing to register and certify as a valid contract a management consulting contract for $250,000 awarded by the mayor without competitive bidding and without the approval of the board of estimates. New York v Beame, 37 A.D.2d 89, 322 N.Y.S.2d 503, 1971 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3716 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1971).

52. Sales of municipal property

Trial court properly held that a county legislature acted within its purview in rejecting the sales of surplus real property that the buyers had successfully bid on at auction as under Suffolk County, N.Y., Administrative Code § A14-30(I), sales for surplus county real property had to be approved by the legislature and that requirement was clearly stated in the auction brochure; N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 103 did not prohibit the legislature's actions as the qualification that the prevention of favoritism and fraud in the awarding of competitively bid contracts involving a municipality was a permissible objective of local legislation had not been extended to the sale of surplus county property. Matter of Toussie v County of Suffolk, 26 A.D.3d 506, 809 N.Y.S.2d 573, 2006 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2384 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't), app. denied, 7 N.Y.3d 711, 823 N.Y.S.2d 770, 857 N.E.2d 65, 2006 N.Y. IV. Exceptions to Bidding Requirements

54. Change orders after award of contract

City's and Urban Development Corporation's contractual power to modify public project contract by change order was no a grant of authority to make a different or new contract without complying with competitive bidding statutes, and test to be applied was whether supplemental work ordered so varied from original plan, was of such importance, or so altered essential identity of main purpose of contract that it constituted a new undertaking requiring competitive bids. Albert Elia Bldg. Co. v New York State Urban Development Corp., 54 A.D.2d 337, 388 N.Y.S.2d 462, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 14038 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1976).

Discussion of change orders, directions, or authorizations in public works projects. 1960 Op St Compt No. 60-505.

The body or officer authorized to award a contract subject to competitive bidding is the party which should authorize change orders relating to such contract. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-543.

55. —Instances where bidding not required

Where unanticipated utility line obstructions were discovered by the contractor, and the contract between the City of Lackawanna and the contractor contains provisions to the effect that (1) no extra payment will be allowed for variations in locations of structures and conditions as shown in the contract drawings and (2) the city does not guarantee the completeness or accuracy of such drawings, the additional work involved could be the subject of a change order without competitive bidding. However, this Department is not in a position to make a conclusive determination in this regard. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-130, 1980 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 367.

Although not free from doubt, it would seem that a municipality may issue a change order without competitive bidding for additional work on a sewer rehabilitation project where the additional work is of the same nature as the original work, is performed in the same area as the original work, is necessary to efficiently complete the project and was not anticipated until work on the original project was begun. 1983 Op St Compt No. 83-52, 1983 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 430.

56. —Instances where bidding required

Contractor, who was prevented from entering any bid on construction project by virtue of city council's issuance of change order awarding work to another contractor, had standing to maintain Article 78 proceeding challenging issuance of change order as contrary to competitive bidding statutes and to restrain the making of payments to such other contractor by reason of allegedly illegal change order. Albert Elia Bldg. Co. v New York State Urban Development Corp., 54 A.D.2d 337, 388 N.Y.S.2d 462, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 14038 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1976).

Where original contract awarded by city and Urban Development Corporation covered construction of convention center and 18 months later another plaza project was accepted for development in area west of the center and the tunnel project developed six months later as an alternative to the original covered walkway submitted as part of the plaza, tunnel project could not be considered a modification of structure contemplated by publicly bid main contract and could not be awarded to the general contractor thereon by a change order in violation of competitive bidding statutes. Albert Elia Bldg. Co. v New York State Urban Development Corp., 54 A.D.2d 337, 388 N.Y.S.2d 462, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 14038 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1976).

57. Completion of work following default

Where sub-contractor has defaulted a municipality may, without re-advertising, enter into a contract, for the completion of work, with a contractor furnished by the bonding company. 1960 Op St Compt No. 60-273.

If the work of completing a public works project after forfeiture of the performance bond by a town is contracted out at a cost in excess of $2,500, it is subject to competitive bidding. 1962 Op St Compt No. 62-496.

Where a contractor has defaulted in performance of his contract, the political subdivision may, without advertising for bids, enter into a new contract for completion of the work. 1962 Op St Compt No. 62-827.

58. Emergencies

While emergency purchases do not require competitive bidding, it is nevertheless in the public interest that such purchases be made at the lowest cost to the municipality. Orange Front Paint Supply, Inc. v Scaramuccia, 59 A.D.2d 894, 399 N.Y.S.2d 52, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 14084 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1977).

In an action to recover from defendant village an amount representing the claimed reasonable value of goods sold to it by plaintiff, an order denying defendant's motion to dismiss the complaint on the ground that the sale or sales in question violated Gen Mun Law § 103(1), requiring competitive bidding in the circumstances presented, was proper where plaintiff's affidavits stated that the goods in question were ordered by defendant in four separate orders, each of which was under $3,000, which assertion was documented by four separate invoices, such affidavit and the facts therein raising a question of fact which, if proven, would render the statute inapplicable and where the affidavits also raised a question of fact as to whether bidding was possible, inasmuch as certain materials may have been requested or needed on an emergency basis. R.A.K. Industries, Div. of American Industries Sales Corp. v Saranac Lake, Inc., 100 A.D.2d 708, 474 N.Y.S.2d 626, 1984 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 17691 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1984).

Subdivision 4 of this section authorizes letting of contracts without competitive bidding only in emergency situations, which means under "unforeseen occurrences or conditions," and competitive bidding cannot be suspended by resolution declaring an emergency if none in fact exists. Rodin v Director of Purchasing, 38 Misc. 2d 362, 238 N.Y.S.2d 2, 1963 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2314 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1963); W. J. Gaskell, Inc. v Maslanka, 33 Misc. 2d 88, 225 N.Y.S.2d 94, 1962 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3988 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1962).

In order to dispense with competitive bidding requirements because of an emergency, a good faith emergency must exist and must not have been caused by dilatory behavior on the part of the municipality. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-780.

When the furnace at the Village of Goshen Filter Plant broke down last winter and could not be repaired, the Village Board was authorized to let a contract to install a new furnace without competitive bidding after it declared a public emergency; however, the emergency must have been declared in good faith and not have been caused by dilatory behavior on the part of the Village. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-266.

59. —Removal of unsafe buildings

Where two four-story buildings collapsed on September 6, leaving petitioner's adjoining building which had shared a common wall standing, but with its south wall exposed and with no support except for the rubble of the collapsed building, and a hearing was held at which point the property owner was given the chance to present evidence that the building was not dangerous and the further opportunity to repair and correct the danger after a finding that it was in fact dangerous, during which period of time the city lacked authority to demolish the building, then an emergency situation existed within the meaning and intent of section 103 of the General Municipal Law and the city's action on November 26 in ordering the demolition of the building without first advertising for bids was lawful and justified; the fact that the demolition contract included the demolition of other structures did not render the contract illegal, since all the structures were interconnected and were found to be dangerous buildings after hearings held by the city engineer; nor was the Common Council's allocation of the contract cost between the several buildings demolished, based upon the recommendation of the city engineer, arbitrary and capricious; accordingly, the special assessment levied against petitioner's property for the cost of demolition was not improper. Seven South Main Street, Inc. v Common Council of Gloversville, 95 Misc. 2d 596, 408 N.Y.S.2d 267, 1978 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2482 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1978), aff'd, Seven South Main St., Inc. v Common Council of Gloversville, 72 A.D.2d 672, 1979 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 16061 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1979).

A town may purchase gasoline and fuel oil either under State contract or through the facilities of the county (when authorized by the county legislative body) without the necessity of advertising for bids. 1968 Op St Compt No. 68-490.

The existence of an unsafe building which a city has the power to remove is not, itself, an emergency which would except the contract from competitive bidding, but certain buildings may, in fact, be in such condition as to permit a contract for removal without bidding. 1971 Op St Compt No. 71-449.

60. —Prison construction project

Where prison overcrowding problems became obvious as far back as 1971, shortfall was not as serious as projected, and closed bidding itself furnished proof of ability of state officials involved to expedite necessary work preliminary to public bidding and prepare separate bidding categories required by law, Department of Correctional Services was not confronted with situation that could be denominated emergency of type necessary to excuse compliance with notice and public bidding requirements. General Bldg. Contractors, Inc. v State, 89 Misc. 2d 279, 391 N.Y.S.2d 319, 1977 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1832 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1977).

An electrical contractor working in a public emergency situation, in which competitive bidding was waived (NY Const, art III, § 25; General Municipal Law, § 103, subd 4; L 1977, ch 101), had a valid contract with the State for electrical work at Warwick and Otisville Correctional Facilities although the Comptroller never approved the contract and the contractor was never given express authorization to begin work; the contractor believed that its contract had been accepted as the other companies with which it was working were authorized to begin work and had it not completed the underground electrical work before the other work, the State would have incurred additional costs, the State knew that it had begun to work and interposed no objection to the quality, and when a public emergency has been declared at certain correctional facilities and the contractor is under the assumption that the contract has been properly awarded, the Comptroller is authorized to audit and approve payment of said contractor's claim. Tri-Co Electric Corp. v Commissioner of General Services, 101 Misc. 2d 430, 421 N.Y.S.2d 304, 1979 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2696 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1979).

61. —Waste disposal

In a proceeding by planning consultants to recover monies allegedly due on an agreement pursuant to which the consultants organized and planned a county solid waste facility, the consultants were not entitled to a writ of mandamus to compel payment of the money where the legal authorization of the project was provided by a board of supervisors' resolution declaring that an emergency existed, thus providing the legal basis for the project to proceed in the absence of competitive bidding, where neither that resolution nor any subsequent resolution specified that the consultants were to receive the total amount they claimed for their work, and where the consultants failed to comply with the claims procedures of County Law § 369, providing that claims against a county may not be paid unless they have been audited, in that an itemized claim was submitted but no audit had been performed. Eberlin & Eberlin, P. C. v County of Putnam, 81 A.D.2d 376, 440 N.Y.S.2d 722, 1981 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10921 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1981).

No such emergency existed as to permit suspension of competitive bidding requirements on purchase of 20 garbage trucks where a Town Board knew, on June 26, that its garbage truck leases would expire at the end of the year and it would have to purchase trucks before then, proceeded to advertise for bids on a certain amount of trucks, but awarding of contracts under the bids was held up by litigation, and thereafter took no steps to call for bids for an additional 20 trucks needed until December 18, when it sought to let a contract without competitive bidding for the additional trucks on the basis of the emergency clause in this section. Rodin v Director of Purchasing, 38 Misc. 2d 362, 238 N.Y.S.2d 2, 1963 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2314 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1963).

The city council's purchase of garbage disposal equipment without competitive bidding was proper as an emergency measure, where evidence revealed no garbage collections had been made for three days and the State Department of Health had ordered the city to remove the garbage, causing the City Manager to enter into a 30 day contract with a private contractor to do so. Grimm v Troy, 60 Misc. 2d 579, 303 N.Y.S.2d 170, 1969 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1508 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1969).

The action of respondent town board in determining that a public emergency health hazard exists at a site within the town due to polychlorinated biphenyl (PCB) contamination is amply supported by evidence that the level of PCB contamination at the site greatly exceeds allowable levels under Federal regulations (40 CFR Part 761) and, accordingly, because of the existence of an imminent public health hazard respondent was authorized to contract, without public bidding, for the removal of certain PCB contaminated soil with a company licensed by the Federal Government to transport and store or otherwise dispose of PCBs (General Municipal Law, § 103, subd 4); in any event, the contract was not subject to public bidding requirements since there are only two licensed contractors in the northeast who could have disposed of the soil contaminated with PCBs and respondent secured quotes from both contractors and then awarded the contract to the one which submitted the lower quote. Vittengl v Congdon, 100 Misc. 2d 40, 417 N.Y.S.2d 587, 1979 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2410 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1979).

Alleged emergency contract for certain county services would be declared invalid for lack of competitive bidding under CLS Gen Mun § 103 where "emergency" was not unforeseen or unavoidable, but was knowingly created when county executive vetoed appropriations for such services that had been added to budget by board of legislators, and board failed to override vetoes. Civil Serv. Emples. Ass'n, Local 1000 v O'Rourke, 173 Misc. 2d 460, 660 N.Y.S.2d 929, 1997 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 262 (N.Y. Sup. Ct.), app. dismissed, aff'd, 240 A.D.2d 572, 659 N.Y.S.2d 794, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6637 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1997).

A properly let contract for public work, which is about to expire, may not be extended, even for a relatively short time, without competitive bidding. Expiration of the contract according to its own terms does not create an emergency such as is contemplated by the statutes as a condition eliminating the requirement for competitive bidding. 1977 NY Ops Atty Gen Jan 25 (Informal), 1977 N.Y. AG LEXIS 176.

63. Government vendor

Subdivision 6 of this section does not restrict the amount of a purchase which may be made without competitive bidding. 1960 NY Ops Atty Gen March 11 (Informal), 1960 N.Y. AG LEXIS 84.

A school district may make purchases of prison made goods pursuant to § 184 of the Correction Law without advertising for bids under this section. 1954 Op St Compt No. 54-6893.

Subdivision 6 of this section provides an exception to the competitive bidding requirements where surplus and second-hand supplies or equipment are purchased from the State or the Federal Government, etc., but in purchasing such items from other sources competitive bidding is required if the cost is over $1,000. 1961 Op St Compt No. 61-246.

All purchase contracts involving an expenditure of more than one thousand dollars shall be awarded to the lowest possible bidder. Purchases of items in this category may also be made through the county or the state, eliminating the need for advertisement for bids. 1967 Op St Compt No. 67-615.

A municipal cooperation agreement whereby one municipality provides garbage collection services to another municipality is not subject to competitive bidding. 1981 Op St Compt No. 81-104, 1981 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 783.

64. —Particular contracts

A school district may make purchases through the State Division of Standards and Purchase pursuant to § 104 of the General Municipal Law without advertising for bids under section 103 of such law. 1954 Op St Compt No. 54-6893.

The New York State Thruway Authority, being a "public benefit corporation", would come within section 103(6) of the General Municipal Law and, therefore, a town may purchase second-hand and surplus supplies, material or equipment from the Authority without competitive bidding. 1977 Op St Compt No. 77-238, 1977 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 151.

65. Insurance

City was not obligated to readvertise and solicit new bids for its liability insurance contract upon court's invalidating city's procedure by which it had solicited bids, where competitive bidding was not required by statute and there was no pattern of conduct on part of city in awarding contracts on strictly competitive basis. Surdell v Oswego, 91 Misc. 2d 1041, 399 N.Y.S.2d 173, 1977 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2476 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1977).

Taking out of insurance to cover risks on municipal property, or the like, is not considered a "purchase" within the coverage of this section, and no letting of insurance contracts by competitive bidding is required. 1954 Op St Compt No. 54-6527; 1955 Op St Compt No. 55-7159; 1961 Op St Compt No. 61-233.

Policies of insurance, surety bonds and the like are not subject to competitive bidding under this section. 1954 Op St Compt No. 54-6899.

Where the intent of an insurance contract is that the insurance company may provide a replacement for a damaged or destroyed municipal structure, such replacement may be constructed without competitive bidding. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-623, 1978 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 31.

66. Monopoly vendor

A contract which is subject to competitive bidding requirements and which is renewable indefinitely would unduly restrict competition. 1982 Op St Compt No. 82-183, 1982 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 540.

If a monopolistic situation exists, a town may purchase, without competitive bidding, in-place computer hardware which it had been leasing and for which software packages were developed. However, this Office has neither sufficient information nor the technical expertise necessary to make a knowledgeable determination with regard to the existence or non-existence of a monopolistic situation in this instance. 1981 Op St Compt No. 81-410, 981 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 473.

67. —Telephone company

Proposed monthly service charge for direct dialing system to be installed in county-maintained hospital was, as a charge made by telephone company as a regulated monopoly, immune from operation of the competitive bidding statute. Williams v Bryant, 53 A.D.2d 229, 385 N.Y.S.2d 425, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12512 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1976).

The General Municipal Law, providing for threshold of $3,500 for public work contracts and $1,500 for purchase contract prevailed over code provision that board of legislators shall fix a sum not to exceed $1,000 as limit above which any contract must be advertised for sealed bids where the county charter was not adopted until 1961 and the code a year later, and competitive bidding was not required as to installation of direct dialing system at the county-maintained hospital at cost of approximately $1,300. Williams v Bryant, 53 A.D.2d 229, 385 N.Y.S.2d 425, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12512 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1976).

Competitive bidding is not required under this section where the subject of the contract is controlled by a monopoly, such as in the case of telephone electric service, so that no possibility of competition exists. 1954 Op St Compt No. 54-6899.

68. —Other monopolies

Where, in a town, only one dealer is licensed to supply pasteurized milk, it is unnecessary for a school district located therein to advertise for bids on purchases of milk. 1955 Op St Compt No. 55-7581.

A county may enter into an agreement, without competitive bidding, whereby it agrees to reimburse an electric company for the cost of a submarine cable necessary to furnish electric power to county property located on an island. 1960 Op St Compt No. 60-290.

69. Health services

The furnishing of ambulance services is not a contract for "public work" nor a "purchase contract" within the meaning of Gen Mun Law § 103, but rather is one requiring special skill or training excepting it from the general competitive bidding requirement. Amherst Columbia Ambulance Service, Ltd. v Gross, 80 A.D.2d 719, 437 N.Y.S.2d 137, 1981 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10437 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1981).

County medical center did not act improperly in setting aside all bids for rental of special hospital beds after discovering inadequacy in bid specifications that precluded center from ascertaining which vendor was lowest bidder; moreover, center properly chose instead to lease beds under joint repurchasing program authorized by CLS Pub Health § 2803-a(2), rather than to advertise for new bids, since CLS Gen Mun § 103(8) exempts municipal hospital from complying with competitive bidding requirements when it makes joint purchases under § 2803-a. Kinetic Concepts, Inc. v County of Erie, 172 A.D.2d 1031, 569 N.Y.S.2d 290, 1991 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6289 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1991).

Contract for supplying unit dosage medication to two extended care nursing facilities called for professional knowledge and skill and, as a matter of law, was not subject to the requirement of competitive bidding for public contracts. Goldwin-Kent, Inc. v County of Broome, 107 Misc. 2d 722, 435 N.Y.S.2d 1011, 1981 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2090 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1981).

A county health department may contract with a laboratory for examination of sanitation samples of water and milk without advertising for competitive bids. 1960 Op St Compt No. 60-674.

A municipal hospital may enter into a contract for the purchase of goods, supplies or services with a hospital association and such contract is not subject to competitive bidding requirements. Such contracts must be entered into in compliance with the provisions of Chapter V of Article 10 of the Codes, Rules and Regulations of the State of New York. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-774.

While in the absence of a judicial decision or statutory clarification the issue is not free from doubt, it would seem that Niagara County may provide transportation services for physically and mentally handicapped individuals who are Medicaid recipients, to and from "Subchapter C" psychiatric day treatment programs, without compliance with formal competitive bidding requirements. However, the most prudent course for the County may be to follow competitive bidding procedures. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-466.

Municipal hospitals may participate in group purchasing programs operated by hospital associations. Purchases made pursuant to such programs are exempt from normal statutory competitive bidding requirements. 1982 Op St Compt No. 82-198, 1982 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 525.

Municipal nursing home may participate in group purchasing programs operated pursuant to CLS Pub Health L § 2803-a; purchases made pursuant to such programs are exempt from statutory competitive bidding requirements. 1989 Op St Compt No. 89-2, 1989 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 5.

Purchases by county on behalf of "municipal hospital" or for county nutrition program that receives federal, state or local government funding may be made pursuant to joint agreements under CLS Pub Health § 2803-a under exception to competitive bidding in CLS Gen Mun § 103(8). 2004 Op St Compt No. 2004-9, 2004 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 9.

70. Professional services

In action to annul support management services contract for custodial and maintenance needs as violative of competitive bidding requirements of CLS Gen Mun § 103, court erred in granting summary judgment voiding agreement and enjoining school district from entering into any similar contracts without public bidding since district's papers raised material question of fact as to whether services to be performed under agreement involved specialized skills, expertise, and exercise of judgment and discretion, so as to fall within "professional services" exception to competitive bidding requirements. Schulz v Cobleskill-Richmondville Cent. Sch. Dist. Bd. of Educ., 197 A.D.2d 247, 610 N.Y.S.2d 694, 1994 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4143 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1994), aff'd, Schulz v State, 217 A.D.2d 393, 634 N.Y.S.2d 780, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12301 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1995).

Management agreement by which contractor assumed responsibility for managing city's water system did not violate competitive bidding requirements of CLS Gen Mun § 103, and thus Article 78 proceeding by prospective contractor failed to state cause of action on that ground, where exception to competitive bidding requirements for contracts for services requiring specialized skills or training, including professional services or other services requiring technical expertise, was applicable to contracts for provision of management services. Fawcett v City of Buffalo, 275 A.D.2d 954, 713 N.Y.S.2d 610, 2000 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 9624 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2000), app. denied, 96 N.Y.2d 701, 722 N.Y.S.2d 793, 745 N.E.2d 1015, 2001 N.Y. LEXIS 20 (N.Y. 2001).

Agreement which County of Nassau (New York) entered into with entity that agreed to serve as curator at a museum complex was one requiring the provision of specialized services not subject to the statutory competitive bidding requirements, and was valid. Giustino v County of Nassau, 306 A.D.2d 376, 760 N.Y.S.2d 862, 2003 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7112 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2003).

Contract for architectural services in connection with capital projects for construction, reconstruction and repair of district facilities was not subject to competitive bidding requirements, and architect's fee was properly based on customary charges for projects of like nature and magnitude. 1999 Op Comm Ed No. 14,128, 1999 NY Educ. Dept. LEXIS 268.

Certain aspects of a contract for the supervision, operation and maintenance of a municipal wastewater treatment facility would seem to qualify under the professional services exception to competitive bidding. Whether the entire contract qualifies under the exception is a question of fact. Opinion No. 80-672 is superseded to the extent inconsistent. 1982 Op St Compt No. 82-290, 1982 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 426.

Since it is not clear whether long distance telephone service would be found by the courts to be exempt from competitive bidding as a "professional service" under General Municipal Law § 103, the most prudent course would be to comply with the provisions of this section. 1985 Op St Compt No. 85-66, 1985 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 76.

Services in connection with preparation of title abstract fall within professional services exception to competitive bidding requirements. 1987 Op St Compt No. 87-21, 1987 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 163.

Contract involving both purchase and professional services may qualify under professional services exception if two criteria are met: (1) professional services component of contract is primary or predominant part of acquisition and (2) there is "inextricable integration" of professional services and "physical components"; in order to determine whether contract primarily involves professional services, "total character" of agreement must be examined to ascertain its essential character or focus; in case of acquisition of both computer software and professional computer services, following factors may be pertinent in making this determination: amount of time and effort involved in tailoring prepackaged or canned software, degree of customizing necessary, amount of time and effort involved in any personnel training services provided by vendor, and relative cost of prepackaged or canned software and services, respectively. 1988 Op St Compt No. 88-35, 1988 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 31.

Contract for publicity and promotional services involving development and implementation of marketing strategies would fall within professional services exception to competitive bidding; such services, however, must be procured in accordance with municipality's procurement polices and procedures. 1992 Op St Compt No. 92-33, 1992 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 20.

72. —Tax map preparation

The requirements of this section with respect to competitive bidding on contracts for public works and purchase contracts involving expenditures above specified amounts do not apply to contracts for professional services requiring special skill or training, such as the preparation of a tax map. 1961 Op St Compt No. 61-246.

Competitive bidding is not required in the award of a contract for the preparation of a tax map and the appraisal of real property for the purposes of taxation, although the amount of the contract involves an expenditure in excess of $2,500. 1967 Op St Compt No. 67-373.

73. —Water surveys

A contract for an underground water survey, which involves such services as selecting the most probable sites, taking core samples and analyzing the same, drilling test wells, and demonstrating and predicting the maximum yield of water and, when requested, filing a bond guaranteeing such results, is a contract of services, requiring the application of special skills and professional training and such a contract is not subject to competitive bidding. 1959 Op St Compt No. 59-851.

Trustees of Westchester Joint Water Works may contract for engineering services for a water survey without advertising for bids. 1964 Op St Compt No. 64-520.

74. —Miscellaneous services

A contemplated 20-year management contract whereby a county, which was proposing to construct a domed stadium, whereby a corporation would provide promotional and management services, was exempt from competitive bidding where the executive officer of such corporation was the only man who ever had full responsibility for management of domed stadium, such proposed contract falling within an exception of the General Municipal Law § 103(1). Hurd v Erie County, 34 A.D.2d 289, 310 N.Y.S.2d 953, 1970 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4851 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1970).

"Creative art work" required in connection with the printing of a brochure need not be submitted to bid. 1974 Op St Compt No. 74-413.

Stenographic services for the county attorney's office for examinations before trials and for hearings in connection with lawsuits involving the county constitute professional or technical services and may be obtained without seeking competitive bids. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-287, 1980 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 279.

Under certain circumstances, a municipality may contract with a construction management firm to, among other things, coordinate a public works project, provide consultant services throughout the various stages of the project and guarantee a maximum cost of the project, for a fixed fee. Such a contract would appear not to be subject to competitive bidding requirements since it would seem to be in the nature of a professional service. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-5, 1980 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 396.

A contract for the printing of a yearbook which is paid for with school district moneys is subject to competitive bidding requirements as a public works contract. A board of supervisors may employ a certified public accountant to conduct an audit without advertising for bids. 1953 Op St Compt No. 53-6420.

75. Concessions, franchises or licenses

Even though competitive bidding is not required in granting a franchise since the award of the franchise does not involve the payment or expenditure of funds out of the city treasury (General Municipal Law, § 103; New York City Charter, ch 13, § 341), the Board of Estimate of the City of New York did not act arbitrarily and capriciously in declining to extend petitioner's interim three-year franchise to construct bus stop shelters which display advertising material and instead awarding a long-term franchise to the highest bidder upon terms and conditions more advantageous to the city that petitioner could not meet since the board has the duty to obtain the best terms possible for the city and the fact that petitioner pioneered the bus stop shelter program does not entitle it to be granted the franchise on its own terms; in view of the active interest in the bus stop shelter program, the board reasonably determined to seek proposals from those interested based upon the terms and conditions formulated by the board's Bureau of Franchises. BusTop Shelters, Inc. v New York, 99 Misc. 2d 198, 415 N.Y.S.2d 726, 1978 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2905 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1978).

It would appear that the granting of a concession to a private contractor to provide cafeteria services at a county community college is neither a purchase nor a public works contract. However, in light of recent decisions, the issue is not free from doubt. The most prudent course would be to advertise for competitive bids. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-473.

It would appear that the granting of a license or concession to sell refreshments in a town recreational facility to a local youth hockey organization is neither a "purchase" nor a "public works contract" subject to the competitive bidding requirements of section 103 of the General Municipal Law. However, in light of recent decisions, the issue is not free from doubt. The most prudent course would be to advertise for competitive bids. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-491.

When, at the time a contract is entered into, there is in fact only one source from which to acquire goods or services, competitive bidding is not required. 1983 Op St Compt No. 83-67, 1983 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 418.

Whether or not contract for patented sand injection services is exempt from competitive bidding under sole source exception or professional service exception is better left to appropriate local officials for resolution. 1986 Op St Compt No. 86-25, 1986 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 150.

77. Utility interference contracts

Private utility interference work is not "public work" under CLS Gen Mun § 103(1) for purpose of determining lowest responsible bidder by combining amounts bid for street reconstruction work and utility interference work inasmuch as it was not "public work" prior to creation of joint bidding technique, it is inherently private and for essential benefit of utility companies, which have obligation to pay all costs associated with protecting their facilities during street repair projects as precondition to "privilege" of using city streets for installing and maintaining utility equipment, and legislature in no way intended or authorized city to unilaterally and informally determine, define and alter contours of "public work." Diamond Asphalt Corp. v Sander, 92 N.Y.2d 244, 678 N.Y.S.2d 567, 700 N.E.2d 1203, 1998 N.Y. LEXIS 1828 (N.Y. 1998).

In satisfaction of CLS Gen Mun § 103(1), which provides that all contracts for "public work" must be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder "except as otherwise expressly provided by an act of the legislature or by a local law adopted prior to [September 1, 1953]", bypass contractor selection authority formerly vested in the now abolished Board of Estimate by the old City Charter does not survive solely as the responsibility of the Mayor of the City of New York under New York City Charter § 313(b)(2). Diamond Asphalt Corp. v Sander, 92 N.Y.2d 244, 678 N.Y.S.2d 567, 700 N.E.2d 1203, 1998 N.Y. LEXIS 1828 (N.Y. 1998).

78. Miscellaneous exceptions

The competitive bid statutes, which require the submission of a non-collusion certificate and the award of public contracts to the lowest responsible bidder, are not applicable to a "turnkey" low-income development project. Marino v Ramapo, 68 Misc. 2d 44, 326 N.Y.S.2d 162, 1971 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1472 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1971).

Since towing services require special skills or training, and contracts for such services are not subject to competitive bidding requirements, a city was not required by Gen Mun Law § 103 to award the contract to the lowest responsible bidder, notwithstanding the fact that it had advertised for and accepted bids for such services. Mathalia Motors, Inc. v Oneida, 105 Misc. 2d 843, 433 N.Y.S.2d 548, 1980 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2625 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1980), aff'd, 84 A.D.2d 637, 449 N.Y.S.2d 448, 1981 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 15756 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1981).

Under Gen Mun Law § 103 and the New York City Charter, Ch 13, § 341, competitive bidding is ordinarily not required as a prerequisite to the granting of a lease by the city, since the award of the lease does not involve the payment or expenditure of funds out of the city treasury. However, the Bureau of Ferry and General Aviation Operations would be directed to prepare a request for proposal which would fully set forth the terms and conditions of bids for a lease of space at an airport and the reasons why bids would be refused, where the initial request for proposal issued by the Bureau was uncertain and unclear and subject to the arbitrary, personal, and subjective discretion of the Bureau in awarding the lease. O'Henry's Film Works, Inc. v Bureau of Ferry & General Aviation Operations, 111 Misc. 2d 464, 444 N.Y.S.2d 509, 1981 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3296 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1981).

Contracts for implementation of land-based sludge management plan fell within "special case" exception of NYC Charter § 312(b)(1)(ii), and therefore competitive bidding was not required, where evaluating competing proposals required judgment by Board of Estimate due to city's need to seek design of flexible sludge disposal system. United States v New York, 972 F.2d 464, 1992 U.S. App. LEXIS 18654 (2d Cir. N.Y. 1992).

Where the State Department of Transportation has to replace municipal utilities located in the right-of-way of a state highway and contracts the work out, such procedure is not a violation of the bidding statutes which require municipalities to award their public works contracts pursuant to competitive bidding. 1967 Op St Compt No. 67-863.

Subject to pertinent civil service requirements, a joint recreation commission may engage independent contractors to perform maintenance and directorial services. It would seem that the directorial services would not be subject to competitive bidding requirements. 1981 Op St Compt. No. 81-108, 1981 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 768.

Services provided by volunteers in constructing a municipal or school district project are not subject to competitive bidding. However, materials utilized on the project must be acquired pursuant to competitive bidding requirements. 1982 Op St Compt No. 82-324, 1982 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 404.

Even when it is clearly established that professional service exception is applicable and formal competitive bidding under General Municipal Law § 103 is not required, in order to assure that contract award is made in best interest of taxpayers, it is generally advisable for municipality to seek competition anyway. 1986 Op St Compt No. 86-25, 1986 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 150.

Provision in Subdivision 4 of CLS Highway Law § 142-c, which provides that work authorized by that section shall be performed upon such terms and conditions as may be agreed upon by town board and village board, clearly anticipates negotiated agreement between two governing boards, and therefore represents express statement by State Legislature that agreements entered into pursuant to § 142-c are not subject to competitive bidding requirements of CLS Gen Mun Laws § 103. 1989 Op St Compt No. 89-57, 1990 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 1.

Competitive bidding requirements of CLS Gen Mun §§ 101 and 103 are not violated by use of town employees to perform work in connection with construction of town salt storage shed, but purchases of materials and supplies for work would be subject to competitive bidding requirements if it is known or reasonably expected that competitive bidding monetary threshold for purchases will be exceeded; if it is not known or reasonably expected that competitive bidding threshold will be exceeded, town would be required to make such purchases in accordance with its procurement policies and procedures. 1999 Op St Compt No. 99-2, 1999 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 4.

79. Combining purchases or work into single contract

Purchases of the same or similar nature must be combined in one set of specifications. In order to prevent abuses of the competitive bidding system, this section may not be evaded by the device of letting separate contracts, each falling below the amount required for competitive bidding. 1959 Op St Compt No. 59-647.

Discussion of which items must be lumped together for bidding purposes and necessity of competitive bidding where a municipality purchases additional items not in excess of $1,000 after a contract for similar articles has been awarded and consummated. 1964 Op St Compt No. 64-436.

A county may for competitive bidding purposes combine two public works projects into one contract. 1967 Op St Compt No. 67-515.

Office machines which are normally handled by one manufacturer or vendor should be considered in the aggregate as a single purchase. 1967 Op St Compt No. 67-971.

A town may award as a single project, drainage work for a drainage district, and highway repair work to be undertaken in the same street or streets, if the specifications are prepared in such a manner that the appropriate charges for the drainage work will be charged only against the drainage district and the appropriate charges for the highway repairs will be charged only against the proper highway fund. 1968 Op St Compt No. 68-369.

80. —Dividing purchases or work into separate contracts, generally

In an action to recover from defendant village an amount representing the claimed reasonable value of goods sold to it by plaintiff, an order denying defendant's motion to dismiss the complaint on the ground that the sale or sales in question violated Gen Mun Law § 103(1), requiring competitive bidding in the circumstances presented, was proper where plaintiff's affidavits stated that the goods in question were ordered by defendant in four separate orders, each of which was under $3,000, which assertion was documented by four separate invoices, such affidavit and the facts therein raising a question of fact which, if proven, would render the statute inapplicable and where the affidavits also raised a question of fact as to whether bidding was possible, inasmuch as certain materials may have been requested or needed on an emergency basis. R.A.K. Industries, Div. of American Industries Sales Corp. v Saranac Lake, Inc., 100 A.D.2d 708, 474 N.Y.S.2d 626, 1984 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 17691 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1984).

Discussion relating to necessity for competitive bidding on contracts for the purchase of milk and janitorial supplies. Purchases may not be split to avoid requirement for competitive bidding. 1953 Op St Compt No. 53-6440.

The splitting of purchases to evade the bidding requirements of the law would nullify the effect of the statute if permitted. 1955 Op St Compt No. 55-7104.

Competitive bidding laws are not circumvented if purchase contracts contain separate items totaling less than $1,000. What is in effect one job or one item may not be divided into separate contracts. 1955 Op St Compt No. 55-7299.

Where more than one thousand dollars of an item of supply is known to be required by a municipality for a fiscal year, a series of contracts for less than a year's needs may each be competitively let. Specifications may require delivery at periodic intervals. 1956 Op St Compt No. 56-7847.

81. —Particular projects

Over a period of less than 1 year, plaintiff sold to defendant town some $11,000 worth of road materials. Held: the transaction did not contravene the competitive bidding requirements of this section, since it was handled by 54 separate contracts, each of which was less than $1,000 in amount. Furthermore, the town, having gained by the delivery of the materials, was estopped from denying the authority of its superintendent of highways to make the purchases. Rason Asphalt, Inc. v Oyster Bay, 6 A.D.2d 810, 175 N.Y.S.2d 302, 1958 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5643 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1958).

A public works project in excess of $2,500 for landscaping village property cannot be broken into separate contracts, each less than $2,500, for the purpose of avoiding competitive bidding. 1962 Op St Compt No. 62-565.

Where proposed curb and sidewalk construction will cost over $2,500 in the aggregate, competitive bidding may not be avoided by splitting the project into several portions. 1963 Op St Compt No. 63-701.

A town may not pay all or part of a claim for a certain item purchased by the town highway superintendent, without competitive bidding on five separate occasions even though one of the purchases was for less than $1,000. Under the circumstances, where town officers know, or have reason to believe, that the purchase of a certain item of supply will amount to more than $1,000 in a fiscal year, all purchase contracts for that item must be competitively let. In the absence of an agreement required by Section 284 of the Highway Law, expenditures for highway repair and improvement are illegal. 1968 Op St Compt No. 68-315.

A town may divide the single public works project of renovating a building for use as town offices into components so long as contracts for each component are subject to competitive bidding. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-211.

82. Standardized equipment

A municipality may specify a particular article or type of equipment which it regards as its general standard, but must provide that any other manufacturer of a similar object may meet the specifications, if his product is reasonably equivalent to that mentioned as standard. 1959 NY Ops Atty Gen Aug 14 (Informal), 1959 N.Y. AG LEXIS 192.

A municipality may legally specify and award a contract for a particular type of equipment or material to the exclusion of others where local geographic, atmospheric or other conditions require the use of the, and only the type of, equipment specified. 1960 Op St Compt NO. 60-543.

Where a political subdivision is required to award its public works contracts pursuant to competitive bidding requirements, it may not legally specify the product of a certain manufacturer to the exclusion of all other comparable products, except where such a designation is required for the public interest. 1968 Op St Compt No. 68-501.

Assuming there is a valid reason for standardizing, there is no reason, as a matter of law, why a village board would be prohibited from standardizing with regard to a particular make of fire equipment where such equipment will be custom made for the village. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-570.

83. —Sufficiency of resolution specifying standardized equipment

Where a call for bids by a town desiring to purchase a clamshell bucket excavator "Bucyrus Erie Model B22 or Equal," in accordance with detailed specifications and proposal sheets, included specifications which only the Bucyrus-Erie crane could meet, the words "or equal" were meaningless, since it was determined in advance that only a Bucyrus-Erie crane would be purchased, and, under subd. 5 of this section, acceptance of bids should have been preceded by a two-thirds vote to that effect with a full explanation in the resolution of the reasons for its adoption. Hodge & Hammond, Inc. v Burns, 23 Misc. 2d 318, 202 N.Y.S.2d 133, 1960 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3194 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1960).

Where it is intended to take bids on standardized equipment, the standardization resolution cannot be passed subsequent to the advertisement for bids and is invalid if it specifies more than one make or kind of equipment. 1961 Op St Compt No. 61-344.

A two-thirds vote of the municipal governing board is not necessary to rescind a standardization resolution. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-450, 1978 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 108.

In evaluating the reasons of a proposed standardization resolution that recited that it was desirous to maintain a match of all tires on loaders, that a particular make of tire was a standard in the industry, and that the Commission of Public Works and Public Works Committee recommended that standard, the opinion in 1958 Op St Compt 58-484 is a guide. That opinion stated that a standardization resolution should declare why, as a matter of fact and not mere opinion, the efficiency or economy will be served; also stated was that while carefully drawn specifications will normally meet most situations, a resolution reciting that a particular make of equipment is specified because a certain official prefers it, or because in his opinion it would be more economical than other makes, would be patently insufficient. As to the proposed standardization resolution, the governing body should consider whether "a match of all tires on "the loaders" result in efficiency or economy because, as a matter of fact, such a match is necessary for the operation of the loader, or whether several makes of tires may be efficiently or economically utilized together. 1990 Op St Compt No. 90-45, 1990 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 41.

84. —Provision for use of equivalent materials

Where a town calls for bids seeking to purchase a designated make of machine "or equal," it should not, in passing on bids submitted with respect to other makes, accept without question a report of its engineer favoring acceptance of a bid on the specified make without inquiry into performance of other makes included in the bidding, their relative durability, upkeep cost, etc. Hodge & Hammond, Inc. v Burns, 23 Misc. 2d 318, 202 N.Y.S.2d 133, 1960 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3194 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1960).

Specifications that do not provide for equivalencies exclude full competition and where specifications are drawn in that fashion such are defective and do not comply with the requirements of General Municipal Law § 103. Fonseca v Board of Education, 58 Misc. 2d 223, 294 N.Y.S.2d 952, 1968 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1179 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1968).

85. —Particular contracts

After a town board has duly adopted a resolution for standardization of certain equipment and issued a call for bids on a specified type and make of snow plow, an indictment for conspiracy to obstruct justice cannot be sustained merely because the exclusive distributor for such equipment in the county requests the manufacturer and another distributor in adjacent territory to bid, so that his bid will not be the only one. People v Bareika, 11 A.D.2d 292, 203 N.Y.S.2d 355, 1960 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8395 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1960).

Board of education was not required by CLS Gen Mun § 103(5) to obtain vote of $^{3}/_{5}$ of its governing body before specifying particular type of sand injection machine to be used by bidders on contract for renovation of high school athletic field, since contract was for public work and not for purchase of equipment, material or supplies, and thus § 103(5) did not apply. In re K & M Turf Maintenance, 166 A.D.2d 445, 560 N.Y.S.2d 673, 1990 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11846 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1990).

Specifications for school construction project referring to named products but making general provision for the submission of bids based on products other than those named in the specifications was adequate means of complying with requirement of General Municipal Law § 103 that the specification should provide for use of equivalent products. Op Comm Ed No. 8946.

Since school board advertised for bids only 12 days before bid opening, contractor could not have reasonably complied with requirement that it provide information about substitutions of materials described in specifications at least 7 days prior to opening, and since board denied contractor opportunity of using equivalent materials, in violation of General Municipal Law § 103, contract must be rebid. In re A-E Architectural Materials, Inc., Op Comm Ed No. 9538.

In calling for bids on bituminous materials, a municipality may specify such materials as conform to general state specifications, and may also specify a patented mix, but should specify the mix in general specifications or, if a trade name is used, an "equivalency" clause. 1962 Op St Compt No. 62-91.

Discussion concerning the standardization of voting machines. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-812.

A village must ask for formal bids where it wishes to purchase a machine costing $2,450, for cleaning its sanitary sewer mains, even though that is the only machine made that said village can afford to purchase and that will fulfill its needs. 1958 Op St Comp No. 58-372.

86. —Miscellaneous

After a town board has duly adopted a resolution for standardization of certain equipment and issued a call for bids on a specified type and make of snow plow, an indictment for conspiracy to obstruct justice cannot be sustained merely because the exclusive distributor for such equipment in the county requests the manufacturer and another distributor in adjacent territory to bid, so that his bid will not be the only one. People v Bareika, 11 A.D.2d 292, 203 N.Y.S.2d 355, 1960 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8395 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1960).

After a resolution is adopted by a Town Board pursuant to subd. 5 of this section, for standardization of equipment and supplies, nothing in this section requires that an advertisement for bids on equipment, specifying the equipment desired according to standard, call for three bids. People v Bareika, 11 A.D.2d 292, 203 N.Y.S.2d 355, 1960 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8395 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1960).

The advertisement for bids on a fire truck may not specify a particular make of truck where the sole reason is that an official believes it is more economical, or better built, or more durable than other makes. A particular make of equipment may be specified only upon the adoption of a standardization resolution. 1958 Op St Compt No. 58-484.

Discussion of preparing specifications for the purchase of secondhand equipment from a private corporation. 1958 Op St Compt No. 58-1049.

While, pursuant to subd. 5 of this section, added in 1957, noncompetitive bidding specifications may now be drawn for purposes of standardization, the provisions of the Onondaga County Purchasing Act as to procedure to be followed in connection with "standardization purchases" must still be followed in connection with purchases by that county. 1961 Op St Compt No. 61-302.

V. Contract Specifications

87. Sufficiency of specifications

In an Art 78 proceeding by potential bidders on a contract for a "County Impound Garage," the bid specifications set forth in the bid proposal were ambiguous and the county would be enjoined from awarding any contracts based upon the bids submitted pursuant to the proposal, where the specifications created an element of uncertainty with respect to the rights and obligations concerning unclaimed impounded vehicles, which uncertainty raised the danger that bidding would be discouraged or that bids would be unnecessarily inflated. Sagamore Auto Body, Inc. v County of Nassau, 104 A.D.2d 818, 480 N.Y.S.2d 143, 1984 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 20304 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1984).

88. Specifications that bar or impede competition

Since a contract awarded without the advertising for bids required by the above statute would be illegal, a contract will also be illegal where the municipality accomplishes the same result by so fixing or manipulating the specifications thereof as to shut out competitive bidding or permit unfair advantage or favoritism. Gerzof v Sweeney, 16 N.Y.2d 206, 264 N.Y.S.2d 376, 211 N.E.2d 826, 1965 N.Y. LEXIS 1040 (N.Y. 1965), reh'g denied, 17 N.Y.2d 549, 1966 N.Y. LEXIS 1945 (N.Y. 1966).

Competitive bidding statutes do not compel unfettered competition, but do demand that specifications that exclude class of would-be bidders be both rational and essential to public interest. Associated Gen. Contrs. v New York State Thruway Auth. (In re New York State Chapter), 88 N.Y.2d 56, 643 N.Y.S.2d 480, 666 N.E.2d 185, 1996 N.Y. LEXIS 314 (N.Y. 1996).

When public entity adopts specification in letting of public work contract that impedes competition to bid for such work, it must be rationally related to twin purposes of protecting public fisc by obtaining best work at lowest possible price, and preventing favoritism, improvidence, fraud, and corruption in awarding of public contracts. Associated Gen. Contrs. v New York State Thruway Auth. (In re New York State Chapter), 88 N.Y.2d 56, 643 N.Y.S.2d 480, 666 N.E.2d 185, 1996 N.Y. LEXIS 314 (N.Y. 1996).

General Municipal Law § 103, subd 1 is violated not only when a contract is awarded without advertisement for bids but also when a municipality accomplishes the same result by so manipulating the specifications as to preclude true competitive bidding. Resco Equipment & Supply Corp. v City Council, Watertown, 34 A.D.2d 1088, 313 N.Y.S.2d 74, 1970 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4374 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1970).

Competitive bidding provisions of general municipal law are violated when municipality manipulates bidding specification so as to preclude true competitive bidding. Atlantic Tug & Equipment Co. v Tonawanda, 45 A.D.2d 916, 357 N.Y.S.2d 303, 1974 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4481 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1974).

Any ordinance, local law, contract requirement or bid specification which establishes precondition to award of contract to lowest responsible bidder is inconsistent with CLS Gen Mun § 103, and therefore invalid, unless its establishment as precondition is expressly authorized by act of legislature or by local law adopted prior to September 1, 1953. Empire State Chapter of the Associated Builders & Contractors v County of Niagara, 161 Misc. 2d 537, 615 N.Y.S.2d 841, 1994 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 281 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1994).

A prime contract entered into between the plaintiff contractor and defendant school board was void and illegal, where after the lowest bidder withdrew its bid, the contract was awarded to plaintiff, the next lowest bidder, and simultaneously and without authority the board changed the specifications of the contract to omit part of the work. Fabrizio & Martin, Inc. v Board of Education, 290 F. Supp. 945, 1968 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 11583 (S.D.N.Y. 1968).

A board of fire commissioners may not properly submit specifications in advertising for bids for a new fire truck which specifications can be met by but one manufacturer. 1954 NY Ops Atty Gen May 24 (Informal), 1954 N.Y. AG LEXIS 283.

Board of Cooperative Educational Services (BOCES) acted within its discretion in awarding spring water bid by category where invitation for bids (IFB) clearly stated that bids would be awarded by category, although BOCES also reserved right to award bids in other formats; also, it was reasonable for BOCES to obtain all of water products from sole vendor who had bid for all 8 items in category, who had submitted matching or lowest bid for 7 out of 8 items, and who was only $0.50 per case higher for one item representing only 22 cases per month or 13 percent of total category. 2004 Op Comm Ed No. 15,032, 2004 NY Educ. Dept. LEXIS 60.

Specifications may not be drawn by a municipality in such a manner as to exclude all but one bidder. 1955 Op St Compt No. 55-7413.

Where specifications are drawn solely for the purpose of insuring that a certain vendor will be the successful bidder, such specifications are illegal. 1967 Op St Compt No. 67-583.

Where equipment is purchased pursuant to competitive bidding requirements, specifications may not be drawn in such a way nor, for purposes of determining the lowest responsible bidder, may bids be weighted in such a way as will reflect the cost and/or incidence of repairs as well as the purchase price. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-628, 1978 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 34.

89. —Acceptance of equivalents or substitutes

Unsuccessful bidder on contract for high school athletic field renovations could not persuasively assert that bid proposal's specification was illegal under CLS Gen Mun § 103(1) because it required use of patented sand injection machine where (1) bid proposal stated that listing of items by manufacturer or brand name only specified description and quality, and was not intended to limit competitive bidding, (2) record contained proof that board of education was willing to accept substitute equivalents, and (3) board's conduct in investigating and evaluating bids was consistent with its expressed intention to entertain bids involving substitutes of equal quality. In re K & M Turf Maintenance, 166 A.D.2d 445, 560 N.Y.S.2d 673, 1990 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11846 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1990).

Unsuccessful vendor's failure to advise Board of Cooperative Educational Services (BOCES) in bid documents that it was submitting substitute "equal" or "equivalent" product for other brand names listed in sports drink category precluded vendor from belatedly challenging award on such basis. 2004 Op Comm Ed No. 15,032, 2004 NY Educ. Dept. LEXIS 60.

90. —Brand name or single source

If competitive bid purports to establish what are essentially single source items within generic category, there must be sound and essential reasons for such discriminatory contracting that are documented in procurement record and based on objective criteria. 2004 Op Comm Ed No. 15,032, 2004 NY Educ. Dept. LEXIS 60.

Where a proper standardization resolution has been duly adopted, a municipality may specify a particular brand name or make in its bid specifications to the exclusion of all others. 1982 Op St Compt No. 82-44, 1982 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 678.

A municipality, in its bid specifications, may call for services involving a patented process available to only licensed contractors if required in the public interest. If the services may be obtained from only one source, competitive bidding is not required. 1983 Op St Compt No. 83-105, 1983 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 381.

91. —Discounts for early payment

The practice, whereby a school district includes in its specifications for a schoolhouse a provision for the payment of a bonus of $1,000 for each and every week that the schoolhouse is completed prior to a specified date, is one which this Department cannot recommend. 1958 Op St Compt No. 58-667.

A municipality may include in its specifications a provision requesting a discount to be quoted for payment made within a specified period of time. 1967 Op St Compt No. 67-935.

An unsolicited discount for prompt payment may not be considered in determining the low bid. 1967 Op St Compt No. 67-935.

92. —Domestic materials to be used

Resolution of county legislature requiring that only domestic manufactured steel could be used in the construction of a proposed county building was invalid because of its conflict with the competitive bidding requirements of General Municipal Law § 103. American Institute for Imported Steel, Inc. v County of Erie, 32 A.D.2d 231, 302 N.Y.S.2d 61, 1969 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3571 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1969).

"Buy American" resolution adopted by the county legislature (requiring all steel used in public construction be purchased from manufacturers in the United States, whenever practicable) violated state statute requiring competitive bidding and the award of a public contract to the lowest bidder. American Institute for Imported Steel, Inc. v County of Erie, 58 Misc. 2d 1059, 297 N.Y.S.2d 602, 1968 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 986 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1968), rev'd, 32 A.D.2d 231, 302 N.Y.S.2d 61, 1969 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3571 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1969).

93. —Labor provisions

City failed to make requisite showing to justify use of project labor agreement (PLA) as part of competitive bidding process on public works contract where there was no detailed projection of cost savings as result of PLA, there was no history of labor unrest that threatened success of project, and city's general concern that project be completed in timely manner to comply with funding requirements and deadlines imposed by New York State Department of Environmental Conservation, without more, was insufficient basis on which to impose such exceptional specification as PLA. Empire State Chapter of Associated Builders & Contrs. v City of Oswego, 239 A.D.2d 875, 659 N.Y.S.2d 672, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6233 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1997).

Project Labor Agreement (PLA) incorporated in bid specifications for county court facilities project did not violate competitive bidding laws or policy where, inter alia, (1) inclusion of no-strike clause in PLA would negate possibility of strike-induced delays that could disrupt abbreviated time schedule of project and thus imperil availability of $29 million in state funds, (2) elimination of potential labor unrest through use of PLA would avoid fixed fees of $41,400 per month payable to project's construction manager and architect, (3) use of PLA would result in savings of $2,111,250 by permitting designation of working forepersons and by excluding morning and afternoon work breaks, and (4) PLA contained no provisions that discriminated against nonunion contractors. Albany Specialties v County of Orange, 240 A.D.2d 739, 662 N.Y.S.2d 773, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7147 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1997), app. denied, 1997 N.Y. LEXIS 4088 (N.Y. Dec. 2, 1997).

Mere fact that county construction manager's report recommending use of Project Labor Agreement (PLA) in bid specifications for county court facilities project bore strong resemblance to earlier report by him analyzing use of PLA for county correctional facility project did not render report invalid or suspect where similarities between 2 reports were inevitable, given closeness in time and location of 2 projects and their common labor market. Albany Specialties v County of Orange, 240 A.D.2d 739, 662 N.Y.S.2d 773, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7147 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1997), app. denied, 1997 N.Y. LEXIS 4088 (N.Y. Dec. 2, 1997).

County construction manager's report recommending use of Project Labor Agreement (PLA) in bid specifications for county court facilities project in order to avoid potential labor strife did not suggest "capitulation to extortion," because avoidance of delays and work stoppages occasioned by labor strife is legitimate consideration in deciding whether to enter into PLA. Albany Specialties v County of Orange, 240 A.D.2d 739, 662 N.Y.S.2d 773, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7147 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1997), app. denied, 1997 N.Y. LEXIS 4088 (N.Y. Dec. 2, 1997).

City of Rochester fair employment practices provisions permitting submission of an alternate proposal for fair employment practices would have to give way to bid conditions adopted pursuant to Executive Law order of United States Secretary of Labor requiring bidders to submit the required affirmative action program as a part of its bid thus, bidder seeking to have award to competitor set aside was ineligible to receive the award where he was not a signatory to city equal opportunities plan. Le Chase Constr. Corp. v Rochester, 74 Misc. 2d 825, 346 N.Y.S.2d 20, 1972 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2119 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1972).

The law permits a board the discretion of selecting the lowest responsible bidder on a public contract based on any reasonable standards or criteria and a court will not define or limit the standards nor second guess a determination of a board which has the statutory right of accepting or rejecting bids (General Municipal Law, § 103, subd 1), providing there is a reasonable basis for its determination since the board must be allowed to assess its own needs and decide which contractors would be most responsible for the services required; accordingly, respondent board of education which, as the result of a strike by school bus drivers, decided to include wage and hiring labor provisions in its specifications for bus contracts, except for contracts involving "five or fewer" buses, cannot be compelled to immediately award contracts for "five or fewer" buses, to petitioners, the low bidders who have indicated their willingness to accept the smaller contracts, regardless of any assurances the petitioners received from the board, since the court will not substitute its judgment for that of the board as to the number of contracts which would be better serviced by small companies and how many would benefit from the greater resources in equipment and manpower of larger companies. Kings Bay Buses, Inc. v Aiello, 100 Misc. 2d 1, 418 N.Y.S.2d 284, 1979 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2981 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1979).

Respondent board of education, which initially omitted wage and hiring labor provisions in its specifications for bus contracts, and then following a costly strike by school bus drivers, decided that, in the public interest, said labor provisions must be included in its contract specifications, may properly reject and readvertise bids; the board's offer to all apparent low bidders to accept said labor provisions or rebid, is a sound exercise of discretion and the court will not prohibit it from exercising its discretionary power. Kings Bay Buses, Inc. v Aiello, 100 Misc. 2d 1, 418 N.Y.S.2d 284, 1979 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2981 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1979).

Rockland County is generally authorized to adopt a local law mandating that at least 50 percent of those hired by contractors on public works projects be bona fide Rockland County residents, so long as application of such a local law does not violate the competitive bidding requirements established by section 103 of the General Municipal Law. 1983 NY Ops Atty Gen 83-46 (Informal), 1983 N.Y. Op. (Inf.) Att'y Gen. 146, 1983 N.Y. AG LEXIS 46.

A provision in bidding specifications which requires contractors to employ local help in the performance of the municipal contract is unreasonably restrictive. 1972 Op St Compt No. 72-912.

A municipality may not, in its bid specifications, require that contractors list their proposed subcontractors. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-720, 1980 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 407.

It would appear that the courts in this State would uphold the propriety of a clause in a municipal contract to the effect that any interruption of work arising out of labor strife or unrest shall be considered a breach of contract where such clause is motivated by legitimate concerns in the public interest. However, such a clause may not be used to preclude or inhibit competition from nonunion bidders, nor may its placement in a contract or in bid specifications be prompted by coercion or threats from union groups. Prior opinions holding that municipalities may favor union bidders are hereby superseded to the extent inconsistent. 1983 Op St Compt No. 83-61, 1983 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 427.

94. —Repair services

Discussion of bid specification which requires successful bidder to have facilities for service and repairs. 1962 Op St Compt No. 62-784.

95. —Residency requirements

Interpretation of specification for bid on furnishing blacktop material for use on roads so as to exclude all bidders whose plants were located outside the purchasing county was illegal and contract let pursuant to such interpretation would be held void. Warren Bros. Co. v Craner, 30 A.D.2d 437, 293 N.Y.S.2d 763, 1968 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3269 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1968).

96. —Subcontract awards

The method set forth in the specifications for bids for construction of a school building for awarding subcontracts whereby the architect was authorized to accept bids and assign the successful bidder to the prime contractor was improper, as an owner such as a Board of Education may not require one prime contractor to supervise the work of other contractors to whom contracts were let by the owner. Op Comm Ed No. 8946.

The method for letting contracts under the system of allowances set forth in the specifications for bids for a school building which required the prime contractor to accept bids from at least three approved sources, and to assign subcontracts to the lowest bidders was improper, as the requirement that the school board approve or disapprove the proposed subcontractors interfered with free competitive bidding. Op Comm Ed No. 8946.

The method set forth in the specification for bids for a school building whereunder the architect was authorized to designate a subcontractor without competitive bidding and assign him to the prime contractor was invalid. Op Comm Ed No. 8946.

It is illegal to impose a prequalification requirement upon bidders that they submit in advance a list of subcontractors whose services will be used by them. 1961 Op St Compt No. 61-590.

97. —Union membership requirements

A bid specification which required that the manufacturers of equipment to be installed in the proposed construction be identified in the bid, and the purpose of which was to avoid delay in the construction by providing for the selection and approval of the equipment at the inception of the contracts, is not illegal, in the absence of proof that it unlawfully restricted competition when enforced. Le Cesse Bros. Contracting, Inc. v Town Board of Williamson, 62 A.D.2d 28, 403 N.Y.S.2d 950, 1978 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10414 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1978), aff'd, 46 N.Y.2d 960, 415 N.Y.S.2d 413, 388 N.E.2d 737, 1979 N.Y. LEXIS 1871 (N.Y. 1979).

Prehire collective bargaining agreement negotiated by county, which required successful bidder on certain county projects to employ union labor, violated CLS Gen Mun § 103(1), which requires that contracts for public works involving expenditures over $20,000 be awarded to lowest responsible bidder, since mandatory compliance with agreement erected barrier which might eliminate or dissuade prospective nonunion contractor from bidding process. Empire State Chapter of the Associated Builders & Contractors v County of Niagara, 161 Misc. 2d 537, 615 N.Y.S.2d 841, 1994 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 281 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1994).

Discussion of legality of clause limiting bidding on municipal contracts to union contractors. 1963 Op St Compt No. 63-887.

The question of whether or not a municipality may legally restrict bidding to union contractors is a question which cannot be categorically answered because of the unsettled state of the law. 1967 Op St Compt No. 67-987.

98. —Miscellaneous

Bid specification in a department's solicitation for pupil transportation services which included employee protection provisions (EPPs) was improper because the department failed to refute the facially anticompetitive features of the EPPs, which invited cost-inflation and discouraged new bidders from trying to compete with long-term contract holders; the EPPs required contractors to give priority in hiring to employees who became unemployed because of reassignment of busing contracts. However, the department's decisions to include a per rider per day pricing scheme and certain payment discounts in the bid specifications were upheld. Matter of L&M Bus Corp. v New York City Dept. of Educ., 17 N.Y.3d 149, 927 N.Y.S.2d 311, 950 N.E.2d 915, 2011 N.Y. LEXIS 1453 (N.Y. 2011).

In Article 78 proceeding, court would annul city's award of contract for disposal of garbage and solid waste since bid specifications failed to state that city would consider distance from city garage to each bidder's disposal site in calculating which bid resulted in lowest cost to city, and thus city acted contrary to law when it awarded contract based in part on undisclosed specification. Browning-Ferris Indus. v City of Lackawanna, 204 A.D.2d 1047, 612 N.Y.S.2d 732, 1994 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6890 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1994).

Browning-Ferris Indus. v City of Lackawanna, 204 A.D.2d 1047, 612 N.Y.S.2d 732, 1994 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6890 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1994).

Order declaring that the specifications of a bid invitation violated, inter alia, N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 103, was error because the trial court improperly shifted the burden of proof from the corporation to the county; where public bid specifications were not facially anticompetitive, courts applied ordinary rational basis review and a spectral appearance of impropriety was insufficient proof to disturb a municipality's determination under the competitive bidding statutes. Instead, a party challenging a procurement had the burden to demonstrate actual impropriety, unfair dealing or some other violation of statutory requirements, but the corporation made only conclusory assertions and failed to demonstrate that county's bid specifications were irrational or exclusionary. Brega Transp. Corp. v Brennan, 105 A.D.3d 985, 964 N.Y.S.2d 203, 2013 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2649 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2013).

Where potential bidder drew specifications for contract to computerize city processes, others were given only 10 days in which to bid, and drawer of specifications was only bidder, contract awarded was contrary to public policy, and in public interest, contract should be advertised again for bids; however, it would not be improper for party to whom contract originally awarded to participate in bidding and to accept contract if awarded. McArdle v Board of Estimate, 74 Misc. 2d 1014, 347 N.Y.S.2d 349, 1973 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1647 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1973),

Request for proposals (RFP) issued by Long Island Power Authority (LIPA) for design and construction of off-island electrical transmission system was not supportable in reason or law, and court directed LIPA to issue new RFP for actual construction, where original RFP included construction phase of project in addition to evaluation phase, but neither party was obligated to proceed with actual construction of project pursuant to its terms; LIPA's goal of expeditiously obtaining additional power did not justify circumventing public bidding requirements by tying construction phase of project to evaluation phase. AEP Resources Serv. Co. v Long Island Power Auth., 179 Misc. 2d 639, 686 N.Y.S.2d 664, 1999 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 23 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1999).

New York City could include, in contracts for public infrastructure work, specification requiring successful bidder to commence immediate negotiations with affected utility companies regarding compensation for contractor's performance of necessary utility "interference work" and further providing that, if no agreement was reached by 4 weeks after award of contract, dispute with utility company would be submitted to expedited binding arbitration; challenged specification was valid bidding "precondition" which did not impede competition. General Contrs. Ass'n v Tormenta, 180 Misc. 2d 384, 687 N.Y.S.2d 871, 1999 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 126 (N.Y. Sup. Ct.), aff'd, 259 A.D.2d 177, 696 N.Y.S.2d 155, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10501 (N.Y. Specification requiring successful bidder to commence immediate negotiations with affected utility companies regarding compensation for performance of necessary utility "interference work," and further providing that dispute with any utility company would be submitted to expedited binding arbitration if no agreement was reached by 4 weeks after award of contract, did not unlawfully relieve utilities of their responsibility to perform "interference work" by shifting their obligations to city and city's contractor, where ultimate right to compel performance was specifically reserved to city. General Contrs. Ass'n v Tormenta, 180 Misc. 2d 384, 687 N.Y.S.2d 871, 1999 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 126 (N.Y. Sup. Ct.), aff'd, 259 A.D.2d 177, 696 N.Y.S.2d 155, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10501 (N.Y. A village may not legally award a contract for the construction of a village garage and shop where the plans and specifications are left to the discretion of the individual bidders and submitted with their bids. 1960 Op St Compt No. 60-846.

Subdivision (1) of this section does not prevent a political subdivision from seeking bids for a purchase in alternate form, such as based on gross price without trade-in and with trade-in of used equipment, or from exercising or accepting either option. 1962 Op St Compt No. 62-810.

A county may provide in its bid specifications that a purchase contract may be extended for a reasonable fixed term at the sole option of the county. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-355.

VI. Bid Procedure

99. Advertisement for bids; publication required

Petitioner was not entitled to be awarded a sewer contract as low bidder, even though federal notice requirements were complied with, where through inadvertence no advertisements inviting bids on the project appeared in the authorized county newspaper; the controlling statute was to be strictly construed and contracts awarded absent strict compliance were void since the purpose of the statute was to protect the public rather than the competing bidders. Marvec-All State, Inc. v Purcell, 110 Misc. 2d 67, 441 N.Y.S.2d 618, 1981 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3041 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1981), aff'd, 87 A.D.2d 593, 450 N.Y.S.2d 411, 1982 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 15861 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1982).

Where an official newspaper has been designated by a village, advertisements for bids must be published therein. 1956 NY Ops Atty Gen Mar 12 (Informal), 1956 N.Y. AG LEXIS 111.

A town may not enter into a contract for public work or purchase of material above the statutory amount without advertising for bids. The impropriety of such a contract can not be overcome by a provision therein for subsequent public bidding on the several separable portions of the work. 1976 NY Ops Atty Gen Aug 12 (Informal), 1976 N.Y. AG LEXIS 141.

Advertisements for competitive bidding published in a newspaper which is not qualified as the official newspaper of the municipality conducting the bidding are invalid, and the defect can only be remedied by commencing the bidding procedure anew. 1963 Op St Compt No. 63-113.

Where bidding is required pursuant to this section, advertisements for bids must be published in the manner prescribed by this section, though additional coverage may be achieved by publication in additional newspapers or by direct solicitation. 1963 Op St Compt No. 63-627.

Where, without advertising for bids, a town purchased, received and used $6500 worth of stone from a vendor other than the vendor who was awarded the contract for such item, there would appear to be a violation of competitive bidding requirements and it would seem that the vendor would not be entitled to any payment on his claim. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-776.

Where a village has properly designated two official newspapers, advertisements for bids must be placed in both newspapers. 1982 Op St Compt No. 82-173, 1982 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 547.

Fire district is not required to advertise for sealed bids to contract for services of physicians to give physicals to volunteer firefighters of fire district fire department; however, contracts would be subject to district's procurement policies and procedures. 1993 Op St Compt No. 93-3, 1992 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 13.

100. —When readvertisement necessary

Where potential bidder drew specifications for contract to computerize city processes, others were given only 10 days in which to bid, and drawer of specifications was only bidder, contract awarded was contrary to public policy, and in public interest, contract should be advertised again for bids; however, it would not be improper for party to whom contract originally awarded to participate in bidding and to accept contract if awarded. McArdle v Board of Estimate, 74 Misc. 2d 1014, 347 N.Y.S.2d 349, 1973 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1647 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1973), aff'd, 45 A.D.2d 822, 357 N.Y.S.2d 1009, 1974 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7148 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1974).

A prime contract entered into between the plaintiff contractor and defendant school board was void and illegal, where after the lowest bidder withdrew its bid, the contract was awarded to plaintiff, the next lowest bidder, and simultaneously and without authority the board changed the specifications of the contract to omit part of the work. Fabrizio & Martin, Inc. v Board of Education, 290 F. Supp. 945, 1968 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 11583 (S.D.N.Y. 1968).

If providing service is a legitimate consideration in relation to an item to be purchased and the bids are unsatisfactory in this respect, all bids may be rejected and the invitation for bids may be readvertised, with new specifications, to make it clear to the selling public that ability to provide service for the item is of importance in reaching a determination as to who is the lowest responsible bidder but such a provision cannot be used as a pretext for eliminating unwanted bidders. 1978 NY Ops Atty Gen Jan 25 (Informal), 1978 N.Y. AG LEXIS 191.

Where a possibility of competition exists, although the first letting of a public contract produced no responsive bids, it would be improper to negotiate that contract; strong public policy requires readvertisement pursuant to General Municipal Law, § 103. 1978 NY Ops Atty Gen March 6 (Formal), 1978 N.Y. AG LEXIS 201.

A municipality may, in good faith, in lieu of readvertising for new bids, negotiate downward with a sole bidder, where the bidding specifications, contract terms and conditions are not changed. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-739, 1978 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 52.

Where a school district has in good faith advertised for bids twice and, in addition, notified vendors of the items to be purchased and the work to be performed, but received no bids, the district may purchase such items in the open market and have the work performed without readvertising for additional bids. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-523.

In the event a supplier of fuel oil, being a successful bidder (pursuant to General Municipal Law, § 103), refuses to deliver at the agreed price, the village must readvertise for bids, in accordance with § 103 of the General Municipal Law. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-1076.

Where a bidder on a public library fuel oil contract in good faith mistakenly submitted a bid with a varying price although the bid specifications called for a firm price, and where the municipality knew or should have known that the bid was not in compliance with the specifications, it would seem that the contract could be rescinded. It would be improper to amend the contract to provide for price adjustments. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-595, 1980 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 247.

101. —Miscellaneous

A village is not liable under a public works contract in excess of $2500 to let contrary to the law requiring advertisement for competitive bids. 1967 NY Ops Atty Gen Oct 18 (Informal), 1967 N.Y. AG LEXIS 135.

Public advertisement for bids on highway equipment is not effected by notice pursuant to the repealed language of § 142 of the Highway Law concerning the town board's meeting to approve purchases of over $1,000. 1955 Op St Compt No. 55-7654.

Where there were 3 firms producing paving material in a town and each firm was located a substantial distance from the others, the town could create 3 zones and consider the proximity of vendor to a particular zone as well as the actual bid price, in advertising for bids on paving materials. 1958 Op St Compt No. 58-274.

A village may advertise for bids for the collection of unpaid parking violations where the lowest pecuniary bidder will be determined on the basis of which bidder offers to retain the lowest percentage of moneys collected. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-664.

If the granting of an additional concession is within the scope of the original grant in a concession agreement entered into after competitive bidding, it may be accomplished without further advertising for bids. Construction of an improvement on municipal property by a licensee may be considered to be a municipal public works project under certain circumstances. 1981 Op St Compt No. 81-754.

102. Formal requirements for bid; signature not necessary

City properly rejected bid package which failed to include detailed declaration of bidder's qualifications, including statements as to bidder's experience and performance history, current and recently completed contracts and amounts thereof, and bank references. A.I. Smith of Long Island, Inc. v Long Beach, 158 A.D.2d 454, 551 N.Y.S.2d 48, 1990 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1243 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1990).

This section contains no requirement that bids on municipal contracts be signed, and, unless the specifications otherwise require, an unsigned bid on the letterhead of the bidder can be legally accepted. 1961 Op St Compt No. 61-42.

A Town Board may legally accept a low bid on a sewer contract notwithstanding the bidder's failure to sign his proposal. 1963 Op St Compt No. 63-520.

103. Calculation of price

Where bid form required bidders on "skill and amusement games" for community college to fill in percentage of revenues which they would retain, inclusion in one bid, in addition to percentage, of guarantee of minimum sum per year varied from specifications and gave bidder a substantial advantage; thus award of contract to that bidder was properly set aside. De Bonis v Hudson Valley Community College, 55 A.D.2d 778, 389 N.Y.S.2d 647, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 15566 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1976).

Board of education had rational basis to award transportation contracts to lowest responsible bidders on aggregate cost basis rather than individual route cost basis, and unsuccessful bidder's Article 78 petition to annul respondent's determination was therefore properly denied. Acme Bus Corp. v Board of Educ., 236 A.D.2d 535, 653 N.Y.S.2d 684, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1376 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't), aff'd, 91 N.Y.2d 51, 666 N.Y.S.2d 996, 689 N.E.2d 890, 1997 N.Y. LEXIS 3705 (N.Y. 1997).

"Required Minimum Labor Schedule" contained in district's Request for Proposals, which listed staff positions and hours per day and hourly rates for each position, required bidders to use hourly rate or daily hours listed; commissioner rejected successful bidder's argument that labor schedule in question represented mere staffing schedule of food service workers by job classification, rather than bid specification, since information labeled as "minimum" and "required" did not appear to serve any purpose other than requirements for bids. 2009 Op Comm Ed No. 15,977.

Where a competitive bidding is required by law, contracts may not be awarded on a cost plus basis. 1953 Op St Compt No. 53-6321.

A school district may not legally solicit bids for general school supplies by having a bidder bid a net discount on all items in his catalogue and then award the contract to the low bidder, to be determined by the lowest net total price of some ten or fifteen items selected at random. 1967 Op St Compt No. 67-398.

Discussion of the legality of total cost bidding. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-315.

A political subdivision may, under certain conditions, solicit bids by using a specified manufacturer's price list as the basis for the bid proposal and award the contract to the bidder who gives the greatest discount from such price list. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-364, 1979 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 195.

Where the only bid on a contract for purchase of a fire truck contains a provision, not called for in the specifications, for a deduction from the bid price if a down payment is made at the time of signing the contract, such bid may not be accepted. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-919, 1980 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 405.

104. Security requirements

Cost of bid security, insurance, or other security when specified in public contracts, is to be borne by the contractor and not by the political subdivision involved. 1963 Op St Compt No. 63-662.

A municipality or district may in its contract specifications require bidders to submit an "offer of surety". 1968 Op St Compt No. 68-601.

105. —Acceptable forms of security

When bidding specifications call for a "performance bond", the contracting municipality may consider the requirement to have been met when the bidder offers to post a cash deposit and an indemnity agreement permitting the municiaplity to appropriate the collateral directly in the event of a breach. Cataract Disposal, Inc. v Town Bd. of Newfane, 53 N.Y.2d 266, 440 N.Y.S.2d 913, 423 N.E.2d 390, 1981 N.Y. LEXIS 2480 (N.Y. 1981).

Petitioners, as low bidders on garbage collection service for the City of Utica, were entitled to compel the city to accept their bid and award them the contract where the only actual ground for rejecting it was alleged failure of petitioners to comply precisely with the specified requirements as to financial statement to be submitted but those requirements were substantially met, and, as the city officials knew from past dealing with petitioners, their financial situation was excellent and they had been doing the job satisfactorily for the preceding three years. Caruci v Dulan, 41 Misc. 2d 859, 246 N.Y.S.2d 727, 1964 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2103 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1964), rev'd, 24 A.D.2d 529, 261 N.Y.S.2d 677, 1965 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3837 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1965).

Bid specifications requiring certification by an acceptable insurer of low bidder's ability to secure a performance bond was substantially met where low bidder had submitted a "bid bond" which as a practical matter of customary procedure was issued by the same insurer who would issue the performance bond, and on the same information. Harran Transp. Co. v Board of Education, 71 Misc. 2d 143, 335 N.Y.S.2d 971, 1972 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1579 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1972).

A municipality may accept an irrevocable letter of credit from a bank in lieu of cash or a performance bond from a low bidder on a public works contract. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-200.

A municipality may accept a cash bond or an escrow account payable to the municipality in lieu of a performance bond as security on a public works contract and may arrange for a reduction in the amount of security to correspond to the satisfactory completion of certain clearly defined stages of the project. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-805.

In light of Appellate Division decision in the Matter of Cataract v Town of Newfane, 77 AD2d 796, 430 NYS2d 744, municipalities may not accept an irrevocable letter of credit instead of performance and labor and material bonds as security on public works projects if the bid specifications required that such bonds be provided. However, bid specifications may call for alternative forms of security. The Matter of Cataract decision has been appealed to the Court of Appeals. Prior opinions superseded to the extent inconsistent. 1981 Op St Compt No. 80-797, 1981 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 887.

106. —Failure to provide acceptable security

In an Article 78 proceeding reviewing contract awards for the collection, removal and disposal of solid waste within a municipal garbage district, the bid specifications submitted by the lowest bidder would be invalid where the bid submitted in connection with a readvertised notice to bidders was defective and remained uncured until 3 days after the bids were opened, and the vessel specified in the resubmitted bids, for use under the contracts, not only lacked the required United States Coast Guard certification but also was in dry-dock and laid up for repairs at the time bids were opened; the contract awards, therefore, were made in violation of the spirit of the provisions requiring sealed competitive bidding for public contracts under Gen Mun Law §§ 100-A and 103(1). Superior Hydraulic, Inc. v Town Bd. of Islip, 88 A.D.2d 404, 453 N.Y.S.2d 711, 1982 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 17088 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1982), app. dismissed, 58 N.Y.2d 824, 1983 N.Y. LEXIS 3890 (N.Y. 1983).

Where the low bidder on a municipal project fails to accompany his bid with security as required by the specifications, and the board rejects his bid for that reason, the board should not be required to reverse its decision and award the contract to such bidder because, subsequently, and before the project is awarded to the next lowest bidder, the low one offers to meet the precise requirements for security, as such a course of conduct could well discourage contractors from bidding on future projects. Stage v Whitehouse, 43 Misc. 2d 703, 252 N.Y.S.2d 142, 1964 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1515 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1964).

Subdivision 1 of this section provides that the contract shall be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder "furnishing the required security," and where a call for bids requires a certified check for ten percent of the amount bid, the same to be treated as liquidated damages, a bidder's substitution of a bond or undertaking limited to one item of damage permits the board to exercise its discretion to reject the accompanying bid, notwithstanding it is the low bid. Stage v Whitehouse, 43 Misc. 2d 703, 252 N.Y.S.2d 142, 1964 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1515 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1964).

County officials were not arbitrary and capricious in refusing to award a contract to petitioner for electrical work to be performed on a hospital addition, where petitioner failed to submit a proper performance bond as required by the instructions to bidders and failed to establish financial responsibility with respect to the working capital required of each bidder. Application of P. J. Panzeca, Inc., 56 Misc. 2d 460, 288 N.Y.S.2d 813, 1968 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1748 (N.Y. Sup. Ct.), aff'd, 30 A.D.2d 640, 292 N.Y.S.2d 1007, 1968 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6254 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1968).

Where a call for bids on a garbage removal and disposal contract clearly requires the successful bidder to put up a performance bond within 15 days from acceptance of his proposal, and that the deposit made in connection with his bid will be forfeited if he fails to enter into a contract pursuant to the specified requirements within 15 days, his inability to obtain a performance bond within the period specified does not affect forfeiture of his deposit. 1961 Ops St Compt No. 61-155.

107. —Waiver or reduction of security

This section merely provides that contracts shall be awarded to "the lowest responsible bidder furnishing the required security" without stating what the amount of security shall be, and hence the security requirements stated in the call for bids may be waived or lowered in awarding the contract to the low bidder without giving rise to a right in a higher bidder to demand award of the contract to him, particularly where, after the contract is so awarded, the security and performance bond requirement are met by the low bidder. Frank Nowak Constr. Co. v County of Suffolk, 233 N.Y.S.2d 627 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1962).

A municipality or district, in good faith, could waive the timely filing of bid security and under certain circumstances it could entirely waive the filing of the bid security or the "offer of surety". 1960 Op St Compt No. 60-601.

108. —Miscellaneous

In successful bidder's action to enjoin county from awarding contract on ground that its bid was $1,000,000 lower than intended due to clerical error, county was not entitled to forfeiture of bid bond in amount of $1,738,500 as liquidated damages, notwithstanding "no plea of mistake" provision of bid documents, since bidder was legally excused from contract by virtue of trial court's grant of rescission of bid (based on its finding that enforcement of bid would be unconscionable), which vitiated any contractual obligations arising therefrom; just as enforcement of bid would be unconscionable in that it would cost bidder $1,000,000, so would be forfeiture of bond, which involved even greater amount. Jobco, Inc. v County of Nassau, 129 A.D.2d 614, 514 N.Y.S.2d 108, 1987 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 45300 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1987).

After the bids are opened, bid bonds or guarantee bid deposits submitted by the successful bidder should be retained in the custody of the town supervisor. 1968 Op St Compt No. 68-761.

Because of personal conflicting interests, it is highly improper for a town councilman to sell a performance bond to a contractor with respect to a public works contract with his municipality. 1969 Op St Compt No. 69-81.

109. Timeliness of bid

Article 78 court improperly held that board of education abused its discretion in refusing to accept competitive bid submitted only 2 minutes late since board's decision to strictly enforce time requirement set forth in bid advertisement did not appear irrational, dishonest, or otherwise unlawful. George A. Nole & Son, Inc. v Board of Education, 129 A.D.2d 873, 514 N.Y.S.2d 274, 1987 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 45559 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1987).

Subdivision 2 of this section does not authorize a board or agency calling for bids to be submitted in writing to be opened and read aloud at a specified hour and date to consider bids which were not submitted prior to the time limitation, and, even with respect to bids presented only two or three minutes after such time, but after certain bids have already been received and read, there is no violation of law in awarding the contract to the lowest responsible bidder among those complying with the statute. Wiltom Coach Co. v Central High School Dist., 36 Misc. 2d 637, 232 N.Y.S.2d 876, 1962 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2696 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1962).

In a proceeding to require a Board of Education to award a contract to the low bidder, notwithstanding his bid came in slightly after the appointed hour, the person to whom the bid was awarded as the lowest bidder making a timely bid was a necessary party. Wiltom Coach Co. v Central High School Dist., 36 Misc. 2d 637, 232 N.Y.S.2d 876, 1962 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2696 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1962).

Service by out-of-state bidder unfamiliar with New York law of a non-collusive bidding certificate after the bids were open to put before the bid was awarded was sufficient to meet the requirements of Gen Mun L § 103, subd d, although the certificate was inexpertly drafted. Bailey v Colonna, 73 Misc. 2d 299, 341 N.Y.S.2d 359, 1972 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1344 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1972).

Court would dismiss contractor's Article 78 proceeding to enjoin board of cooperative educational services (BOCES) from awarding contract to rival bidder under CLS Gen Mun § 103 where contractor's sole objection was that rival's bid had not been opened and read at time and place specified in bid documents, but bid had been delivered to correct address before deadline, it was opened in presence of 3 BOCES officials, there was no suggestion of favoritism or dishonesty, and public would benefit by savings to be realized from rival's lowest bid; BOCES' award of contract to rival was rational and was not arbitrary or capricious. Statewide Roofing v Eastern Suffolk Bd. of Coop. Educ. Servs., 173 Misc. 2d

A municipality should not accept a bid which is filed late. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-584.

110. Variation of bid from specifications, generally

While General Municipal Law section relating to award of public work contracts mandates the contract be awarded to lowest responsible bidder, where bidder substantially varies his bid from specification it cannot be considered in determining lowest responsible bid. De Bonis v Hudson Valley Community College, 55 A.D.2d 778, 389 N.Y.S.2d 647, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 15566 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1976).

A municipality may decline bids on a public works project which fail to comply with the literal requirements of the bid specifications, or it may waive a technical noncompliance with bid specifications if the defect is a mere irregularity and it is in the best interests of the municipality to do so. Le Cesse Bros. Contracting, Inc. v Town Board of Williamson, 62 A.D.2d 28, 403 N.Y.S.2d 950, 1978 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10414 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1978), aff'd, 46 N.Y.2d 960, 415 N.Y.S.2d 413, 388 N.E.2d 737, 1979 N.Y. LEXIS 1871 (N.Y. 1979).

If a variance between a bid on a public works project and the bid specifications is material or substantial, the defect may not be waived, and the bid must be rejected. Le Cesse Bros. Contracting, Inc. v Town Board of Williamson, 62 A.D.2d 28, 403 N.Y.S.2d 950, 1978 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10414 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1978), aff'd, 46 N.Y.2d 960, 415 N.Y.S.2d 413, 388 N.E.2d 737, 1979 N.Y. LEXIS 1871 (N.Y. 1979).

The trial court erred in not granting a contractor summary judgment on its claim against a transportation authority for amounts due on a construction contract where the authority had advertised for bids on construction of various parts of a bus garage, the advertisement contained a discrepancy between the drawings and the specifications as to whether the contractor would supply two tanks, the contractor submitted the low bid, the contractor informed the authority before acceptance of its bid that it had not included the costs of the tanks in making its bid, before signing the construction contract the contractor added a paragraph to the contract disclaiming any duty on its part to supply the tanks, and the authority signed the contract with the disclaimer provisions. Maross Constr., Inc. v Central New York Regional Transp. Authority, 107 A.D.2d 1010, 486 N.Y.S.2d 535, 1985 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 42825 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't), rev'd, 66 N.Y.2d 341, 497 N.Y.S.2d 321, 488 N.E.2d 67, 1985 N.Y. LEXIS 17609 (N.Y. 1985).

Governmental agency which seeks bids on public contract has right to determine whether bidder's variance from bid specifications is material or whether to waive it as mere irregularity; determination must be upheld by courts if supported by any rational basis. Varsity Transit, Inc. v Board of Education, 130 A.D.2d 581, 515 N.Y.S.2d 520, 1987 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 46582 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't), app. denied, 70 N.Y.2d 605, 519 N.Y.S.2d 1029, 513 N.E.2d 1309, 1987 N.Y. LEXIS 18238 (N.Y. 1987).

Where the governing body calling for bids is unwilling to waive substantial defects and irregularities in the bids submitted, there is no authoritative precedent for issuance of a court order requiring such waiver. Stage v Whitehouse, 43 Misc. 2d 703, 252 N.Y.S.2d 142, 1964 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1515 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1964).

Unsuccessful bidder for food services contract failed to demonstrate that bid specifications contained in Request for Proposals (RFP) required staffing and/or hour requirements with which successful bid was noncompliant, even if it was common for new food service companies to continue existing staff and match existing hours and benefits, where there was no indication that list of then-current collective bargaining agreement and staffing schedule contained in attachment to RFP was intended to be "mandatory" or "required," and assistant superintendent asserted that he had informed all prospective bidders during mandatory walk-through of district facilities that no stipulations regarding benefits, salary or hours were being made, that staffing levels were to be determined by each bidder, and that district was not opposed to individual vendors lowering labor costs "as long as the School District received quality service." 2010 Op Comm Ed No. 16,100, 2010 NY Educ. Dept. LEXIS 94.

If a bidder, through error, fails to execute the proper bid forms, these being an essential part of the proposed contract the variance is such that it may not be waived by the awarding political subdivision. 1961 Op St Compt No. 61-826.

111. —Particular instances

Bids may be declined for failure of literal compliance with specifications, and where a bid for the contract for garbage collection failed to include mention of large and bulky articles, included in the specifications, the person submitting such bid was not legally aggrieved by its rejection. Rockland Haulage, Inc. v Upper Nyack, 13 A.D.2d 819, 216 N.Y.S.2d 308, 1961 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10736 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1961).

Refusal of town to award contract for purchase of diesel tractor to petitioner, which was low bidder, but whose bid contained six variations from bid specifications and which refused to subsequently submit a bid in exact compliance with specifications on ground that variations were immaterial, technical and insubstantial, had a rational basis and thus would not be disturbed in Article 78 proceeding. Atlantic Tug & Equipment Co. v Tonawanda, 45 A.D.2d 916, 357 N.Y.S.2d 303, 1974 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4481 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1974).

Where bid form required bidders on "skill and amusement games" for community college to fill in percentage of revenues which they would retain, inclusion in one bid, in addition to percentage, of guarantee of minimum sum per year varied from specifications and gave bidder a substantial advantage; thus award of contract to that bidder was properly set aside. De Bonis v Hudson Valley Community College, 55 A.D.2d 778, 389 N.Y.S.2d 647, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 15566 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1976).

A failure on the part of a bidder on a municipal public works project to state, as required by the bid specifications, the names of manufacturers of equipment to be installed in the proposed construction gave that bidder an unfair competitive advantage over the other bidders, ran counter to the municipality's purpose in using the specifications to avoid delay and uncertainty in the approval of equipment manufacturers, and constituted a material variance from the bid specifications which may not be waived by the municipality. Le Cesse Bros. Contracting, Inc. v Town Board of Williamson, 62 A.D.2d 28, 403 N.Y.S.2d 950, 1978 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10414 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1978), aff'd, 46 N.Y.2d 960, 415 N.Y.S.2d 413, 388 N.E.2d 737, 1979 N.Y. LEXIS 1871 (N.Y. 1979).

In an Article 78 proceeding brought by two unsuccessful bidders for a contract from a city election board for the transportation of voting machine equipment, the trial court erred in annulling the board's award of its contract to the two low bidders on the asserted ground that the board had failed to require such low bidders to meet certain bid qualifications where, though the election board had indicated that bidders had to possess certificates of convenience and necessity or permits for contract carriers of property by motor vehicles from the Commissioner of Transportation, such conditions had not been contained in the bid documents, but rather had been set forth in a supplemental letter that had been issued to the bidders by the president of the board of elections after the bids had been received, where the low bidders appeared to be exempt from such requirements in any event in that one of them had been exempted from the requirements pursuant to Trans Law § 160(3)(a) and the other was licensed by the city in which the subject board of elections was located rather than by the State, and where the board had reserved to itself the right to "waive any informalities in the proposal for bids, and had a rational basis for its waiver of any defect in the low bids in that the economic benefit that had been derived by the municipality in granting the contracts to the lowest bidders far outweighed any technical defects in the low bidders' submissions. Clancy-Cullen Storage Co. v Board of Elections, 98 A.D.2d 635, 469 N.Y.S.2d 391, 1983 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 20926 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1983).

Town improperly accepted bid for collection and disposal of refuse and recyclables where (1) successful bidder had not complied with licensing and certification procedures at time it submitted bid, in direct contravention of bid specification which required compliance, (2) bidder tendered contract security deposit of 1/3 of amount required by bid specification, and (3) bidder was in state of dissolution when it submitted bid for failure to pay corporate franchise taxes. Tony's Barge Serv. v Town Bd., 210 A.D.2d 234, 619 N.Y.S.2d 341, 1994 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12269 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1994), app. denied, 85 N.Y.2d 807, 627 N.Y.S.2d 324, 650 N.E.2d 1326, 1995 N.Y. LEXIS 1250 (N.Y. 1995).

City board of contract and supply had rational basis to award recycle asphalt base contract to particular contractor despite contractor's failure to meet letter of terms of prior work experience requirement in bid specifications where city engineer had inspected contractor's facilities and had concluded that projects performed by contractor were sufficiently similar to allow it to bid on project, and city commissioner of public works had concurred in decision to waive experience requirements of bid specifications. Suit-Kote Corp. v City of Binghamton Bd. of Contract & Supply, 216 A.D.2d 831, 628 N.Y.S.2d 861, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7448 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1995).

Contractor's gratuitous insertion of name of window company in its bid to replace windows in school district facilities could properly be considered nonmaterial irregularity which board of education was free to waive where there was no showing of unfair advantage, and board's selection resulted in significant savings to school district. N.E.P. Glass Co. v Board of Educ., 233 A.D.2d 570, 649 N.Y.S.2d 537, 1996 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11458 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1996).

In an art. 78 proceeding to have a bid award set aside by a school district attempting to purchase a new school bus, while the specifications for bidding could not be built around a single make of vehicle, the fact that petitioner's proposal differed from specifications in some 21 respects would, of itself, defeat his bid, if the article offered were of lesser quality than that required. Cassel v Board of Education Common School Dist., 220 N.Y.S.2d 262 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1961).

Board of education was justified in refusing to consider petitioner's bid on ground that it was incomplete, where contractors were required to submit bids for base bid electrical work, as well as several alternates that included changes that either added or deducted electrical work from base bid amount, and petitioner failed to submit bid figure for 2 alternates included in addenda to bid specifications, which added work to base bid electrical work. 2000 Op Comm Ed No. 14,428, 2000 NY Educ. Dept. LEXIS 222.

112. Amendment of bid

Fuel oil supplier was precluded from modifying its bid on city contract to include right to charge gross receipt tax as separate line item, and thus was bound by terms of original bid, when it did not withdraw its bid prior to being awarded contract; in context of competitive bidding, letter from supplier's counsel notifying city of intention to charge tax could not be viewed as new offer that extinguished and replaced supplier's original bid. Sinram-Marnis Oil Co. v New York, 74 N.Y.2d 13, 544 N.Y.S.2d 119, 542 N.E.2d 337, 1989 N.Y. LEXIS 873 (N.Y. 1989).

If bid form was ambiguous, plumbing contractor should have followed directions in information to bidders, pursuant to which bidders were to request appropriate city commission in writing for interpretation of every patent ambiguity or inconsistency and, where contractor did not make such request in advance of bidding, contractor was bound by reasonable interpretation of bid form by city environmental protection commissioner. James H. Merritt Plumbing, Inc. v New York, 55 A.D.2d 552, 390 N.Y.S.2d 65, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 15231 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1976), app. dismissed, 41 N.Y.2d 806, 1977 N.Y. LEXIS 3101 (N.Y. 1977), app. dismissed, 42 N.Y.2d 825, 1977 N.Y. LEXIS 3977 (N.Y. 1977).

Because city environmental protection agency had authority to declare bid for award of plumbing contract informal, bidder was not injured by fact that agency, upon discovering an apparent arithmetical error on the face of the bid, gave bidder opportunity to accept contract at a lower amount than bidder had indicated on its bid form and this procedure did not violate public bidding statute. James H. Merritt Plumbing, Inc. v New York, 55 A.D.2d 552, 390 N.Y.S.2d 65, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 15231 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1976), app. dismissed, 41 N.Y.2d 806, 1977 N.Y. LEXIS 3101 (N.Y. 1977), app. dismissed, 42 N.Y.2d 825, 1977 N.Y. LEXIS 3977 (N.Y. 1977).

When essential information is missing from a bid at the time of opening, that information may not later be supplied by a private understanding between the bidder and the municipality or otherwise. Le Cesse Bros. Contracting, Inc. v Town Board of Williamson, 62 A.D.2d 28, 403 N.Y.S.2d 950, 1978 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10414 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1978), aff'd, 46 N.Y.2d 960, 415 N.Y.S.2d 413, 388 N.E.2d 737, 1979 N.Y. LEXIS 1871 (N.Y. 1979).

Oil company, which had not included gross receipts tax obligation in its bid on municipal contract because tax was not applicable to it at that time, then advised city by letter, prior to formal award of contract, that it intended to charge tax to city, was not entitled to judgment declaring that city was responsible for payment of gross receipts tax, since (1) contract precluded any modification which would result in net change in cost to city, (2) contract required that gross receipts tax be part of bid price, not separately billed item, and (3) such change would in effect give oil company opportunity to submit entirely new bid, thereby claiming competitive advantage over other potential contractors; thus, city was entitled to summary judgment on its counterclaim for difference between oil company's bid price and cost of obtaining fuel from substituted vendors. Sinram-Marnis Oil Co. v New York, 139 A.D.2d 360, 532 N.Y.S.2d 94, 1988 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8379 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't), reh'g denied, 143 A.D.2d 1073, 533 N.Y.S.2d 687, 1988 N.Y. App. Div. New York City Procurement Policy Board Rule (9 NYCRR) § 3-02(m)(3)(ii) permitted correction of handwritten error in quote for one item of winning bid, reciting price of $294,8499.49 instead of $294,849,949, where (1) corrected figure, when added to quotes for other contract items, equaled total bid price of $304,490,749, and (2) winning bid was not subjected to reformation or renegotiation in violation of CLS Gen Mun § 103(11)(b). Picone/McCullagh v Miele, 283 A.D.2d 501, 724 N.Y.S.2d 473, 2001 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4972 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2001).

Town's determination that a bid was made nonresponsive for N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 103(1) purposes by the lowest bidder's pre-bid letter was rational, honest, and lawful because the unequivocal language of the pre-bid letter was such that it was reasonable for the town to conclude it was intended to impose a condition on the later bid proposal regardless of whether the pre-bid letter was attached to or incorporated into that proposal; thus, it was reasonable for the town to determine that the lowest bidder had a substantial advantage or benefit not enjoyed by the other bidders. The lowest bidder had submitted a letter to the town stating that it wished to be held harmless from damages arising from a specific component of the project. Matter of Accadia Site Contr., Inc. v Caruana, 96 A.D.3d 1630, 946 N.Y.S.2d 789, 2012 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4790 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2012).

In action by contractor to recover unpaid balance on school construction contract, whether to permit adjustment of a mathematical error made in contractor's bid or to permit a deduction of work in the amount of the error was a matter for the school board's discretion and the contract awarded after deducting work in the amount of the error was not in violation of the competitive bid statute where the contractor's bid would have been the low bid even without the mathematical error. Fabrizio & Martin, Inc. v Board of Education, 523 F.2d 378, 1975 U.S. App. LEXIS 12813 (2d Cir. N.Y. 1975) (applying New York law).

City's action in correcting mathematical errors made by the second lowest bidder for a municipal contract, which resulted in such bid becoming the lowest one, was reasonable and proper. Schiavone Constr. Co. v Samowitz, 451 F. Supp. 29, 1978 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 20023 (S.D.N.Y.), aff'd, 578 F.2d 1370 (2d Cir. N.Y. 1978).

113. Withdrawal of bid

Bidder who, because of an error in interpreting specifications, failed to include the cost of certain equipment in his bid was permitted to rescind bid where mistake, although due to bidder's negligence, was objectively verifiable in much the same way as a clerical or arithmetical error, and where municipality, having been promptly notified of the error, could have either awarded the contract to the next lowest bidder or submitted the contract for rebidding. Balaban-Gordon Co. v Brighton Sewer Dist., 41 A.D.2d 246, 342 N.Y.S.2d 435, 1973 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4727 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1973).

Plumbing and heating contractor was entitled to summary judgment rescinding bid and cancelling bid bond, despite provisions of city housing authority's instructions to bidders preventing withdrawal of bids on ground of negligence, where contractor failed to include singlesheet of data when it computed total amount of its bid (thus understating bid by amount on sheet), computational error was subject to objective determination by comparison of work sheets and bid proposal, and contractor discovered error and notified authority's representative approximately 4 hours after opening of bids, which gave authority opportunity to correct condition or to reject bid and award contract to another bidder. Buffalo Municipal Housing Authority v Gross Plumbing & Heating Co., 172 A.D.2d 1030, 569 N.Y.S.2d 289, 1991 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6288 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1991).

New York City Department of Housing Preservation and Development properly refusedpetitioner's request to withdraw its bid to rehabilitate 2 properties owned by city,since petitioner failed to submit adequate evidence to show that alleged unilateralmistake was due to arithmetical or clerical error. In re Huff Enters., 205 A.D.2d 378, 613 N.Y.S.2d 385, 1994 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6313 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1994).

In losing bidder's Article 78 proceeding to compel New York City Department of Environmental Conservation (DEP) to reject another contractor's winning bid, on ground that price quote of $294,8499.49 contained in bid was "indecipherable" error and "sole remedy" was withdrawal of bid, court properly determined that CLS Gen Mun § 103(11)(b) was inapplicable, and that DEP was authorized to correct error pursuant to New York City Procurement Policy Board Rule (9 NYCRR) § 3-02(m)(3)(ii). Picone/McCullagh v Miele, 283 A.D.2d 501, 724 N.Y.S.2d 473, 2001 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4972 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2001).

A prime contract entered into between the plaintiff contractor and defendant school board was void and illegal, where after the lowest bidder withdrew its bid, the contract was awarded to plaintiff, the next lowest bidder, and simultaneously and without authority the board changed the specifications of the contract to omit part of the work. Fabrizio & Martin, Inc. v Board of Education, 290 F. Supp. 945, 1968 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 11583 (S.D.N.Y. 1968).

A county board or agency may in its discretion, reject all bids and readvertise for new bids in the manner provided by the cited section. Where a bidder has made an honest or unintentional mistake in arriving at its bid, the county board or agency, if satisfied that an honest mistake has been made, is authorized to allow withdrawal of the bid. 1973 NY Ops Atty Gen June 12 (informal), 1973 N.Y. AG LEXIS 74.

Where the low bidder promptly advises a city of a mistake in his bid, and the local authorities are convinced that an honest and material mistake was made, the city may permit the withdrawal of the bid and award a contract to the next lowest bidder. 1968 Op St Compt No. 68-630.

114. Rejection of all bids; authority of officers and agencies

Although power to reject any or all bids may not be exercised arbitrarily or for purpose of forgoing public benefit intended to be served by competitive process, discretionary decision ought not to be disturbed by courts unless it is irrational, dishonest or otherwise unlawful; moreover, realistic expectation of obtaining lower contract prices upon second round of bidding constitutes reasonable, bona fide ground for rejecting all first round bids and serves public's interest in economical use of public monies; nor is decision to reject all bids rendered arbitrary and capricious solely on basis of nondiscriminatory post bid changes in contract specifications or postbid communications with individual bidders for bona fide purpose of ascertaining how contract costs might be reduced. Conduit & Foundation Corp. v Metropolitan Transp. Authority, 66 N.Y.2d 144, 495 N.Y.S.2d 340, 485 N.E.2d 1005, 1985 N.Y. LEXIS 17168 (N.Y. 1985).

The board or agency calling for bids has discretion to reject all bids. Wiltom Coach Co. v Central High School Dist., 36 Misc. 2d 637, 232 N.Y.S.2d 876, 1962 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2696 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1962).

A county board or agency may in its discretion, reject all bids and readvertise for new bids in the manner provided by the cited section. Where a bidder has made an honest or unintentional mistake in arriving at its bid, the county board or agency, if satisfied that an honest mistake has been made, is authorized to allow withdrawal of the bid. 1973 NY Ops Atty Gen June 12 (Informal), 1973 N.Y. AG LEXIS 74.

Fire commissioners may reject all bids and readvertise for new bids. If condemnation proceeding is discontinued, fire district may be ordered to pay damages to owners of realty. Board may not expend in excess of estimate set forth in bond resolution. Board may issue bonds to an amount smaller than approved. Expenses incurred in connection with building construction project disapproved in referendum are legal liabilities and may be paid. 1966 Op St Compt No. 66-751.

115. —Necessity for readvertising for bids after rejection

Where court annulled award of contract for amusement games for community college, award of the contract to petitioner as the only other bidder would have been an improper usurpation of administrative role by prohibiting community college and faculty student association from exercising their discretionary power of rejecting all bids and readvertising. De Bonis v Hudson Valley Community College, 55 A.D.2d 778, 389 N.Y.S.2d 647, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 15566 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1976).

Where municipality has elected to advertise for sale bids, retaining the right to reject all bids, it may not reject all bids and award the contract without re-advertising for bids. Riester v Fleming, 57 Misc. 2d 997, 293 N.Y.S.2d 871, 1968 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1153 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1968), rev'd, 32 A.D.2d 733, 302 N.Y.S.2d 176, 1969 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3994 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1969).

A municipality having rejected all bids on an advertised contract, may not thereafter accept the lowest bidder, but should readvertise for new bids. 1956 Op St Compt No. 56-8035.

116. —Grounds for rejection; default of low bidder

Where lowest bidder was in default, Board of Education was warranted in rejecting all other bids and readvertising for new bids under this section. Mar-Mes Constr. Co. v Gitlow, 24 A.D.2d 481, 260 N.Y.S.2d 703, 1965 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3944 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1965).

Expectation of obtaining better contract prices at another round of bidding is integral part of public contract process and is reasonable basis for declining all previous bids, and thus city's decision to reject all bids and readvertise for second round of bidding would be deemed unlawful only on showing of actual impropriety, unfair dealing, or other violation of statutory requirements. P & A Bros, Inc. v New York Dep't of Parks & Recreation, 184 A.D.2d 267, 585 N.Y.S.2d 335, 1992 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7826 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1992), limited, Almonte v City of New York, 158 Misc. 2d 290, 601 N.Y.S.2d 245, 1993 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 252 (N.Y. Civ. Ct. 1993).

In the event a supplier of fuel oil, being a successful bidder (pursuant to General Municipal Law, § 103), refuses to deliver at the agreed price, the village must readvertise for bids, in accordance with § 103 of the General Municipal Law. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-1076.

117. —Dissatisfaction with price

Rejection of the low bid on a city contract and a determination to reject all bids and readvertise cannot be approved where it is obvious that the low bid obtained is not out of line and it is entirely speculative whether a lower bid can be obtained on readvertising, as such practice has pernicious long-range effect detrimental to the best interests of municipalities. Caruci v Dulan, 41 Misc. 2d 859, 246 N.Y.S.2d 727, 1964 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2103 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1964), rev'd, 24 A.D.2d 529, 261 N.Y.S.2d 677, 1965 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3837 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1965).

118. —Other grounds for rejection

State Office of General Services abused its discretion in resubmitting bids "in the best interest of the state" after obtaining information from labor representative that current bidder was involved in a labor dispute involving a strike action where labor representative's threat that state jobsite would be struck was insufficient ground for rejecting all bids absent proof of the nature and extent of the labor dispute, and absent showing that Office of General Services based its determination on an independent investigation of bidder's labor difficulties. M. Cristo, Inc. v State Office of General Services, 42 A.D.2d 481, 349 N.Y.S.2d 191, 1973 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4580 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1973).

A city's award of a landfill supply contract to a contractor other than the low bidder would be annulled where the city's determination that the low bidder's sand was wet and that its pit was not accessible, in contrast to the bid specifications which required that the landfill material be clean and dry and that the roadway to the sand pit be accessible, was not supported by substantial evidence, and where the record demonstrated instead that the low bidder had substantially and materially complied with the bid proposal specifications. Cal's Gear & Auto Parts, Inc. v Rome, 98 A.D.2d 967, 470 N.Y.S.2d 248, 1983 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 21297 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1983).

An action against a transportation authority by a disappointed bidder on a public works contract was properly dismissed where the authority had reserved the right to reject all bids, and where, although plaintiff's bid was the lowest at the bid opening, defendant know that another company with which it had previously dealt had timely submitted a lower bid, which had been misplaced by the authority. Tri-State Aggregates Corp. v Metropolitan Transp. Auth., 108 A.D.2d 645, 485 N.Y.S.2d 754, 1985 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 42998 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1985).

After city has actively conducted continuous investigation over 19 month period into qualifications and finances of sole bidder on contract to perform emergency tow and repair service, necessitating expenditure of substantial funds by bidder in preparation for award of contract, it is arbitrary for city to reject bid and to readvertise contract based solely on general statement that bid specification may have lacked clarity or somehow excluded competition. Burke's Auto Body, Inc. v Ameruso, 113 A.D.2d 198, 495 N.Y.S.2d 393, 1985 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 52351 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1985).

Board of education rationally rejected petitioner's bid on contract to renovate high school athletic field where (1) bid failed to indicate that prebid site inspection in presence of school district representative had been conducted, or identify type of machinery petitioner intended to use, as required by bid specifications, and (2) expert report received by board stated that sand placement machine utilized by petitioner would not produce comparable results to competing bidder's sand injection machine. In re K & M Turf Maintenance, 166 A.D.2d 445, 560 N.Y.S.2d 673, 1990 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11846 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1990).

The City's rejection of initial bids by suppliers, including the lowest bid by the plaintiff, on a contract to fill the City's requirements for chlorine for water treatment, and the reopening of the matter for a second round of bidding in order to obtain lower bids due to the lower market price of chlorine, was arbitrary and capricious where there was already a provision that provided for price adjustments when there were changes in the prices of the materials from supplier to the bidder. Delta Chemical Mfg. Co. v Department of General Services of New York, Div. of Municipal Supplies, 106 Misc. 2d 617, 434 N.Y.S.2d 568, 1980 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2741 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1980), rev'd, 81 A.D.2d 507, 437 N.Y.S.2d 12, 1981 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10960 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1981).

Where a fire district has advertised for a new oil burning heating system for the firehouse and now wishes to have a gas fuel system, it will have to reject all bids received and draw new specifications for a gas fueled system and advertise for new bids. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-279.

119. Miscellaneous

To the extent town's use of a "Bidders' List" had the effect of discouraging persons not on the list from bidding, or giving such persons insufficient opportunity to estimate their lowest possible bid, the practice was against the public policy as expressed in the bidding statutes. Orange Front Paint Supply, Inc. v Scaramuccia, 59 A.D.2d 894, 399 N.Y.S.2d 52, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 14084 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1977).

Negotiations between the New York City Transit Authority and an electrical contractor, whose bid was the lowest bid for a construction contract, conducted after all bids were opened, which led to modifications of the contractor's bid whereby duplicative costs were eliminated, costs of certain materials were to be established by market prices at the time of purchase, and a liquidated damage provision was included in the contract, did not violate either the letter or the spirit of Gen Mun Law § 103 or New York City Charter § 343(b), which require competitive bidding on certain public works contracts, where the record contained no evidence of favoritism, fraud or corruption, the public interest was advanced by the modifications by actual or potential savings on the cost of the project, and there was no departure from the contract's original specifications and no concessions to the contractor. Fischbach & Moore, Inc. v New York City Transit Authority, 79 A.D.2d 14, 435 N.Y.S.2d 984, 1981 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 9665 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1981).

Where, prior to commencement of performance under a public contract awarded by a board of education for transportation of handicapped children, the disqualification of two of the original seven successful bidders had caused a shortfall in the number of vehicles available to fill the original contract requirements, the board was required to make the award for additional vehicles to the next lowest responsible bidders or to reject all bids and consider new proposals or re-bid the contract. Tufaro Transit Co. v Board of Education, 79 A.D.2d 376, 436 N.Y.S.2d 886, 1981 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 9717 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1981).

Contractor's submission of 2 bids was not material irregularity that corrupted competitive bidding process under CLS Gen Mun § 103(1) where 2 bids submitted were separate and distinct, neither was dependent on other, revoked other, or was submitted in alternative form, and there was nothing in either "Advertisement for Bids" or "Instructions to Bidders" prohibiting interested bidder from submitting more than one bid. N.E.P. Glass Co. v Board of Educ., 233 A.D.2d 570, 649 N.Y.S.2d 537, 1996 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11458 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1996).

CLS Gen Mun § 103(11)(b), which was intended to affect parties who submit innocently erroneous low bids and municipal entities that accept such bids, did not enable losing bidder to challenge acceptance of winning bid of another party which contained easily correctable typographical error. Picone/McCullagh v Miele, 283 A.D.2d 501, 724 N.Y.S.2d 473, 2001 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4972 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2001).

Because a triable issue of fact existed regarding whether the parties' contract was unenforceable under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 103(1) and a county charter, a county's successor was not entitled to summary judgment; however, the successor had standing to prosecute the county's claims under N.Y. Pub. Auth. Law §§ 3403, 3406, 3418(1). Sodexho Mgt., Inc. v Nassau Health Care Corp., 23 A.D.3d 370, 805 N.Y.S.2d 551, 2005 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12333 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2005).

A resolution by a county requiring all bidders on county public works contracts to participate in an approved apprentice training program is of questionable propriety. 1982 Op St Compt No. 82-128, 1982 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 586.

County may not adopt post-1953 law to provide price preference to local vendors and contractors who would not otherwise be entitled to contract award as lowest responsible bidder. 1992 Op St Compt No. 92-50.

VII. Award of Contract

120. Authority to award contract

There is no vested right in award of public works contract; thus, municipality retains discretion to reject one or more bids where good reason to do so exists, and municipality may consider bidder's honesty, integrity, good faith, and fair dealing. Mid-State Indus. v City of Cohoes, 221 A.D.2d 705, 633 N.Y.S.2d 238, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10693 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1995).

Public money may not be spent without authority which requires that the obligation incurred be lawful, and this section is a restraint not only upon public officials but upon all others, so that persons who deal with a municipality must look to the authority of the agents with whom they deal or contract at their peril. Gerzof v Sweeney, 52 Misc. 2d 505, 276 N.Y.S.2d 485, 1966 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1243 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1966), modified, 29 A.D.2d 646, 286 N.Y.S.2d 541, 1968 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4942 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1968).

Insisting upon submission of the canvass of bids for the consideration and approval of the Common Council before making an award is an improper invasion of the power of the Board of Contract and Supply and an award made by such board without the approval of the Common Council was not illegal. Guerriero v Board of Contract & Supply, 60 Misc. 2d 22, 301 N.Y.S.2d 103, 1969 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1545 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1969).

The Common Council has the right to insist upon compliance with regulations prescribed in the enabling ordinance, but it may not appropriate authority to itself expressly delegated to the Board of Contract and Supply by the legislature. Guerriero v Board of Contract & Supply, 60 Misc. 2d 22, 301 N.Y.S.2d 103, 1969 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1545 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1969).

The village board, where it is the agency charged with awarding a contract by competitive bidding, should open and read all bids at a duly called and constituted meeting. Neither this function nor the awarding of the contract may be delegated to others. 1954 Op St Compt No. 54-6867.

When a town superintendent of highways advertises and receives bids for the purchase of road oil, it is not necessary that the town board approve the purchase and awarding of contract to the lowest responsible bidder. 1955 Op St Compt No. 55-7339.

Where the county purchasing agent has advertised for bids, he may award the contract without the approval of the board of supervisors. 1957 Op St Compt No. 57-315.

A village may not award a contract after competitive bidding unless an appropriation therefor has been made and moneys are available therefor or have been authorized to be borrowed. 1982 Op St Compt No. 82-173, 1982 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 547.

The appropriate officer, board or agency of a municipality or political subdivision may not constitute a board of technical specialists as sole judge of the conformance of bids with specifications. 1955 Op St Compt No. 55-7674.

121. Discretion of officials

County's discretion to determine which criteria to consider in assessing bids is limited only by requirements that criteria be rational and that reliance on those criteria be essential to good of taxpayers. Bay Harbour Elec. v County of Chautauqua, 210 A.D.2d 919, 621 N.Y.S.2d 259, 1994 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13392 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1994), app. denied, 85 N.Y.2d 810, 629 N.Y.S.2d 724, 653 N.E.2d 620, 1995 N.Y. LEXIS 2132 (N.Y. 1995).

The board or agency calling for bids has discretion to reject all bids. Wiltom Coach Co. v Central High School Dist., 36 Misc. 2d 637, 232 N.Y.S.2d 876, 1962 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2696 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1962).

Implicit in determining the lowest responsible bidder is exercise of administrative discretion, in which connection financial responsibility is a legitimate factor for consideration, but if that clearly appears from the low bidder's statement submitted with his bid, the bid cannot properly be rejected because of technical noncompliance with the precise specifications as to the manner in which it is presented. Caruci v Dulan, 41 Misc. 2d 859, 246 N.Y.S.2d 727, 1964 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2103 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1964), rev'd, 24 A.D.2d 529, 261 N.Y.S.2d 677, 1965 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3837 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1965).

In reviewing the propriety of considering alternates, so long as the municipality is entrusted with the power of awarding the contracts to the person making the lowest favorable proposal, the presumption of official integrity will attach to the action of that body and something more is necessary to impugn its award than mere proof that there was a lower bid (not including alternates) than the one accepted. Fonseca v Board of Education, 58 Misc. 2d 223, 294 N.Y.S.2d 952, 1968 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1179 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1968).

Unsuccessful bidder failed to show that city had acted in bad faith in awarding insurance contract to another firm. Surdell v Oswego, 91 Misc. 2d 1041, 399 N.Y.S.2d 173, 1977 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2476 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1977).

Courts will not interfere with discretion of board in rejecting lowest bid where board acted in good faith and best interest of the public. 1954 Op St Compt No. 54-6881.

Where no direct or indirect interest in public contracts exists, a fire district contract may be awarded to the adult son of a member of the board of fire commissioners where the son is the lowest responsible bidder on the contract. 1956 Op St Compt No. 56-8231.

It would appear to be unconstitutional for a county to give preference to county bidders over non-county bidders in the awarding of county purchase or public works contracts. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-17.

Where bid specifications provide that proximity to the town highway garage is a factor which will be considered in determining low bidder, a contract for the purchase of sand and gravel may be awarded to other than the lowest pecuniary bidder under certain circumstances. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-440, 1980 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 284.

When a municipal contract is to be let on competitive bidding, the approving board or agency has broad discretion in determining which bid most nearly answers the specifications and the courts will not ordinarily interfere with the exercise of this discretion. 1961 Op St Compt No. 61-42.

122. —Discretion upheld

Court properly dismissed Article 78 petition in which unsuccessful bidder challenged school board's award of 2 pupil transportation contracts as violative of public bidding statutes, on ground that board solicited bids in 2 alternative categories but awarded contracts to lowest responsible bidders in second category and then sought to obtain further price concessions through postbid negotiations, absent showing of "actual" impropriety, unfair dealing, or some other violation of statutory requirements; laws requiring competitive bidding were designed to benefit taxpayers rather than corporate bidders, and thus should be construed with sole reference to public interest. Acme Bus Corp. v Board of Educ., 91 N.Y.2d 51, 666 N.Y.S.2d 996, 689 N.E.2d 890, 1997 N.Y. LEXIS 3705 (N.Y. 1997).

There was a substantial factual basis for a resolution by the New York City Board of Education disqualifying certain bidders from bidding on contracts for school work and refusing to prequalify them for such bidding; hence a court could not substitute its judgment for that of the Board's. Caristo Constr. Corp. v Rubin, 15 A.D.2d 561, 222 N.Y.S.2d 998, 1961 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6875 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1961), aff'd, 10 N.Y.2d 538, 225 N.Y.S.2d 502, 180 N.E.2d 794, 1962 N.Y. LEXIS 1413 (N.Y. 1962).

In view of evidence that lowest bidder for contract with city was corporation with no employees, no experience in building construction and insufficient financial responsibility, and apparently bid for contract for proscribed purpose, i. e., to assign to another corporation for performance, city properly exercised discretion to reject the bid. Turnkey Constr. Corp. v Peekskill, 51 A.D.2d 729, 379 N.Y.S.2d 133, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11218 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1976).

Court would affirm determination disqualifying petitioner from award of municipal contract where petitioner could not comply with specific bid requirement, and plan submitted by petitioner varied materially from bid requirements. Schettino Serv. Corp. v Holbrook, 218 A.D.2d 741, 630 N.Y.S.2d 571, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8806 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1995), app. denied, 87 N.Y.2d 806, 640 N.Y.S.2d 878, 663 N.E.2d 920, 1996 N.Y. LEXIS 23 (N.Y. 1996).

Board of commissioners had a rational basis and acted within its discretion when rejecting a bidder's submission for a public contract to install a radio dispatch system because the bidder did not demonstrate that it had a service location within 20 miles of the fire district, the bidder offered to supply equipment which differed from the bid specifications, and over the life of the contract, the monthly maintenance costs rendered the bidder's bid more expensive than the competitor's. Matter of Hello Alert, Inc. v East Moriches Fire Dist., 129 A.D.3d 966, 13 N.Y.S.3d 113, 2015 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5088 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2015).

A board, which on the evidence before it, had reason to doubt the ability of the petitioner to perform the contract, even though he was the lowest bidder, did not act in an arbitrary or capricious manner in rejecting petitioner's bid. Haskell-Gilroy, Inc. v Young, 20 Misc. 2d 294, 189 N.Y.S.2d 774, 1959 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3122 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1959), aff'd, 10 A.D.2d 629, 196 N.Y.S.2d 328, 1960 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11951 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1960).

Even though competitive bidding is not required in granting a franchise since the award of the franchise does not involve the payment or expenditure of funds out of the city treasury (General Municipal Law, § 103; New York City Charter, ch 13, § 341), the Board of Estimate of the City of New York did not act arbitrarily and capriciously in declining to extend petitioner's interim three-year franchise to construct bus stop shelters which display advertising material and instead awarding a long-term franchise to the highest bidder upon terms and conditions more advantageous to the city that petitioner could not meet since the board has the duty to obtain the best terms possible for the city and the fact that petitioner pioneered the bus stop shelter program does not entitle it to be granted the franchise on its own terms; in view of the active interest in the bus stop shelter program, the board reasonably determined to seek proposals from those interested based upon the terms and conditions formulated by the board's Bureau of Franchises. BusTop Shelters, Inc. v New York, 99 Misc. 2d 198, 415 N.Y.S.2d 726, 1978 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2905 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1978).

The law permits a board the discretion of selecting the lowest responsible bidder on a public contract based on any reasonable standards or criteria and a court will not define or limit the standards nor second guess a determination of a board which has the statutory right of accepting or rejecting bids (General Municipal Law, § 103, subd 1), providing there is a reasonable basis for its determination since the board must be allowed to assess its own needs and decide which contractors would be most responsible for the services required; accordingly, respondent board of education which, as the result of a strike by school bus drivers, decided to include wage and hiring labor provisions in its specifications for bus contracts, except for contracts involving "five or fewer" buses, cannot be compelled to immediately award contracts for "five or fewer" buses, to petitioners, the low bidders who have indicated their willingness to accept the smaller contracts, regardless of any assurances the petitioners received from the board, since the court will not substitute its judgment for that of the board as to the number of contracts which would be better serviced by small companies and how many would benefit from the greater resources in equipment and manpower of larger companies. Kings Bay Buses, Inc. v Aiello, 100 Misc. 2d 1, 418 N.Y.S.2d 284, 1979 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2981 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1979).

The Board of Trustees of the Village of New York Mills may take a reasonable time after receiving bids before awarding a contract to purchase a new fire truck. 1973 NY Ops Atty Gen March 5 (Informal), 1973 N.Y. AG LEXIS 41.

Commissioner dismissed appeal in which petitioner, as former provider of transportation and vehicular maintenance services for city school district, challenged respondent's award of contracts to another bus company as (1) respondent had no legal obligation to accept petitioner's contract renewal offer, (2) petitioner was not lowest responsible bidder, (3) respondent's bid specifications were not ambiguous, and (4) respondent complied with its own specifications in awarding contracts. 1999 Op Comm Ed No. 14,170, 1999 NY Educ. Dept. LEXIS 132.

123. —Discretion not upheld

Urban renewal agency's determination that second lowest bidder was better qualified to perform contract was arbitrary and capricious where lowest bidder, who had never defaulted on any contract, was not accorded a hearing on the issue of his responsibility, and where city engineer's request for a "qualification statement" from bidders did not meet minimal requirements for a meaningful investigation. Seacoast Constr. Corp. v Lockport Urban Renewal Agency, 72 Misc. 2d 372, 339 N.Y.S.2d 188, 1972 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1348 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1972).

A local law which would permit the City of Jamestown to award contracts for goods and services to a bidder other than the lowest responsible bidder, where such other bidder maintains a place of business in the City or sells goods manufactured in the City and submits a bid within five percent of the low bid, would be inconsistent with the purposes of General Municipal Law, § 103 and may be unconstitutional as violative of the Privileges and Immunities and/or Equal Protection clauses. 1981 Op St Compt No. 81-142, 1981 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 742.

124. Review

Six-year catch-all limitations period of N.Y. C.P.L.R. 213 governed a town's claim that there was a violation of the competitive bidding requirements of N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 103 because the substance of the claim involved both common-law breach of contract and fraud principles because the town sought to recover damages because a renovation agreement allegedly was not awarded to the lowest bidder, and the owners of a warehouse allegedly participated in a fraudulent scheme to structure a sham lease with an option to purchase in order to accomplish that result. Town of Poughkeepsie v Espie, 41 A.D.3d 701, 840 N.Y.S.2d 600, 2007 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7768 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't), app. dismissed, 9 N.Y.3d 1003, 849 N.Y.S.2d 30, 879 N.E.2d 170, 2007 N.Y. Unsuccessful bidder on construction project for school districts could not maintain action for damages against public officials, since awarding of bids is discretionary function under CLS Gen Mun §§ 100-a and 103, and thus reviewable only through Article 78 proceedings. Di Berardino's, Inc. v Rome Consol. School Dist., 134 Misc. 2d 288, 510 N.Y.S.2d 791, 1986 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3101 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1986).

125. Award to lowest bidder

In an Article 78 proceeding, the award of a public contract for the administration and operation of the dietary department of a hospital and nursing facility would be annulled, where the county recomputed petitioner's low bid by applying a fixed cost-to-price ratio for nonpatient food that had not been described in the specifications, with the result that petitioner's readjusted bid was higher than that of the bidder to whom the contract was awarded. However, the county would be directed to seek new bids where petitioner did not have a clear legal right to the award of the contract. Progressive Dietary Consultants, Inc. v Wyoming County, 90 A.D.2d 214, 457 N.Y.S.2d 159, 1982 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 18829 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1982).

New contract specification included in New York City public improvement contracts which, in effort to control delays and attendant costs caused by disputes between City contractors and utility companies whose facilities must be relocated during City projects, requiring that, on award of contract, City's contractor commence immediate negotiations with affected utility companies as to compensation for contractor's performance of necessary utility "interference work" and further requiring that, if no agreement is reached within 4 weeks after award of contract, dispute with any utility company be submitted to expedited binding arbitration, did not violate mandate that "all contracts for public work . . . be awarded . . . to the lowest responsible bidder" (CLS Gen Mun § 103(1)); new contract specification clearly bifurcated bidding process for public work, which remained sole preserve of City, from negotiations for utility "interference work" in which City had no role except to retain right to insist that its own contracts be timely performed and not made perpetually subject to maneuvering between contractors and utility companies in their private dealings. General Contrs. Ass'n v Tormenta, 259 A.D.2d 177, 696 N.Y.S.2d 155, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10501 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1999), app. denied, 2000 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2282 (N.Y. Tortious interference claims brought by a manufacturer's authorized dealers against competitors failed because the evidence showed neither prospective business relationships nor wrongful conduct; a state regulation requiring maintenance according to the manufacturer's instructions did not require schools to employ the authorized dealers, nor did the authorized dealers show that they would have been awarded the maintenance contracts as the lowest responsible bidder. Gym Door Repairs, Inc. v Young Equip. Sales, Inc., 331 F. Supp. 3d 221, 2018 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 160442 (S.D.N.Y. 2018).

126. —What constitutes low bid

Under General Municipal Law § 103 requiring that for public works contracts in excess of $2500, the contract be let publicly and to the lowest responsible bidder, the fact that the low bid is the total of two or more separate bids is unimportant. Sweet Associates, Inc. v Gallman, 36 A.D.2d 95, 318 N.Y.S.2d 528, 1971 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4611 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1971), aff'd, 29 N.Y.2d 902, 328 N.Y.S.2d 857, 279 N.E.2d 602, 1972 N.Y. LEXIS 1587 (N.Y. 1972).

School district did not act improperly in rejecting contractor's bid, notwithstanding fact that bid accepted by school district set forth breakdown of unit prices bid rather than total bid amount, since total bid was readily ascertainable by simple mathematical calculation and was lower than petitioner's bid; absence of total bid amount constituted mere irregularity which could be waived by school district. Daniel Finley Allen & Co. v East Williston Union Free School Dist., 143 A.D.2d 662, 533 N.Y.S.2d 19, 1988 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10007 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1988).

Respondent school district did not violate section 103 of the General Municipal Law, which requires that all major governmental purchases be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder, in awarding a fuel requirement contract to the correspondent fuel company and rejecting the bid of petitioner fuel company, whose bid cited a present price per gallon as well as an index to be used in allowing for future price fluctuations without explaining the relationship between the index price and any new prices; the school district rationally selected a company which in their best judgment would be the lowest bidder in the long run, and rejected a company whose bid was improperly drawn and whose prior fuel service had been questioned. Monoco Oil Co. v Collins, 96 Misc. 2d 631, 409 N.Y.S.2d 498, 1978 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2652 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1978).

Contractors, who were lowest joint bidders for project contracts, were not lowest responsible bidders under CLS Gen Mun § 103(1) because utility work included in project contracts was not "public work" where it directly benefitted, and was on behalf of, privately owned utilities. Diamond Asphalt Corp. v Sander, 171 Misc. 2d 879, 655 N.Y.S.2d 706, 1996 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 565 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1996), aff'd, 238 A.D.2d 197, 656 N.Y.S.2d 248, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3764 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1997).

Petitioner could not be considered the lowest bidder on a school district contract for a new school bus where the instructions to bidders stated that the board wanted net bids after allowing credit for a vehicle to be turned in, as the controlling price was nevertheless the full amount which the board would have to pay, or gross price, the amount allowed on a trade-in being merely to provide part of the fund needed for purchase of a new bus, and petitioner did not submit the lowest gross price. Cassel v Board of Education Common School Dist., 220 N.Y.S.2d 262 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1961).

Petitioner was not lowest bidder, and no basis existed to annul award of contracts to its competitor, where competitor bid at cost plus rate of 6.2 percent versus petitioner's rate of 6.45 percent, and petitioner's costs were same as competitor's costs. 1994 Op Comm Ed No. 13,215, 1994 NY Educ. Dept. LEXIS 128.

127. —Award where bid exceeds contract price

In the absence of a showing of bad faith or fraud by city officials, a city may accept bids which were theretofore received in an amount in excess of the authorized expenditures when and if sufficient funds were made available without advertising for new bids. Riley v Buffalo, 63 Misc. 2d 143, 310 N.Y.S.2d 981, 1970 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1661 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1970).

Where a Board of Education receives bids exceeding budget appropriation, it may not legally enter into a contract with the low bidder with the understanding that certain items will be eliminated from the specifications so as to bring the contract price within the appropriation. 1962 Op St Compt No. 62-995.

A municipality would appear to be unauthorized to negotiate solely with a "low" bidder in order for such bidder to reduce his bid price to an amount acceptable to the municipality. Opinion State Compt. No. 61-476 (reported as 17 Op. State Compt. 251, 1961) to the contrary is superseded. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-331.

128. Requirement that lowest bidder be responsible

Agency has obligation to consider responsibility of bidder, including its skill, judgment, and integrity, and may, on basis of prior criminal record of some of its principals, rationally reject that bidder. DeFoe Corp. v New York City DOT, 87 N.Y.2d 754, 642 N.Y.S.2d 588, 665 N.E.2d 158, 1996 N.Y. LEXIS 307 (N.Y. 1996).

Pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 103 and N.Y. Town Law § 122, it was improper for a town to award a contract to a corporation based on qualitative factors that were not contained in the bidding proposal because a bidder's proposal was the low bid, and, absent a finding of lack of responsibility, there was no authority to support the rejection of the bidder's proposal for one that was considered more responsible. Matter of AAA Carting & Rubbish Removal, Inc. v Town of Southeast, 17 N.Y.3d 136, 927 N.Y.S.2d 618, 951 N.E.2d 57, 2011 N.Y. LEXIS 1397 (N.Y. 2011).

Determination of nonresponsibility did not implicitly extend contract bidder's period of debarment or unlawfully splinter penalties that could be assessed against bidder for prior Labor Law violations. Mid-State Indus. v City of Cohoes, 221 A.D.2d 705, 633 N.Y.S.2d 238, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10693 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1995).

In requiring the letting of contracts to the lowest "responsible" bidder, the word quoted is the key word, meaning "accountable" or "reliable." Meyer v Board of Education, 31 Misc. 2d 407, 221 N.Y.S.2d 500, 1961 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2271 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1961). To same effect, W. J. The question of which of two low bidders is more qualified to perform a contract is not germane to a determination of lowest bidder's responsibility. Seacoast Constr. Corp. v Lockport Urban Renewal Agency, 72 Misc. 2d 372, 339 N.Y.S.2d 188, 1972 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1348 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1972).

The municipal agency that awards a public contract to the lowest responsible bidder, as required by Gen Mun Law § 103, has the power to convene a Board of Responsibility after the award has been made to determine whether the awarding agency should perform the contract where facts have come to light after the award which may directly affect the responsiblity of the bidder, and a postaward determination by the Board of lack of responsibility and the resulting rescission of awarded contracts may not be challenged by way of prohibition; but a bidder may not be disqualified on the basis of a determination of the board of any agency other than the awarding agency. Lord Electric Co. v Litke, 122 Misc. 2d 112, 469 N.Y.S.2d 846, 1983 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 4083 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1983).

New York City Board of Responsibility had jurisdiction to continue hearing into whether petitioner was "responsible" bidder for city contracts, even though petitioner had withdrawn its bid, since petitioner was aware that procedure before board was possibility, and to divest board of jurisdiction through unilateral act of bidder would enable bidder to observe evidence introduced against it and then, at later stage of hearing, determine whether it wished decision on issue. Mars Associates, Inc. v Palmer, 140 Misc. 2d 1005, 531 N.Y.S.2d 1017, 1988 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 528 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1988).

129. —Ability to perform contract

In view of evidence that lowest bidder for contract with city was corporation with no employees, no experience in building construction and insufficient financial responsibility, and apparently bid for contract for proscribed purpose, i. e., to assign to another corporation for performance, city properly exercised discretion to reject the bid. Turnkey Constr. Corp. v Peekskill, 51 A.D.2d 729, 379 N.Y.S.2d 133, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11218 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1976).

Requiring bidders to demonstrate successful completion of comparable work on at least 2 buildings listed in National Register of Historic Places within 5 years of bid on contracts involving renovation of historically significant building on campus of publicly financed, county-operated college violated CLS Gen Mun § 103; even though experience of bidder may be considered, it may not serve to eliminate bidder unless it is of sort which can fairly be viewed as essential to public's interest in seeing particular project brought to successful completion at lowest possible cost. Construction Contractors Ass'n v Board of Trustees, 192 A.D.2d 265, 600 N.Y.S.2d 953, 1993 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7539 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1993).

County properly determined that petitioner was not lowest responsible bidder where (1) county rationally relied on petitioner's unresponsiveness, hostility, and lack of cooperation in response to repeated requests for information, and (2) information sought by county bore directly on petitioner's qualifications, skill, and ability to carry out project. Bay Harbour Elec. v County of Chautauqua, 210 A.D.2d 919, 621 N.Y.S.2d 259, 1994 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13392 (N.Y. County's refusal to award contract for transportation services for disabled children to petitioner, as lowest bidder, was not arbitrary and capricious where fulfilling contract would have required petitioner to rapidly increase size of its operation, and deficiencies in its explanatory submissions raised substantial doubt as to its ability to meet demands of contract. Donson Transp. Servs. v County of Broome, 257 A.D.2d 825, 683 N.Y.S.2d 642, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 366 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1999).

Town's rejection of petitioner's bid, on ground that petitioner was not "responsible bidder," was not arbitrary or capricious or contrary to law where petitioner initially failed to furnish information as to type and duration of its relevant experience as required by bidding documents, town solicited additional information but petitioner's subsequent submissions lacked specificity regarding its experience maintaining lighting system as large as that of town, and it supplied detailed information only in reply papers submitted in response to respondents' opposition in Article 78 proceeding. Eldor Contr. Corp. v Town of Islip, 277 A.D.2d 233, 716 N.Y.S.2d 681, 2000 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11181 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2000).

130. —Criminal activities

Community college board of trustees improperly denied electrical contractor, as unsuccessful low bidder, meaningful and timely opportunity to defend its name and reputation as responsible bidder on public contract where board omitted matter of contract from published meeting agenda, matter was added only after executive session, and matter was quickly resolved before contractor could know of or address its impact; however, because contractor's criminal indictment or stipulation to willful violations of Labor Law might have provided rational basis for board's determination that contractor was not responsible bidder, on remand board should reexamine only its implicit determination of contractor's nonresponsibility, on appropriate notice and opportunity. LaCorte Electrical Constr. & Maintenance, Inc. v County of Rensselaer, 80 N.Y.2d 232, 590 N.Y.S.2d 26, 604 N.E.2d 88, 1992 N.Y. LEXIS 3483 (N.Y. 1992).

It was proper for New York City Comptroller and mayor to refuse to register contract awarded to contractor based on, inter alia, comptroller's objection that 2 of contractor's principals who had previously been convicted by fraud might still play integral part in contractor's operations, and contractor's failure to disclose prior statutory and OSHA violations. DeFoe Corp. v New York City DOT, 87 N.Y.2d 754, 642 N.Y.S.2d 588, 665 N.E.2d 158, 1996 N.Y. LEXIS 307 (N.Y. 1996).

Board of Review of New York City Board of Education did not act arbitrarily or capriciously in denying petitioner corporation status as responsible bidder for asbestos removal contract where petitioner's president, sole stockholder and principal officer had recently been convicted of federal felony on pleading guilty to payment of gratuity to federal Environmental Protection Agency inspector in connection with another asbestos abatement project. A. Grgas Contracting Co. v Mercklowitz, 168 A.D.2d 678, 563 N.Y.S.2d 505, 1990 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 15992 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1990).

Determination that corporation, although lowest bidder, was not "responsible bidder" for proposed construction of police precinct jail had rational basis where background check revealed that individual previously listed as principal of corporation had been convicted under federal indictment of labor union racketeering, and fact that he had transferred his 50 percent interest in corporation to his wife without consideration did not alter result, since such fact, along with individual's continuing activities as "consultant" to corporation, supported conclusion that his relationship to corporation was not sufficiently attenuated to dispel appearance of his influence and control. Perna Contracting Co. v City of N.Y., 191 A.D.2d 232, 595 N.Y.S.2d 2, 1993 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2184 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1993).

Court properly upheld determination of New York City Health and Hospitals Corporation (HHC) Panel of Contractor Responsibility that petitioner was not responsible bidder on 2 contracts for electrical work at hospitals administered by HHC, based on information that petitioner's principal pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct in settlement of felony charge of attempted second degree bribery arising from petitioner's principal having bribed city inspector to overlook electrical code violations. N.J.D. Elecs. v New York City Health & Hosps. Corp., 205 A.D.2d 323, 612 N.Y.S.2d 577, 1994 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6046 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1994).

In determining whether petitioner was "responsible bidder," city agency's review of attempted second degree bribery charge against principal of petitioner did not violate CLS CPL §§ 160.50 and 160.60, which govern termination of criminal action in "favor" of accused, since petitioner's principal's acknowledged guilty plea to disorderly conduct in settlement of bribery charge did not constitute favorable termination. N.J.D. Elecs. v New York City Health & Hosps. Corp., 205 A.D.2d 323, 612 N.Y.S.2d 577, 1994 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6046 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1994).

It was rational for city to conclude that petitioner was not lowest responsible bidder given petitioner's prior criminal convictions and willful violations of Labor Law. New York City Comptroller properly declined to register bus transportation contract due to bus company's involvement in corrupt practices where (1) ex-husband of president of bus company was convicted of giving unlawful gratuity in connection with inspections of buses owned by bus company, and (2) president of bus company made apparently false statements regarding extent of her ex-husband's involvement in affairs of bus company. 131. —False or evasive statements; failure to respond Rational basis existed to find that electrical contractor was non-responsible bidder for purposes of awarding contract under CLS Gen Mun § 103(1) where, in responding to municipal questionnaires, it concealed 7 prior determinations that it was non-responsible due to failure to have its electrical work supervised by licensed master electrician, indicating that it lacked integrity. Deol Elec. Contr. Inc. v Barrios-Paoli, 258 A.D.2d 327, 685 N.Y.S.2d 208, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1145 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1999).

Board of Responsibility properly found plumbing contractor to be nonresponsible bidder based upon contractor's routine practice of inaccurate and evasive completion of forms, false and misleading answers given on bid applications, indictment of its president and sole shareholder on charges of obstruction of justice, and president's failure to answer questions regarding indictment, since behavior of contractor's employees and its president reflected contractor's judgment and integrity; penalty of 3 years' suspension for all city contracts was not so excessive as to be arbitrary. Arc Plumbing & Heating Corp. v Board of Responsibility of Dep't of General Services, 135 Misc. 2d 413, 515 N.Y.S.2d 685, 1987 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2237 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1987).

Failure of president of bus company to respond in her sworn statement to material question about involvement of her ex-husband in affairs of bus company was indicative of fact that bus company was not "responsible" bidder within meaning of CLS Gen Mun § 103(1), and supported denial of registration of bus transportation contract by city comptroller. Dentom Transp., Inc. v New York City Human Resources Admin., 155 Misc. 2d 31, 588 N.Y.S.2d 713, 1992 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 356 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1992).

In Article 78 proceeding to challenge denial of registration of bus transportation contract by city comptroller on basis that president of bus company made apparently false statements regarding extent of involvement of her ex-husband (who had been convicted of giving unlawful gratuity in connection with inspections of buses owned by bus company) in affairs of bus company, court would reject contention that bus company was denied equal protection in that certain other contractors had been permitted to extend contracts by stipulating that no indicted employee would be associated with contractor for 5 years, since submission of false statement by president of bus company in attempt to hide material facts as to bus company's operation was not similar to admission of employment of indicted persons coupled with agreement not employ such persons. Dentom Transp., Inc. v New York City Human Resources Admin., 155 Misc. 2d 31, 588 N.Y.S.2d 713, 1992 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 356 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1992).

132. —Financial responsibility

Issues of fact precluded summary judgment as to whether contractor had sufficient assets to be "responsible bidder" under CLS Gen Mun § 103, despite contractor's acknowledgment that its books had been falsified during 8-year period up to year of bid, since such falsification did not necessarily mean that contractor was not "responsible bidder." National States Elec. Corp. v City of New York, 225 A.D.2d 745, 640 N.Y.S.2d 186, 1996 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3226 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1996).

Deposition testimony of contractor's president as to net worth of contractor did not support city's motion for summary judgment on ground that contractor had falsified its books and that its net worth was below financial requirement for "responsible bidder" under CLS Gen Mun § 103, even though president acknowledged falsification and stated that net worth was between $0 and deficit of $10,321, where president had not assumed office until after bid had been accepted, he had no personal knowledge of facts, and he had not spoken to any parties allegedly involved in falsification. National States Elec. Corp. v City of New York, 225 A.D.2d 745, 640 N.Y.S.2d 186, 1996 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3226 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1996).

Respondents' rescission of contract awarded to petitioner, on ground that petitioner lacked financial and business integrity and therefore was nonresponsible bidder, was rationally supported by evidence of petitioner's failure to disclose information about its taxes and corporate status in questionnaires required both before and after contract was awarded, and its lack of candor with respect to ownership of enterprise. Ciprietti- Tolisano Assocs. v Karnovsky, 268 A.D.2d 234, 700 N.Y.S.2d 473, 2000 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 56 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't), app. denied, 95 N.Y.2d 759, 714 N.Y.S.2d 709, 737 N.E.2d 951, 2000 N.Y. LEXIS 2254 (N.Y. 2000).

Implicit in determining the lowest responsible bidder is exercise of administrative discretion, in which connection financial responsibility is a legitimate factor for consideration, but if that clearly appears from the low bidder's statement submitted with his bid, the bid cannot properly be rejected because of technical noncompliance with the precise specifications as to the manner in which it is presented. Caruci v Dulan, 41 Misc. 2d 859, 246 N.Y.S.2d 727, 1964 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2103 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1964), rev'd, 24 A.D.2d 529, 261 N.Y.S.2d 677, 1965 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3837 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1965).

Where the low bidder on a municipal project fails to accompany his bid with security as required by the specifications, and the board rejects his bid for that reason, the board should not be required to reverse its decision and award the contract to such bidder because, subsequently, and before the project is awarded to the next lowest bidder, the low one offers to meet the precise requirements for security, as such a course of conduct could well discourage contractors from bidding on future projects. Stage v Whitehouse, 43 Misc. 2d 703, 252 N.Y.S.2d 142, 1964 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1515 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1964).

Subdivision 1 of this section provides that the contract shall be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder "furnishing the required security," and where a call for bids requires a certified check for ten percent of the amount bid, the same to be treated as liquidated damages, a bidder's substitution of a bond or undertaking limited to one item of damage permits the board to exercise its discretion to reject the accompanying bid, notwithstanding it is the low bid. Stage v Whitehouse, 43 Misc. 2d 703, 252 N.Y.S.2d 142, 1964 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1515 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1964).

County officials were not arbitrary and capricious in refusing to award a contract to petitioner for electrical work to be performed on a hospital addition, where petitioner failed to submit a proper performance bond as required by the instructions to bidders and failed to establish financial responsibility with respect to the working capital required of each bidder. Application of P. J. Panzeca, Inc., 56 Misc. 2d 460, 288 N.Y.S.2d 813, 1968 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1748 (N.Y. Sup. Ct.), aff'd, 30 A.D.2d 640, 292 N.Y.S.2d 1007, 1968 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6254 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1968).

The lowest bidder on a school transportation contract was disqualified for failing to meet the "responsible bidder" requirements of General Municipal Law § 103(1) by not filing current financial data along with its bid as required by the school board's specifications and, although the bidder had data on file from previous bids, this information could not compensate for the lack of adequate current records. Harran Transp. Co. v Board of Education, 71 Misc. 2d 139, 335 N.Y.S.2d 465, 1972 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1612 (N.Y. Sup. Ct.), reh'g denied, 71 Misc. 2d 143, 335 N.Y.S.2d 971, 1972 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1579 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1972).

Where bid specification stated neither a specific time nor a specific form in which to file certain required information, law bidder's submission at "Eleventh Hour" of balance sheet, statements of expenses, statements of income, projected sales and income and historical reports supplied sufficient detail in aggregate so as to constitute an "operating statement" as required by bid specifications, and to meet the "responsible bidder" requirements of General Municipal Law § 103, subd 1. Harran Transp. Co. v Board of Education, 71 Misc. 2d 143, 335 N.Y.S.2d 971, 1972 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1579 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1972).

A surety would be liable to a city under a contract bid bond issued by the surety to the low bidder on a data processing contract due to the contractor's failure to acquire performance bonds, which were required by the terms of the bid bond as a condition precedent to commencing work, since the city did not waive any claim to the bond proceeds by allowing the low bidder to perform for four and one-half months, since recovery was not precluded by the fact that the city had overlooked the performance bond requirement in that the bid bond provided no exemption from liability under such circumstance and in that parties who contract with the city are compelled to follow the bidding requirements set forth in the applicable city charter provision, since the action against the surety was not precluded by the city's settlement with the contractor for work performed under a theory of quantum meruit, and since no showing of actual damage to the city was necessary to support the claim against the surety in that the penalty sought by the city was similar to a statutory penalty for nonperformance of a statutory duty. New York v United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 119 Misc. 2d 725, 464 N.Y.S.2d 659, 1983 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3585 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1983).

Board of education was entitled to reject petitioner's bids for 2 construction projects based on petitioner's failure to submit bid security with either bid. 1999 Op Comm Ed No. 14,146, 1999 NY Educ. Dept. LEXIS 110.

Where lowest bidder's failure to adhere to stated security requirements was not merely a technical defect, the board of education should have rebid the contract for the reconstruction of school roofs and should not have waived compliance with the advertised conditions. In the Matter of Triple M Roofing Corp., Op Comm Ed No. 9404.

Where a call for bids on a garbage removal and disposal contract clearly requires the successful bidder to put up a performance bond within 15 days from acceptance of his proposal, and that the deposit made in connection with his bid will be forfeited if he fails to enter into a contract pursuant to the specified requirements within 15 days, his inability to obtain a performance bond within the period specified does not affect forfeiture of his deposit. 1961 Op St Compt No. 61-155.

133. —Prior poor performance

Lowest bidder for street rehabilitation contract may be found irresponsible and bid rejected where bidder has provided poor service under prior contract as evidenced by proof that asphalt unraveled, potholes and contaminated surface mats appeared, and city experienced difficulty resolving problems with bidder. Callanan Industries, Inc. v Schenectady, 116 A.D.2d 883, 498 N.Y.S.2d 490, 1986 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 51689 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1986).

134. —Burden of proof

A determination by the village board, which determined by a vote of 5-1, that the lowest bidder was not the lowest responsible bidder, would not be set aside in a proceeding under Art. 78 of the CPA, in the absence of any factual showing of fraud, since it would be presumed, that the board acted in good faith and honestly exercised its judgment and discretion in not awarding the contract to the petitioner. Application of Limitone, 21 Misc. 2d 376, 189 N.Y.S.2d 738, 1959 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3482 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1959).

In a proceeding by the low bidder on a school district project to compel the Board of Education to award him the contract, petitioner has the burden of proof that he is a responsible bidder, and there is no burden on the Board to go out and investigate blindly the bidder's responsibility beyond interviewing persons whose names he has supplied as references. Meyer v Board of Education, 31 Misc. 2d 407, 221 N.Y.S.2d 500, 1961 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2271 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1961).

A petitioner, who was low bidder for a municipal contract, seeking to compel award of the contract to himself as low bidder and cancellation of an award to the next low bidder, has the burden of showing that he is a "responsible" bidder, and the Board's decision cannot be overturned as long as there was a reasonable and plausible basis for its determination. W. J. Gaskell, Inc. v Maslanka, 33 Misc. 2d 88, 225 N.Y.S.2d 94, 1962 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3988 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1962).

135. Hearings

City's failure to provide bidder with hearing on rejected bid does not violate due process where bidder is provided informal conferences with city council and other city officers, along with right to file Article 78 proceeding. Callanan Industries, Inc. v Schenectady, 116 A.D.2d 883, 498 N.Y.S.2d 490, 1986 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 51689 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1986).

Roofing contractor whose low bid was rejected by city was entitled to remittal of matter, and to notice and opportunity to be heard, so that city could reexamine its implicit determination of contractor's nonresponsibility; procedural safeguards are required because low bidder's commercial good name, honor or integrity is at stake. Horizon Roofing & Sheetmetal v City of Glens Falls, 205 A.D.2d 916, 613 N.Y.S.2d 464, 1994 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6273 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1994).

A bidder is not entitled to a hearing by the board, either statutorily or by implication. If the board does grant a hearing the bidder cannot object to the hearing which is held. Haskell-Gilroy, Inc. v Young, 20 Misc. 2d 294, 189 N.Y.S.2d 774, 1959 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3122 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1959), aff'd, 10 A.D.2d 629, 196 N.Y.S.2d 328, 1960 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11951 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1960).

A board of education after receiving bids on electrical wiring for a school project, used a common sense approach and method in asking its own architect to investigate and report on the bidders and taking into consideration the architect's report that the references supplied by one of the bidders, who had made the low bid, disclosed difficulties in his obtaining approval for work done and that he was difficult to handle and deal with and thereafter holding a hearing at which this bidder was allowed to appear in person and by his attorney, then, on the basis of the architect's report and its own judgment, awarding the bid to the next lowest bidder. Meyer v Board of Education, 31 Misc. 2d 407, 221 N.Y.S.2d 500, 1961 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2271 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1961).

A Village Board used a common sense approach and method in appraising the responsibility of bidders on a refuse incinerator project where it appointed its consulting engineer to investigate and report, then held a meeting at which it fully considered testimony of witnesses and the report of the engineer, and its rejection of the lowest bidder and award of the contract to the next low bidder would not be overturned where there was justifiable doubt as to responsibility of the low bidder, after due consideration and deliberation by the Board itself, but none as to the responsibility of the next bidder. W. J. Gaskell, Inc. v Maslanka, 33 Misc. 2d 88, 225 N.Y.S.2d 94, 1962 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3988 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1962).

An urban renewal agency, in determining the issue of a low bidder's responsibility, exercises a function that is judicial or quasi-judicial in nature, and thus such determination requires a hearing in accord with due process, whether or not such hearing is required by statute. Seacoast Constr. Corp. v Lockport Urban Renewal Agency, 72 Misc. 2d 372, 339 N.Y.S.2d 188, 1972 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1348 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1972).

Urban renewal agency's determination that second lowest bidder was better qualified to perform contract was arbitrary and capricious where lowest bidder, who had never defaulted on any contract, was not accorded a hearing on the issue of his responsibility, and where city engineer's request for a "qualification statement" from bidders did not meet minimal requirements for a meaningful investigation. Seacoast Constr. Corp. v Lockport Urban Renewal Agency, 72 Misc. 2d 372, 339 N.Y.S.2d 188, 1972 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1348 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1972).

Plumbing contractor found to be nonresponsible bidder as result of false and misleading answers given on its bid application as well as indictment of its sole stockholder and president on charges of obstruction of justice was not deprived of adequate notice where Board of Responsibility advised contractor that its president's indictment and bid submission as well as specific question on experience questionnaire were at issue. Arc Plumbing & Heating Corp. v Board of Responsibility of Dep't of General Services, 135 Misc. 2d 413, 515 N.Y.S.2d 685, 1987 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2237 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1987).

At hearing in which Board of Responsibility found plumbing contractor to be nonresponsible bidder, board was entitled to hold contractor accountable for its president's refusal to testify, for even though exercise of privilege could not be used to penalize contractor's president, corporation had no Fifth Amendment right notwithstanding that corporation was owned by president as sole shareholder. Arc Plumbing & Heating Corp. v Board of Responsibility of Dep't of General Services, 135 Misc. 2d 413, 515 N.Y.S.2d 685, 1987 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2237 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1987).

In Article 78 proceeding to challenge denial of registration of bus transportation contract by city comptroller on basis that president of bus company made apparently false statements regarding extent of involvement of her ex-husband (who had been convicted of giving unlawful gratuity in connection with inspections of buses owned by bus company) in affairs of bus company, court would reject contention that bus company was denied procedural due process in that comptroller relied on information from undercover officer in preparing report regarding bus company, and that bus company was not permitted to interview or cross examine officer, since no statute required city to offer hearing to bus company as to comptroller's determination, and right to bid on contract was not property right. Dentom Transp., Inc. v New York City Human Resources Admin., 155 Misc. 2d 31, 588 N.Y.S.2d 713, 1992 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 356 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1992).

136. Contract payments; escalation clauses

The City of Binghamton, having contracted with a bidder for the purchase of a fire engine for the City at a certain price, is not authorized to amend the contract to include an escalation clause unless the original bidding specifications authorized such a clause. The City is also not authorized to amend the contract to provide for payment of a portion of the purchase price before the fire engine has been delivered. 1974 NY Ops Atty Gen Nov 21 (Informal), 1974 N.Y. AG LEXIS 183.

21. While contracts may be let on a unit bid basis under specifications stating that the amounts indicated for various units are mere estimates and that the ultimate sum paid for any given unit of work will be the amount actually used, governing bodies often fail to take into consideration, when appropriating funds for such contracts, that the contract bid price may not be the ultimate price. 1960 Op St Compt No. 60-971.

A village may award a contract for the purchase of items, with a provision for a delayed delivery date, and for price adjustments in accordance with market conditions. 1967 Op St Compt NO. 67-409.

Discussion of right of municipality to accept a bid which provides for the contract price to be decreased or increased due to an increase or decrease in posted prices at vendor's service station. 1960 Op St Compt NO. 60-295.

137. —Sales taxes

Where bid specifications required bidders to exclude the sales tax cost from their proposals, and provided that the county would later reimburse the contractor for such expense, if it was determined that such taxes were due and payable, the county is required to reimburse the contractor for such cost. 1967 Op St Compt NO. 67-417.

A payment by a municipality to a contractor, after completion of a construction contract, over and above the contract price, predicated on his failure to include sales tax costs in his bid, would be an unconstitutional gift of public funds to an individual. 1969 Op St Compt NO. 69-159.

Sales taxes must be paid on materials purchased by a contractor for a contract with a town water district irrespective of the fact that the contract separately states the labor and material components. 1969 Op St Compt No. 69-289.

138. Contractor's claim for additional work

Where a contract for the paving of certain designated streets has been let after competitive bids have been taken, a claim by the successful bidder, based on the contract, for the paving of additional streets may not be paid. 1956 Op St Compt NO. 56-7851.

Where a contract for the furnishing of a certain quantity "more or less" of a particular material has been let after competitive bids have been taken, not on the basis of the unit price, but for a gross amount, a claim by the successful bidder, based on the contract, for furnishing additional quantities of the material at the unit price may not be paid. 1956 Op St Compt No. 56-7951.

Where a contract has been let to a contractor after competitive bidding and the contractor subsequently performs additional work pursuant to verbal agreement, his claim for such additional work may not be paid. 1956 Op St Compt No. 56-8147.

A village may not pay a claim submitted by a low bidder for an amount in excess of the bid price where the bidder delivered a vehicle which contained additional equipment not called for in the bid specifications nor requested or approved for purchase by the village board of trustees. 1979 Op St Compt NO. 79-842, 1980 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 398.

139. Conflicts of interest

Contract for furnishing and installation of equipment in county courthouse was void where open competitive bidding was impaired by the reasonable apprehension of prospective bidders that performance of the resulting contract would be supervised by a design consultant employed by county board of supervisors who was also an officer of successful bidder and that such consultant might exercise his powers under the special petitions favorable to the successful bidder, if it obtained the contract and unfavorable to its competitors if they secured it. Olean Standard Equipment Co. v Cattaraugus County Board of Supervisors, 30 A.D.2d 758, 291 N.Y.S.2d 861, 1968 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3673 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1968).

Award of liability insurance contract for city to one agency did not violate statute prohibiting conflict of interest of municipal employee, where it did not appear that the agency was a "municipal employee" within meaning of the statute when it contracted to draw specifications for city's insurance needs. Surdell v Oswego, 91 Misc. 2d 1041, 399 N.Y.S.2d 173, 1977 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2476 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1977).

It seems that a board of trustees may properly award a contract to purchase equipment to the lowest bidder even though such bidder is the husband of one of the village trustees. 1954 NY Ops Atty Gen June 4 (Informal), 1954 N.Y. AG LEXIS 291.

Where the village trustee is an employee of the lowest bidder on a village purchase contract, such contract should not be awarded to the trustee's employer. 1955 Op St Compt No. 55-7495.

Execution of a contract for the purchase by the town of gravel from a councilman-elect, which contract would be for a long term and entered into prior to his taking office, would not technically, create a prohibited conflict of interest. However, such an arrangement violates the spirit and intent of Article 18. 1967 Op St Compt NO. 67-979.

Although there would be no prohibited conflict of interest if a town were to provide in its bidding specifications that it reserves the option to sell any equipment, to be traded in, to town employees at the trade-in-price, such a procedure could create certain serious problems in determining the low bidder, and might also have the effect of increasing the prices for the items to be purchased. 1968 Op St Compt No. 68-711.

Employment by fire district of professional engineer as independent contractor to prepare plans and specifications, and to supervise work, on construction project when engineer also is one-half owner of construction firm which may bid on building project presents possible violations of ethical and professional conduct standards and of competitive bidding statute. 1989 Op St Compt No. 89-12, 1989 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 15.

140. Action to compel award

Although trial court may properly find that administrative body has acted in arbitrary or capricious manner in rejecting bid for contract made by sole bidder, court is not authorized to compel award of contract but is limited to remand matter to administrative agency for further proceedings in accordance with court opinion. Burke's Auto Body, Inc. v Ameruso, 113 A.D.2d 198, 495 N.Y.S.2d 393, 1985 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 52351 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1985).

141. Post bid activities

School district was not required to rebid contract for bus transportation services by changes in contract made after acceptance of bid where changes were in public interest, with no advantage to low bidder at other bidders' expense, and there was no evidence of favoritism, fraud, or corruption. Decker v Gooley, 212 A.D.2d 893, 622 N.Y.S.2d 374, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1409 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1995).

Board of education did not commit any impropriety in conducting post-bid negotiations with lowest aggregate bidders in order to procure further cost reductions in connection with subject transportation contracts. 142. Miscellaneous

A contract which provides for a lesser income to the governmental unit than a competitor's contract might provide is an "expenditure" within the meaning of General Municipal L § 103. Signacon Controls, Inc. v Mulroy, 32 N.Y.2d 410, 345 N.Y.S.2d 527, 298 N.E.2d 670, 1973 N.Y. LEXIS 1214 (N.Y. 1973).

Where, inter alia, it appeared that not all preliminaries had been completed when city environmental protection commissioner wrote letter informing plumbing contractor that it had been awarded plumbing contract for pollution control project and where it also appeared that there was no intent to be bound until a formal agreement was executed in conjunction with other documents, city was not bound by commissioner's lessor and, until other contemplated documents and agreements were signed, city could reconsider award. James H. Merritt Plumbing, Inc. v New York, 55 A.D.2d 552, 390 N.Y.S.2d 65, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 15231 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1976), app. dismissed, 41 N.Y.2d 806, 1977 N.Y. In Article 78 proceeding, court erred in holding that minority business enterprise (MBE) affirmative action goals sought to be enforced by respondent county were unconstitutional, and in ordering county to award contract to petitioner which had been rejected by county for failure to comply with MBE requirements, since no constitutional claim was raised in petition, and county's lack of notice of such claim deprived it of opportunity to submit evidence in support of validity of MBE requirements. Ajay Glass & Mirror Co. v County of Erie, 155 A.D.2d 988, 547 N.Y.S.2d 790, 1989 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 14879 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1989).

In Article 78 proceeding, court erred in holding that minority business enterprise (MBE) affirmative action goals sought to be enforced by respondent county were unconstitutional, and in ordering county to award contract to install security windows at county holding center to petitioner which had been rejected by county both for failure to comply with MBE requirements and for failure to set forth its qualifications and prior experience in installing jail or prison windows, since court should not decide case on constitutional grounds where decision may be based on alternative, nonconstitutional grounds. Ajay Glass & Mirror Co. v County of Erie, 155 A.D.2d 988, 547 N.Y.S.2d 790, 1989 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 14879 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1989).

City had rational basis to reject petitioner's bid to be designated as impounder of vehicles, notwithstanding that petitioner had provided city with towing and impounding services for past 21 years, where petitioner submitted no records in response to city's audit of existing providers, and it stated in its bid that fee required by city for each vehicle towed would create hardship, yet it submitted alternate bid which included such fee. Transit Auto Towing v City of Yonkers, 207 A.D.2d 791, 616 N.Y.S.2d 522, 1994 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8732 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1994).

Bus company was not entitled to compensation from city for services rendered while awaiting registration of transportation contract, which was eventually denied registration, notwithstanding contention that city employee requested that bus company commence operations on temporary basis before registration of contract. Dentom Transp., Inc. v New York City Human Resources Admin., 155 Misc. 2d 31, 588 N.Y.S.2d 713, 1992 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 356 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1992).

11 RCNY 3-09, permitting Chief Procurement Officer to award contract to certified enterprise rather than lowest responsible bidder when, pursuant to NYC Charter § 313, it is in best interests of city, is invalid since (1) CLS Gen Mun § 103 permits exemptions from low bid rule, for statutes adopted after September 1953, only if statute is essentially revision, codification, or restatement of pre-1953 special or local law, and (2) pre-1953 predecessor to NYC Charter § 313 authorized Board of Estimate, rather than mayor, to determine when to bypass lowest bidder in interests of city, and thus § 313, in transferring decision-making process from Board of Estimate to mayor, represented significant departure from predecessor. Seabury Constr. Corp. v Department of Envtl. Protection, 160 Misc. 2d 87, 607 N.Y.S.2d 1017, 1994 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 18 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1994).

For the purpose of meeting the competitive bidding requirements of this statute, some reasonable classification might be justified in awarding contracts for the purchase of school band instruments. 1957 Op St Compt No. 57-762.

A city may not extend its contract prices to school districts or a county, and contract purchases in excess of $1,000 by a city or school district under an extended price clause in a city or school district contract as the case may be would be a violation of this section. 1962 Op St Compt No. 62-803.

A political subdivision may not legally make purchases by having bidders bid on 100 specific items, where the political subdivision will make purchases of other items in the low bidder's catalogue, and will also make purchases of items not obtainable from the low bidder from other unsuccessful bidders. 1967 Op St Compt No. 67-540.

Discussion of ramifications of situation wherein a town highway superintendent, as the result of a "clerical error", ordered sand and gravel from a bidder who was not the lowest responsible bidder. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-490.

It is doubtful that the mere fact that the low bidder on a town gravel purchase has brought an action against the town in an unrelated matter is sufficient grounds for awarding the contract to other than the low bidder. 1982 Op St Compt No. 82-129, 1982 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 592.

VIII. Actions Involving Awarded Contracts

143. In general

A contract procured through fraudulent and collusive bidding is void as against public policy and recovery cannot be had upon any theory, even upon quantum meruit or quantum valebant. Jered Contracting Corp. v New York City Transit Authority, 22 N.Y.2d 187, 292 N.Y.S.2d 98, 239 N.E.2d 197, 1968 N.Y. LEXIS 1340 (N.Y. 1968).

In lawsuit challenging bid selection process for reconstruction work on city streets in conjunction with related utility interference work, wherein city asserted in its answer that all contracts were awarded "in accordance with CLS Gen Mun § 103," city's argument that "interference work" constituted "public work" in combined bidding situation was sufficiently preserved for review by Court of Appeals, where it was first made in response to Supreme Court's analysis of city's joint bidding technique, Supreme Court and Appellate Division had both ruled on issue, and everyone was manifestly aware of its potential significance. Diamond Asphalt Corp. v Sander, 92 N.Y.2d 244, 678 N.Y.S.2d 567, 700 N.E.2d 1203, 1998 N.Y. LEXIS 1828 (N.Y. 1998).

In Article 78 proceeding, it was error for court to annul county's award of contracts for supply and delivery of heating oil on ground that successful bidders should have been required to demonstrate how they would ensure prospective compliance with local prevailing wage rate schedules; in considering whether administrative determination rendered without hearing is arbitrary and capricious, proper test is whether challenged determination is supported by rational basis. Robison Oil Corp. v County of Westchester, 236 A.D.2d 542, 653 N.Y.S.2d 674, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1375 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1997).

As a general rule, failure to comply with statutory requirements for competitive bidding renders a public works contract in excess of specified amount invalid and precludes any recovery by the vendor either on the basis of the contract or on quantum meruit; instead, a municipality is entitled to recover all amounts paid under the illegal contract; however, such general rule does not apply to the case of services to be performed for an indefinite period involving no obligation on the part of the municipality to continue the services and a recovery may be had in such instance even though the aggregate cost of the services exceeds such amount. Lance Investigation Service, Inc. v New York, 88 Misc. 2d 119, 387 N.Y.S.2d 32, 1976 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2592 (N.Y. App. Term 1976).

Plaintiffs do not have standing to sue for alleged violation of CLS Gen Mun § 103 where plaintiffs did not bid on contract and, therefore, alleged violation of competitive bidding laws did not injure them. 106 Mile Transport Associates v Koch, 656 F. Supp. 1474, 1987 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 3508 (S.D.N.Y. 1987).

144. Timeliness

It would have been inappropriate to grant Article 78 relief to compel compliance with General Municipal Law §§ 101 and 103 and Labor Law § 220 where delay by petitioner in commencing proceedings and absence of stay or restraining order pendente lite produced a situation where bids had already been received and opened, and construction begun. General Bldg. Contractors, Inc. v Board of Trustees, 42 A.D.2d 660, 345 N.Y.S.2d 195, 1973 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4055 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1973).

Article 78 proceeding challenging validity of contract for management of city's water system as violative of CLS Gen Mun § 103 and other laws was not commenced within 4 months after determination to be reviewed became final and binding, and thus proceeding was time barred, where (1) administrative determination became final and binding on petitioners no later than September 1, 1997, when management contract went into effect, (2) proceeding was not commenced until January 1999, and (3) there was no basis for determining timeliness of proceeding, or for postponing its accrual, based on date on which petitioners' attorney received city corporation counsel's "legal opinion" concerning propriety of determination at issue. Fawcett v City of Buffalo, 275 A.D.2d 954, 713 N.Y.S.2d 610, 2000 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 9624 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2000), app. denied, 96 N.Y.2d 701, 722 N.Y.S.2d 793, 745 N.E.2d 1015, 2001 N.Y. LEXIS 20 (N.Y. 2001).

Town's N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 103 cause of action was time barred under the governing six-year limitations period, under N.Y. C.P.L.R. 213(1), because (1) the cause of action accrued when a renovation agreement was formally executed on April 20, 1995, since it was on this date that the renovation agreement was allegedly steered to the owners of a warehouse instead of being duly let out for bidding to other potential contractors; (2) the town, as a party to the contract, was in a position to discover improprieties in connection with the award and pricing of the renovation agreement; (3) the town was on notice that the owners might not have provided the lowest price for renovation services, and fraud might have been at play; and (4) all of the facts necessary to the town's cause of action had become manifest by April 20, 1995, but the town did not commence an action until September 4, 2002. Town of Poughkeepsie v Espie, 41 A.D.3d 701, 840 N.Y.S.2d 600, 2007 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7768 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't), app. dismissed, 9 N.Y.3d 1003, 849 N.Y.S.2d 30, 879 N.E.2d 170, 2007 N.Y. LEXIS 3793 (N.Y. 2007), app. denied, 15 N.Y.3d 715, 915 N.Y.S.2d 216, 940 N.E.2d 922, 2010 N.Y. LEXIS 3536 (N.Y. 2010).

Notice of claim against municipality for goods sold and delivered was timely made where last delivery was made February 27, 1956, seller demanded payment on October 1, 1956, and notice of claim was filed on October 29, 1956. Rason Asphalt, Inc. v Oyster Bay, 8 Misc. 2d 411, 167 N.Y.S.2d 175, 1957 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2486 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1957), modified, 6 A.D.2d 810, 175 N.Y.S.2d 302, 1958 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5643 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1958).

145. Presumptions

Once a contract is proved to have been awarded without the competitive bidding required by the above statute, a waste of public funds is presumed and a taxpayer is entitled to have it set aside without showing that the municipality suffered any actual injury. It is sufficient in such a situation that the public has been deprived of the protection which the law was intended to afford. Gerzof v Sweeney, 16 N.Y.2d 206, 264 N.Y.S.2d 376, 211 N.E.2d 826, 1965 N.Y. LEXIS 1040 (N.Y. 1965), reh'g denied, 17 N.Y.2d 549, 1966 N.Y. LEXIS 1945 (N.Y. 1966).

Where petitioner's allegations that award of contract was unlawful and in violation of General Municipal Law were unsupported by factual allegations which would overcome presumption that county purchasing agent acted properly, determination that contract was properly awarded after competitive bidding would not be disturbed. Theodore J. Burke & Son, Inc. v County of Dutchess, 50 A.D.2d 918, 377 N.Y.S.2d 585, 1975 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11840 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1975).

146. Contractor's action

In an action by the seller of industrial chemicals to recover the difference between the reasonable value of a quantity of activated carbon sold and delivered to the defendant on different occasions, where the defendant had erroneously been billed at a much lower cost per ton than was customary, it was held that eight separate deliveries did not constitute one contract but eight separate transactions, and that since seven of the disputed purchases even at the corrected price did not exceed $1,000, those purchases did not violate § 103 of the General Municipal Law. Jones Chemicals, Inc. v Binghamton, 26 A.D.2d 710, 271 N.Y.S.2d 507, 1966 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3764 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1966), aff'd, 20 N.Y.2d 808, 284 N.Y.S.2d 702, 231 N.E.2d 288, 1967 N.Y. LEXIS 1180 (N.Y. 1967).

Where city on eight occasions and under separate orders purchased from plaintiff water purifying chemicals which were billed and paid for at an erroneously low price, the eight deliveries did not constitute one contract, and the plaintiff was entitled to recover the difference between the price paid and the correct price for the seven shipments where the correct price did not exceed $1,000; but the eighth shipment for which the correct price exceeded $1,000 was in violation of this section and void. Jones Chemicals, Inc. v Binghamton, 26 A.D.2d 710, 271 N.Y.S.2d 507, 1966 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3764 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1966), aff'd, 20 N.Y.2d 808, 284 N.Y.S.2d 702, 231 N.E.2d 288, 1967 N.Y. LEXIS 1180 (N.Y. 1967).

Contractor's petition to annul determination awarding street rehabilitation contract to another contractor is properly dismissed upon failure of contractor to show good cause for vacating determination, despite city's lack of compliance with Open Meetings Law (Pub O Law § 103). Callanan Industries, Inc. v Schenectady, 116 A.D.2d 883, 498 N.Y.S.2d 490, 1986 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 51689 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1986).

In Article 78 proceeding to prohibit city from awarding contract to supply city with garbage trucks, and to compel award to petitioner, Supreme Court improperly dismissed proceeding without first conducting hearing where affidavits raised dispute as to whether competing bidder's proposal failed to comply with specification that cab and chassis of trucks be of proven design presently in production, and whether city improperly waived competing bidder's noncompliance. Jerkens Truck & Equipment, Inc. v Yonkers, 130 A.D.2d 576, 515 N.Y.S.2d 516, 1987 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 46576 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1987).

Unsuccessful bidders for job of replacing city sidewalks were not entitled to summary judgment in action for money damages alleging failure to award them contract, even though they had originally made lowest bid and city failed to explain "proper extensions" which had increased their bid, since (1) bidding process was quasi-judicial governmental function, (2) awarding of bid was discretionary act of responsible official, and (3) CLS Gen Mun § 103, prescribing manner in which bids would be requested and contracts awarded, was enacted to protect municipalities and taxpayers, not to benefit bidders. Stride Contracting Corp. v Board of Contract & Supply, 181 A.D.2d 876, 581 N.Y.S.2d 446, 1992 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4978 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1992).

Municipality's decision as to award of bids on public projects does not involve substantial evidence, but rather depends on whether municipality's exercise of discretion as to awarding contract was arbitrary and capricious; thus, Supreme Court improperly transferred to Appellate Division proceeding to review city's determination finding that petitioner was not lowest responsible bidder. Mid-State Indus. v City of Cohoes, 221 A.D.2d 705, 633 N.Y.S.2d 238, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10693 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1995).

New York City Housing Authority (NYCHA) was entitled to modify plaintiff's contract to rehabilitate 7 buildings by omitting provision for limited asbestos removal in basement areas and engaging another contractor to perform asbestos removal throughout buildings, where site required far more complicated process than that specified in plaintiff's contract; thus, NYCHA was entitled to summary judgment dismissing breach of contract complaint. Seville Constr. v New York City Hous. Auth., 247 A.D.2d 69, 677 N.Y.S.2d 359, 1998 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 9330 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1998), app. denied, 93 N.Y.2d 803, 689 N.Y.S.2d 16, 711 N.E.2d 201, 1999 N.Y. LEXIS 740 (N.Y. 1999).

In action to recover cost of additional work under contract for removal of asbestos from municipal psychiatric center, bid documents inviting bidders to submit questions about meaning of drawings or specifications and stating that "[t]he reply to such an inquiry, when deemed necessary, will be communicated by Addendum to all persons who have obtained drawings and specifications" provided basis for triable issue of fact as to municipality's liability where contractor claimed that other bidders made such inquiries that were answered but that addendum was not issued to all prospective bidders; quoted provision meant that although reply to inquiries was discretionary, once reply was made it was mandatory to issue addendum to all prospective bidders. Dobco Inc. v Facilities Dev. Corp., 263 A.D.2d 592, 693 N.Y.S.2d 276, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7682 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1999).

Town was not entitled to summary judgment, based upon the language of this statute, in a contractor's action for breach of its emergency snow removal contract because the town had already completed the competitive bidding process and awarded a contract to the contractor for emergency snow removal and, as such, this statute did not apply. CTS Contr., Inc. v Town of Cheektowaga, 148 A.D.3d 1642, 51 N.Y.S.3d 738, 2017 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2160 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2017).

In a proceeding to require a Board of Education to award a contract to the low bidder, notwithstanding his bid came in slightly after the appointed hour, the person to whom the bid was awarded as the lowest bidder making a timely bid was a necessary party. Wiltom Coach Co. v Central High School Dist., 36 Misc. 2d 637, 232 N.Y.S.2d 876, 1962 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2696 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1962).

Unsuccessful bidders were entitled to challenge joint bidding arrangements, as violative of CLS Gen Mun § 103, and did not waive that right by participating in bidding. Diamond Asphalt Corp. v Sander, 171 Misc. 2d 879, 655 N.Y.S.2d 706, 1996 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 565 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1996), aff'd, 238 A.D.2d 197, 656 N.Y.S.2d 248, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3764 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1997).

Former commissioner of a New York village's community development agency was not entitled to summary judgment on his claim seeking payment for services that he had purportedly provided pursuant to a no-bid consulting agreement because disputed issues of fact were raised as to whether the agreement was valid and enforceable. It was not clear that the agreement was exempt from N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 103, which required that, except for contracts involving the provision of professional services, all contracts for public works involving expenditure of more than $20,000 had to be awarded through public bidding. Spiritis v Vill. of Hempstead Cmty. Dev. Agency, 234 N.Y.L.J. 55, 2005 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3459 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. Sept. 19, 2005).

County defendants were not entitled to absolute legislative immunity in action by alleged lowest bidders on county contract because (1) CLS Gen Mun § 103, which they had acted under, strictly circumscribed their discretion in awarding contracts, and (2) certain of their complained-of actions were undertaken after whatever contracting discretion they had under § 103 was further circumscribed by 2 orders entered by Supreme Court after plaintiffs sought Article 78 review. Lacorte v Hudacs, 884 F. Supp. 64, 1995 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 5312 (N.D.N.Y. 1995), dismissed, 1996 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 15137 (N.D.N.Y. Oct. 4, 1996).

147. —Standing

Court erred in concluding that unsuccessful bidder lacked standing to pursue proceeding to set aside city contract based on alleged improprieties in bidding process since its interest arguably fell within zone of interest to be protected by CLS Gen Mun § 103, its allegations of improper postbid negotiations between city and successful bidder demonstrated harmful effect, and there was no evidence of legislative intent to bar dissatisfied bidders from challenging competitive bidding process; fact that petitioner was unable to establish its entitlement to contract as result of separate order of preclusion was not dispositive. Jerkens Truck & Equipment, Inc. v Yonkers, 174 A.D.2d 127, 579 N.Y.S.2d 417, 1992 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 191 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1992).

Construction industry trade association and nonunion contractor who was prospective bidder had standing to challenge prehire collective bargaining agreement negotiated by county, which required successful bidder on certain county projects to employ union labor, on ground that agreement violated competitive bidding statutes. Empire State Chapter of the Associated Builders & Contractors v County of Niagara, 161 Misc. 2d 537, 615 N.Y.S.2d 841, 1994 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 281 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1994).

Unsuccessful bidder on $200 million public project had standing to challenge contract awarded by Long Island Power Authority (LIPA) to allegedly higher bidder in violation of CLS Gen Mun § 103, although statute was enacted to protect municipalities and their taxpayers rather than disappointed bidders, where complaint alleged that LIPA failed to comply with statutory mandate to award bid to lowest responsible bidder, and plaintiff's injuries differed from those suffered by public at large. AEP Resources Serv. Co. v Long Island Power Auth., 179 Misc. 2d 639, 686 N.Y.S.2d 664, 1999 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 23 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1999).

148. —Injunction

A plaintiff was not entitled to a preliminary injunction prohibiting a city department of general services from awarding contracts based on a round of closed bidding, and ordering the city to award the contracts on the basis of low bids submitted by plaintiff during the original round of closed bidding, where plaintiff could obtain full compensation in a plenary damage suit and thus had an adequate remedy at law. Delta Chemical Mfg. Co. v Department of General Services etc., 81 A.D.2d 507, 437 N.Y.S.2d 12, 1981 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10960 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1981).

149. —Action based on equity

Where contract by board of education for construction work at school was not let in accordance with requirements relating to advertisement for sealed bids, board had no power to enter into contract and was not liable to contractor for work done thereunder; however, contractor was not barred from applying to board of estimate for consideration of claim on equitable grounds. Prosper Contracting Corp. v Board of Education, 73 Misc. 2d 280, 341 N.Y.S.2d 196, 1973 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2237 (N.Y. App. Term 1973), aff'd, 43 A.D.2d 823, 351 N.Y.S.2d 402, 1974 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5903 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1974).

150. —Action based on quantum meruit

Where the prime contract between a central school district and the construction contractor was illegal and void because it had not been let out according to statutory procedures, the contractor could not recover for any claim under the void instrument or on a quantum meruit basis for services performed under the void agreement. Fabrizio & Martin, Inc. v Board of Education, 290 F. Supp. 945, 1968 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 11583 (S.D.N.Y. 1968).

151. Municipality's action

Where generator was purchased by village as a result of illegal bidding and contract resulting therefrom, machinery purchased would be regarded as unreturnable and seller would be required to pay to village the difference between the amount of the low bid which was not accepted by the village trustees and the amount of the purchase price of the machinery plus an additional amount to compensate for increased costs of installation of the machiery purchased. Gerzof v Sweeney, 22 N.Y.2d 297, 292 N.Y.S.2d 640, 239 N.E.2d 521, 1968 N.Y. LEXIS 1299 (N.Y.), reh'g denied, 22 N.Y.2d 884, 1968 N.Y. LEXIS 2257 (N.Y. 1968).

Defendants had not been entitled to summary judgment on a town's claim its contracts with them were void, because evidence submitted by the town that other contractors could have performed the same services as defendants raised a triable fact issue as to whether defendants' services were unique such that N.Y. Gen. Municipal. Law § 103's competitive bid requirements did not apply, Town of Angelica v Smith, 89 A.D.3d 1547, 933 N.Y.S.2d 480, 2011 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8249 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2011).

Payments made by town officials to the defendant for the purchase and installation of a diesel powered electric generator under an illegal contract were unlawful, and the defendant was consequently ordered to make restitution of those sums, even though the village was permitted to retain the generator. Gerzof v Sweeney, 52 Misc. 2d 505, 276 N.Y.S.2d 485, 1966 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1243 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1966), modified, 29 A.D.2d 646, 286 N.Y.S.2d 541, 1968 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4942 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1968).

As a general rule, failure to comply with statutory requirements for competitive bidding renders a public works contract in excess of specified amount invalid and precludes any recovery by the vendor either on the basis of the contract or on quantum meruit; instead, a municipality is entitled to recover all amounts paid under the illegal contract; however, such general rule does not apply to the case of services to be performed for an indefinite period involving no obligation on the part of the municipality to continue the services and a recovery may be had in such instance even though the aggregate cost of the services exceeds such amount. Lance Investigation Service, Inc. v New York, 88 Misc. 2d 119, 387 N.Y.S.2d 32, 1976 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2592 (N.Y. App. Term 1976).

A surety would be liable to a city under a contract bid bond issued by the surety to the low bidder on a data processing contract due to the contractor's failure to acquire performance bonds, which were required by the terms of the bid bond as a condition precedent to commencing work, since the city did not waive any claim to the bond proceeds by allowing the low bidder to perform for four and one-half months, since recovery was not precluded by the fact that the city had overlooked the performance bond requirement in that the bid bond provided no exemption from liability under such circumstance and in that parties who contract with the city are compelled to follow the bidding requirements set forth in the applicable city charter provision, since the action against the surety was not precluded by the city's settlement with the contractor for work performed under a theory of quantum meruit, and since no showing of actual damage to the city was necessary to support the claim against the surety in that the penalty sought by the city was similar to a statutory penalty for nonperformance of a statutory duty. New York v United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 119 Misc. 2d 725, 464 N.Y.S.2d 659, 1983 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3585 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1983).

Fact that contruction contract was illegal because it was not let in compliance with competitive bidding requirements did not prevent school board from recovering against defaulting contractor and surety. Board of Education v Aetna Casualty & Surety Co., 453 F.2d 264, 1971 U.S. App. LEXIS 6596 (2d Cir. N.Y. 1971).

Generally, a municipality is entitled to recover moneys paid on claims for purchases made without compliance with competitive bidding procedures. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-711, 1980 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 225.

152. Taxpayer's action

Taxpayers had standing to bring an action challenging the legality of a contract under which a public building was constructed allegedly in violation of the requirements for public bidding under § 103 of the General Municipal Law. Reilly v Brookhaven, 34 A.D.2d 1001, 313 N.Y.S.2d 72, 1970 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4439 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1970).

Petitioners, as taxpayers residing within school district, had standing under CLS Gen Mun § 51 to challenge support management services contract for custodial and maintenance needs entered into by district, as involving expenditure of taxpayers' funds in violation of competitive bidding requirements of CLS Gen Mun § 103; in view of fact that school district is now classified as municipal corporation under CLS Gen Const § 66(2), it is fair and reasonable to remove barrier which previously excluded local citizen-taxpayers from using judicial process to challenge fiscal policies and expenditures of their school districts. Schulz v Cobleskill-Richmondville Cent. Sch. Dist. Bd. of Educ., 197 A.D.2d 247, 610 N.Y.S.2d 694, 1994 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4143 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1994), aff'd, Schulz v State, 217 A.D.2d 393, 634 N.Y.S.2d 780, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12301 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1995).

A petitioner attacked the validity of a resolution and awarding of publishing contracts by a city school board, on the ground, that there was no advertising for bids. He was not required to show, that he was an aggrieved party, or that he had a special interest, since the proper advertising for bids and the letting of contracts is a matter of public interest. The Court vacated the resolution and set aside the contracts for failure of the Board to advertise for bids. McDonough v Board of Education, 20 Misc. 2d 98, 189 N.Y.S.2d 401, 1959 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3188 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1959).

A taxpayer's complaint sufficiently alleges waste and injury where it states sufficient facts to indicate that a resolution of a Town Board purporting to bring a certain contract within the emergency provisions of subd. 4 of this section, was unwarranted. Rodin v Director of Purchasing, 38 Misc. 2d 362, 238 N.Y.S.2d 2, 1963 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2314 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1963).

153. Attorney's fees

In the absence of a "common fund" created by petitioners, a taxpayer and a vendor who successfully sued to compel a municipality to comply with the competitive bidding requirement of section 103 of the General Municipal Law with respect to its purchase of a telephone system, there can be no award of counsel fees in the proceeding. Exley v Endicott, 74 A.D.2d 96, 427 N.Y.S.2d 68, 1980 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10438 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't), modified, 51 N.Y.2d 426, 434 N.Y.S.2d 922, 415 N.E.2d 913, 1980 N.Y. LEXIS 2887 (N.Y. 1980).

An attorney who estimated that he worked 200 days over a three year period and succeeded in voiding a contract and securing restitution of moneys paid by the town in illegally purchasing and installing a diesel electric generator was entitled to an additional allowance of $25,000 as the reasonable value of the legal services rendered. Gerzof v Sweeney, 52 Misc. 2d 505, 276 N.Y.S.2d 485, 1966 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1243 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1966), modified, 29 A.D.2d 646, 286 N.Y.S.2d 541, 1968 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4942 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1968).

154. Miscellaneous

Even if letter from city commissioner concerning award of plumbing contract were binding on city environmental protection agency, contract could have been avoided based on the parties' mutual mistake where plumbing contractor had erroneously interpreted bid form when it concluded that the sum of the price for equipment and material and the price for installation was not required to equal the amount set forth as total price and where city agency had itself been misled by the contractor's mistake into initially granting an award for a higher amount than was justified by the itemized prices. James H. Merritt Plumbing, Inc. v New York, 55 A.D.2d 552, 390 N.Y.S.2d 65, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 15231 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1976), app. dismissed, 41 N.Y.2d 806, 1977 N.Y. LEXIS 3101 (N.Y. 1977), app. dismissed, 42 N.Y.2d 825, 1977 N.Y. LEXIS 3977 (N.Y. 1977).

Since this section, requiring the letting of purchase contracts involving more than $1000, to the lowest responsible bidder, does not exclude school boards, it is deemed applicable to purchases made by them, and a violation of its provisions is subject to judicial review without prior appeal to the Commissioner of Education. Buffalo Audio Center Arrolite Co. v Union Free School Dist., 29 Misc. 2d 871, 208 N.Y.S.2d 760, 1960 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1998 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1960), aff'd, 15 A.D.2d 991, 226 N.Y.S.2d 1024, 1962 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10696 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1962).

In Article 78 proceeding to annul city's award of contracts on ground that bid selection procedures violated CLS Gen Mn § 103(1), utility companies which were designated as third-party beneficiaries in bidding agreement had direct interest in outcome and thus were granted leave to intervene. Diamond Asphalt Corp. v Sander, 171 Misc. 2d 879, 655 N.Y.S.2d 706, 1996 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 565 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1996), aff'd, 238 A.D.2d 197, 656 N.Y.S.2d 248, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3764 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1997).

On appeal from respondent school district's public bidding determination, respondent had burden of establishing that its narrow definition of "financial stability" was essential to public interest, where criteria adopted by respondent excluded lowest bidder (petitioner) and effectively assured award of contract to incumbent vendor (who was only other bidder), thus constituting prima facie proof that specification was drawn in manner to shut out competitive bidding. 1998 Op Comm Ed No. 14,087, 1999 NY Educ. Dept. LEXIS 228.

Appeal by unsuccessful bidder for transportation contracts, alleging that bid specifications required respondent to use aggregate base price to determine lowest bidder and that respondent exercised favoritism and manipulated public bidding process by awarding contracts on basis of individual or unit prices, was dismissed where bid specification was not unambiguous and petitioner (and all other bidders) had fair opportunity to submit bids containing their lowest per unit and aggregate prices. 1997 Op Comm Ed No. 13,848, 1997 NY Educ. Dept. LEXIS 328.

Where a part or all of the costs of the purchase of a facility are to be borne by local taxation or revenues from the project, a so-called "turnkey" procedure may not be utilized to avoid the competitive bidding laws. 1975 Op St Compt No. 75-692.

Where an unsuccessful bidder has instituted court proceedings contesting the award of a contract, it would appear that the county and the successful bidder would have to await the outcome of the pending litigation before consummating their contract obligations. 1967 Op St Compt No. 67-670.

Although the city failed to pay the contractor more than $1.5 million under two municipal building contracts, the contractor's attempt to hold the servicer liable was unavailing, as the contracts accurately stated that the servicer was a financial conduit between the contractor and the city, and the servicer merely was obligated to remit payment to the contractor once it received payment from the city. Michael R. Gianatasio, PE, P.C. v City of New York, 53 Misc. 3d 757, 37 N.Y.S.3d 828, 2016 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3110 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 2016), app. dismissed, 2017 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5847 (N.Y. § 103-d. [Eff until June 1, 2023] Statement of non-collusion in bids and proposals to political subdivision of the state

1. Every bid or proposal hereafter made to a political subdivision of the state or any public department, agency or official thereof where competitive bidding is required by statute, rule, regulation or local law, for work or services performed or to be performed or goods sold or to be sold, shall contain the following statement subscribed by the bidder and affirmed by such bidder as true under the penalties of perjury: Non-collusive bidding certification.

(a) "By submission of this bid, each bidder and each person signing on behalf of any bidder certifies, and in the case of a joint bid each party thereto certifies as to its own organization, under penalty of perjury, that to the best of knowledge and belief:

(1) The prices in this bid have been arrived at independently without collusion, consultation, communication, or agreement, for the purpose of restricting competition, as to any matter relating to such prices with any other bidder or with any competitor;

(2) Unless otherwise required by law, the prices which have been quoted in this bid have not been knowingly disclosed by the bidder and will not knowingly be disclosed by the bidder prior to opening, directly or indirectly, to any other bidder or to any competitor; and

(3) No attempt has been made or will be made by the bidder to induce any other person, partnership or corporation to submit or not to submit a bid for the purpose of restricting competition."

(a-1) Notwithstanding the foregoing, the statement of non-collusion may be submitted electronically in accordance with the provisions of subdivision one of section one hundred three of the general municipal law.

(b) A bid shall not be considered for award nor shall any award be made where (a) (1) (2) and (3) above have not been complied with; provided however, that if in any case the bidder cannot make the foregoing certification, the bidder shall so state and shall furnish with the bid a signed statement which sets forth in detail the reasons therefor. Where (a) (1) (2) and (3) above have not been complied with, the bid shall not be considered for award nor shall any award be made unless the head of the purchasing unit of the political subdivision, public department, agency or official thereof to which the bid is made, or his designee, determines that such disclosure was not made for the purpose of restricting competition.

The fact that a bidder (a) has published price lists, rates, or tariffs covering items being procured, (b) has informed prospective customers of proposed or pending publication of new or revised price lists for such items, or (c) has sold the same items to other customers at the same prices being bid, does not constitute, without more, a disclosure within the meaning of subparagraph one (a).

2. Any bid hereafter made to any political subdivision of the state or any public department, agency or official thereof by a corporate bidder for work or services performed or to be performed or goods sold or to be sold, where competitive bidding is required by statute, rule, regulation, or local law, and where such bid contains the certification referred to in subdivision one of this section, shall be deemed to have been authorized by the board of directors of the bidder, and such authorization shall be deemed to include the signing and submission of the bid and the inclusion therein of the certificate as to non-collusion as the act and deed of the corporation.

Notes to Decisions

A board of education was not justified in rejecting the low bid on the sole ground that the non-collusive bid certificate was not attached to the bid when opened, under evidence that the certificate was not included at the time the sealed bid was filed, the architect, as agent of the board of education, requested that the certificate be filed, and the low bidder on the following day filed such certificate. Consolidated Sheet Metal Works, Inc. v Board of Education, 62 Misc. 2d 445, 308 N.Y.S.2d 773, 1970 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1848 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1970).

The legislative intent in enacting § 103-d of the General Municipal Law was to require the non-collusive bid certificate to constitute a part of the bid before it could be taken up and acted upon by a municipality and that the omission of the certificate to be supplied in the discretion of the municipality as long as no prejudice to any other bidder resulted and no advantage was gained by the correcting bidder. Consolidated Sheet Metal Works, Inc. v Board of Education, 62 Misc. 2d 445, 308 N.Y.S.2d 773, 1970 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1848 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1970).

Even though bid did not contain non-collusive certificate as required by law, where such bid was the only one that came within the total cost authorized by city council, the city was not enjoined from awarding the contract to such bidder as such defect could be cured. A. J. Beaudette Constr. Co. v Syracuse, 62 Misc. 2d 564, 309 N.Y.S.2d 517, 1970 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1963 (N.Y. Sup. Ct.), aff'd, 34 A.D.2d 734, 313 N.Y.S.2d 356, 1970 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5862 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1970).

Since the competitive bidding requirements of the Public Housing Law and the General Municipal Law are similar in language, and since amendments to public contract statutes are usually effected by single legislation, the General Municipal Law is applicable to a town housing authority, at least for the limited purpose of evaluating the policies underlying these statutes. Marino v Ramapo, 68 Misc. 2d 44, 326 N.Y.S.2d 162, 1971 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1472 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1971).

Statute defining crime of making a punishable false written statement was intended to apply to applications or other documents submitted to governmental agencies which would otherwise require oaths before notaries and such statute is only applicable to situations where a specific statute authorizes the use of an affirmation in place of a notarized form. People v Bromley, 85 Misc. 2d 988, 381 N.Y.S.2d 965, 1976 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2098 (N.Y. County Ct. 1976).

Discussion of legality of a proposed non-collusion bid form. 1967 Ops St Compt File #679.

A non-collusion certificate should be used only in those transactions which are subject to competitive bidding requirements. 1967 Ops St Compt File #679.

If bids are solicited on a contract which is not required to be let after competitive bidding, such bids need not contain the non-collusion statement. 1968 Ops St Compt File #189.

A municipality may not award a contract to a bidder whose bid does not contain the non-collusion statement, unless the bidder has justified such failure to comply as prescribed. 1968 Ops St Compt File #189; 1968 Ops St Compt File #702.

A municipality may not consider a bid which does not contain a statement of non-collusion, unless the bidder has justified such failure to comply as prescribed. The non-collusion statement must be contained within the bid document itself and may not be separately submitted. 1969 Ops St Compt File #700.

Agency Opinions

A blanket resolution authorizing the execution of the noncollusion certificate by a specified person is sufficient compliance with the statute. Each bid, however, must be accompanied by a separate noncollusion certificate and the statement of the secretary of the corporation appended to the resolution stating that such resolution is in full force and effect at the date of the bid. i1965 NY Ops Atty Gen Sept 24.

A municipality may, generally, accept a non-collusion certificate after the bids are opened but before the contract is awarded. 1979 Op St Compt File #72.

The noncollusion provisions of Laws of 1965, ch 751, amending the General Municipal, State Finance, and Public Authorities Laws, do not apply to contracts not subject to bid or actually awarded on bids. 1965 NY Ops Atty Gen Sept 24.

§ 104. Purchase through office of general services; purchases from other public contracts; certain federal contracts. [Eff until July 31, 2024]

1. Notwithstanding the provisions of section one hundred three of this article or of any other general, special or local law, any officer, board or agency of a political subdivision, of a district therein, of a fire company or of a voluntary ambulance service authorized to make purchases of commodities, materials, equipment, technology, food products, supplies or services available pursuant to section one hundred sixty-three of the state finance law, may make such purchases through the office of general services or any other department or agency of the state subject to rules promulgated pursuant to article eleven of the state finance law; provided that any such purchase shall exceed five hundred dollars and that the political subdivision, district, fire company or voluntary ambulance service for which such officer, board or agency acts shall accept sole responsibility for any payment due the vendor. All purchases shall be subject to audit and inspection by the political subdivision, district, fire company or voluntary ambulance service for which made. No officer, board or agency of a political subdivision, or a district therein, of a fire company or of a voluntary ambulance service shall make any purchase through such public entity when bids have been received for such purchase by such officer, board or agency, unless such purchase may be made upon the same terms, conditions and specifications at a lower price through such office. Editor's Notes: Laws 1993, ch 490, § 1, eff Jan 1, 1994, provides as follows:

Section 1. Declaration of legislative findings and intent. It is the declared policy of this state to encourage and improve the business climate within New York to increase the number of job opportunities for all of its citizens. The New York grape and wine industry is the second largest in the nation and presently is experiencing economic difficulties. These economic difficulties have hindered employment opportunities for New Yorkers, particularly persons located in the state's fruit and grape growing areas.

The purpose of this legislation is to reduce unnecessary state mandates and eliminate or simplify redundant reporting requirements, thereby allowing the grape and wine industry to be more productive and profitable. It is the intent of this legislation to comprehensively address the problems faced by the industry, reduce state mandates, and reduce state administrative costs in monitoring the industry in a way that still vigilantly protects the public interest. In addition to providing more job opportunities, stabilization and growth in the industry, this act will promote the conservation, protection and enhancement of the state's agricultural lands and promote tourism.

The purpose of this legislation is to reduce unnecessary state mandates and eliminate or simplify redundant reporting requirements, thereby allowing the grape and wine industry to be more productive and profitable. It is the intent of this legislation to comprehensively address the problems faced by the industry, reduce state mandates, and reduce state administrative costs in monitoring the industry in a way that still vigilantly protects the public interest. In addition to providing more job opportunities, stabilization and growth in the industry, this act will promote the conservation, protection and enhancement of the state's agricultural lands and promote tourism.

All purchase contracts involving an expenditure of more than one thousand dollars shall be awarded to the lowest possible bidder. Purchases of items in this category may also be made through the county or the state, eliminating the need for advertisement for bids. 1967 Ops St Compt File #615.

5. —Particular purchases

A town may purchase gasoline and fuel oil either under State contract or through the facilities of the county (when authorized by the county legislative body) without the necessity of advertising for bids. 1968 Ops St Compt File #490.

Purchases of highway materials made using "CHIPS" (Consolidated Highway Improvement Program) moneys are subject to normal competitive bidding requirements. In order to be exempt from bidding under General Municipal Law, §§ 104, a purchase must be made from a vendor holding a current State contract or from a distributor or agent listed in the State contract. 1982 St Compt File #82-224.

There is no authority for dispensing with competitive bidding in connection with purchases merely because they are made at a price equal to or less than the state or county price, if they are made from vendors other than those which have a state or county contract. 1963 Ops St Compt #157.

7. Extended price clauses

Discussion of municipal purchasing under a state contract which does not contain an extended price clause. 1960 Ops St Compt File #179.

There is no requirement that a municipality obtain consent of the Department of Audit and Control before purchasing materials pursuant to an extended price clause in a state contract, but it has been advised that municipalities contact the office of general services in order to avoid erroneous purchases from vendors whose contract term has expired, and the state contract number should be placed on all documents pertaining to such purposes. 1961 Ops St Compt File #245.

8. Contract with state's vendor

If any doubt exists on the part of a municipality that a vendor does in fact hold a current state contract, or as to the terms of the contract the municipality should obtain a copy of the contract from the Office of General Services, Division of Standards and Purchase. 1968 Ops St Compt File #535.

9. Miscellaneous

County's issuance of an addendum to original bid instructions which eliminated certain contingent items from low bid computation was not contrary to letter or spirit of General Municipal Law provisions governing purchases through office of general services, where it could not be known in advance whether any of the work relating to the contingent items would be required and the bidding procedure did not encourage favoritism or corruption. Edward B. Fitzpatrick, Jr., Associates, Inc. v County of Suffolk, 47 A.D.2d 541, 363 N.Y.S.2d 108, 1975 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8606 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1975).

A municipality purchasing gasoline under a State contract entered into or awarded on or after July 11, 1981 pursuant to a bid submitted on or after that date must pay the amount listed in the vendor's bill for the "Gross Receipts Tax" which is passed through to the consumer under the contract. 1982 St Compt File #82-233.

Exception for purchases made through New York State Office of General Services does not apply to purchase from State Contract Vendor upon terms and conditions which materially or substantially vary from State Contract. Ops St Compt 89-3.

§ 104-b. Procurement policies and procedures

1. Goods and services which are not required by law to be procured by political subdivisions or any districts therein pursuant to competitive bidding must be procured in a manner so as to assure the prudent and economical use of public moneys in the best interests of the taxpayers of the political subdivision or district, to facilitate the acquisition of goods and services of maximum quality at the lowest possible cost under the circumstances, and to guard against favoritism, improvidence, extravagance, fraud and corruption. To further these objectives, the governing board of every political subdivision and any district therein, by resolution, shall adopt internal policies and procedures governing all procurements of goods and services which are not required to be made pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements of section one hundred three of this article or of any other general, special or local law. In cities with a population of one million or more, the procurement policy board shall develop and promulgate such policies and procedures by rule.

2. Such policies and procedures shall contain provisions which, among other things:

a. prescribe a procedure for determining whether a procurement of goods and services is subject to competitive bidding and documenting the basis for any determination that competitive bidding is not required by law;

b. provide that, except for procurements made pursuant to subdivision three of section one hundred three or section one hundred four of this article, section one hundred seventy-five-b of the state finance law, section one hundred eighty-six of the correction law, or the policies and procedures adopted pursuant to paragraph f of this subdivision, alternative proposals or quotations for goods and services shall be secured by use of written requests for proposals, written quotations, verbal quotations or any other method of procurement which furthers the purposes of this section;

c. set forth when each such method of procurement will be utilized, taking into account which method will best further the purposes of this section and the cost-effectiveness of the method;

d. require adequate documentation of actions taken in connection with each such method of procurement;

e. require justification and documentation of any contract awarded to other than the lowest responsible dollar offeror, setting forth the reasons such an award furthers the purpose of this section; and

f. identify the individual or individuals responsible for purchasing and their respective titles. Such information shall be updated biennially.

g. set forth any circumstances when, or types of procurements for which, in the sole discretion of the governing body (or in the case of cities with a population of one million or more, the procurement policy board), the solicitation of alternative proposals or quotations will not be in the best interest of the political subdivision or district therein.

3. Comments concerning the policies and procedures shall be solicited from officers of the political subdivision or district therein involved in the procurement process prior to the enactment of the policies and procedures, and from time to time thereafter.

4. The governing board shall annually review its policies and procedures. In the case of a city with a population of one million or more, the annual review shall be the duty and responsibility of the procurement policy board.

5. The unintentional failure to fully comply with the provisions of this section shall not be grounds to void action taken or give rise to a cause of action against the political subdivision or district or any officer or employee thereof.

6. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this section or any provision of law, boards of education shall have the authority to include in the internal policies and procedures governing procurement of apparel or sports equipment, where such procurement is not required to be made pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements of section one hundred three of this article, a prohibition against the purchase of apparel or sports equipment from any vendor based upon either or both of the following considerations: (a) the labor standards applicable to the manufacture of the apparel or sports equipment, including but not limited to employee compensation, working conditions, employee rights to form unions, and the use of child labor; or (b) the bidder's failure to provide information sufficient for boards of education to determine the labor standards applicable to the manufacture of the apparel or sports equipment.

Notes to Decisions

Because an award of a contract under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 104-b is arbitrary and capricious if the municipality evaluates a proposal using a standard that deviates from a standard expressly set forth in the request for proposals, an award was arbitrary and capricious when the county's scoring mechanism in the cost category deviated from the formula stated in the request for proposals. 2016 N.Y. LEXIS 3570.

Suffolk County, N.Y. Local Law 4-1993 regarding the award of non-competitive bid contracts was not inconsistent with N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 104-b; the county had broad powers to enact local laws under N.Y. Mun. Home Rule Law § 10 so long as the state had not preempted an area of law, and N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 104-b was not meant to preempt the entire field regarding non-competitive bid local contracts. Matter of Quest Diagnostics, Inc. v County of Suffolk, 865 N.Y.S.2d 504, 21 Misc. 3d 944, 240 N.Y.L.J. 69, 2008 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 6041 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 2008).

In challenging respondent's award of contract to provide environmental consulting engineering services, petitioner failed to show that respondent violated CLS Gen Mun § 104-b or applicable procurement policies, or acted arbitrarily or capriciously where (1) technical criteria used to evaluate proposals included vendor compliance with specifications set forth in respondent's request for proposal (RFP), project management and team experience, and cost, (2) proposals were assessed by committee consisting of respondent's purchasing agent, environmental experts, building services administrator and representative from department of building services, (3) successful bidder's labor costs were $357,000 lower than petitioner's over 5-year period, and (4) there was no showing that petitioner was disadvantaged by telephone interview process, or that respondent improperly negotiated with successful bidder prior to awarding contract, inasmuch as RPF reserved respondent's right to negotiate contract terms with selected vendor prior to entering into formal contract, and purchasing agent affirmed that negotiations took place to obtain further cost reduction only after determination of lowest responsible bidder was made. 2007 Op Comm Ed No. 15,693.

Board of education and superintendent of union free school district violated Education Law and General Municipal Law by constructing and equipping board room in high school for $79,231.40 without voter approval, without complying with competitive bidding requirements, and without publicly adopting board resolution authorizing construction; project, which involved conversion of electrical shop to board room, was capital project which should not have been funded out of operations and maintenance budget. 2000 Op Comm Ed No. 14319.

Contract for publicity and promotional services involving development and implementation of marketing strategies would fall within professional services exception to competitive bidding; such services, however, must be procured in accordance with municipality's procurement polices and procedures. 1992 Op St Compt No. 92-33.

Procurements made by town superintendent of highways are required to be covered under procurement policies and procedures adopted by town board pursuant to CLS Gen Mun § 104-b, but board may not in such policies and procedures supersede any other provision of law governing contracting process; thus, those policies and procedures may not provide that prior town board approval is required by superintendent for purchase of materials for highway repair and improvement made in accordance with written agreement required by CLS High § 284, or materials for repair and maintenance of bridges and to control snow and ice, but policies and procedures may reference requirement of CLS High § 142 for prior board approval of highway equipment purchase in excess of amounts fixed by board and requirement of CLS High § 143 that rents of machinery and equipment must be at rate approved by board. 1992 Op St Compt No. 92-43.

Town supervisor who places insurance as insurance broker through same insurance agency through which town's insurance is placed, but who does not receive commission on town's insurance and is not officer, director, employee, or stockholder of insurance agency, would not have "interest" in town's insurance contracts; however, supervisor should disclose his or her business relationship with insurance agency and, under circumstances, should not participate in discussion or vote on any matter affecting insurance agency. 1996 Op St Compt No. 96-6.

Competitive bidding requirements of CLS Gen Mun §§ 101 and 103 are not violated by use of town employees to perform work in connection with construction of town salt storage shed, but purchases of materials and supplies for work would be subject to competitive bidding requirements if it is known or reasonably expected that competitive bidding monetary threshold for purchases will be exceeded; if it is not known or reasonably expected that competitive bidding threshold will be exceeded, town would be required to make such purchases in accordance with its procurement policies and procedures. 1999 Op St Compt No. 99-2.

Town may not make gratuitous payment to private individuals who voluntarily assist town in coordinating volunteers from not-for-profit organizations in providing services in connection with town's recycling program; however, town may (in accordance with applicable procurement procedures) contract with individuals for provision of such coordination services in connection with operation of town's recycling center and pay individuals consideration for such services pursuant to contract. 2002 Op St Compt No. 02-9.

County contracts with private bus companies to provide paratransit services in connection with program in compliance with American with Disabilities Act of 1990 fall within professional services exception to competitive bidding requirements and may be procured through request for proposals process (RFP) in accordance with county's procurement policies and procedures. 2007 Op St Compt No. 07-1.

Fire district is not required to advertise for sealed bids to contract for services of physicians to give physicals to volunteer firefighters of fire district fire department; however, contracts would be subject to district's procurement policies and procedures. 1993 Op St Compt No. 93-3.

§ 109. Assignment of public contracts

1. A clause shall be inserted in all specifications or contracts hereafter made or awarded by any officer, board or agency of a political subdivision, or of any district therein, prohibiting any contractor, to whom any contract shall be let, granted or awarded, as required by law, from assigning, transferring, conveying, subletting or otherwise disposing of the same, or of his right, title, or interest therein, or his power to execute such contract, to any other person or corporation without the previous consent in writing of the officer, board or agency awarding the contract.

2. If any contractor, to whom any contract is let, granted or awarded, as required by law, by any officer, board or agency of a political subdivision, or of any district therein, shall without the previous written consent specified in subdivision one of this section, assign, transfer, convey, sublet or otherwise dispose of such contract, or his right, title or interest therein, or his power to execute such contract, to any other person or corporation, the officer, board or agency which let, made, granted or awarded such contract shall revoke and annul such contract, and the political subdivision or district therein, as the case may be, and such officer, board or agency shall be relieved and discharged from any and all liability and obligations growing out of such contract to such contractor, and to the person or corporation to which such contract shall have been assigned, transferred, conveyed, sublet or otherwise disposed of, and such contractor, and his assignees, transferees or sublessees shall forfeit and lose all moneys, theretofore earned under such contract, except so much as may be required to pay his employees. The provisions of this section shall not hinder, prevent, or affect an assignment by any such contractor for the benefit of his creditors made pursuant to the laws of this state.

Notes to Decisions

In view of evidence that lowest bidder for contract with city was corporation with no employees, no experience in building construction and insufficient financial responsibility, and apparently bid for contract for proscribed purpose, i. e., to assign to another corporation for performance, city properly exercised discretion to reject the bid. Turnkey Constr. Corp. v Peekskill, 51 A.D.2d 729, 379 N.Y.S.2d 133, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11218 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1976).

In actions brought by assignee of city contract, court erred in granting city's motion for summary judgment on ground that requisite consent to assignment of contract was not given by city, and thus that city was relieved from all liability and obligations pursuant to CLS Gen Mun § 109, where fact issue existed as to whether consent requirement had been waived. National Guardian Sec. Servs. Corp. v City of New York, 218 A.D.2d 549, 630 N.Y.S.2d 319, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8233 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't), sub. op., recalled, vacated, 218 A.D.2d 549, 630 N.Y.S.2d 319, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8656 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1995).

Town was not relieved of liability under an emergency snow removal contract based upon the contractor's use of subcontractors because the contractor used at least seven subcontractors in the course of its emergency snow removal work, and town officials had knowledge that the subcontractors were performing work and did not object, and a question of fact existed as to whether the contractor's use of subcontractors to perform a portion of the work violated the statutes. CTS Contr., Inc. v Town of Cheektowaga, 148 A.D.3d 1642, 51 N.Y.S.3d 738, 2017 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2160 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2017).

The underlying purpose of the statute is to protect a municipality against brokerage activities in city contracts. Guerriero v Board of Contract & Supply, 60 Misc. 2d 22, 301 N.Y.S.2d 103, 1969 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1545 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1969).

Upon a proper assignment by an incorporated fire company of proceeds due to it under a fire protection contract, the town board which has entered into the fire protection contract is required to make the designated payment to the transferee. 1965 Ops St Compt File #867.

Where the vendor on a town contract has been declared bankrupt, the town may purchase the contract items from the bidder's successor at the contract price, if the town consents in writing to the assignment of the contract by the trustee in bankruptcy to vendor's successor. 1968 Ops St Compt File #413.

Editor's Notes: Laws 1993, ch 490, § 1, eff Jan 1, 1994, provides as follows:

Section 1. Declaration of legislative findings and intent. It is the declared policy of this state to encourage and improve the business climate within New York to increase the number of job opportunities for all of its citizens. The New York grape and wine industry is the second largest in the nation and presently is experiencing economic difficulties. These economic difficulties have hindered employment opportunities for New Yorkers, particularly persons located in the state's fruit and grape growing areas.

The purpose of this legislation is to reduce unnecessary state mandates and eliminate or simplify redundant reporting requirements, thereby allowing the grape and wine industry to be more productive and profitable. It is the intent of this legislation to comprehensively address the problems faced by the industry, reduce state mandates, and reduce state administrative costs in monitoring the industry in a way that still vigilantly protects the public interest. In addition to providing more job opportunities, stabilization and growth in the industry, this act will promote the conservation, protection and enhancement of the state's agricultural lands and promote tourism.

§ 109-b. [Expires and repealed July 15, 2021] Installment contracts

1. As used in this section:

(a) "Political subdivision" shall mean a municipal corporation, school district, district corporation or board of cooperative educational services.

(b) "Installment purchase contract" shall mean any lease purchase agreement, installment sales agreement or other similar agreement providing for periodic payments between a corporation, person or other entity and a political subdivision which has as its purpose the financing of equipment, machinery or apparatus.

(c) "Certificate of participation" shall mean a security or other instrument representing a proportionate interest or the right to receive a proportionate share in lease, rental, installment or other periodic payments made or to be made by a political subdivision or made by the agency on behalf of a political subdivision pursuant to an installment purchase contract.

(d) "Agency" shall mean the state of New York municipal bond bank agency established by section twenty-four hundred thirty-three of the public authorities law.

(e) "Agency certificates of participation" shall mean certificates of participation executed and delivered by the agency on behalf of, for the benefit of and pursuant to a written agreement with a political subdivision.

(f) Functions performed by a governing board under this section shall, in the city of New York, be performed by the mayor and comptroller, and the approvals of the mayor and the comptroller of any agreement, contract, instrument, arrangement or transaction contemplated by this section shall be the only approvals required therefor, subject to the provisions of the New York state financial emergency act for the city of New York.

2. A political subdivision may enter into an installment purchase contract subject to the following restrictions:

(a) Neither any person, partnership, corporation or other legal entity nor any political subdivision, officer, employee, agency or department nor the agency for agency certificates of participation shall execute and deliver or cause the execution and delivery of certificates of participation except in accordance with the provisions of this section and with express written approval of the governing board of such political subdivision and with the concurrence of the agency for agency certificates of participation. The provisions of this section are hereby made a part of every installment purchase contract entered into by such a political subdivision or by the agency for agency certificates of participation. Every such contract shall contain a clause expressly reciting the provisions of this subdivision, provided, however, that the absence of such clause in such a contract shall not obviate the duty of all parties thereto to comply with the provisions of this subdivision. Neither this provision, nor any other provision of this section, shall be construed to prevent such political subdivisions from entering into installment purchase or lease purchase agreements funded without the use of certificates of participation or similar instruments, as otherwise provided in this section.

(b) Subject to the provisions of subdivision five of this section, the governing board of a political subdivision shall adopt a resolution authorizing the installment purchase contract.

(c) Subject to the provisions of subdivision five of this section, where the financing of equipment, machinery or apparatus pursuant to an installment purchase contract is to be provided by agency certificates of participation, the governing board of a political subdivision shall adopt a resolution authorizing the written contract with the agency setting forth the rights and liabilities of the agency and the political subdivision as provided for in section twenty-four hundred thirty-five-a of the public authorities law.

(d) The term of such installment purchase contract, including all renewals thereof, shall not exceed the period of probable usefulness prescribed by section 11.00 of the local finance law for the equipment, machinery or apparatus being financed under the installment purchase contract.

(e) The installment purchase contract shall separately state the principal and interest component of the periodic payments to be made thereunder. The total of all periodic payments which include both principal and interest components made by the political subdivision during each year throughout the term of the installment purchase contract shall be substantially level or falling.

(f) The installment purchase contract shall contain the following clause: "This contract shall be deemed executory only to the extent of monies appropriated and available for the purpose of the contract, and no liability on account thereof shall be incurred by the political subdivision beyond the amount of such monies. The installment purchase contract is not a general obligation of (insert name of political subdivision(s)). Neither the full faith and credit nor the taxing power of (insert name of political subdivision(s)) are pledged to the payment of any amount due or to become due under such installment purchase contract. It is understood that neither this contract nor any representation by any public employee or officer creates any legal or moral obligation to appropriate or make monies available for the purpose of the contract." Where agency certificates of participation are the security for such contract, such contract shall also contain the following clause: "Further no liability on account thereof shall be incurred by the state of New York municipal bond bank agency beyond the amount of such monies. It is understood that neither this contract nor any representation by any employee or officer of such agency creates any legal or moral obligation to appropriate or make state monies available for the purpose of the contract."

(g) No payment under the installment purchase contact except payment for the total amount outstanding shall be financed from the proceeds of obligations issued pursuant to the local finance law other than the proceeds of revenue anticipation notes, tax anticipation notes or budget notes.

3. (a) Installment purchase contracts for equipment, machinery or apparatus shall constitute purchase contracts for public bidding purposes and shall be subject to public bidding requirements to the extent applicable by law. For purposes of determining whether the cost of the equipment, machinery or apparatus exceeds the monetary threshold fixed in section one hundred three of this article, the cost of the equipment, machinery or apparatus, exclusive of the cost of financing, shall be considered. If the equipment, machinery or apparatus is to be financed by a party other than the party submitting the bid, the bid specifications may provide that the political subdivision may assign its right to purchase to a third party without the necessity of approval by the other party to the contract. Nothing herein shall preclude a political subdivision from advertising for bids in the alternative with and without financing.

(b) Certificates of participation caused to be executed and delivered by the political subdivision pursuant to this section, in connection with one or more installment purchase contracts entered or expected to be entered into by such political subdivision may be sold at public or private sale, either independently or in connection with a pooled or aggregate program, as determined by the governing board. The governing board may, by resolution, delegate such power to the chief fiscal officer, in which event such chief fiscal officer shall exercise such powers and perform such duties until the governing board shall, by resolution, elect to reassume the same. If certificates of participation are sold at public sale, they shall be sold to the bidder offering the lowest interest cost as computed in accordance with the net interest cost method, taking into consideration any premium or discount, or the actuarial or true interest cost method, whichever is specified in the notice of sale, not less than four nor more than fifteen days, Sundays excepted, after a notice of such sale has been circularized in accordance with any rule or order prescribed by the state comptroller, pursuant to paragraph d of section 57.00 of the local finance law, for the circularization of notices for the sale of bonds. The terms of the sale may not be changed unless a supplemental notice of sale is provided in accordance with the procedure for the sale of bonds in paragraph b of section 58.00 of the local finance law.

(c) Whenever in the judgement of the governing board, or if authorized by the governing board, the chief fiscal officer, the interest of the political subdivision will be served thereby, the governing board, or chief fiscal officer as the case may be, may authorize the sale of such certificates of participation at private sale, including such sale in connection with a pooled or aggregate program.

(d) The state comptroller shall promulgate rules in conformance with the state administrative procedure act governing the procedure which shall be adhered to when entering into installment purchase contracts or authorizing the execution and delivery of certificates of participation pursuant to this section, including guidelines for the private sale of certificates of participation. No private sale of certificates of participation shall be conducted by a political subdivision without prior approval of the state comptroller except as provided in such rules which shall set forth the circumstances under which such approval shall not be required. The state comptroller shall annually deliver to the state division of the budget, the senate finance committee and the assembly ways and means committee a report listing all negotiated sales conducted in the previous year, including the name of the issuer and amount of the issue for each such sale.

4. (a) The proceeds of certificates of participation executed and delivered in connection with the installment purchase contract made pursuant to this section, in addition to being applied towards the cost of the equipment, machinery or apparatus, may also be used for the establishment of reserve funds to secure such certificates, the cost or premium of letters of credit, insurance or other credit enhancements, the costs of bond counsel, a financial advisor, underwriter, trustees and paying agent, and other actual and necessary expenses directly related to the issuance of such certificates. The foregoing shall not be construed to authorize the use of such proceeds for the payment of personal service expenses of the political subdivision. Where agency certificates are executed and delivered, proceeds may be used for payment by the political subdivision of the expenses incurred by the agency in connection with the execution and delivery and sale of such certificates.

(b) Each political subdivision shall have the power to enter into agreements providing credit enhancement with respect to the installment purchase contract and/or certificates of participation, but any reimbursement obligation of the political subdivision shall be subject to appropriation.

(c) The proceeds from certificates of participation may be invested only in obligations of the United States of America, obligations guaranteed by agencies of the United States of America where the payment of principal and interest are guaranteed by the United States of America, obligations of the state of New York, or special time deposit accounts in or certificates of deposit issued by a bank or trust company located and authorized to do business in the state and secured by a pledge of obligations of the United States of America, obligations of the state of New York, or obligation of any political subdivision, school district or district corporation of the state of New York.

(d) All certificates of participation shall contain the following clause: "This certificate shall be deemed executory only to the extent of monies appropriated and available for the purpose of the installment purchase contract to which it relates, and no liability on account thereof shall be incurred by the political subdivision beyond the amount of such monies. The installment purchase contract is not a general obligation of (insert name of political subdivision(s)). Neither the full faith and credit nor the taxing power of (insert name of political subdivision(s)) are pledged to the payment of any amount due or to become due under such installment purchase contract. It is understood that neither this certificate nor any representation by any public employee or officer creates any legal or moral obligation to appropriate or make monies available for the purpose of the contract."

Agency certificates of participation shall also bear the following legend: "Further, the installment purchase contract is not a general obligation of the state of New York municipal bond bank agency. Neither the full faith and credit nor the taxing power of the state of New York are pledged to the payment of any amounts due or to become due under such installment purchase contract."

5. (a) If an authorization for the issuance of obligations to finance the equipment, machinery or apparatus would have been required by law to be subject to a permissive or mandatory referendum, then the authorization to enter into an installment purchase contract shall be subject to a permissive or mandatory referendum, as the case may be, in the same manner as provided for such referendum on the issuance of obligations.

(b) If the authorization for the issuance of obligations to finance the equipment, machinery or apparatus would have been required by law to be subject to: (i) a certain supermajority vote of the governing board, (ii) a mandatory or permissive referendum, or (iii) both, then the authorization to enter into an installment purchase contract for equipment, machinery or apparatus shall be subject to such vote, referendum or such referendum and vote, as the case may be, in the same manner as provided for such vote and/or referendum on the issuance of obligations.

(c) If the authorization for the issuance of obligations would have been subject to a referendum only if the obligations had a maturity of more than five years or not less than some other minimum period, then the authorization to enter into the installment purchase contract shall be subject to referendum only if the term of the contract is equal to or more than such minimum period of maturity.

6. (a) Installment purchase contracts made pursuant to this section, together with any certificates of participation executed and delivered or caused to be executed and delivered in connection therewith, shall not constitute or create indebtedness of the state or a political subdivision for purposes of article seven or eight of the state constitution or section 20.00 of the local finance law, nor shall they constitute a contractual obligation in excess of the amounts appropriated therefor. Neither the state nor a political subdivision has any continuing legal or moral obligation to appropriate money for said payments or other obligations due under the installment purchase contract. No installment purchase contract shall contain any provision which, in the event of non-appropriation, precludes a political subdivision from acquiring equipment, machinery or apparatus for the same or similar purpose as the equipment, machinery or apparatus included in the installment purchase contract for a period of more than sixty days from the date of expiration, termination or cancellation of such contract, provided, however, that in no case shall an installment purchase contract contain any provision which would preclude a political subdivision from performing any statutorily or constitutionally required duties or functions, or require the political subdivision to pay liquidated damages.

(b) In the case of the failure to appropriate, the sole security, apart from any security provided by a credit enhancement, for any remaining periodic payments shall be the equipment, machinery or apparatus subject to the installment purchase contract, and if certificates of participation are executed and delivered or caused to be executed and delivered, reserve funds, if any, or any remaining proceeds from certificates executed and delivered by or on behalf of the political subdivision. Any installment purchase contract or any agreement for the execution and delivery of certificates of participation to fund an installment purchase contract may provide that the installment purchase contract or certificates of participation are secured by the underlying equipment, machinery or apparatus and that, in the event the political subdivision fails to appropriate funds sufficient for payments required under the contract, the financed equipment, machinery or apparatus may be sold on behalf of the holders of the certificates or other person entitled to receive payments under the installment purchase contract, provided that any excess proceeds from such a sale, after deduction for and payment of fees, expenses and any taxes levied on the sale, and distribution to the holders of the certificates in the amount of the face value of the certificates plus accrued interest shall be paid to the political subdivision.

(c) The aggregate amount of unpaid periodic payments, excluding interest, to be made under any outstanding installment purchase contract shall be deemed to be existing indebtedness for the purpose of determining the power of any political subdivision to contract indebtedness under section 104.00 of the local finance law. No political subdivision shall enter into any installment purchase contract if the amount of unpaid periodic payments, excluding interest, proposed to be made under such installment purchase contract and those outstanding, together with the amount of outstanding indebtedness, would exceed one hundred fifteen percent of the limit prescribed by such section 104.00 or if the total amount of such payments, excluding interest, under such proposed contract and those outstanding would exceed forty percent of such limit.

7. A political subdivision shall not have the power to enter into an installment purchase contract except as authorized in this section or the education law and nothing in this section shall authorize the conveyance or lease of property owned by a political subdivision except as authorized by law.

8. Whether or not certificates of participation are of such form and character as to be negotiable instruments under the terms of the uniform commercial code, the certificates of participation are hereby made negotiable instruments within the meaning of and for all purposes of the uniform commercial code, subject only to the provisions of the certificates of participation for registration.

9. All installment purchase contracts and certificates of participation of a political subdivision and the interest thereon, shall be exempt from taxation for municipal and state purposes.

10. Certificates of participation are hereby made securities in which all public officers and bodies of this state and all municipalities and municipal subdivisions, all insurance companies and associations and other persons carrying on an insurance business, all banks, bankers, trust companies, savings banks and savings associations, including savings and loan associations, building and loan associations, investment companies and other persons carrying on a banking business, all administrators, guardians, executors, trustees and other fiduciaries, and all other persons whatsoever who are now or may hereafter be authorized to invest in bonds or in other obligations of the state, may properly and legally invest funds, including capital, in their control or belonging to them; and are also hereby made securities which may be deposited with and may be received by all public officers and bodies of the state and all municipalities and public corporations for any purpose for which the deposit of bonds or other obligations of the state is now or may hereafter be authorized.

11. Enactment of this section shall not be constructed [construed][*] as invalidating any installment purchase contract for an improvement to real property entered into by a political subdivision prior to the effective date of such enactment.

12. References in this section to the agency and agency certificates of participation shall cease to have force and effect on and after July first, nineteen hundred ninety-two.

1. In general

Although a city lease agreement contained an executory clause, to the extent that the city argued it was justified in failing to appropriate the required funds because a sludge facility was not operating properly, the appellate court noted the city nonetheless failed to demonstrate that such funds were unavailable through the ordinary budget process. Rochester Fund Muns. v Amsterdam Mun. Leasing Corp., 296 A.D.2d 785, 746 N.Y.S.2d 512, 2002 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7595 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2002).

Central school district could not determine interest costs for installment purchase contract prior to budget vote, and thus petition to invalidate budget vote was dismissed on its merits; district cannot request bids until purchase is approved by voters, proposal presented to voters listed principal cost of purchase and advised voters that interest would be paid on installments, and CLS Gen Mun § 109-b did not require separate propositions for installment purchase contracts to estimate interest costs. 2007 Op Comm Ed No. 15,585.

Voters were properly informed about proposed school bus installment purchase contract where (1) "budget book" made available to voters prior to election stated total amount of proposed budget and set forth purpose and principal cost of bus purchase contract, disclosed that interest would be paid on purchase contract, and stated estimated cost of principal and interest that would be paid during upcoming school year, (2) language of proposal itself contained principal cost of purchase and stated that interest would be paid on installment contract, and (3) petitioner failed to establish by affidavits or other evidence that voters were confused. 2007 Op Comm Ed No. 15,585.

If energy performance contract is in nature of installment purchase contract, it must be reasonably anticipated that dollar amount of each installment payment will be substantially equal. 1985 Op St Compt No. 85-58.

Term "outstanding indebtedness" as used in CLS Gen Mun § 109-b(6)(c) includes only outstanding indebtedness which is not excludable pursuant to law. 1993 Op St Compt No. 93-11.

Fire district may not enter into lease-purchase agreement under which contractor would build firehouse on concrete slab on fire district property and fire district would make annual payments to contractor during term of agreement, with title to structure passing to fire district for nominal consideration at end of term. 1997 Op St Compt No. 97-10.

Installment purchase contract of fire district is subject to mandatory referendum. 1998 Op St Compt No. 98-19.

Union free school district may not sell building currently in use for school district purposes, to be reacquired by lease-purchase agreement. 2005 Op St Compt No. 05-3.

Exception for purchases made through New York State Office of General Services does not apply to purchase from State Contract Vendor upon terms and conditions which materially or substantially vary from State Contract. Ops St Compt 89-3.

Where a fire district authorized by resolution the installment purchase of a fire truck prior to the effective date of an amendment to section 109-b of the General Municipal Law authorizing installment purchases of equipment generally, the resolution is void for lack of authority and is not validated by the subsequent amendment. 1984 Op St Comp File #84-48.

2. Lease as installment contract

Trial court properly entered a judgment in favor of a sanitary district because, while the district promised to seek appropriations sufficient to make the lease payments, the district's liability for payments was conditioned upon the appropriation of funds, the district did not improperly invoked the lease's executory clause to escape its obligations, and it could reasonably have determined that the expenditure of funds to satisfy the bonds would have been improvident. Frankenmuth Mut. Ins. Co. v Waste Mgt. of N.Y., LLC, 122 A.D.3d 674, 995 N.Y.S.2d 732, 2014 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7592 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2014).

Under certain circumstances, an agreement entitled a "lease" may constitute an installment purchase if the term of the agreement extends over the actual useful life of the item acquired under the agreement, even though title never passes to the lessee. An installment purchase agreement is subject to the provisions of General Municipal Law, § 109-b, including those relating to competitive bidding requirements. Prior inconsistent opinions superseded. 1980 Op St Compt No. 84-57.

A transaction whereby a not-for-profit corporation, without competitive bidding, constructs a public facility for use by a municipal corporation in the performance of its governmental functions and the municipal corporation acquires use of the facility under a lease agreement and has an option to purchase: (a) does not constitute indebtedness for purposes of the State Constitution and Local Finance Law if the lease agreement has an executory clause making the municipal corporation's obligation contingent on annual appropriations, although it is doubtful that a clause providing that, if the municipal corporation fails to appropriate money for the lease payments, the municipal corporation agrees not to purchase, lease or rent property to perform the same functions as the facility, would be enforceable; (b) constitutes a prohibited installment purchase contract if the total character of the transaction is that of a purchase rather than a lease; and (c) violates the competitive bidding requirements of General Municipal Law §§ 101, 103, if the total character of the transaction constitutes a contract for public work of the municipal corporation. 1991 Op St Compt No. 91-13.

Packaged or canned application computer software may be purchased under an installment purchase contract pursuant to the provisions of this section. 1984 Op St Comp File #84-35.

3. Computer purchases

1. In general

A board of cooperative educational services may enter into an installment contract to purchase computer equipment. 1979 Op St Compt File #557.

A town may not enter into a "lease" agreement to obtain a tractor where such agreement provides that rental payments be applied to an option purchase price and provides for rental payments to include a principal amount plus a finance charge. 1982 Op St Compt File #82-51.

The terms "equipment, machinery and apparatus" as used in this section include office furniture and certain furnishings, sinks and toilets, but not public works projects such as the construction or reconstruction of bridges or the paving of a highway. As a general rule, it would be impractical to utilize installment purchase contracts for items which become fixtures when attached to real property. The appropriateness of installment purchasing for non-capital items which are of moderate cost and which may readily be paid for with current moneys should be carefully considered by political subdivisions. 1984 Op St Compt File #84-7.

2. Lease as installment contract

If a lease provides for an option price which is not a reasonably accurate estimate of the residual value of the equipment at the time the option to purchase the equipment is to be exercised, the lease is an installment contract within the meaning of section 109-b. 1980 Op St Compt File #187.

3. Computer purchases

Installment purchases of computer equipment are subject to competitive bidding requirements. Such requirements must be complied with prior to entering into the agreement. 1983 Op St Compt File #83-23.

"Ambulance" means a motor vehicle designed, appropriately equipped and used for the purpose of: (i) transporting emergency medical personnel and equipment to sick or injured persons; and (ii) carrying sick or injured persons by a person or entity registered or certified as an ambulance service by the department of health, that was subject to a manufacturer's express warranty at the time of original delivery and was purchased or transferred in this state within either the first eighteen thousand miles of operation or two years from the date of original delivery, whichever is earlier.

b. "Fire vehicle" means a motor vehicle specially designed and equipped for firefighting purposes which was subject to a manufacturer's express warranty at the time of original delivery and was purchased or transferred in this state within either the first two thousand hours of service or two years from the date of original delivery, whichever is earlier.

c. "Municipal consumer" means a political subdivision or fire company which is the purchaser or transferee of a fire vehicle or ambulance and any other person entitled by the terms of the warranty to enforce the obligations of such warranty.

d. "Warranty" means the written warranty, so labeled, of the manufacturer and any other warranties set forth in the manufacturer's or its agent's bid or offer submitted where competitive bidding is required by statute, rule, regulation or local law, including but not limited to, a bid or offer submitted pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements of section one hundred three of this article, and including any conditions precedent to the enforcement of obligations under such warranties.

2. Warranties. a.

(i) If a new fire vehicle which is sold and registered in this state does not conform to all express warranties during the first two thousand hours of service or during the period of two years following the date of original delivery of the fire vehicle to the municipal consumer, whichever is the earlier date, or if a new ambulance which is sold and registered in this state does not conform to all express warranties during the first eighteen thousand miles of operation or during the period of two years following the date of original delivery of the ambulance to the municipal consumer, whichever is the earlier date, the municipal consumer shall during such period report the nonconformity, defect or condition to the manufacturer, its agent or its authorized dealer. If the notification is received by the manufacturer's agent or authorized dealer, the agent or dealer shall within seven days forward written notice thereof to the manufacturer by certified mail, return receipt requested, and shall include in such notice a statement indicating whether or not such repairs have been undertaken. The manufacturer, its agent or its authorized dealer shall correct said nonconformity, defect or condition at no charge to the municipal consumer, notwithstanding the fact that such repairs are made after the expiration of such period of operation or such two year period.

(ii) If a manufacturer's agent or authorized dealer refuses to undertake repairs within seven days of receipt of the notice by a municipal consumer of a nonconformity, defect or condition pursuant to subparagraph (i) of this paragraph, the municipal consumer may immediately forward written notice of such refusal to the manufacturer by certified mail, return receipt requested. The manufacturer or its authorized agent shall have twenty days from receipt of such notice of refusal to commence such repairs. If within such twenty day period, the manufacturer or its authorized agent fails to commence such repairs, the manufacturer, at the option of the municipal consumer, shall replace the fire vehicle or ambulance with a comparable vehicle, or accept return of the fire vehicle or ambulance from the municipal consumer and refund to the municipal consumer the full purchase price plus fees and charges. Such fees and charges shall include but not be limited to all license fees, registration fees and any similar governmental charges, less a reasonable allowance for any damage not attributable to normal wear or improvements.

(i) If, within the period specified in paragraph a of this subdivision, the manufacturer or its agents or authorized dealers are unable to repair or correct any defect or condition which substantially impairs the value of the fire vehicle or ambulance to the municipal consumer after a reasonable number of attempts, the manufacturer, at the option of the municipal consumer, shall replace the fire vehicle or ambulance with a comparable vehicle, or accept return of the fire vehicle or ambulance from the municipal consumer and refund to the municipal consumer the full purchase price plus fees and charges. Any return of a fire vehicle or ambulance may, at the option of the municipal consumer, be made to the dealer or other authorized agent of the manufacturer who sold such fire vehicle or ambulance to the municipal consumer or to the dealer or other authorized agent who attempted to repair or correct the defect or condition which necessitated the return and shall not be subject to any further shipping charges. Such fees and charges shall include but not be limited to all license fees, registration fees and any similar governmental charges, less a reasonable allowance for any damage not attributable to normal wear or improvements.

(ii) A manufacturer which accepts return of a fire vehicle or ambulance because such vehicle does not conform to its warranty shall notify the commissioner of motor vehicles that the fire vehicle or ambulance was returned to the manufacturer for nonconformity to its warranty and shall disclose, in accordance with the provisions of section four hundred seventeen-c of the vehicle and traffic law prior to resale either at wholesale or retail, that it was previously returned to the manufacturer for nonconformity to its warranty. Refunds shall be made to the municipal consumer and lienholder, if any, as their interests may appear on the records of ownership kept by the department of motor vehicles.

(iii) It shall be an affirmative defense to any claim under this section that:

(A) the nonconformity, defect or condition does not substantially impair the value of the fire vehicle or ambulance; or

(B) the nonconformity, defect or condition is the result of abuse, neglect, or unauthorized modifications or alterations of the fire vehicle or ambulance.

c. It shall be presumed that a reasonable number of attempts have been undertaken to conform a fire vehicle or ambulance to the applicable express warranties, if:

(i) the same nonconformity, defect or condition has been subject to repair four or more times by the manufacturer or its agents or authorized dealers within the first two thousand hours of service or during the period of two years following the date of original delivery of the fire vehicle to a municipal consumer, whichever is the earlier date, or, within the first eighteen thousand miles of operation or during the period of two years following the date of original delivery of the ambulance to a municipal consumer, whichever is the earlier date, but such nonconformity, defect or condition continues to exist; or

(ii) the fire vehicle or ambulance is out of service by reason of repair of one or more nonconformities, defects or conditions for a cumulative total of thirty or more calendar days during either period, whichever is the earlier date.

d. The term of an express warranty, the two year warranty period and the thirty day out of service period shall be extended by any time during which repair services are not available to the municipal consumer because of a war, invasion or strike, fire, flood or other natural disaster.

3. Informal dispute settlement.

a. (i) If a manufacturer has established an informal dispute settlement mechanism, such mechanism shall comply in all respects with the provisions of this section; provided, however, that the provisions of subdivision two of this section concerning refunds or replacement shall not apply to any municipal consumer who has not first resorted to such mechanism. In the event that an arbitrator in such an informal dispute mechanism awards a refund or replacement fire vehicle or ambulance, he or she shall not reduce the award to an amount less than the full purchase price or a fire vehicle or ambulance of equal value, plus all fees and charges except to the extent such reductions are specifically permitted under subdivision two of this section.

(ii) A manufacturer shall have up to thirty days from the date the municipal consumer notifies the manufacturer of their acceptance of the arbitrator's decision to comply with the terms of that decision. Failure to comply with the thirty day limitation shall also entitle the municipal consumer to recover a fee of twenty-five dollars for each business day of noncompliance up to five hundred dollars. Provided, however, that nothing contained in this paragraph shall impose any liability on a manufacturer where a delay beyond the thirty day period is attributable to a municipal consumer who has requested a replacement fire vehicle or ambulance built to order or with options that are not comparable to the vehicle being replaced or otherwise made compliance impossible within said period. In no event shall a municipal consumer who has resorted to an informal dispute settlement mechanism be precluded from seeking the rights or remedies available by law.

(i) Each municipal consumer shall have the option of submitting any dispute arising under this section upon the payment of a prescribed filing fee to an alternate arbitration mechanism established pursuant to regulations promulgated hereunder by the New York state attorney general. Upon application of the municipal consumer and payment of the filing fee, all manufacturers shall submit to such alternate arbitration. Such alternate arbitration shall be conducted by a professional arbitrator or arbitration firm appointed by and under regulations established by the New York state attorney general. Such mechanism shall insure the personal objectivity of its arbitrators and the right of each party to present its case, to be in attendance during any presentation made by the other party and to rebut or refute such presentation. In all other respects, such alternate arbitration mechanism shall be governed by article seventy-five of the civil practice law and rules; provided, however, that notwithstanding paragraph (i) of subdivision (a) of section seventy-five hundred two of the civil practice law and rules, special proceedings brought before a court pursuant to such article seventy-five in relation to an arbitration hereunder shall be brought only in the county where the municipal consumer is located or where the arbitration was held or is pending.

(ii) A court may award reasonable attorney's fees to a municipal consumer who prevails in any judicial action or proceeding arising out of an arbitration proceeding held pursuant to subparagraph (i) of this paragraph. In the event a municipal consumer is required to retain the services of an attorney to enforce collection of an award granted pursuant to this section, the court may assess against the manufacturer reasonable attorney's fees for services rendered to enforce collection of said award.

(i) Each manufacturer shall require that each informal dispute settlement mechanism used by it provide, at a minimum, the following:

(A) that the arbitrators participating in such mechanism are trained in arbitration and familiar with the provisions of this section, that the arbitrators and municipal consumers who request arbitration are provided with a written copy of the provisions of this section, together with the notice set forth below entitled "NEW EMERGENCY VEHICLE LEMON LAW BILL OF RIGHTS", and that municipal consumers, upon request, are given an opportunity to make an oral presentation to the arbitrator;

(B) that the rights and procedures used in the mechanism comply with federal regulations promulgated by the federal trade commission relating to informal dispute settlement mechanisms; and

(C) that the remedies set forth under paragraph c of subdivision two of this section are awarded if, after a reasonable number of attempts have been undertaken under paragraph d of subdivision two of this section to conform the vehicle to the express warranties, the defect or nonconformity still exists.

(ii) The following notice shall be provided to municipal consumers and arbitrators and shall be printed in conspicuous ten point bold face type:

NEW EMERGENCY VEHICLE LEMON LAW BILL OF RIGHTS

(1) IN ADDITION TO ANY WARRANTIES OFFERED BY THE MANUFACTURER, YOUR NEW FIRE VEHICLE, IF PURCHASED AND REGISTERED IN NEW YORK STATE, IS WARRANTED AGAINST ALL MATERIAL DEFECTS FOR THE FIRST TWO THOUSAND HOURS OF OPERATION OR TWO YEARS, WHICHEVER COMES FIRST AND YOUR NEW AMBULANCE, IF PURCHASED AND REGISTERED IN NEW YORK STATE, IS WARRANTED AGAINST ALL MATERIAL DEFECTS FOR THE FIRST EIGHTEEN THOUSAND MILES OR TWO YEARS, WHICHEVER COMES FIRST.

(2) YOU MUST REPORT ANY PROBLEMS TO THE MANUFACTURER, ITS AGENT OR AUTHORIZED DEALER.

(3) UPON NOTIFICATION, THE PROBLEM MUST BE CORRECTED FREE OF CHARGE.

(4) IF THE SAME PROBLEM CANNOT BE REPAIRED AFTER FOUR OR MORE ATTEMPTS; OR IF YOUR FIRE VEHICLE OR AMBULANCE IS OUT OF SERVICE TO REPAIR A PROBLEM FOR A TOTAL OF THIRTY DAYS DURING THE WARRANTY PERIOD; OR IF THE MANUFACTURER OR ITS AGENT REFUSES TO REPAIR A SUBSTANTIAL DEFECT OR CONDITION WITHIN TWENTY DAYS OF RECEIPT OF NOTICE SENT BY YOU TO THE MANUFACTURER BY CERTIFIED MAIL, RETURN RECEIPT REQUESTED; THEN YOU MAY BE ENTITLED TO EITHER A COMPARABLE FIRE VEHICLE OR AMBULANCE, OR, A REFUND OF YOUR PURCHASE PRICE PLUS LICENSE AND REGISTRATION FEES.

(5) A MANUFACTURER MAY DENY LIABILITY IF THE PROBLEM IS CAUSED BY ABUSE, NEGLECT, OR UNAUTHORIZED MODIFICATIONS OF THE FIRE VEHICLE OR AMBULANCE.

(6) A MANUFACTURER MAY REFUSE TO EXCHANGE A COMPARABLE FIRE VEHICLE OR AMBULANCE, OR, REFUND YOUR PURCHASE PRICE IF THE PROBLEM DOES NOT SUBSTANTIALLY IMPAIR THE VALUE OF YOUR FIRE VEHICLE OR AMBULANCE.

(7) IF A MANUFACTURER HAS ESTABLISHED AN ARBITRATION PROCEDURE, THE MANUFACTURER MAY REFUSE TO EXCHANGE A COMPARABLE FIRE VEHICLE OR AMBULANCE, OR, REFUND YOUR PURCHASE PRICE UNTIL YOU FIRST RESORT TO THE PROCEDURE.

(8) IF THE MANUFACTURER DOES NOT HAVE AN ARBITRATION PROCEDURE, YOU MAY RESORT TO ANY REMEDY BY LAW AND MAY BE ENTITLED TO YOUR ATTORNEY'S FEES IF YOU PREVAIL.

(9) NO CONTRACT OR AGREEMENT CAN VOID ANY OF THESE RIGHTS.

(10) AS AN ALTERNATIVE TO THE ARBITRATION PROCEDURE MADE AVAILABLE THROUGH THE MANUFACTURER, YOU MAY INSTEAD CHOOSE TO SUBMIT YOUR CLAIM TO AN INDEPENDENT ARBITRATOR, APPROVED BY THE ATTORNEY GENERAL. YOU MAY HAVE TO PAY A FEE FOR SUCH AN ARBITRATION. CONTACT THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE TO FIND OUT HOW TO ARRANGE FOR INDEPENDENT ARBITRATION.

(iii) All informal dispute settlement mechanisms shall maintain the following records:

(A) the number of purchase price refunds and fire vehicle and ambulance replacements requested, the number of each awarded in arbitration, the amount of each award and the number of awards that were complied with in a timely manner;

(B) the number of awards where additional repairs or a warranty extension was the most prominent remedy, the amount or value of each award, and the number of such awards that were complied with in a timely manner;

(C) the number and total dollar amount of awards where some form of reimbursement for expenses or compensation for losses was the most prominent remedy, the amount or value of each award and the number of such awards that were complied with in a timely manner; and

(D) the average number of days from the date of a municipal consumer's initial request to arbitrate until the date of the final arbitrator's decision and the average number of days from the date of the final arbitrator's decision to the date on which performance was satisfactorily carried out.

d. Any action brought pursuant to this section shall be commenced within four years of the date of original delivery of the fire vehicle or ambulance to the municipal consumer.

4. Notice of rights. At the time of purchase of a fire vehicle or ambulance, the manufacturer, its agent or authorized dealer shall provide to the municipal consumer a notice, printed in not less than eight point bold face type, entitled "New Emergency Vehicle Lemon Law Bill of Rights". The text of such notice shall be identical with the notice required by paragraph c of subdivision three of this section.

5. Void agreements. Any agreement entered into by a municipal consumer for the purchase of a new fire vehicle or ambulance which waives, limits or disclaims the rights set forth in this section shall be void as contrary to public policy. Said rights shall inure to a subsequent transferee of such fire vehicle or ambulance. Any provision of any agreement entered into by a municipal consumer for the purchase of a new fire vehicle or ambulance which includes as an additional cost for such vehicle an expense identified as being for the purpose of affording such municipal consumer their rights under this section, shall be void as contrary to public policy.

6. Preservation of rights. Nothing in this section shall in any way limit the rights or remedies which are otherwise available to a municipal consumer under any other law.

Section
119-o. Performance of municipal cooperative activities; alternative powers; alternative assignment of responsibilities

HISTORY:

Add, L 1960, ch 102, eff Feb 23, 1960.

§ 119-o. Performance of municipal cooperative activities; alternative powers; alternative assignment of responsibilities

1. In addition to any other general or special powers vested in municipal corporations and districts for the performance of their respective functions, powers or duties on an individual, cooperative, joint or contract basis, municipal corporations and districts shall have power to enter into, amend, cancel and terminate agreements for the performance among themselves or one for the other of their respective functions, powers and duties on a cooperative or contract basis or for the provision of a joint service or a joint water, sewage or drainage project. Notwithstanding the foregoing grant of authority, the temporary investment of moneys by more than one municipal corporation or district pursuant to a municipal cooperation agreement which meets the definition of "cooperative investment agreement" as set forth in article three-A of this chapter shall be in compliance with all of the requirements of that article. Any agreement entered into hereunder shall be approved by each participating municipal corporation or district by a majority vote of the voting strength of its governing body. Where the authority of any municipal corporation or district to perform by itself any function, power and duty or to provide by itself any facility, service, activity, project or undertaking or the financing thereof is, by any other general or special law, subject to a public hearing, a mandatory or permissive referendum, consents of governmental agencies, or other requirements applicable to the making of contracts, then its right to participate in an agreement hereunder shall be similarly conditioned. Municipal corporations and districts shall also have the power to enter into, amend, cancel and terminate agreements with a soil and water conservation district established under the soil and water conservation districts law for the performance among themselves or one for the other of their respective functions, powers and duties on a cooperative or contract basis or for the provision of a joint service or a joint project; provided, however, that the exercise of any powers and duties under this article by a soil and water conservation district shall be subject to the powers, duties and limitations in section nine of the soil and water conservation districts law.

2. An agreement may contain provisions relating to:

a. A method or formula for equitably providing for and allocating revenues and for equitably allocating and financing the capital and operating costs, including payments to reserve funds authorized by law and payments of principal and interest on obligations. Such method or formula shall be established by the participating corporations or districts on a ratio of full valuations of real property, or on the basis of the amount of services rendered or to be rendered, or benefits received or conferred or to be received or conferred, or on the increase in taxable assessed value attributable to the function, facility, service, activity or project which is the subject of an agreement, or on any other equitable basis, including the levying of taxes or assessments to pay such costs on the entire area of the corporation or district, or on a part thereof, which is benefited or which receives the service.

b. The manner of employing, engaging, compensating, transferring or discharging necessary personnel, subject, however, to the provisions of the civil service law where applicable; the making of employer's contributions for retirement, social security, health insurance, workmen's compensation and other similar benefits; the approval of attendances at conventions, conferences and schools for public officials and the approval and payment of travel and other expenses incurred in the performance of official duties; the bonding of designated officers and employees; the filing of oaths of office and resignations consistent with general laws applicable thereto; provisions that for specific purposes designated officers or employees of the joint service or a joint water, sewage or drainage project shall be deemed those of a specified participating corporation or district; and provisions that personnel assigned to a joint service or a joint water, sewage or drainage project shall possess the same powers, duties, immunities and privileges they would ordinarily possess (1) if they performed their duties only in the corporation or district by which they are employed or (2) if they were employed by the corporation or district in which they are required to perform their duties.

c. Responsibility for the establishment, operation and maintenance of the joint service or joint water, sewage or drainage project and the officers responsible for the immediate supervision and control thereof; the fixing and collecting of charges, rates, rents or fees, where appropriate, and the making and promulgation of necessary rules and regulations and their enforcement by or with the assistance of the participating corporations and districts; the conduct of hearings and the determination of issues raised thereat; the making of necessary inspections; the keeping of records and the making of reports including those required by article three of the general municipal law; and limitations or restrictions on individual participating corporations and districts from providing or undertaking similar or competing facilities, services, activities, projects, or undertakings.

d. Purchasing and making of contracts subject to general laws applicable to municipal corporations and school districts.

e. Acquisition, ownership, custody, operation, maintenance, lease or sale of real or personal property.

f. Acceptance of gifts, grants or bequests.

g. Making of claims for federal or state aid payable to the individual or several participants on account of the joint service or a joint water, sewage or drainage project.

h. Custody by the fiscal officer of one participant of any or all moneys made available for expenditure for the joint service or a joint water, sewage or drainage project and authorization to such fiscal officer to make payments on audit of the auditing official or body of the participating corporation or district of which he is the fiscal officer.

i. Manner of responding for any liabilities that might be incurred in the operation of the joint service or a joint water, sewage or drainage project and insuring against any such liability.

j. Procedure for periodic review of the terms and conditions of the agreement, including those relating to its duration, extension or termination. The duration of an agreement hereinafter entered into, unless otherwise provided by law, may extend up to a maximum term of five years. With respect to agreements, the performance of which involves the issuance by the participants of indebtedness, either joint or several, the term of the agreement may extend up to a maximum period of time equal to the period of probable usefulness established by section 11.00 of the local finance law in connection with the object or purpose for which the indebtedness was issued. Nothing herein contained shall prevent or prohibit either the renewal of agreements upon conclusion of the terms established, or amendments, modifications, clarifications, or cancellations of agreements prior to conclusion of the terms established.

k. Adjudication of disputes or disagreements, the effects of failure of participating corporations or districts to pay their shares of the costs and expenses and the rights of the other participants in such cases.

l. Other matters as are reasonably necessary and proper to effectuate and progress the joint service or a joint water, sewage or drainage project.

m. A municipality may contract with another municipality or with a municipal housing authority of another municipality, for the construction, maintenance, operation or management of a public housing project.

3. Municipal corporations are authorized as provided herein to adopt a mutual sharing plan in order to undertake or receive any joint service on behalf of or by another municipal corporation which has adopted a mutual sharing plan. Services provided pursuant to such mutual sharing plan shall be subject to the alternative assignment of responsibility for certain expenses and liabilities relating to such joint service as provided by this subdivision.

a. A governing body may adopt a mutual sharing plan by local law, resolution or bylaw to confer the benefits of this section upon the employees of such municipal corporation and to be held liable for the costs incurred in the event of participation in a joint service with another municipal corporation which has adopted a mutual sharing plan. Such plan shall describe the officers or employees authorized to undertake or authorize receipt of a joint service pursuant to the mutual sharing plan, any limitations upon joint services which may be rendered or received pursuant to it, and how and when notice of joint services rendered or received pursuant to it shall be provided to the governing body.

b. Upon adoption of a mutual sharing plan, a municipal corporation may undertake or receive a joint service with another municipal corporation which has adopted a mutual sharing plan. The municipal corporation requesting the assistance of another municipal corporation pursuant to a mutual sharing plan shall be liable and responsible to the assisting municipal corporation for any loss of or damage to equipment employed in provision of such joint service or use of supplies upon provision of such joint service. Each municipal corporation shall be liable for salaries and other compensation due to their own employees for the time the employees are undertaking the joint service pursuant to a mutual sharing plan, however the municipal corporation receiving the service shall reimburse the assisting municipal corporation for actual and necessary expenses upon written notice of such claim.

c. The authority to adopt a mutual sharing plan and to undertake joint services pursuant to it shall be in addition to any other power or authority conferred on municipal corporations pursuant to this article or any other general or special law. A joint service may not be rendered pursuant to a mutual sharing plan where another agreement has been entered into pursuant to this section for such service between the assisting and receiving municipal corporations.

4. Any school district or board of cooperative educational services may join a panel established pursuant to article twelve-I of this chapter, and may further participate in any of the activities of such panel, with any participating county, town, city, village, fire district, fire protection district, or special improvement district participating in such panels. For cooperative agreements which involve functions, services, or provisions permitted by this section, school districts and boards of cooperative educational services shall be permitted to create and execute such agreements, when a part of the activity of such panel, without opinion or approval of the state education department.

1. Generally

In the context of equitable defenses, entities created pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 119-o have the same status as the individual municipal entities that create them. Municipalities may use CLS Gen Mun Art 5-G to undertake cooperatively activities which they independently have authority to undertake. 1994 NY Ops Atty Gen 94-4 (Informal), 1994 N.Y. Op. Att'y Gen. No. 94-4, 1994 N.Y. AG LEXIS 3.

Joint village and town planning board, formed to consider land use applications relating to property on border between municipalities, may employ weighted voting designed to give majority of votes to municipality in which property lies. 1998 NY Ops Atty Gen 98-54 (Informal), 1998 N.Y. AG LEXIS 117.

A town ordinance is effective only in the area of the town outside of an incorporated village. 1973 Op St Compt No. 73-102.

A village's participation in a municipal cooperation agreement should be preceded by a resolution authorizing such participation. However, where no resolution is adopted in advance, the village board, on a nunc pro tunc basis, may ratify all actions taken pursuant to the contract. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-800.

Although the town boards and the county legislature did not adopt a resolution approving an unwritten agreement to defray the expenses of the Town of Lockport to institute legal proceedings, the governing board may ratify all actions taken pursuant to the agreement. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-342.

A town which, on behalf of a village, applies for community development funds in accordance with the HUD Urban City Consortium program, may agree to pay to the village any shortfall of anticipated funds if such shortfall is caused by town fault in processing the application or, otherwise, if the promise to do so is supported by consideration from the village. 1981 Op St Compt No. 81-648.

When property is intersected by boundary line between village and city, village, in absence of municipal corporation agreement, is obligated to continue to provide services to property, including police, fire, ambulance, and sanitation. 1987 Op St Compt No. 87-68, 1987 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 110.

Village may enter municipal co-operation agreement with town pursuant to which it agrees to construct and maintain town sidewalk. 1986 Op St Compt No. 86-27, 1986 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 145.

Town improvement district commissioners, as governing body of district, may, by majority vote, authorize district to enter into municipal cooperation agreement with other districts or municipal corporations. 1995 Op St Compt No. 95-7, 1995 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 4.

2. Dual office holding prohibited

The two offices of Trustee of the Village of Cold Springs and Assistant County Attorney of Putnam County, when held by the same person at the same time, are not incompatible per se; and whenever the Assistant County Attorney would be required to participate in any legal matter relating to the village, the County should be represented by the County Attorney or another Assistant County Attorney, if any, in such matter. 1974 NY Ops Atty Gen May 3 (Informal), 1974 N.Y. AG LEXIS 78.

A village policeman otherwise qualified may be appointed deputy sheriff and the county sheriff may deputize a police officer otherwise qualified, which would authorize that police officer so deputized to perform all of the acts which deputy sheriffs of the county perform. The complications arising from the dual office holding are so great and the implications so serious and the practical difficulties so severe that we deem it inadvisable for a village police officer to be appointed as a deputy sheriff to perform a deputy sheriff's duties outside of the village in which he is a police officer. 1975 NY Ops Atty Gen Dec 24 (Informal), 1975 N.Y. AG LEXIS 206.

One person may not normally serve simultaneously as the town supervisor and as the town building inspector and zoning officer. An inter-municipal agreement may, however, remove the basis for incompatibility. 1987 NY Ops Atty Gen No. 87-81 (Informal), 1987 N.Y. AG LEXIS 21.

A councilman of one of the towns entering into an agreement for the operation of a joint solid waste disposal facility project may not be employed by such project to perform necessary legal work where the town board of each participating town must approve all contracts relating to the joint project. 1974 Op St Compt No. 74-112.

21. —Landfills or garbage disposal

Article 78 proceeding seeking to annul solid waste disposal contract awarded by solid waste management board formed under CLS Gen Mun § 119-o was properly dismissed as time barred insofar as it asserted "causes of action" based exclusively on CLS Gen Mun § 120-w where those "causes of action" were subject to abbreviated 60-day limitations period contained in § 120-w. American Ref-Fuel Co.of Niagara, L.P. v Northeast Southtowns Solid Waste Mgmt. Bd., 275 A.D.2d 891, 713 N.Y.S.2d 792, 2000 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 9497 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2000).

Article 78 proceeding seeking to annul solid waste disposal contract awarded by solid waste management board formed under CLS Gen Mun § 119-o was timely insofar as it asserted "causes of action" that could be construed as alleging that board was not properly constituted under § 119-o where those "causes of action" were not subject to abbreviated 60-day limitations period contained in CLS Gen Mun § 120-w, and petition was filed within 4-month period applicable to Article 78 proceedings generally under CLS CPLR § 217(1). General Municipal Law §§ 119-n, 119-o and 120-w permit a city and town to enter into a cooperative agreement to provide garbage pickup service. 1979 NY Ops Atty Gen Sept 18 (Informal), 1979 N.Y. AG LEXIS 38.

The provisions in a joint agreement between a town refuse and garbage district and an adjoining city to operate a joint incinerator, which designate the town supervisor and city manager as managers of the project and delegate to the managers the administrative functions in the day to day operation and maintenance of the project and personnel on a predetermined budget are valid. 1968 Op St Compt No. 68-313.

The village is not required to provide more service to a school district than to other similarly situated properties, but the village may enter a municipal cooperation agreement with the school district to provide additional service to the district for a fee. 1983 Op St Compt No. 83-201, 1983 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 283.

Comp. LEXIS 12.

22. — —Landfill site

A town in the County of Schenectady would not have the power to enact an ordinance prohibiting the County of Schenectady to create a county landfill in such town on county-owned lands either under Section 226-b of the County Law or as a joint venture with another municipal corporation pursuant to Section 119, subdivision m, n and o contained in Article 5-G of the General Municipal Law. 1974 NY Ops Atty Gen Jan 18 (Informal), 1974 N.Y. 23. — —Landfill closures

City was entitled to summary judgment dismissing action brought by town seeking share of expense of closing landfill where there was no evidence of legally enforceable agreement to extend earlier expired contracts for joint use of landfill or of agreement or resolution duly adopted by city to share closure expense. Oneonta v City of Oneonta, 191 A.D.2d 891, 594 N.Y.S.2d 838, 1993 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2371 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1993).

City was not equitably estopped from refusing to share in landfill closure costs, even though it concededly paid 80 percent of landfill costs which were billed by town on pay-as-you-go basis during 10 years following expiration of parties' last contract, since (1) no formal act by city committed it to future participation in landfill, (2) there was nothing to suggest that city, by its continued landfill use, created informal duty to continue payments beyond time it ceased use of landfill, and (3) it was town alone that operated landfill, negotiated and entered into lease and operations agreements, and agreed to consent order of closure with Department of Environmental Conservation. Oneonta v City of Oneonta, 191 A.D.2d 891, 594 N.Y.S.2d 838, 1993 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2371 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1993).

24. —Parks and recreation project

Comp. LEXIS 132.

25. —Police protection

Because a village had the power under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 119-o to withdraw from a joint protection contract, its decision to do so and to establish its own police department was not arbitrary and capricious or contrary to law. Old Brookville Policeman's Benevolent Assn., Inc. v Incorporated Vil. of Muttontown, 942 N.Y.S.2d 323, 35 Misc. 3d 730, 2012 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1296 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 2012).

Both charter and non-charter counties may decline to appropriate county funds for regular road-patrol service except to the extent that municipalities contract for the service and provide the county with funds necessary to cover the cost of the service. 1981 NY Ops Atty Gen 81-62 (Informal), 1981 N.Y. AG LEXIS 94.

Comp. LEXIS 183.

26. — —County and village

A county may contract with a village which lies partly outside the county to provide additional police protection by the sheriff. Such a contract would not have to include the adjoining county as a party. Such police protection is limited to the test enunciated in Opn Nos. 71-651, 76-731 and 78-603 but is not subject to the requirement that such police protection be "specialized". To the extent that those opinions are inconsistent with the views expressed in this opinion, they are superseded. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-284, 1980 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 260.

A county may enter a contract to provide a village or town with additional police services which are far more intensive than that usually and normally supplied by the sheriff and involving a considerably greater county outlay in money, manpower, and equipment. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-611.

29. — —Communications equipment

A county and any or all of the towns in the county may enter into agreements under which the county may establish a communications center which would handle all communications for fire districts, including emergency first aid squads of any fire districts maintaining such squads, calls for general ambulance services, calls for highway department operations and for any other purposes which the county is authorized by law to perform and which towns are also authorized by law to perform. Inclusion of the sheriff's department and town police departments in the operation of a county communications center would not be proper, but the board of supervisors may direct that the communications center be operated by sheriff's department personnel and that its facilities be used by and for that department, but it would be unwise if the facility should be located where the sheriff and his personnel cannot observe, control and, if need be, protect the facility. 1974 Ops Atty Gen Sept 11 (Informal), 1974 N.Y. AG LEXIS 147.

The County of Orleans may enter into a contract with a village, whereby the county sheriff would provide a police telephone dispatch service to the police department of the village, in return for which the county would be compensated. 1978 NY Ops Atty Gen July 5 (Informal), 1978 N.Y. AG LEXIS 323.

Comp. LEXIS 797.

30. — —Procedural considerations

Through municipal corporation agreement under Article 5-G of CLS Gen Mun, town may enforce petit offenses for traffic violations on city road located within 100 yards of town, and town police officers' territorial jurisdiction necessary for undertaking of co-operation agreement is extended under CLS CPL § 119-n[c]. 1988 NY Ops Atty Gen 88-39 (Informal), 1988 N.Y. A county may not sell sand and gravel to a town, but a county and town or towns may jointly own or operate a sand and gravel pit for their respective purposes, or sell, transfer, lease or exchange the real property containing such sand and gravel between themselves. 1968 Op St Compt No. 68-994.

32. —School programs

Two towns may enter into a municipal cooperation agreement to provide school crossing guards. Also, the two towns may appoint a single school crossing guard to act at an unguarded railroad grade crossing of a town highway which is divided longitudinally by the boundary line of the two towns. Under these circumstances, the school crossing guard would not be performing duties outside the municipality making the appointment. 1975 NY Ops Atty Gen Dec 5 (Informal), 1975 N.Y. AG LEXIS 197.

An agreement between school districts to employ jointly may provide that the employee be hired by one school district and half of the compensation be paid to it by the other. 1967 Op St Compt No. 67-793.

Several school districts and a BOCES may jointly self-insure health care benefits for their employees, but may not establish a joint reserve fund for that purpose. Furthermore, moneys pooled for a group self-insurance plan would be subject to statutory fiscal requirements in the Education Law relating to custody, investment, and disbursement of funds. 1981 Op St Compt No. 80-487.

It would appear that a school district may charge a town or village recreation commission a reasonable rental in excess of the district's tangible out-of-pocket expenses for use of a school district swimming pool. 1981 Op St Compt No. 81-46, 1981 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 845.

Where two school districts jointly contract to field athletic teams, there is no legal prohibition against a member of the board of education of one district from being hired as a coach by the other district when the only function performed by the member's district in relation to the joint contract is to provide a proportionate share of funds to cover the cost of the program. 1982 Op St Compt No. 82-348, 1982 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 377.

Not-for-profit corporation, wholly owned by municipal cooperative formed by public school districts under CLS Gen Mun § 119-o, could properly be issued insurance broker's license to act as insurance broker for group accident and health insurance policies under cooperative's employee benefits programs, which insurance covered school district employees, retirees, and families, so long as corporation was competent and otherwise qualified to hold such license under CLS Ins § 2104; further, it would not constitute improper rebate of premium under CLS Ins § 4224 for insurer to pay, and corporation to receive, commissions on group accident and health insurance policies that covered school district employees, retirees, and families. NY Ins Dept Gen Counsel Opinion No. 01-10-22, 2001 NY Insurance GC Opinions LEXIS 13.

Gallagher GMC Sales Corp. v Central School Dist., 43 Misc. 2d 360, 251 N.Y.S.2d 119, 1964 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1643 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1964).

Several school districts may make joint purchases for items such as milk, bread, and ice cream. 1962 Op St Compt No. 62-23.

34. — —Projects involving police

The only county police departments or police districts in the state are in counties which by charter have established a police department or police district. The boards of supervisors in other counties have no authority to appoint school crossing guards. A sheriff is an independent elected official and may assign a deputy to perform school crossing guard duty but the deputy, when performing this activity, is acting in his capacity as deputy sheriff and not as a school crossing guard. When appropriate, the deputy sheriff may direct a school bus to cross railroad tracks without first coming to a stop. Two towns may enter into a municipal cooperation agreement to provide the service. Also, the two towns may appoint a single school crossing guard to act at an unguarded railroad grade crossing of a town highway which is divided longitudinally by the boundary line of the two towns. Under a recent court decision, it would seem that Nassau County may contract with the North Bellmore School District of the Nassau County Auxiliary Police. However, the matter is not free from doubt. To the extent that prior opinions are inconsistent with this opinion, they are superseded. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-432, 1980 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 258.

35. —Sewer projects

A county may act in the area of county water, sewer, drainage and refuse districts and watershed protection districts only by the creation of such districts in accordance with statutory provisions regarding same. Thus it may not adopt local laws or ordinances in those areas for the purpose of appointing a County Water Inspector to enforce town ordinances on those subjects. 1973 NY Ops Atty Gen Mar 19 (Informal), 1973 N.Y. AG LEXIS 48.

AG LEXIS 31.

Comp. LEXIS 49.

This assumes, of course, that the volunteer ambulance service possess a valid voluntary ambulance service statement of registration. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-492.

A village is not required to enter into a contract for the receipt of ambulance services through competitive bidding. 1984 Op St Compt No. 84-59, 1984 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 79.

Village may contract for services of emergency first-aid rescue squad of village fire department only in context of contract for fire protection; if contract for fire protection provides for furnishing of ambulance services, it should describe services to be provided on specified terms; village may not purchase liability insurance for vehicles owned by village fire department. 1987 Op St Compt No. 87-76, 1987 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 99.

Village auxiliary police are not authorized to provide routine emergency medical services on an on-going basis. A village may contract to provide emergency medical services to other municipalities. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-755.

15. —Volunteer organizations

A town and a volunteer ambulance corporation may enter into a contract by which the corporation will provide its services exclusively for the geographic area of the town unless this violates a provision in the ambulance service's certificate of incorporation. 1979 NY Ops Atty Gen Dec 17 (Informal), 1979 N.Y. AG LEXIS 12.

The City of Norwich may contract for the furnishing of a general ambulance service with a duly organized volunteer emergency squad. 1955 Op St Compt No. 55-7321.

Although towns may not contribute to a private organization furnishing ambulance services, they may singly or jointly contract with an organization of this type to provide such services. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-827.

A county may use federal revenue sharing funds and/or county tax moneys to contract with one or more volunteer ambulance corps for rendering emergency medical service, general ambulance service or a combination of such services within the county. The extent to which such a contract must specify the particular services which are going to be provided is a matter for determination by the contracting parties; however, as a matter of contract law, the terms of the contract must be definite and certain in order for the contract to be enforceable. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-15, 1980 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 356.

A town may contract for general ambulance service with a private not-for profit corporation by expending either federal revenue sharing funds or ordinary tax revenues; discussion of procedures in forming such a contract. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-361.

16. —Miscellaneous entities

Competitive bidding is not required for ambulance contract. City welfare department may not contract for general ambulance service for city, but may contract for ambulance service as part of medical care for persons under department's care. 1966 Op St Compt No. 66-292.

17. Contract for communications services

A county and any or all of the towns in the county may enter into agreements under which the county may establish a communications center which would handle all communications for fire districts, including emergency first aid squads of any fire districts maintaining such squads, calls for general ambulance services, calls for highway department operations and for any other purposes which the county is authorized by law to perform and which towns are also authorized by law to perform. Inclusion of the sheriff's department and town police departments in the operation of a county communications center would not be proper, but the board of supervisors may direct that the communications center be operated by sheriff's department personnel and that its facilities be used by and for that department, but it would be unwise if the facility should be located where the sheriff and his personnel cannot observe, control and, if need be, protect the facility. 1974 Ops Atty Gen Sept 11 (Informal), 1974 N.Y. AG LEXIS 147.

The Tioga County Legislature may direct that the Tioga County Sheriff's Department use its personnel and equipment to dispatch calls received in connection with the American Legion Ambulance

It would seem that a village may not lease a village parking facility to a volunteer ambulance corporation as consideration for the corporation's agreement to provide general ambulance service in the absence of a special act of the State Legislature authorizing such lease. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-1069.

There is no general law authorizing a village to transfer an unneeded ambulance to another village without consideration. However, a local law may be adopted to authorize such a transfer. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-593.

The amount of compensation a county may pay to a volunteer ambulance corps pursuant to a contract for general and/or emergency ambulance service is limited only by the discretion of the governing board. In determining the amount which it will pay, the governing board may consider such things as the corps' need to replace its vehicles, supplies and/or equipment. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-702, 1980 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 231.

19. —Gift as impermissible

Pursuant to the New York State Comptroller, its highest-ranking fiscal officer, the provisions of N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 122-b(1)(c) may not be utilized as a means of circumventing the New York State Constitution's prohibition against gifts of municipal money found in N.Y. Const. art. 8, § 1. Section 122-b(1)(c) does allow a municipality to pay an ambulance corps sufficient sums to permit the ambulance corps to purchase corps ambulances and other vehicles. To avoid contravening constitutional gift prohibition, it is incumbent on town to take reasonable steps to collect unpaid ambulance fees. 2005 Op St Compt No. 2005-1, 2005 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 9.

20. Costs and fees

The cost of providing ambulance service in a town is a general town charge. 1955 Op St Compt No. 55-7619.

Subdivision 1 of this section authorizes a municipality to contract with a private association or individual for ambulance service, and such a contract, where it provides for furnishing ambulance service to the inhabitants, does not violate art. VIII § 1 of the Constitution as subsidization of a private organization; but ambulance service cannot be denied to those covered by provisions of the contract, fees to be collected are within the control of the municipality, and such fees as are collected are to be offset against the total contract price. 1960 Op St Compt No. 60-934.

An ambulance corps which receives an annual fee from a municipality for rendering ambulance service may also collect fees, set by the municipality, for use of the service. 34 Opns St Comp, 1978, p 204, Opns St Comp, 1975, No. 75-49, unreported, 25 Opns St Comp, 1969, p 90 and any other inconsistent opinions are hereby superseded. 1982 Op St Compt No. 82-26, 1982 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 698.

Town board, which provides emergency medical service, general ambulance service, or combination thereof on town-wide basis or in ambulance district, may fix schedule of municipal fees for charges to be paid by persons requesting use of those services; absent action by town board to fix such schedule of fees for charges for services to be provided on town-wide basis or within ambulance district, persons within town or ambulance district must receive those services without fee or charge. 1998 Op St Compt No. 98-9, 1998 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 9.

City may not set fees for provision of emergency medical transport services in amount designed to generate revenue in excess of cost of providing such services. 2005 Op St Compt No. 2005-8, 2005 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 2.

In considering costs that are reasonably related to providing emergency medical transport service, city may consider both direct and indirect costs, as well as current and future capital needs, in connection with provision of such service. 2005 Op St Compt No. 2005-8, 2005 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 2.

21. —Contract for services

An individual who contracts to render general ambulance service to a town may not retain any fees collected therefor. 1963 Op St Compt No. 63-39.

A town and not the contracting membership corporation must fix and collect charges imposed pursuant to a schedule of charges for general ambulance services provided in the town. Such charges are the property of the town. The town may contract with and compensate a membership corporation for services rendered in operating and maintaining such general ambulance service. 1969 Op St Compt No. 69-145.

As a general rule, there is no contractual obligation on the part of a city to pay the cost of ambulance charges incurred where city firemen or policemen summon ambulances of independent, private companies to the scene of a fire, accident or other emergency. In such an instance, the city would normally not be liable for the negligent acts or omissions of the ambulance company in rendering the services. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-596.

In addition to ambulance service provided as part of a fire protection contract entered into by a town on behalf of fire protection districts, a town may contract for the provision of an additional level or type of ambulance service in the town and may specify the circumstances under which that service is to be available, provided that the service is available on a town-wide basis. The town or, if so provided in the town's rules and regulations, the ambulance service provider, may send to the user's insurance carrier a copy of the bill for the amount of the fee or charge imposed by the town for ambulance services rendered to the insured and may collect the fee or charge directly from the insurance carrier. 1991 Op St Compt No. 91-20, 1991 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 18.

Any county, city, town or village may provide a general ambulance service. A municipality under the terms of the contract, may agree to pay to the Hospital the actual net cost of operating the service. 1955 Op St Compt No. 55-7130.

22. —Payment

A town may add the amount of an unpaid ambulance service bill to the benefited town resident's tax bill if the town has enacted a local law allowing it to do so. 1983 Op St Compt No. 83-132, 1983 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 351.

Reasonable collection efforts by town for ambulance fees may include, as appropriate, sending dunning letters, imposition of lien on real property, and commencement of civil actions; in determining how to proceed, town may take into consideration analysis of costs involved, as well as whether given claim may be uncollectible as practical or legal matter, such as when claim is barred by statute of limitations, or in case of bankruptcy or lack of attachable assets. 2005 Op St Compt No. 2005-1, 2005 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 9.

23. Insurance

There is no authority for the purchase of workmen's compensation insurance by a municipality for the benefit of members of an independent non-profit community ambulance corps not affiliated with a volunteer fire department. 1961 NY Ops Atty Gen May 19 (Informal), 1961 N.Y. AG LEXIS 90.

The County of Erie may purchase liability insurance for the purpose of protecting emergency medical technicians who are employed by the County against liability for claims arising from their acts while in good faith purporting to perform their duties, but there is no authority for the County of Erie to provide a complete indemnity to ambulance service agencies and their emergency medical technicians who are not employees of the County of Erie. 1977 NY Ops Atty Gen March 21 (Informal), 1977 N.Y. AG LEXIS 142.

Village which furnishes general ambulance service may insure against liability for negligence. 24. Illustrative cases

An invalid coach service need not be licensed by the Department of Health. 1967 Op St Compt NO. 67-591.

Members of an emergency rescue and first aid squad of a volunteer fire company are covered by the Volunteer Firemen's Benefit Law when responding to calls for assistance outside of the fire protection district which the company serves pursuant to contract with a town, whether the call is pursuant to a mutual aid plan or otherwise. A town cannot contract with the company to provide ambulance service for the area of the town outside of the fire protection district. 1981 Op St Compt No. 81-112, 1981 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 771.

County may not adopt local law which would establish emergency medical services coordinator and advisory board to coordinate activities of volunteer ambulance corps within county since Legislature has evinced intent to pre-empt area of regulation of emergency medical services. 1987 Op St Compt No. 87-55, 1987 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 125.

Town's proposed "emergency medical transport" service falls within authority of CLS Gen Mun § 122-b. 2005 Op St Compt No. 2005-8, 2005 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 2.

Section 1. Legislative intent. The state legislature finds that the state has a significant interest, subject to negotiation, that the provisions of a tribal-state compact contain terms consistent with certain state laws, including, but not limited to, the labor law, the workers' compensation law, and the human rights law which provide for the granting of benefits, rights and privileges which improve the economic quality of life and personal safety of persons who either: (i) will be engaged in the construction, reconstruction, development, rehabilitation, or maintenance of any such facility which will be the site where such gaming activities are to be conducted, or which are related facilities used to facilitate patronage at the gaming facility; or (ii) will be employed, within any such gaming or related facility, either by the Indian tribe or by any person, corporation, firm or entity engaged by the Indian tribe, to operate, administer or manage any such gaming or related facility. The classification of employees hereinbefore referred to shall include, but not necessarily be limited to, employees engaged in: guest entertainment, security, grounds keeping, gaming activities (limited to slot change employees, booth cashiers, carousel attendants and casino food and beverage service employees), reservations, parking and other guest services, the preparation or service of food and beverages; the rendering of housekeeping, maintenance, cleaning, bell and door services; and those engaged in the provision of laundry services for guests at the gaming facility or any related facility which is used to facilitate patronage at the gaming facility. Persons who are not such employees but who are engaged in the construction, reconstruction, development, rehabilitation or maintenance of any such gaming or related facility should also be extended the protections listed above. Moreover, the legislature finds that gaming should be conducted in a manner which adequately protects the environment and the public health and safety, which is a stated requirement for the conduct of class III gaming activities pursuant to the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act.

§ 2. The legislature hereby finds that games of chance, specifically games known as "raffles", conducted by bona fide charitable, educational, scientific, health, religious and patriotic organizations provide vital financial support to many worthwhile programs in the communities in which they serve. Furthermore, conforming current statutory language to address recent technological advances will enhance the ability of the public at large to participate and thusly is deemed to be in the public interest.

§ 189-a. Authorized supplier of games of chance equipment

No person, firm, partnership, corporation or organization, shall sell or distribute supplies or equipment specifically designed or adapted for use in conduct of games of chance without having first obtained a license therefor upon written application made, verified and filed with the board in the form prescribed by the rules and regulations of the board. As a part of its determination concerning the applicant's suitability for licensing as a games of chance supplier, the board shall require the applicant to furnish to the board two sets of fingerprints. Such fingerprints shall be submitted to the division of criminal justice services for a state criminal history record check, as defined in subdivision one of section three thousand thirty-five of the education law, and may be submitted to the federal bureau of investigation for a national criminal history record check. Manufacturers of bell jar tickets shall be considered suppliers of such equipment. In each such application for a license under this section shall be stated the name and address of the applicant; the names and addresses of its officers, directors, shareholders or partners; the amount of gross receipts realized on the sale and rental of games of chance supplies and equipment to duly licensed authorized organizations during the last preceding calendar or fiscal year, and such other information as shall be prescribed by such rules and regulations. The fee for such license shall be a sum equal to twenty-five dollars plus an amount equal to two per centum of the gross sales and rentals, if any, of games of chance equipment and supplies to authorized organizations or authorized games of chance lessors by the applicant during the preceding calendar year, or fiscal year if the applicant maintains his accounts on a fiscal year basis. No license granted pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be effective for a period of more than one year.

(a) The following shall be ineligible for such a license:

(1) a person convicted of a crime if there is a direct relationship between one or more of the previous criminal offenses and the integrity or safety of charitable gaming, considering the factors set forth in article twenty-three-A of the correction law;

(2) a person who is or has been a professional gambler or gambling promoter or who for other reasons is not of good moral character;

(3) a public officer or employee;

(4) an authorized games of chance lessor;

(5) a firm or corporation in which a person defined in paragraph (1), (2), (3) or (4) of this subdivision has greater than a ten percent proprietary, equitable or credit interest or in which such a person is active or employed.

(b) The board shall have power to examine or cause to be examined the books and records of any applicant for a license, under this section. Any information so received shall not be disclosed except so far as may be necessary for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this article.

(c) Any solicitation of an organization licensed to conduct games of chance, to purchase or induce the purchase of games of chance supplies and equipment, other than by a person licensed or otherwise authorized pursuant to this section shall constitute a violation of this section.

(d) Any person who willfully shall make any material false statement in any application for a license authorized to be issued under this section or who willfully shall violate any of the provisions of this section or of any license issued hereunder shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, in addition to the penalties in such case made and provided, shall forfeit any license issued to him or it under this section and be ineligible to apply for a license under this section for one year thereafter.

(e) At the end of such period specified in the license, a recapitulation shall be made as between the licensee and the board in respect of the gross sales and rentals actually recorded during that period and the fee paid therefor, and any deficiency of fee thereby shown to be due shall be paid by the licensee and any excess of fee thereby shown to have been paid shall be credited to said licensee in such manner as the board by the rules and regulations shall prescribe.

Editor's Notes Laws 2003, ch 164, § 1, eff July 22, 2003, provides as follows:

Section 1. Legislative findings. There are New York state statutes which authorize the fingerprinting of individuals as a part of an application for employment, license or permit. Some of those statutes also authorize the submission of fingerprints to the New York state division of criminal justice services and the federal bureau of investigation for the purpose of obtaining national criminal history record information for these same applicants. After reviewing the applicable New York state statutes to determine compliance with Pub. L. 92-544, the federal statute which authorizes the federal bureau of investigation to exchange records with officials of state and local governments for purposes of employment and licensing, the federal bureau of investigation determined that the statutes amended by this act where insufficient to permit reliance on such statutes as a basis for the authority for the federal bureau of investigation to provide national criminal history record information to state or local government officials in connection with an application for employment, license or permit.

Subdivision 8-a of section 837 of the executive law provides that fingerprints may be submitted to the division of criminal justice services only in connection with an application for employment, license or permit. The amendments contained in this act are not intended to alter that provision in any way; they are simply intended to satisfy the requirements of Public Law 92-544.

Amendment Notes The 2019 amendment by ch 55, § 1 (Part II, SubPart E), in (a), substituted "if there is a direct relationship between one or more of the previous criminal offenses and the integrity or safety of charitable gaming, considering the factors set forth in article twenty-three-A of the correction law" for "who has not received a pardon, a certificate of good conduct or a certificate of relief from disabilities" in (1) and in (5), substituted "paragraph (1), (2), (3) or (4) of this subdivision" for "subdivision (1), (2), (3) or (4) above" and "ten percent" for "ten per centum."

Notes to Decisions

1. Chief law enforcement officer

The town supervisor, of a town which has not established a police department, is not the chief law enforcement officer of the town for purposes of Article 9-A (Local Option for Conduct of Games of Chance by Certain Organizations) of the General Municipal Law. A town which has not established a police department should by following proper procedures authorize the chief law enforcement officer of the county to provide all police control required under Article 9-A. 1977 NY Ops Atty Gen Aug 15 (Informal), 1977 N.Y. AG LEXIS 318.

A city, town or village that proposes to license games of chance must exercise the option under section 194, subdivision 2 to have the chief law enforcement officer of the County control and supervise the games of chance if the city, town, or village does not have a police department. The New York State Racing and Wagering Board may enforce this requirement by a rule issued under section 188-a. 1979 N.Y. Op. Att'y Gen. No. 26, 1979 N.Y. AG LEXIS 7.

The chief law enforcement officer for the Town of Smithtown for purposes of Article 9-A of the General Municipal Law is the Commissioner of the Suffolk County Police Department. This chief law enforcement officer may delegate the administrative and inspection responsibilities to the clerk of the town; however, criminal investigations of applicants for licenses and investigations of criminal activity or involvement must be performed by the Commissioner of the Suffolk County Police Department. 1977 NY Ops Atty Gen April 15 (Informal), 1977 N.Y. AG LEXIS 124.

shall be submitted prior to the sale of the game to any licensed distributor for resale in this state. For coin boards and merchandise boards, nothing herein shall require the submittal of actual coins or merchandise as part of the approval process. Any licensed manufacturer who willfully violates the provisions of this section shall: (a) upon such first offense, have their license suspended for a period of thirty days; (b) upon such second offense, participate in a hearing to be conducted by the board, and surrender their license for such period as recommended by the board; and (c) upon such third or subsequent offense, have their license suspended for a period of one year and shall be guilty of a class E felony. Any unlicensed manufacturer who violates the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a class E felony.

2. Bar codes. The manufacturer shall affix to the flare of each bell jar game a bar code that provides all information prescribed by the board and shall require that the bar code include the serial number of the game the flare describes. A manufacturer shall also affix to the outside of the container or wrapping containing a deal of bell jar tickets a bar code providing all information prescribed by the board and containing the same information as the bar code affixed to the flare. The board may also prescribe additional bar code requirements. No person may alter the bar code that appears on the flare or on the outside of the container or wrapping containing a deal of bell jar tickets. Possession of a deal of bell jar tickets that has a bar code different from the serial number of the deal inside the container or wrapping as evidenced on the flare is prima facie evidence that the possessor has altered the bar code on the container or wrapping.

3. Bell jar flares. (a) A manufacturer shall not ship or cause to be shipped into this state any deal of bell jar tickets that does not have its own individual flare as required for that deal by rule of the board. A person other than a licensed manufacturer shall not manufacture, alter, modify, or otherwise change a flare for a deal of bell jar tickets except as authorized by this article or rules and regulations promulgated by the board.

(b) The flare for each deal of bell jar tickets sold by a manufacturer in this state shall be placed inside the wrapping of the deal which the flare describes.

(c) The bar code affixed to the flare of each bell jar game shall bear the serial number of such game as prescribed by the board.

(d) The flare of each bell jar game shall have affixed a bar code that provides: (1) the game code; (2) the serial number of the game; (3) the name of the manufacturer; and (4) other information the board by rule may require. The serial number included on the bar code shall be the same as the serial number of the tickets included in the deal. A manufacturer who manufactures a deal of bell jar tickets shall affix to the outside of the container or wrapping containing the bell jar tickets the same bar code that is affixed to the flare for that deal.

(e) No person shall alter the bar code that appears on the outside of a container or wrapping containing a deal of bell jar tickets. Possession of a deal of bell jars that has a bar code different from the bar code of the deal inside the container or wrapping is prima facie evidence that the possessor has altered the bar code on the box.

4. Reports of sales. A manufacturer who sells bell jar tickets for resale in this state shall file with the board, on a form prescribed by the board, a report of all bell jar tickets sold to distributors in the state. The report shall be filed quarterly on or before the twentieth day of the month succeeding the end of the quarter in which the sale was made. The board may require that the report be submitted via magnetic media or electronic data transfer.

5. Inspection. The board may inspect the premises, books, records, and inventory of a manufacturer without notice during the normal business hours of the manufacturer.

1. Distribution; distributors. Any distributor licensed in accordance with section one hundred eighty-nine-a of this article to distribute bell jar tickets shall purchase bell jar tickets only from licensed manufacturers and may manufacture coin boards and merchandise boards only as authorized in subdivision one-a of this section. Licensed distributors of bell jar tickets shall sell such tickets only to not-for-profit, charitable or religious organizations registered by the board. Any licensed distributor who willfully violates the provisions of this section shall: (a) upon such first offense, have their license suspended for a period of thirty days; (b) upon such second offense, participate in a hearing to be conducted by the board, and surrender their license for such period as recommended by the board; and (c) upon such third or subsequent offense, have their license suspended for a period of one year and shall be guilty of a class E felony. Any unlicensed distributor who violates this section shall be guilty of a class E felony.

1-a. Coin boards and merchandise boards. Distributors of bell jar tickets may manufacture coin boards and merchandise boards only if such boards have been approved by the board and have a bar code affixed to them setting forth all information required by the board. Except that for coin boards and merchandise boards, delineation of the prize or prize value need not be included on the game ticket sold in conjunction with a coin board or merchandise board. In lieu of such requirement, the distributor shall be required to disclose the prize levels and the number of winners at each level and shall print clearly on the game ticket that a ticket holder may obtain the prize and prize value for each prize level by referencing the flare. Such coin boards shall only be sold by licensed distributors to licensed authorized organizations registered by the board in accordance with the provisions of this article.

2. Business records. A distributor shall keep at each place of business complete and accurate records for that place of business, including itemized invoices of bell jar tickets held and purchased. The records must show the names and addresses of purchasers, the inventory at the close of each period for which a return is required, all bell jar tickets on hand, and other pertinent papers and documents relating to the purchase, sale, or disposition of bell jar tickets as may be required by the board. Books, records, itemized invoices, and other papers and documents required by this section shall be kept for a period of at least four years after the date of the documents, or the date of the entries appearing in the records, unless the board authorizes in writing their destruction or disposal at an earlier date. A person who violates this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

3. Sales records. A distributor shall maintain a record of all bell jar tickets that it sells. The record shall include, but need not be limited to:

(a) the identity of the manufacturer from whom the distributor purchased the product;

(b) the serial number of the product;

(c) the name, address, and license or exempt permit number of the organization or person to which the sale was made;

(d) the date of the sale;

(e) the name of the person who ordered the product;

(f) the name of the person who received the product;

(g) the type of product;

(h) the serial number of the product;

(i) the account number identifying the sale from the manufacturer to distributor and the account number identifying the sale from the distributor to the licensed organization; and

(j) the name, form number, or other identifying information for each game.

4. Invoices. A distributor shall supply with each sale of a bell jar product an itemized invoice showing the distributor's name and address, the purchaser's name, address, and license number, the date of the sale, the account number identifying the sale from the manufacturer to distributor and the account number identifying the sale from the distributor to the licensed organization, and the description of the deals, including the form number, the serial number and the ideal gross from every deal of bell jar or similar game.

5. Reports. A distributor shall report quarterly to the gaming commission, on a form prescribed by the gaming commission, its sales of each type of bell jar deal or tickets. This report shall be filed quarterly on or before the twentieth day of the month succeeding the end of the quarter in which the sale was made. The gaming commission may require that a distributor submit the quarterly report and invoices required by this section via electronic media or electronic data transfer.

6. The board may inspect the premises, books, records, and inventory of a distributor without notice during the normal business hours of the distributor.

7. Certified physical inventory. The board may, upon request, require a distributor to furnish a certified physical inventory of all bell jar tickets in stock. The inventory shall contain the information requested by the board.

§ 195-q. Bell jar compliance and enforcement

In the case of bell jars, the licensee, upon filing financial statements of bell jar operations, shall also tender to the board a sum in the amount of five percent of the net proceeds as defined in this paragraph, from the sale of bell jar tickets, seal cards, merchandise board, and coin boards, if any, for that portion of license period covered by such statement. For the purposes of this section, "net proceeds" shall mean the difference between the ideal handle from the sale of bell jar tickets, seal cards, merchandise boards, and coin boards less the amount of money paid out in prizes and less the purchase price of the bell jar deal, seal card deal, merchandise board deal, or coin board deal. Additionally, a credit shall be permitted against the net proceeds fee tendered to the board for unsold tickets of the bell jar deal as long as the unsold tickets have the same serial number as the tickets for which the fee is rendered. Such unsold tickets must be kept on file by the selling organization for inspection by the board for a period of one year following the date upon which the relevant financial statement was received by the board.

Contingent upon the approval of the director of the division of the budget, the state gaming commission shall pay into an account, to be known as the bell jar collection account, under the joint custody of the comptroller and the state gaming commission, the total amount of license fees collected pursuant to this section. With the approval of the director of the division of the budget, monies to be utilized to maintain the operations necessary to enforce the provisions of this article and the collection of the license fee imposed by this section shall be paid out of such account on the audit and warrant of the comptroller on vouchers certified or approved by the director of the division of the budget or his or her duly designated official. Those monies that are not utilized to maintain operations necessary to enforce the provisions of this article and the collection of the license fee authorized by this section shall be paid out of such amount on the audit and warrant of the state comptroller and shall be credited to the general fund.

§ 200. Defining qualifications of exempt volunteer firefighters.

An exempt volunteer firefighter is hereby declared to be a person who as a member of a volunteer fire company duly organized under the laws of the state of New York shall have at any time after attaining the age of eighteen years faithfully actually performed service in the protection of life and property from fire within the territory immediately protected by the company of which he or she is a member, and while a bona fide resident therein, for a period of five years, as provided in this article, or, if such company shall have been sooner disbanded upon the organization of a paid fire department, for a period of at least one year and shall also have been a member of such volunteer fire company at the time it shall have been disbanded; but the limitation of one year's service shall not apply to a volunteer firefighter who was a member of a fire company which was disbanded prior to January first, nineteen hundred two. The foregoing residence requirements shall not apply (1) to a volunteer firefighter who has been duly elected to membership in his or her fire company as a non-resident member residing in territory which is afforded fire protection by his or her fire company pursuant to a contract for fire protection, as authorized by paragraph three of subdivision c of section fourteen hundred two of the not-for-profit corporation law or by subdivisions two and three of either section 10-1006 of the village law, section one hundred seventy-six-b of the town law or section sixteen-a of the general city law, (2) to a volunteer firefighter whose membership has been duly continued in his or her fire company as authorized by paragraph three of subdivision c of section fourteen hundred two of the not-for-profit corporation law or by subdivision five of either section 10-1006 of the village law, section one hundred seventy-six-b of the town law or section sixteen-a of the general city law and (3) to a volunteer firefighter who has been duly elected to membership as a non-resident as authorized by paragraph three of subdivision c of section fourteen hundred two of the not-for-profit corporation law or by subdivision six of either section 10-1006 of the village law, section one hundred seventy-six-b of the town law or section sixteen-a of the general city law. The foregoing requirement of five years' service shall not apply to a volunteer firefighter serving as such at the time of his or her entry into the military service of the United States or of one of its allies in world war II, or during the period of hostilities as defined in subparagraph three or subparagraph four of paragraph (c) of subdivision one of section eighty-five of the civil service law, who, as a result of such military service, shall have become incapacitated for performing the full duties of a volunteer firefighter, or to a volunteer firefighter who, as the result of the performance of his or her duties as such, shall have become likewise incapacitated, but any such volunteer firefighter shall be an exempt volunteer firefighter even though he or she may have served as such for a lesser period than five years, and he or she shall be entitled to a certificate as provided in section two hundred two of this article which, in addition to the specifications contained in said section, shall set forth the facts in reference to his or her military service, if any, as aforesaid and that as a result of such military service, or as the result of service as a volunteer firefighter, he or she was incapacitated for performing the full duties of a volunteer firefighter. 1. Generally

This section will not be given a retroactive effect so as to deprive the petitioner of accrued rights. Pettit v Boyle, 223 N.Y.S. 521, 129 Misc. 873, 1927 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1339 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1927).

The by-law of a volunteer fire department, which provides that every member receiving his volunteer fireman exemption certificate shall automatically cease to be a member of the department, violates §§ 200, 200-a, 200-b and 202. Taff v Board of Fire Comm'rs, 2 N.Y.S.2d 851, 166 Misc. 704, 1938 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1356 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1938).

Where the petitioner, an exempt volunteer fireman, and a police chief for seventeen years annually appointed, was serving during pleasure of the village board, the notice of termination of term was a removal and since petitioner at the time was an exempt fireman he was entitled to a hearing. Dickinson v Monroe, 44 N.Y.S.2d 86, 180 Misc. 714, 1943 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2392 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1943).

The provisions of this section et seq., in relation to exempt firemen and certificates to be issued for their service, are controlling upon the subject and Village Law, § 209 is without statutory force. 1911 N.Y. Op. Att'y Gen. No. 322, 1911 N.Y. AG LEXIS 195.

It may be possible to vote a chaplain or physician into a fire department as an active member so as to be entitled to the benefits of the Volunteer Firemen's Benefit Law, the number of calls to active duty to be responded to by such a member, in view of his professional duties, being a matter of satisfying the authority having control of the fire department. 1961 NY Ops Atty Gen May 23 (Informal), 1961 N.Y. AG LEXIS 94.

County Veterans' Service Agency Directors are appointed and removed in accordance with the provisions of Executive Law, § 357 (1). The director in each county of the state has been classified as a noncompetitive service with the exception of the Counties of Erie, where the director is unclassified, and Westchester, where the director is in the exempt service. Each Director of a County Veterans' Service Agency is an independent officer and is not protected against removal pursuant to Civil Service Law, § 75 even though he be an honorably discharged veteran or an exempt volunteer fireman. To the extent that County Veterans' Service Agency Directors are classified in noncompetitive service, the inquiry is academic. 1974 N.Y. Op. Att'y Gen. No. 17, 1974 N.Y. AG LEXIS 6.

The position of paid chief engineer may be abolished by resolution of the board of fire commissioners of a fire district. 1957 Op St Compt No. 57-272.

2. Exempt volunteer firefighters

A volunteer fireman, with inactive, exempt status as a member of a volunteer fire company, may vote in an election of company officers, if company by-laws so provide. 1971 Op St Compt No. 71-1034.

3. —Five-year period

The five-year period of service necessary for qualification as an exempt volunteer fireman pursuant to General Municipal Law, § 200 need not be a consecutive five-year period of service. 1977 Op St Compt No. 77-802.

A volunteer fireman who is on a leave of absence pursuant to this section would not continue to accrue seniority credit based on active service unless the constitution, by-laws, or rules and regulations of the fire company or fire department provides otherwise. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-237.

4. Membership

All members of a volunteer fire company must be active members. The law does not recognize inactive classifications. 1955 Op St Compt No. 55-7510.

In order to be eligible for benefits under the Volunteer Firemen's Benefit Law, a person must be an active member of a volunteer fire company. 1957 Op St Compt No. 57-272.

It is not necessary that a volunteer fire company shall have rendered firefighting services under a contract in order that a member may qualify as an exempt volunteer fireman. 1957 Op St Compt No. 57-627.

A person is not disqualified from eligibility to active membership in a fire company because he is temporarily disabled by reason of illness. 1960 Op St Compt No. 60-632.

Persons 16 years of age and older may serve as volunteer firemen. 1969 Op St Compt No. 69-40.

5. Disciplinary suspension

Volunteer firefighter serving disciplinary suspension is not in good standing within meaning of CLS Gen Mun § 202 and is not eligible to be certified as exempt volunteer firefighter. 1992 NY Ops Atty Gen 92-38 (Informal), 1992 N.Y. AG LEXIS 37.

A fire company may not issue a certificate of exempt status to a volunteer fireman who was suspended one week before he completed the five-year period of service required by section 200 of the General Municipal Law and has not subsequently been restored to active status. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-562.

Agency Opinions

1. Exemptions

A person subject to call for firefighting or rescue squad duty, without an option of whether or not to respond, is an active volunteer fireman and eligible to receive an exemption from real property taxes under Real Property Tax Law § 466. 7 Op Counsel SBEA 114 (1983).

§ 200-b. Leaves of absence for volunteer firefighters entering the armed forces of the United States prior to July first, nineteen hundred sixty-six

1. When, prior to July first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, a volunteer firefighter in good standing in the fire company or department of which he is a member enters upon active duty in the armed forces of the United States (1) during any war between the United States and any other nation, or (2) during the period beginning with the commencement of the military and naval preparedness in the year nineteen hundred forty and continuing on July first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, and by reason of such active duty is prevented from actually performing duty as a volunteer firefighter in his fire company or department, he shall be given a leave of absence from said company or department for a period which, when added to his period of service as a volunteer firefighter, shall not exceed five years. The fire company or department, however, may grant a volunteer firefighter on such active duty a leave of absence for a period longer than the mandatory period above specified. Any certificate issued to the volunteer firefighter as provided in section two hundred two of this article shall credit him with the period of any such leave of absence in the same manner as if he had served during such period as a member of his fire company or department and had rendered service in all respects as specified in section two hundred of this article. The period of any such leave of absence shall be included in determining the period of service necessary to qualify him as an exempt volunteer firefighter pursuant to section two hundred of this article. During the period of any such leave of absence such volunteer firefighter shall not perform any services or duties as a volunteer firefighter except for services and duties performed pursuant to subdivision one-a of this section.

1-a. A volunteer firefighter on leave of absence, pursuant to this section, may perform services and duties as a volunteer firefighter during any period in which the armed forces of the United States grants the volunteer firefighter a temporary leave from military service, provided that such services and duties would not violate any law, regulation, rule or order of the United States or of the armed forces of the United States. This subdivision shall not be construed to require a volunteer firefighter on such temporary leave to perform services and duties as a volunteer firefighter during any temporary leave from military service.

2. During the period of any such leave of absence the fire company or department may enroll another person as a member to take the place of the volunteer firefighter on such active duty. Any person so enrolled may continue as a member of the company or department until he or she shall have served the time necessary to qualify him or her as an exempt volunteer firefighter, even though the person whose place he or she took may have resumed his or her duties as a volunteer firefighter.

1. When, on or after July first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, a volunteer firefighter in good standing in the fire company of which he is a member enters upon active duty in the armed forces of the United States (1) during any war between the United States and any other nation, or (2) during the period beginning with the commencement of the military and naval preparedness in the year nineteen hundred forty and ending July first, nineteen hundred seventy-five, he shall be deemed to be on leave of absence from such fire company during such active duty, provided, however, that the fire company, or the authorities having control of the fire company with the concurrence of the fire company, may terminate his membership, by reason of his continued military service, at any time after such a leave of absence shall have continued for five years, and termination for such cause shall constitute an honorable discharge from the fire company, and provided further that during such active duty his membership in such fire company shall terminate as provided by law when by reason of his voluntary change of residence he shall no longer meet the residence requirements for members of such fire company. Any certificate issued to such volunteer firefighter as provided in section two hundred two of this article shall credit him with the period of any such leave of absence in the same manner as if he had served during such period as a member of his fire company or department and had rendered service in all respects as specified in section two hundred of this article. b. "Fund raising activity" means a method of raising funds to effectuate the lawful purposes of a fire company, but shall not include any method prohibited by the state constitution or the penal statutes of this state, public fireworks displays unless conducted in compliance with section 405.00 of the penal law, or the conduct of a business or other commercial enterprise except on temporary basis for a period or periods not to exceed a total of ninety days in any calendar year. Such term "fund raising activity" shall not include drills, parades, inspections, reviews, competitive tournaments, contests or public exhibitions, described in paragraphs e and i of subdivision one of section five of the volunteer firefighters' benefit law, even though prizes are awarded at such events.

c. "Governing board of the political subdivision" means the governing board of the county, city, town, village, fire district or other district corporation, as the case may be, where the fire company is under the general control of, or recognized as a fire corporation, by such governing board.

2. Subject to the provisions of this section, a fire company may engage in a fund raising activity. Two or more fire companies may join in any such activity, and for the purposes of this section such group shall be deemed a "fire company."

3. A fund raising activity shall not be conducted contrary to the by-laws, rules or regulations of the fire company or of the fire department of which it is a part.

(b) require the fire company, at its expense, to provide any insurance protection which such governing board deems necessary to protect the political subdivision against claims and actions for damages by third parties arising out of or in connection with a fund raising activity.

7. Participation by volunteer firefighters in fund raising activities shall not be deemed to constitute "duty as volunteer firefighters" within the meaning of section two hundred five-b of this article.

8. Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this section, the provisions of this subdivision shall be applicable only in relation to fund raising activities for which benefits would be paid and provided pursuant to paragraph m of subdivision one of section five of the volunteer firefighters' benefit law:

(b) Sales of tickets for admission to or in connection with a fund raising activity shall be by persons appointed as a committee for such purpose and shall be for or in relation to a fund raising activity to be held within sixty days after the sale of the tickets commences.

The chief engineer of a fire district fire department may authorize use of the department's trucks during "Fire Prevention Week" to sell fire extinguishers as a "fund raising activity" if permitted by the Board of Fire Commissioners. 1963 Op St Compt No. 63-720.

3. —Activity not fund raising

Any agreement entered into by a fire district or a fire district company to furnish "stand-by" service at a stock car race track for a nightly fee is unauthorized and improper, not being a "fund raising" activity as defined in this section. 1961 Op St Compt No. 61-317.

4. Expenses

The board of commissioners of a fire district may not pay for long distance telephone calls made by volunteer firemen in connection with a fund raising activity and charged to the district telephone. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-668.

Unless otherwise provided by special act, members of volunteer fire department may use foreign fire insurance tax monies to make reasonable expenditures to fund fire department softball, billiard and bowling teams, and to pay for expenses for department's annual fund-raising drive. 2002 Op St Compt No. 2002-13, 2002 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 13.

5. Liability

A participant in an annual fire department parade who had ridden her horse in the parade was riding the horse home afterwards and came upon a parked car causing her to ride onto the lawn of a town resident, across which the owner had strung a wire which touched, and may have been attached to, a utility pole; the horse hit the wire, threw its rider off and ran down the street for about a mile, where it collided head-on with a van and as a result of the collision the plaintiffs, who were passengers in the van, were seriously injured. Plaintiffs need not prove willful negligence or malfeasance on the part of the volunteer fireman who organized the parade since although members of duly organized volunteer fire companies are exempt from civil liability for acts done by them in performance of their duties as volunteer firemen (General Municipal Law, § 205-b), participation in fund-raising activities is not a duty of a volunteer fireman; additionally, although certain parades are not fund-raising activities (General Municipal Law, § 204-a, subd 1, par b), the instant parade is not within the scope of those provisions. Monacelli v Armstrong, 64 A.D.2d 428, 409 N.Y.S.2d 899, 1978 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12745 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1978), app. denied, 46 N.Y.2d 710, 1979 N.Y. A village can be held vicariously liable for Dram Shop Act violations committed by volunteer firefighters during fundraising events, but not for misconduct during social activities. 1990 NY Atty Ops Gen 90-64 (Informal), 1990 N.Y. Op. Att'y Gen. No. 90-64, 1990 N.Y. AG LEXIS 68.

6. Illustrative cases

City was entitled to summary judgment dismissing consolidated actions for personal injuries and wrongful death arising out of alcohol-related automobile accident which occurred after intoxicated driver consumed beer at fund-raising event to benefit volunteer fire companies, although city was vested with authority to control activities of its volunteer fire company under CLS N-PCL § 1402(e)(1) and CLS Gen Mun § 204-a(6)(b), since participation by volunteer firefighters in fund-raising activities was not deemed to constitute "duty as volunteer firemen" within meaning § 204-a(7); moreover, city submitted evidentiary proof that it had not received prior written notice of fire company's fund-raising activities as required by § 204-a(8)(a). Haskell v Chautauqua County Fireman's Fraternity, Inc., 184 A.D.2d 12, 590 N.Y.S.2d 637, 1992 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 14048 (N.Y. § 204-b. Youth programs

1. Volunteer fire departments and fire companies may establish, operate and maintain youth programs to provide participants with the opportunity to become familiar with the programs and operations of fire departments, to provide programs in community fire safety, fire prevention, and public fire prevention education, and to curtail false fire alarms by developing community wide respect for the fire service.

2. Volunteer fire departments and fire companies shall establish rules and regulations governing youth programs established pursuant to subdivision one hereof, which shall include the minimum and maximum age for participation, the procedure for participation, removal or expulsion, residence, and provision for adequate supervision of such programs.

3. It shall be an unlawful discriminatory practice for any volunteer fire department or fire company, any member or members thereof, officers, board of fire commissioners or other body or office having authority to determine eligibility for participation in such programs pursuant to this section, to exclude or expel from participation in such programs any individual because of race, creed, color, sex or national origin, or to discriminate against any participant because of race, creed, color or national origin.

4. No person shall participate in such program without the written consent of his or her parent or guardian. Such consent shall continue until withdrawn. If withdrawn, participation in such program shall automatically terminate.

5. All activities of participants in such program shall be approved in advance by the chief, or his designee. No activities may include emergency duties in connection with fire department or fire company operations or any other hazardous activity.

6. Participants in such programs shall not be eligible for any benefit provided by the volunteer firefighters' benefit law.

7. Volunteer fire departments and fire companies may purchase accident insurance to insure participants in such programs against injury or death resulting from bodily injuries sustained in performance of approved activities. In addition, they may purchase insurance to protect against liability arising from approved activities. The insurance purchased pursuant to this subdivision may include medical and hospital coverage.

8. No youth program shall be established pursuant to subdivision one of this section unless authorized as follows: in a city the youth program must be authorized by the board of fire commissioners or other body or officer having control of fire department; in a village the program must be approved by the board of fire commissioners or, if there is no board of fire commissioners, the village board of trustees; in a fire district the program must be authorized by the board of fire commissioners; in a town outside a village or a fire district the program must be authorized by the town board.

Notes to Decisions

1. Generally

Workers' Compensation Board properly determined that claimant, as 16-year-old member of junior corps of town fire department, became active member of department and was entitled to benefits provided by Volunteer Firefighters' Benefit Law following injury incurred while operating his vehicle in response to fire alarm, since members of junior corps were required to respond to alarms once school day was completed, they were under direction and control of chief of department, and their duties at scene were consistent with those of active firefighter save for certain limitations such as not entering building that is scene of fire; furthermore, given these facts, junior corps is not youth program and thus its members are not excluded from benefits by operation of CLS Gen Mun § 204-b. Elander v Pleasantville Fire Dist., 124 A.D.2d 388, 507 N.Y.S.2d 334, 1986 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 61399 (N.Y. A fire district may pay the expenses incurred by firemen under the age of 18, including the expense of travel to drills or for instruction, and may also pay for the purchase of equipment in connection with a properly authorized youth program. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-877.

The fire chief of any fire department or company shall, in addition to any other duties assigned to him by law or contract, to the extent reasonably possible determine or cause to be determined the cause of each fire or explosion which the fire department or company has been called to suppress. He shall file with the office of fire prevention and control a report containing such determination and any additional information required by such office regarding the fire or explosion. The report shall be in the form designated by such office. He shall contact or cause to be contacted the appropriate investigatory authority if he has reason to believe the fire or explosion is of incendiary or suspicious origin. For all fires that are suspected to have been ignited by a cigarette, within fourteen days after completing the investigation into such fire, the fire chief shall forward to the office of fire prevention and control

1. Generally
2. Jurisdiction

1. Generally

A fire district may have implied authority to offer a reward for information leading to the apprehension, arrest and conviction of a person responsible for a suspected arson but in light of the General Municipal Law provisions pertaining to rewards and arson investigation, the best course of action may be for the fire district commissioners to discuss with the town officials the possibility of the town offering a reward and to determine what steps the town may be taking to apprehend a suspected arsonist. 1982 Op St Compt No. 82-242.

2. Jurisdiction

In instances of concurrent police department and fire department jurisdiction, the determination as to which of the two has primary jurisdiction over the event in question is dependent upon the circumstances of the particular case. In general, a fire department is in absolute command at the scene of a fire emergency until such time as, in the judgment of the fire chief, the premises are free from immediate danger of fire or explosion and safe for occupancy. 1983 NY Ops Atty Gen 83-67 (Informal), 1983 N.Y. AG LEXIS 25.

A fire alarm at a school creates authority for firemen to enter the school and it is their duty to do so. The school principal has no authority to keep them out or determine when the fire is out and the building is safe for occupancy. A false alarm does not alter the foregoing. 1981 NY Ops Atty Gen 81-13 (Informal), 1981 N.Y. AG LEXIS 147.

§ 205. Payments to injured or representatives of deceased volunteer firefighters.

1. If an active member of a volunteer fire company in any city, incorporated village or in any fire district of a town outside of an incorporated village or in any part of a town protected by a volunteer fire company incorporated under the provisions of the membership corporations law, or if an active member of any duly organized volunteer fire company, dies from injuries incurred while in the performance of his or her duties as such firefighter or as a member of a fire department emergency relief squad, a fire police squad or a fire patrol within one year thereafter, the city, village, fire district or town which is responsible as provided in subdivision four of this section shall pay as follows:

a. If such volunteer firefighter is a member of a volunteer fire company located in any city in which a pension fund is maintained, the relatives of such volunteer firefighter shall be entitled to a pension in the same manner and at the same rates as if he or she were a member of the paid fire department of such city.

b. If in any other place the sum of three thousand dollars shall be paid to the widow or widower of such deceased volunteer firefighter or to the executor or administrator of his or her estate if he or she is not survived by a widow or widower. In addition there shall be paid to the widow or widower of such volunteer firefighter for the benefit of such child or children the sum of twenty-five dollars a month for each surviving child, including a posthumous child, of such deceased firefighter under the age of eighteen years, but not more than a total of fifty dollars a month for all such children, or if the decedent be not survived by a widow or widower, or if he or she dies before the payments cease, then such payments for a child or children shall be made to their guardian or to relatives with whom they are living for their benefit.

2. Any such volunteer firefighter who shall become permanently incapacitated for performing the full duties of a volunteer firefighter by reason of disease or disability caused or induced by actual performance of the duties of his or her position, without fault or misconduct on his or her part, shall

a. If a member of a volunteer fire company located in any city in which a pension fund is maintained, be paid a pension in the same manner and at the same rate as if he or she were a member of the paid fire department of such city.

b. If a member of a volunteer fire company in any other place, be paid one-half the amount which would have been payable in case of death to his or her executor or administrator under the provisions of subdivision one of this section;

Provided, however, that if such volunteer firefighter shall at the expiration of the disability payments provided for in subdivision three of this section be totally incapacitated to engage in any occupation for remuneration or profit by reason of disease or disability caused by actual performance of the duties of his or her position, without fault or misconduct on his or her part, he or she shall be paid the sum of fifteen dollars per week during the period thereafter that such total incapacity shall continue and, in addition thereto, during such period there shall be paid to him or her for the benefit of his or her child or children the sum of twelve dollars fifty cents a month for each child under the age of eighteen years, but not more than a total of twenty-five dollars a month for all such children, but no payment on account of a child shall continue after such child shall have attained the age of eighteen years. In the event payments to a volunteer firefighter and his or her children on account of total incapacity, as heretofore in this subdivision provided, shall not have amounted to the sum to which he or she would otherwise have been entitled on account of permanent incapacity for performing the full duties of a volunteer firefighter and he or she shall be found to have recovered to such extent that he or she is no longer totally incapacitated but is still permanently incapacitated for performing the full duties of a volunteer firefighter, there shall be paid to him or her the difference between the payments already made to him or her for his or her own account and for the account of his or her children and the amount to which he or she would be entitled under this subdivision on account of permanent incapacity for performing the full duties of a volunteer firefighter. The authorities having jurisdiction to audit the claim of any volunteer firefighter claiming total disability benefits under this subdivision shall have the right to cause such injured volunteer firefighter to be examined from time to time at reasonable intervals by the municipal health authorities or any physician appointed by them for that purpose to determine whether total disability continues and, in case a volunteer firefighter receiving total disability benefits hereunder shall refuse to permit any such examination to be made, such authorities shall be authorized to discontinue the payment of benefits to him or her until such examination is allowed.

3. Any such volunteer firefighter who shall receive injuries while performing his or her duties as such, while in the fire house, while going to or returning from a fire by any means of travel, transportation, or conveyance whatever, or while working at the fire or answering a call or fire alarm or while officially engaged in testing or inspecting the apparatus, or equipment, or while engaged as a member of a fire department, or fire company, emergency relief squad or fire police squad, or fire patrol or while attending a fire school, or while instructing or being instructed in fire duties or while attending any drill or parade or inspection in which his or her company or department is engaged, or while engaged in emergency work not related to fire extinguishment or prevention or going to or returning therefrom when duly authorized to participate therein, so as to necessitate medical or other lawful remedial treatment or prevent him or her from following his or her usual vocation on account thereof, shall be reimbursed for such sums as are actually and necessarily paid for medical or other lawful remedial treatment, not exceeding five hundred dollars. He or she shall also be compensated for the time he or she was actually and necessarily prevented from following his or her vocation or for the time of his or her disability on account of such injuries, at the rate of thirty-six dollars per week not to exceed one thousand eight hundred dollars.

Notice of an injury or death for which benefits are payable under this section shall be given to the municipal corporation or fire district responsible for the payment thereof within thirty days after receiving such injury, and also in case of the death of the volunteer firefighter resulting from such injury within thirty days after such death. Such notice may be given by any person claiming to be entitled to such benefits or by someone in his or her behalf. The notice shall be in writing, shall contain the name and address of the volunteer firefighter, and state in ordinary language the time, place, nature and cause of the injury and shall be signed by him or her or by a person on his or her behalf or, in case of death, by any one or more of his or her dependents, or by a person on their behalf. The notice shall be given to the comptroller or chief financial officer of the city, the clerk of the village, the secretary of the fire district, or the town clerk of the town, as the case may be, by delivering it to such officer or by registered letter properly addressed to such officer. The failure to give notice of injury or notice of death shall be a bar to any claim under this section. Failure to give notice of such injury or death within such thirty day period may be excused by the county judge who would have jurisdiction of a controversy under this section, upon petition and notice in the manner provided in subdivision five of this section, either upon the ground that for some sufficient reason the notice had not been given, or that any member of a body in charge of, or any officer of the fire department or fire company had knowledge within such thirty day period, of the injuries or death, or that the municipal corporation or fire district has not been prejudiced by a delay in giving such notice.

Any such volunteer firefighter who shall receive injuries as aforesaid shall, when certified by the chief or other executive officer of the fire department or by the appropriate administrative officers under whom he or she serves, be received by any public, private, or semi-private hospital for care and treatment at the usual ward or semi-private patient rates, including charges at the prevailing ward or semi-private patient rates for necessary nursing, laboratory tests, x-ray examinations and physical therapy, or, in case any such hospital has a contract with the municipality served by such volunteer firefighter, then at the rates specified in such contract.

Within two years after receiving the injury, or if death results therefrom within two years after such death, a claim for the benefits under this section shall be filed with the same officer to whom a notice of an injury must be given, as aforesaid. The claim shall be in substantially the same form and shall give substantially the same information as is required to be given in a claim under the provisions of section twenty-eight of the workers' compensation law. Notwithstanding the provisions of any other law, any such claim need not be sworn to, verified or acknowledged.

Payments of weekly benefits under this section shall commence within fifteen days after the filing of such claim, and payments of lump sum, and monthly, death benefits under this section shall be made or commenced within thirty days after such filing. In the event of a failure to make such payments within any such period or to continue the same for the time required therefor, a controversy shall be presumed to have arisen and a proceeding may thereupon be instituted pursuant to subdivision five of this section to compel such payment.

4. In cities any benefit under this section shall be a city charge and any claim therefor shall be audited and paid in the same manner as other city charges, except that no part of the moneys payable under this section shall be paid from the pension funds of the said departments therein. In villages any such benefit shall be a village charge and any claim therefor shall be audited and paid in the same manner as other village charges, and shall be assessed upon the property liable to taxation in said village, and levied and collected in the same manner as village taxes. In fire districts any such benefit shall be a fire district charge and any claim therefor shall be audited and paid in the same manner as other fire district charges, and shall be assessed upon the property in such fire districts liable to taxation, and levied and collected in the same manner as fire district taxes. If such firefighter was a member of a town fire company or fire department or a member of a fire company incorporated under the membership corporations law, located outside of a city, village or fire district, any such benefit shall be a town charge and any claim therefor shall be audited and paid in the same manner as town charges and shall be assessed upon the property liable to taxation in the territory protected by such fire company and levied and collected in the same manner as town charges therein. If such firefighter was a member of a fire company or fire department operating in, or maintained jointly by two or more villages, or two or more towns, or two or more fire districts, any such benefit shall be a charge against the village, town or fire district, in which the fire occurred. If such injury occur while assistance is being rendered to a neighboring city, town, village, fire district, fire protection district (including a fire protection district served by the company or department of which such firefighter is a member), fire alarm district, or territory outside any such district upon the call of such city, town, village, fire district, fire protection district, fire alarm district, or territory outside any such district, or while going to or returning from the place from whence such call came, or death shall result from any such injury, any such benefit shall be a charge against such neighboring city, town, village, fire district, fire protection district, fire alarm district, or territory outside any such district, so issuing the call for assistance and after audit shall be paid and assessed upon the property liable to taxation in such neighboring city, town, village, fire district, fire protection district, fire alarm district, or territory outside any such district, and levied and collected in the same manner as other charges against the same are levied and collected.

Any city, village, fire district or town may finance the payment of any benefits payable under the provisions of this section by the issuance of serial bonds or capital notes pursuant to the local finance law unless it is required by some other law to pay such benefits from current funds.

Any such city, village, fire district or the town board acting for and on behalf of any fire protection district, fire alarm district or territory outside any such district, may contract for insurance indemnifying against the liability imposed by this section, provided further that such contract of insurance shall also indemnify against the liability imposed by the workers' compensation law in relation to injuries or death of volunteer firefighter, and the cost of such insurance shall be paid and provided in the same manner as benefits are required to be paid and provided in this section.

If any claim under this section is one for which an insurance company might be liable, or if it is a claim for which a mutual self-insurance plan under subdivision three-a of section fifty of the workers' compensation law might be liable, the officer to whom a notice of injury is required to be delivered or mailed and with whom a claim is required to be filed under the provisions of this section shall send a copy of any such notice or claim and a copy of any notice of a proceeding relating to an injury or claim to such insurance company or plan, as the case may be, promptly after receiving the same.

Any money paid to an executor or administrator under any of the provisions of this section shall be distributed in the manner provided by law for the distribution of personal property, and all money paid under this section shall be exempt from any process for the collection of debts either against the volunteer firefighter or any beneficiary to whom the same is paid under the provisions of this section.

No release from the liability imposed by this section shall be valid if it shall appear that the person executing such release has not received the full amount to which he or she is entitled under the provisions of this section.

The words "injury" and "injuries", as used in this section, include any disablement of a volunteer firefighter as the direct result of the performance of his or her duties.

If for the purpose of obtaining any benefit or payment under the provisions of this section, or for the purpose of influencing any determination regarding any benefit or payment under the provisions of this section, either for himself or herself or for any other person, any person willfully makes a false statement or representation, he or she shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

The provisions of this section relating to giving notice of injury and filing claim, and to the contents of any such notice or claim, shall be construed liberally in order to effectuate the objects and purposes of this section.

5. Any controversy arising at any time under the provisions of this section shall be determined by the county judge of any county in which the city, village, fire district, or town, which would be responsible for payments under this section, is located. For that purpose, any party may present a petition to such county judge, setting forth the facts and rights which are claimed. A copy of such petition and notice of the time and place when the same will be presented shall be served on all persons interested therein, at least eight days prior to such presentation.

6. The provisions of this section shall not apply to volunteer firefighters killed or injured on or after the first day of March, nineteen hundred fifty-seven, or who die from the effects of injuries received on or after such date.

Notes to Decisions

1. Generally

Whether or not volunteer firemen are covered under § 205 of the General Municipal Law and § 10 of the Workmen's Compensation Law when engaged in the rescue of cats or other animals from trees and roof depends upon whether or not a public emergency exists, which is a question of fact. 1955 Op St Compt No. 55-7419.

Real Property Tax Law does not define phrase "killed in the line of duty" as used in CLS RPTL § 466-f, but such standard is similar to that in other provisions of law relating to benefits payable to injured firefighters or representatives of deceased volunteer firefighters, such as CLS Gen Mun § 205. 11 Op. Counsel SBRPS 66.

§ 205-a. Additional right of action to certain injured or representatives of certain deceased firefighters

1. In addition to any other right of action or recovery under any other provision of law, in the event any accident, causing injury, death or a disease which results in death, occurs directly or indirectly as a result of any neglect, omission, willful or culpable negligence of any person or persons in failing to comply with the requirements of any of the statutes, ordinances, rules, orders and requirements of the federal, state, county, village, town or city governments or of any and all their departments, divisions and bureaus, the person or persons guilty of said neglect, omission, willful or culpable negligence at the time of such injury or death shall be liable to pay any officer, member, agent or employee of any fire department injured, or whose life may be lost while in the discharge or performance at any time or place of any duty imposed by the fire commissioner, fire chief or other superior officer of the fire department, or to pay to the wife and children, or to pay to the parents, or to pay to the brothers and sisters, being the surviving heirs-at-law of any deceased person thus having lost his life, a sum of money, in case of injury to person, not less than ten thousand dollars, and in case of death not less than forty thousand dollars, such liability to be determined and such sums recovered in an action to be instituted by any person injured or the family or relatives of any person killed as aforesaid.

2. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, including sections fifty-e and fifty-i of this chapter, section thirty-eight hundred thirteen of the education law, section ten of the court of claims act and the provisions of any general, special or local law or charter requiring as a condition precedent to commencement of an action or special proceeding that a notice of claim be filed or present, every cause of action for the personal injury or wrongful death of a firefighter which was pending on or after January first, nineteen hundred eighty-seven, or which was dismissed on or after January first, nineteen hundred eighty-seven, because this section was not yet effective, or which would have been actionable on or after January first, nineteen hundred eighty-seven had this section been effective is hereby revived and an action thereon may be commenced at any time provided that such action is commenced on or before June thirtieth, two thousand.

3. This section shall be deemed to provide a right of action regardless of whether the injury or death is caused by the violation of a provision which codifies a common-law duty and regardless of whether the injury or death is caused by the violation of a provision prohibiting activities or conditions which increase the dangers already inherent in the work of any officer, member, agent or employee of any fire department.

§ 3. Legislative intent. The legislature finds that the nature of the work of modern fire fighting in this state has exposed our firefighters to an unprecedented risk of death and physical injury. In view of this fact, the legislature gave injured firefighters and representatives of deceased firefighters a right of action against individuals found liable for such deaths or injuries.

The legislature concludes that the duties of our state's firefighters are performed in a variety of contexts and that the liability imposed should not be limited to violations pertaining to the safe maintenance and control of premises. Since our firefighters are required to confront dangerous conditions under many and varied circumstances, there is a need to ensure that a right of action exists regardless of where the violation causing injury or death occurs.

The legislature further concludes that a right of action should exist regardless of whether the person whose negligence leads directly or indirectly to the violation causing injury or death owns or controls the premises where such violation occurs.

§ 6. This act shall take effect immediately and shall apply to all actions commenced or pending on and after such date.

1. Generally

N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 205-a creates a cause of action for firefighters who, while in the line of duty, suffer line-of-duty injuries directly or indirectly as a result of violations of statutes or regulations. Specifically, it provides that firefighters or representatives of deceased firefighters have a right of action in situations where the negligence of any person in failing to comply with the requirements of any of the statutes, ordinances, rules, orders, and requirements of the federal, state, or local governments directly or indirectly causes the firefighter's injury or death during the discharge of his or her duties. Giuffrida v Citibank Corp., 100 N.Y.2d 72, 760 N.Y.S.2d 397, 790 N.E.2d 772, 2003 N.Y. LEXIS 989 (N.Y. 2003).

Notice is material to recovery by firefighter under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a; however, to be sufficient under statute, it is not necessary that firefighter prove such notice as he would be required to demonstrate in order to recover under theory of common law negligence, and firefighter need show only that circumstances surrounding violation of statute or ordinance indicate that violation was result of neglect, omission, or willful or culpable negligence on part of defendant. Lusenskas v Axelrod, 183 A.D.2d 244, 592 N.Y.S.2d 685, 1992 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12837 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1992), app. dismissed, 81 N.Y.2d 300, 598 N.Y.S.2d 166, 614 N.E.2d 729, 1993 N.Y. LEXIS 1174 (N.Y. 1993).

Since CLS Gen Mun § 205-e was enacted to provide police officers same rights accorded firefighters under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a, provisions of no-fault law (CLS Ins § 5104) also limit recovery under CLS Gen Mun § 205-e. Village of Suffern v Baels, 215 A.D.2d 751, 627 N.Y.S.2d 420, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5778 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1995).

Alleged violations of Penal Law by fellow police officer create hazards additional to those that police officers already face in their profession. Carlson v City of Tonawanda, 221 A.D.2d 1011, 635 N.Y.S.2d 365, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13525 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1995).

Injured firefighter's receipt of disability benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a constituted his exclusive remedy, barring common-law negligence claims and CLS Gen Mun § 205-a claims against his municipal employer. Petendree v City of Yonkers, 270 A.D.2d 403, 704 N.Y.S.2d 646, 2000 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3238 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2000).

Failure to comply with N.Y. Comp. Codes R. & Regs. tit. 27, §§ 127, 128, constitutes a sufficient predicate for liability under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 205-a. Terranova v New York City Tr. Auth., 49 A.D.3d 10, 850 N.Y.S.2d 123, 2007 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12901 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2007), app. denied, 11 N.Y.3d 708, 868 N.Y.S.2d 600, 897 N.E.2d 1084, 2008 N.Y. LEXIS 3263 (N.Y. 2008).

Widow's claims against a village and a fire department to recover for the death of her husband, a volunteer firefighter, were barred by N.Y. Vol. Fire. Ben. Law § 19 because the widow sought to recover both as the estate administrator and in her individual capacity, and the village and the fire department were among the respondents enumerated in the statute; N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 205-a did not provide for a recovery in addition to that provided by the various provisions of the Volunteer Firefighters' Benefit Law. Brady v Village of Malverne, 76 A.D.3d 691, 907 N.Y.S.2d 68, 2010 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6621 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2010).

City was entitled to dismissal of the claim of an emergency medical technician (EMT) for work-related injuries pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 205-a because the provisions of § 205-a(1) had to yield to the exclusivity provisions of the Workers' Compensation Law, N.Y. Workers' Comp. Law § 11 and, thus, the EMT's claim against the city under § 205-a was barred. Weiner v City of New York, 84 A.D.3d 140, 922 N.Y.S.2d 160, 2011 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3573 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2011), aff'd, 19 N.Y.3d 852, 947 N.Y.S.2d 404, 970 N.E.2d 427, 2012 N.Y. LEXIS 1242 (N.Y. 2012).

This section gives a cause of action to a fireman injured in course of duty by failure of persons to comply with the requirements of an ordinance or statute, giving rise to a liability imposed specially and apart from any ordinary liability based upon negligence. Healy v Rennert, 33 Misc. 2d 897, 226 N.Y.S.2d 876, 1962 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3679 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1962), aff'd, 20 A.D.2d 682, 246 N.Y.S.2d 1017, 1964 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4665 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1964).

While Gen Mun Law § 205-a, which gives injured firemen a cause of action against persons whose negligence in failing to comply with requirements of any statute or ordinance causes his injuries, specifies that it is in addition to any other remedy, there is no intent to impose an additional amount of damages on an employer, and a city fireman forfeits his rights to relief under the statute when he accepts workers' compensation benefits for injuries sustained in the course of employment. Traver v Saratoga Springs, 122 Misc. 2d 63, 470 N.Y.S.2d 100, 1983 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 4073 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1983).

2. Purpose

Affirmative defense alleging that plaintiff fireman's injuries were caused in whole or in part by his own culpable conduct was properly dismissed to extent it was addressed to statutory cause of action; General Municipal Law § 205-a is special statute which applies standard of absolute liability on building owner for any violation which is reasonably connected to firefighter's injury. It expresses legislative intent to protect firefighters from special hazards arising from fighting fires in buildings with violations by creating statute which imposes absolute liability on building owner, irrespective of considerations of negligence, in same way as Labor Law § 240 imposes such liability on owners and contractors in course of construction; rationale which holds defense of comparative negligence to be antithetical to intended purposes of Labor Law § 240 is equally applicable with respect to parallel intended purpose of General Municipal Law § 205-a. Johnson v Riggio Realty Corp., 153 A.D.2d 485, 544 N.Y.S.2d 589, 1989 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10613 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't), app. dismissed, 74 N.Y.2d 945, 550 N.Y.S.2d 279, 549 N.E.2d 481, 1989 N.Y. LEXIS 3325 (N.Y. 1989).

The intent of this section seems to have been to give an injured fireman, who might not otherwise have a cause of action in negligence, a right of action for damages based upon failure of defendant to comply with the requirements of some ordinance or statute, and it was never intended to give plaintiff fireman an additional right to recover damages for ordinary negligence arising out of the same conduct by the same persons. Healy v Rennert, 33 Misc. 2d 897, 226 N.Y.S.2d 876, 1962 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3679 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1962), aff'd, 20 A.D.2d 682, 246 N.Y.S.2d 1017, 1964 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4665 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1964).

This is a special statute enacted for the benefit of injured or deceased firemen or their relatives, designed to afford additional compensation to firemen injured or their families when killed, and is not penal in nature. Carroll v New York, 37 Misc. 2d 563, 234 N.Y.S.2d 954, 1962 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2306 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1962), aff'd, 25 A.D.2d 841, 270 N.Y.S.2d 146, 1966 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4191 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1966).

The predominant purpose of this statute is to give a cause of action to firemen injured by failure of persons to comply with the requirements of any ordinance or statute, and thereby to afford additional compensation to firemen so injured. Burigo v Di Leo, 38 Misc. 2d 851, 239 N.Y.S.2d 166, 1963 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2213 (N.Y. County Ct. 1963).

It was not the legislative intent to limit the statutory liability imposed by this section to instances of injuries sustained by firemen while in performance of their duties at or upon premises on fire or in danger of burning, the predominant purpose being to give a cause of action to firemen injured by failure of anyone to comply with the requirements of any ordinance or statute. Burigo v Di Leo, 38 Misc. 2d 851, 239 N.Y.S.2d 166, 1963 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2213 (N.Y. County Ct. 1963).

3. Construction

CLS Gen Mun § 205-a is remedial statute and should be construed liberally; however, scope is limited to property owners and to maintenance of premises in safe condition for firefighters. Kenavan v New York, 70 N.Y.2d 558, 523 N.Y.S.2d 60, 517 N.E.2d 872, 1987 N.Y. LEXIS 19265 (N.Y. 1987).

Although General Municipal Law § 205-a is to be construed liberally, the administratrix of a deceased fireman, who was killed as a burning building collapsed while he was on the roof attempting to open a scuttle in order to ventilate the building, failed to state a statutory cause of action by alleging that the evidence disclosed violations of law as to illegal smoking, an illegal employee's recreation room, and the illegally maintained scuttle. McGee v Adams Paper & Twine Co., 26 A.D.2d 186, 271 N.Y.S.2d 698, 1966 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3598 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1966), aff'd, 20 N.Y.2d 921, 286 N.Y.S.2d 274, 233 N.E.2d 289, 1967 N.Y. LEXIS 1115 (N.Y. 1967).

General Municipal Law § 205-a is to be construed liberally. Lyden v Rasa, 39 A.D.2d 716, 331 N.Y.S.2d 982, 1972 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4738 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1972).

Violation of NYC Admin Code § 27-4272, which requires that "[l]ighted matches, cigars [or] cigarettes" must be deposited in "metal or other non-combustible material provided for the reception thereof," does not trigger exception to "firefighter's rule" in CLS Gen Oblig § 205-a. Boardman v Vin-Al Corp., 228 A.D.2d 631, 646 N.Y.S.2d 26, 1996 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7410 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1996).

Neither assumption of risk nor contributory negligence may be asserted in defense to action brought under CLS Gen Mun § 295-a. O'Connell v Kavanagh, 231 A.D.2d 29, 662 N.Y.S.2d 1, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7832 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1997).

Amendment to CLS Gen Mun § 205-a (L 1996, ch 703) revived plaintiff's action, and thus it was not barred by 3-year statute of limitations under CLS CPLR § 214 (5) or (2), where plaintiff's complaint alleged violation of NYC Admin Code §§ 27-127 and 27-128, which merely restate common-law duties as to premises maintenance. Hart v DiPiazza, 262 A.D.2d 283, 691 N.Y.S.2d 109, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5895 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1999).

Negligence or a failure on the part of a municipal corporation in maintenance of an intersection and in enforcement of rules and regulations does not result in liability under Gen Mun Law § 205-a, which gives injured firemen a cause of action against persons whose negligence in failing to comply with requirements of any statute or ordinance causes his injuries, since the thrust of the statute is to impose liability on property owners only, and thus a city fireman has no cause of action under the statute for injuries sustained as a result of an intersection collision between a fire truck on which he was riding and another vehicle. Traver v Saratoga Springs, 122 Misc. 2d 63, 470 N.Y.S.2d 100, 1983 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 4073 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1983).

4. Constitutionality

Revival clause added in 1996 amendment of CLS Gen Mun § 205-a precluded dismissal of firefighter's personal injury action against defendants, even though Court of Appeals had affirmed dismissal of that action before 1996 amendment, where § 205-a was enacted to ameliorate harsh effects of common-law firefighters rule and to expand right of injured firefighters, serious injustice would result to plaintiffs not guilty of any fault if intention of legislature were not effectuated, and thus application of revival clause did not deprive defendants of property without due process of law. Raquet v J.M. Braun Builders, Inc., 273 A.D.2d 850, 709 N.Y.S.2d 292, 2000 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6845 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't), app. denied, 95 N.Y.2d 902, 716 N.Y.S.2d 642, 739 N.E.2d 1147, 2000 N.Y. LEXIS 2898 (N.Y. 2000).

5. Penal nature of statute

This statute is quasi-penal, if not entirely penal, and sui generis. How a claim under the statute might be handled when submitted to a jury in conjunction with an ordinary cause of action based on negligence is a question. But with due regard to the special and separate nature of the cause of action created by this section, such cause of action thereunder must be separately stated and submitted. Gannon v Royal Properties, Inc., 285 A.D. 131, 136 N.Y.S.2d 129, 1954 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3294 (N.Y. App. Div. 1954), aff'd, 309 N.Y. 819, 130 N.E.2d 616, 309 N.Y. (N.Y.S.) 819, 1955 N.Y. LEXIS 1572 (N.Y. 1955).

This is a special statute enacted for the benefit of injured or deceased firemen or their relatives, designed to afford additional compensation to firemen injured or their families when killed, and is not penal in nature. Carroll v New York, 37 Misc. 2d 563, 234 N.Y.S.2d 954, 1962 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2306 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1962), aff'd, 25 A.D.2d 841, 270 N.Y.S.2d 146, 1966 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4191 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1966).

6. Persons liable; property owners

Statute giving an additional right of action for injury or death of fireman as result of failure to comply with statutes or ordinances is directed at property owners and those in control of property which is involved in a fire-fighting operation. Gerhart v New York, 56 A.D.2d 790, 393 N.Y.S.2d 6, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11069 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't), app. denied, 42 N.Y.2d 810, 1977 N.Y. LEXIS 3889 (N.Y. 1977).

Where agreement between third-party plaintiff and third-party respondent afforded the latter the right to cancel until October 30 and the latter cancelled on October 28th, and lease portion of the agreement was not to commence until the following May 1, the third-party defendant had no duty with respect to condition of the premises prior to October 4 and, hence, was not subject to liability under statute giving additional right of action to certain injured or representatives of certain deceased firemen. Adams v Acker, 57 A.D.2d 741, 394 N.Y.S.2d 8, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11871 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't), app. dismissed, 42 N.Y.2d 809, 1977 N.Y. LEXIS 3882 (N.Y. 1977), app. dismissed, 42 N.Y.2d 965, 398 N.Y.S.2d 147, 367 N.E.2d 654, 1977 N.Y. Gen Mun Law § 205-a applies only to property owners or those who are in control of property, and so would not support an action against a contractor based on demolition work the contractor had performed on real property three years prior to an accident on the property on which plaintiff was injured. Kiernan v New York, 102 A.D.2d 731, 476 N.Y.S.2d 568, 1984 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 18896 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1984), sub. op., in part, 107 A.D.2d 608, 484 N.Y.S.2d 790, 1985 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 42604 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1985).

CLS Gen Mun § 205-a, which affords to firefighters statutorily created right of action for injuries suffered while combatting fires, may be asserted against nonowners of premises on which particular fire occurred when those nonowners are charged with having violated some statute, ordinance or rule respecting maintenance and safety of premises in question. Andreaccio v Unique Parking Corp., 158 A.D.2d 222, 1990 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8368 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1990).

Firefighter who was injured in fire at parking garage could assert cause of action under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a against firm which performed demolition activity adjacent to garage which might have caused fire, and against second firm which had contract with garage operator to maintain and inspect automatic sprinkler system, since statute reaches beyond owners of premises, and it was alleged that demolition firm violated ordinance regarding demolition safety and that sprinkler firm violated ordinances regarding maintenance of sprinkler systems. Andreaccio v Unique Parking Corp., 158 A.D.2d 222, 1990 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8368 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1990).

Former property owner should have been granted summary judgment in action brought against it under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a; liability under statute is limited to those with control over premises at time of injury. Patsos v Suffolk Charles Assocs., 226 A.D.2d 608, 641 N.Y.S.2d 370, 1996 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4363 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't), app. denied, 88 N.Y.2d 812, 649 N.Y.S.2d 379, 672 N.E.2d 605, 1996 N.Y. LEXIS 2979 (N.Y. 1996).

In firefighter's action under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a predicated on alleged violation of 12 NYCRR § 23-1.7(b)(1)(i) which requires "substantial cover fastened in place" over every hazardous opening into which person may step or fall, testimony of general contractor's superintendent that he moved plywood drain covering but then replaced it as it had been, coupled with fact that owner was compelled to move its office to another floor during renovation of premises, raised issue of fact as to extent of general contractor's control of premises, warranting denial of its summary judgment motion. Scollin v Theater for the New City Found., 229 A.D.2d 355, 646 N.Y.S.2d 323, 1996 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7976 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1996).

Landowner was entitled to summary judgment in action by firefighter who slipped on plastic bag on roof of premises while fighting fire, absent evidence that presence of plastic bag on roof was created by or known to landowner. McCullagh v McJunkin, 240 A.D.2d 713, 659 N.Y.S.2d 309, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7111 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1997).

Defendant building owners were not entitled to summary judgment on plaintiff firefighter's CLS Gen Mun § 205-a claim because, even as successor landlords, they were responsible for narrow-tread spiral staircase leading to attic which violated building code, notice of violation was not required, affidavits of plaintiff and his expert raised fact issue as to whether there was reasonable connection between plaintiff's injury and dimensions of steps on which he fell, and any inconsistency between plaintiff's affidavit that he had difficulty maintaining his footing up staircase and his deposition testimony that he fell near top on wet step merely presented issue of credibility for fact finder. Meyer v Moreno, 258 A.D.2d 315, 685 N.Y.S.2d 218, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1158 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1999).

Trial court erred in granting summary judgment to the owner of a building as to plaintiffs' claim under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 205-a, because plaintiffs raised triable issues of fact as to whether alleged violations of the Administrative Code by the owner bore a practical or reasonable causal connection to a firefighter's injuries during a rescue operation in the building. Doherty v Sparacio, 35 A.D.3d 530, 826 N.Y.S.2d 402, 2006 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 15053 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2006).

Trial court properly granted a motion and cross-motion filed by a property owner and its lessee for summary judgment dismissing a firefighter's cause of action predicated on a violation of an Occupational Safety and Health Administration regulation because such a cause of action could only be maintained against a plaintiff's employer and there was no dispute that neither the owner nor the lessee was the firefighter's employer. Gallagher v 109-02 Dev., LLC, 137 A.D.3d 1073, 28 N.Y.S.3d 387, 2016 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2049 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2016).

Trial court erred in denying a motion for summary judgment by a property owner and its lessee in a firefighter's cause of action predicated on a violation of a provision of the Administrative Code of the City of New York because the firefighter cited only to a provision of the Code that was repealed in 1968, many years before the accident in question occurred. Gallagher v 109-02 Dev., LLC, 137 A.D.3d 1073, 28 N.Y.S.3d 387, 2016 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2049 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2016).

A firefighter's suit against a homeowner for personal injuries resulting from slipping on a snowy roof during a rescue was properly dismissed via summary judgment because the house was a private dwelling, not a multiple dwelling requiring fire-resistant enclosures, and no purported ordinance violation for failing to obtain permits for work performed inside the home caused or contributed to the firefighter's injuries. Metzger v Lazala, 171 A.D.3d 1287, 97 N.Y.S.3d 350, 2019 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2605 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2019).

This section is not directed to imposing liability upon a municipality for permitting violations of its Building Code and other ordinances, but to impose liability on property owners who have violated such local laws and ordinances, with resultant death or injury of a fireman. Carroll v New York, 37 Misc. 2d 563, 234 N.Y.S.2d 954, 1962 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2306 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1962), aff'd, 25 A.D.2d 841, 270 N.Y.S.2d 146, 1966 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4191 (N.Y. 7. —Municipalities

Emergency medical technician's causes of action for common law negligence and N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 205-a were properly dismissed because the technician's injuries arose from and were connected with the technician's employment with a city, the technician received workers' compensation benefits, and the technician could not sue the city in its landlord role. Weiner v City of New York, 19 N.Y.3d 852, 947 N.Y.S.2d 404, 970 N.E.2d 427, 2012 N.Y. LEXIS 1242 (N.Y. 2012).

Section 19 of the Volunteer Firemen's Benefit Law prescribes the exclusive remedy of volunteer firemen against municipalities enumerated therein for injuries sustained in line of duty, and, where they have a remedy under that section, they have none under § 205-a of the General Municipal Law. Gresis v Garth Manor Corp., 20 A.D.2d 726, 248 N.Y.S.2d 118, 1964 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4331 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't), app. denied, 14 N.Y.2d 488, 1964 N.Y. LEXIS 1868 (N.Y. 1964).

Judgment dismissing complaints against city in consolidated actions for wrongful death of six city firemen and personal injuries of seventh fireman allegedly caused by city's failure to effect compliance with charter and code provisions relating to construction of parapet wall which fell on firemen, would be affirmed in view of fact that General Municipal Law § 205-a imposed liability for "failing to comply" with requirements of statute, ordinance, rules, orders and requirements of various governmental agencies and in the instant case, the duty of compliance was on the owner and other persons responsible for the erection of the parapet wall. Infosino v New York, 25 A.D.2d 841, 270 N.Y.S.2d 146, 1966 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4191 (N.Y. App.

Div. 1st Dep't), app. denied, 18 N.Y.2d 583, 1966 N.Y. LEXIS 2258 (N.Y. 1966), app. denied, 18 N.Y.2d 583, 1966 N.Y. LEXIS 2266 (N.Y. 1966).

Plaintiff's argument that city retained significant ownership interest in property sufficient to serve as predicate for liability under General Municipal Law § 205-a or under principles of common-law negligence is rejected; pursuant to land disposition agreement executed at time city conveyed full title to property to codefendant, city reserved right to reenter and take possession of premises in event of default by codefendant and to terminate estate conveyed; these rights may be likened to those of mortgagee and not to those of landlord, and were insufficient to impose liability upon city as co-owner of premises at time of fire. Bittrolff v Ho's Dev. Corp., 160 A.D.2d 315, 553 N.Y.S.2d 400, 1990 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3955 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1990), aff'd, 77 N.Y.2d 896, 568 N.Y.S.2d 902, 571 N.E.2d 72, 1991 N.Y. LEXIS 314 (N.Y. 1991).

City was entitled to summary judgment dismissing actions by firefighters and their estates arising out of injuries or deaths sustained in gas explosion which occurred while firefighters were responding to report that propane gas was escaping from tank in warehouse, although municipality may be held liable for negligence of fellow firefighters, since liability cannot be imposed where firefighters' conduct involves exercise of professional judgment or making of tactical decisions. Austin v Buffalo, 179 A.D.2d 1075, 580 N.Y.S.2d 604, 1992 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2440 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't), modified, 179 A.D.2d 1079, 580 N.Y.S.2d 679, 1992 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2444 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1992).

Failure of state agencies to properly maintain premises in violation of local administrative code and fire department rules was proprietary, rather than governmental, in nature; thus, state agencies would be as liable as any other landlord under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a when alleged violation had reasonable connection to injury sustained by firefighter. Dempsey v Manhattan & Bronx Surface Transit Operating Auth., 214 A.D.2d 334, 625 N.Y.S.2d 133, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3689 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1995).

Firefighter proved his cause of action under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a by showing that violation of NYC Admin Code § 26-235 caused him harm, either directly or indirectly. Tobin v City of New York, 256 A.D.2d 177, 681 N.Y.S.2d 527, 1998 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13748 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1998), app. denied, 93 N.Y.2d 803, 688 N.Y.S.2d 493, 710 N.E.2d 1092, 1999 N.Y. LEXIS 95 (N.Y. 1999).

City firefighter who was injured when part of firehouse ceiling collapsed on top of him as he was lifting weights did not prove city's negligence as matter of law where (1) there was evidence that prior inspection of premises had revealed no water damage and that all reported problems had been promptly repaired, (2) firehouse had 3 separate roofs and had experienced problems with several different ceilings, (3) it was unclear whether city had received complaints specifically regarding ceiling of weight room, and (4) thus, triable issue of fact remained as to whether city had notice of alleged ceiling defect. Shy v City of New York, 266 A.D.2d 275, 699 N.Y.S.2d 423, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13087 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1999).

City firefighter who was injured when part of firehouse ceiling collapsed on top of him as he was lifting weights did not prove that ceiling collapse was proximate cause of his injuries as matter of law, even though his expert opined that firefighter's head, neck, and back injuries were direct result of firehouse accident, where (1) other documentation, including medical history and sick leave records, indicated that firefighter had suffered from extensive and similar injuries over several years, (2) his bill of particulars stated that his current back injury "ha[s] aggravated and [is] superimposed upon underlying significant pre-existent history as plaintiff had undergone a previous repair of internal dislocation of shoulder," and (3) thus, his injuries might have resulted from progressive degenerative disease related to previous medical conditions. Shy v City of New York, 266 A.D.2d 275, 699 N.Y.S.2d 423, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13087 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1999).

The U.S. Occupational Safety and Health Administration regulations that require protective clothing for a firefighter's head, body, and extremities, 29 C.F.R. § 1910-156(e)(2), (3), can serve as a predicate to a claim under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 205-a because they are part of a well-developed body of law and regulation and they impose a clear legal duty. McGovern v City of New York, 294 A.D.2d 148, 742 N.Y.S.2d 218, 2002 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4780 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 2002).

Liability of defendant New York City Transit Authority for plaintiff firefighter's injuries under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 205-a was not affected by N.Y. Pub. Auth. Law § 1266(8) as there was no issue of "jurisdiction" and neither was there any conflict between the Authority's regulations and those of a local government; but even if the exemption applied to the Authority, it would not have applied to facilities that were devoted to purposes other than transit. The Authority could not have been exempt from liability with respect to the maintenance of its non-transportation facilities; the Authority was subject to the same duty of care as any other potential tortfeasor and, therefore, like any other landlord, was liable under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 205-a when its failure to comply had a reasonable connection to the firefighter's injuries. Terranova v New York City Tr. Auth., 49 A.D.3d 10, 850 N.Y.S.2d 123, 2007 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12901 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2007), app. denied, 11 N.Y.3d 708, 868 N.Y.S.2d 600, 897 N.E.2d 1084, 2008 N.Y. LEXIS 3263 (N.Y. 2008).

This section is not directed to imposing liability upon a municipality for permitting violations of its Building Code and other ordinances, but to impose liability on property owners who have violated such local laws and ordinances, with resultant death or injury of a fireman. Carroll v New York, 37 Misc. 2d 563, 234 N.Y.S.2d 954, 1962 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2306 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1962), aff'd, 25 A.D.2d 841, 270 N.Y.S.2d 146, 1966 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4191 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1966).

In an action against New York City to recover damages for death of a fireman due to collapse of the wall of a building which was insufficiently supported to meet the building code requirements, it was error for the trial judge to submit the case to the jury on the basis of this section as imposing liability on the city because a certificate of occupancy for the building was issued by one of its officials notwithstanding the wall defects. Carroll v New York, 37 Misc. 2d 563, 234 N.Y.S.2d 954, 1962 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2306 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1962), aff'd, 25 A.D.2d 841, 270 N.Y.S.2d 146, 1966 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4191 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1966).

8. Scope of liability; condition of premises

A city fireman filed a complaint for injuries sustained while fighting a fire on the defendant's premises. The complaint alleged the violation of § C19-161.1 of the New York City Administrative Code which forbids under certain circumstances the use of draperies or curtains made of combustible materials. Held: the complaint stated a cause of action under § 205-a. Also, the statute of limitations applicable is the six year period of limitations provided by § 48, subd 2 of the CPA, since such a suit is not a suit for a penalty. Sicolo v Prudential Sav. Bank, 5 N.Y.2d 254, 184 N.Y.S.2d 100, 157 N.E.2d 284, 1959 N.Y. LEXIS 1522 (N.Y. 1959).

Although General Municipal Law § 205-a is to be construed liberally, the administratrix of a deceased fireman, who was killed as a burning building collapsed while he was on the roof attempting to open a scuttle in order to ventilate the building, failed to state a statutory cause of action by alleging that the evidence disclosed violations of law as to illegal smoking, an illegal employee's recreation room, and the illegally maintained scuttle. McGee v Adams Paper & Twine Co., 26 A.D.2d 186, 271 N.Y.S.2d 698, 1966 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3598 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1966), aff'd, 20 N.Y.2d 921, 286 N.Y.S.2d 274, 233 N.E.2d 289, 1967 N.Y. LEXIS 1115 (N.Y. 1967).

Where volunteer fireman sustained injuries when rubble on which he was standing gave way and he fell into a hole while he was fighting a fire which had been deliberately set by the defendant, who had not obtained permission to do so, for the purposes of demolishing a building, injury was one resulting directly or indirectly as a result of defendant's violation of a town ordinance prohibiting any open fire where such fire may endanger other property, and also was in violation of town ordinance prohibiting burning of any trash, lumber or other combustible material, except in a metal incinerator or container without the written permission of the building inspector of the town, and therefore liability was properly predicated upon § 205-a of the General Municipal Law. Carroll v Roman Catholic Diocese of Rockville Centre, 26 A.D.2d 552, 271 N.Y.S.2d 7, 1966 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4009 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't), app. dismissed, 18 N.Y.2d 708, 274 N.Y.S.2d 144, 220 N.E.2d 793, 1966 N.Y. LEXIS 1124 (N.Y. 1966), aff'd, 19 N.Y.2d 658, 278 N.Y.S.2d 626, 225 N.E.2d 217, 1967 N.Y. LEXIS 1783 (N.Y. 1967).

Where defect arising from use of combustible wooden straps instead of metal hangers to hang ceiling from roof of school building was a hidden one and could not have been discovered by layman, even by inspection, and owner of building was never put on actual or constructive notice of existence of defect, owner could not be held liable for injuries sustained by firemen when ceiling of building collapsed during fire. Marquart v Yeshiva Machezikel Torah D'Chasidel Belz, 53 A.D.2d 688, 385 N.Y.S.2d 319, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13439 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1976).

It was error to dismiss firefighter's action against owner of building under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a for injuries firefighter sustained when plastic flowerpot hanging from skylight fell on him as he was exiting burning building, since (1) local fire prevention code prohibited "obstructions to or on...stairs, halls, passageways, doors or windows, liable to interfere with" fire department operations, (2) flowerpot was made entirely of plastic including plastic straps which melt in very high temperatures, (3) pot was hanging directly over stairs, (4) one firefighter testified that he had bumped into hanging object which felt like pot in same area just prior to accident, and (5) large plastic flowerpot was found in vicinity where firefighter was struck; such evidence was sufficient to establish prima facie showing of code violation, which warranted submitting cause of action to jury. Cotter v Spear, 139 A.D.2d 555, 527 N.Y.S.2d 55, 1988 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3856 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1988).

In action brought under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a by firefighter for injuries allegedly caused by landlord's failure to comply with building code requirement that doors be equipped and maintained with self-closing hinges, court would reverse jury verdict in favor of landlord, despite landlord's lack of notice of condition of door to apartment in question, since there was ample evidence to indicate that landlord was fully cognizant of fact that many tenants disabled self-closing hinges. Lusenskas v Axelrod, 183 A.D.2d 244, 592 N.Y.S.2d 685, 1992 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12837 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1992), app. dismissed, 81 N.Y.2d 300, 598 N.Y.S.2d 166, 614 N.E.2d 729, 1993 N.Y. LEXIS 1174 (N.Y. 1993).

Defendants (construction company et al.) were entitled to summary judgment dismissing action brought by firefighter under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a for injuries received while fighting fire which broke out when backhoe operated by one of construction company's employee's made contact with electrical line, despite allegation that defendants violated, among other provisions, Rule 53 of New York State Industrial Code governing "construction, excavation and demolition operations at or near underground facilities," since such regulations related only tangentially, if at all, to fire prevention, and violation of such regulations would not necessarily "create hazards additional to those that firefighters already face in their profession." Sutherland v Hallen Constr. Co., 183 A.D.2d 887, 585 N.Y.S.2d 55, 1992 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7845 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1992), app. dismissed, 81 N.Y.2d 783, 594 N.Y.S.2d 719, 610 N.E.2d 392, 1993 N.Y. LEXIS 41 (N.Y. 1993).

Where firefighter is injured as result of ordinary risks inherent in firefighting, or by foreseeable consequences of emergency that firefighter was summoned to control, firefighter is barred by common-law "fireman's rule" from recovering damages from property owner based on latter's negligence, regardless of whether firefighter is paid public servant or unpaid volunteer. Fiola v Korman, 189 A.D.2d 798, 592 N.Y.S.2d 429, 1993 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 333 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1993).

Hospital was entitled to summary judgment dismissing action by firefighter to recover under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a for injuries sustained when he slipped on towel while fighting fire at hospital; to extent that claim was not purely conjectural (e.g., assertion that automatic smoke dampers failed to operate), it was based on allegations of violations of safety rules that would not have created hazards additional to those that firefighters normally face (e.g., assertion that hospital did not enforce no-smoking rules). Murphy v Mount Sinai Hosp., 202 A.D.2d 238, 608 N.Y.S.2d 448, 1994 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1992 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1994).

Firefighter, who was allegedly burned by spray-back from hot tar after responding to fire concerning tar kettle on roof, could not maintain action based on statutory negligence under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a since injury complained of was not reasonably or practically related to statute, ordinance, rule, order or requirement allegedly violated. Billups v Wickers, 205 A.D.2d 723, 613 N.Y.S.2d 706, 1994 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6604 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1994), app. denied, 84 N.Y.2d 812, 622 N.Y.S.2d 915, 647 N.E.2d 121, 1995 N.Y. LEXIS 107 (N.Y. 1995).

12 NYCRR § 23-1.7(b)(1)(i), requiring "substantial cover fastened in place" over every hazardous opening into which person may step or fall, is sufficient predicate for liability under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a. Scollin v Theater for the New City Found., 229 A.D.2d 355, 646 N.Y.S.2d 323, 1996 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7976 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1996).

Fire department report stating that open door contributed to intensity and extent of fire, and that warped parquet floor had rendered self-closing mechanism of door inoperative, raised issue of fact as to whether there was any connection between defendants' violation of NYC Admin Code § 27-371 and injury suffered by firefighter while fighting fire in defendants' cooperative apartment building, precluding summary judgment in firefighter's action under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a. Sollecito v 360 E. 72nd St. Owners, 234 A.D.2d 200, 651 N.Y.S.2d 865, 1996 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12833 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1996).

Firefighter, who was injured while ascending stairs in response to alarm at defendant's apartment building when he slipped on liquid leaking from open bag of garbage, stated viable claims under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a, NYC Admin Code title 27 and common-law theories of recovery in that defendant had constructive notice of recurrent condition that tenants would leave garbage in bags in common areas, and that vagrants who slept in those hallways and stairwells at night would break open those bags in search of usable items. O'Grady v New York City Hous. Auth., 259 A.D.2d 442, 687 N.Y.S.2d 352, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3236 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1999).

Building owners' duty to keep their buildings in good repair pursuant to CLS Mult D § 78, being no more general than city's duty to keep its streets in good repair pursuant to NYC Charter § 2903(b), was valid predicate for CLS Gen Mun § 205-a liability. Hayes v City of New York, 264 A.D.2d 610, 695 N.Y.S.2d 328, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 9094 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1999).

In action under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a alleging violations of CLS Veh & Tr § 1224, NYC Admin Code former § 755(4)-3.0, now § 16-128(a), and General Order No. 5 of New York City Department of Sanitation, court improperly granted plaintiff's summary judgment motion, reinstated original jury verdict on issue of liability, and directed trial on issue of damages, where fatal injuries sustained by plaintiff's decedent (firefighter) did not result from City's failure to remove abandoned vehicle but rather from firefighter's being struck by vehicle operated by driver who was found criminally responsible for misconduct in striking firefighter and other firefighters while they were fighting fire in abandoned car; even assuming that any of various provisions that served as predicate for plaintiff's action did impose affirmative statutory duty on City to remove abandoned vehicles from streets, requisite causal connection between alleged violations relied on and firefighter's injuries was absent. Kenavan v City of New York, 267 A.D.2d 353, 700 N.Y.S.2d 69, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13191 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1999), app. denied, 95 N.Y.2d 756, 712 N.Y.S.2d 448, 734 N.E.2d 760, 2000 N.Y. LEXIS 1660 (N.Y. 2000).

In CLS Gen Mun § 205-a action for injuries sustained by firefighter in building undergoing renovation, allegedly due to debris in stairwell in violation of 12 NYCRR § 23-1.7(e)(1), defendant building owner and general contractor were not entitled to summary judgment based on court's prior grant of summary judgment to third-party defendant demolition contractor, on ground that court's finding that demolition contractor used freight elevators rather than stairways to remove debris and thus could not have discarded pipe over which plaintiff fell necessarily required finding that defendants did not have notice of pipe in question, as such argument incorrectly assumed that pipe could have been discarded only by third-party defendant, and overlooked deposition testimony that there was debris throughout building, including stairwell where accident occurred. Bongiovanni v KMO-361 Realty Assocs., 268 A.D.2d 365, 702 N.Y.S.2d 263, 2000 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 720 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 2000).

Current version of Code of City of Buffalo § 242-5, respecting electrical wiring of apartment building and structural integrity of its attic and roof, provided independent basis for asserting claims under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a. Herbert v Carter, 283 A.D.2d 971, 724 N.Y.S.2d 918, 2001 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4535 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2001).

1996 amendments to N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 205-a added a new subdivision which provided injured firefighters with a right of recovery regardless of whether the injury was caused by the violation of a provision which codified a common-law duty and regardless of whether the injury was caused by the violation of a provision prohibiting activities or conditions which increased the dangers already inherent in the work of any officer, member, agent or employee of any fire department, and accordingly, both N.Y. Comp. Codes R. & Regs. tit. 9, § 1196.1(b) and New York City, N.Y., Admin. Code §§ 27-127, 27-128 were sufficient predicates for a N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 205-a cause of action; a common-law negligence cause of action was no longer barred by the so-called "firefighters' rule," and where a fireman's expert raised a triable fact issue as to whether there was a connection between the building owner's alleged failure to respond to tenants' complaints of a gas odor and the injuries sustained by the fireman in responding to an explosion and fire at the building, the denial of summary judgment for the building owner was affirmed. Brennan v N.Y. City Hous. Auth., 302 A.D.2d 483, 756 N.Y.S.2d 73, 2003 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1644 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2003).

Summary judgment was improperly denied as there was no evidence that the realty company either created or knew of the condition which allegedly constituted the building violation and thus, the requisite culpability for the applicable violation was lacking and the firefighter and his wife did not meet their burden for the recovery of damages against it pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Mun. § 205-a; although the firefighter testified at an examination before trial that the photograph depicted the site of his accident, he did not testify that the condition of the wall as shown in the photograph was substantially the same as its condition on the date of his accident or N.Y. Admin. Code §§ 27-127 and 27-128. Lustenring v 98-100 Realty, LLC, 1 A.D.3d 574, 768 N.Y.S.2d 20, 2003 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12446 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2003), app. dismissed, app. denied, 2 N.Y.3d 791, 781 N.Y.S.2d 277, 814 N.E.2d 448, 2004 N.Y. LEXIS 1062 (N.Y. 2004).

In an action by plaintiff firefighter against defendant New York City Transit Authority, there was no question that the potentially dangerous condition- -the accumulation of waste and debris in a pump room resulting from the absence of a door sweep- -was apparent, that the Authority had sufficient time to remedy it, and that the Authority had failed to do so. There was, thus, ample evidence upon which the jury could reasonably have concluded that an omission on the part of the Authority was responsible for the firefighter's injuries and to demonstrate both a culpable failure on the part of the Authority to comply with N.Y. Comp. Codes R. & Regs. tit. 27, §§ 127, 128, and a practical or reasonable connection between that omission and the injury sustained by the firefighter; thus, the firefighter established his claim for damages pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 205-a. Terranova v New York City Tr. Auth., 49 A.D.3d 10, 850 N.Y.S.2d 123, 2007 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12901 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2007), app. denied, 11 N.Y.3d 708, 868 N.Y.S.2d 600, 897 N.E.2d 1084, 2008 N.Y. LEXIS 3263 (N.Y. 2008).

Firefighters' claims against a hot water heater manufacturer under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 205-a were properly dismissed on summary judgment because they were premised on an alleged breach of warranty under N.Y. U.C.C. Law § 2-314, which did not prescribe the performance or nonperformance of a specific act by the seller nor impose the type of clear legal duty necessary to support a § 205-a claim. Fahey v A.O. Smith Corp. (2010, 2d Dept) 77 App Div 3d 612, 908 NYS2d 719, companion case (2011, NY Sup) 2011 NY Slip Op 30660- U, 2011 NY Misc LEXIS 1130 and companion case (2011, NY Sup) 2011 NY Slip Op 31716- U, 2011 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3090.

Defendants were entitled to summary judgment in a firefighter's N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 205-a claim because testimony, post-fire reports, and other evidence indicated that there were no violations, specifically holes in the floor and accumulated debris, that directly caused firefighter's injuries, or that increased inherent dangers of firefighting, and the firefighter failed to rebut this showing; the firefighter's assertion that a hole in the floor directly caused the injuries was pure conjecture. The firefighter conceded that he could not see the floor and did not know what trapped his foot and the firemen who entered the building with him were similarly unable to describe the condition of the floor. Cotter v Pal & Lee Inc, 86 A.D.3d 463, 928 N.Y.S.2d 262, 2011 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5865 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't), app. denied, 17 N.Y.3d 716, 934 N.Y.S.2d 374, 958 N.E.2d 553, 2011 N.Y. LEXIS 3236 (N.Y. 2011).

Supreme Court erred in setting aside the jury verdict finding the City liable in a personal injury action by a firefighter and his wife under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 205-a; the jury could have rationally concluded that the defective nature of the handrail constituted a factor that played a part in producing the accident so as to establish liability under General Municipal Law § 205-a. The City's contention that New York City Admin. Code §§ 27-127 and 27-128 may not form a predicate for liability under General Municipal Law § 205-a is without merit. Cusumano v City of New York, 104 A.D.3d 639, 960 N.Y.S.2d 194, 2013 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1322 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2013).

A motion for summary judgment in favor of plaintiff fireman whose injuries were sustained while fighting a fire in a building which was allegedly allowed to remain standing by defendant owners in a dangerous and dilapidated condition after service of notice that it was in violation of the local building code could not be granted where there was an issue of fact as to whether notice of violation had actually been served upon the defendants. Dessner v MJR Realty Co., 40 Misc. 2d 229, 242 N.Y.S.2d 690, 1963 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1752 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1963).

General Municipal Law § 205-a creates an additional cause of action for purpose of liability and damages, and thus fireman injured when wall of dilapidated building collapsed was entitled to bring cause of action for common-law damages as well as pursuant to statute against owner and city. Mazelis v Wallerstein, 77 Misc. 2d 335, 353 N.Y.S.2d 633, 1974 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1133 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1974), modified, 51 A.D.2d 579, 378 N.Y.S.2d 750, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10869 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1976).

Violation of CLS Mult D § 78 is not of type contemplated by CLS Gen Mun § 205-a. Hayes v City of New York, 169 Misc. 2d 170, 649 N.Y.S.2d 772, 1995 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 708 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1995), aff'd, 231 A.D.2d 402, 647 N.Y.S.2d 74, 1996 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8801 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1996).

Violation of statutes requiring owners of multiple dwellings to keep their premises in good condition cannot form basis of firefighter's claim against person whose noncompliance with statute causes injury, as such violations do not increase degree of risk to which firefighter is normally exposed. Martinez v Federal Home Loan Mortg. Corp., 943 F. Supp. 280, 1996 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 9175 (S.D.N.Y. 1996).

9. —Vehicle accidents

Provisions of CLS Veh & Tr § 1224, New York City Administrative Code Ch 31 § 755(4)-3.0(a), and New York City Department of Sanitation General Order No. 5—which discourage abandoning of vehicles on public roads—did not provide predicate for city liability for firefighters' injury and death under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a, even though firefighters were struck by traffic while putting out fire in abandoned vehicle that city had not removed from road, since provisions were not related to safety of premises and failure to comply with provisions' requirements did not increase risks already inherent in fighting fires generally, or in fighting vehicle fires specifically. Kenavan v New York, 70 N.Y.2d 558, 523 N.Y.S.2d 60, 517 N.E.2d 872, 1987 N.Y. LEXIS 19265 (N.Y. 1987).

Statute giving an additional right of action for injury or death of fireman as result of failure to comply with statutes or ordinances was not available to fireman injured while en route to a fire in a pumper truck manufactured by defendant manufacturer, owned by defendant city and operated by a fellow fireman, also a defendant. Gerhart v New York, 56 A.D.2d 790, 393 N.Y.S.2d 6, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11069 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't), app. denied, 42 N.Y.2d 810, 1977 N.Y. LEXIS 3889 (N.Y. 1977).

In a personal injury action brought by four firefighters pursuant to Gen Mun Law § 205-a, based upon an incident in which the firefighters were injured when their fire truck collided with defendants' automobile, the trial court erred in denying defendants' motion for summary judgment dismissing the complaint on the ground that it failed to allege that plaintiffs had suffered "serious injury" within the meaning of Ins Law § 673, on the asserted basis that the rights provided to firefighters under Gen Mun Law § 205-a are not limited by the provisions of the no-fault law, since Ins Law § 673(1) plainly prohibits any recovery in personal injury actions for non-economic loss, absent a showing of serious injury, "[n]otwithstanding any other law." Blake v Ford, 98 A.D.2d 972, 470 N.Y.S.2d 255, 1983 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 21306 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1983).

This section is broad enough to serve as basis for a cause of action by an injured fireman against a motorist for injury sustained by negligence of the latter in violating provisions of the Vehicle and Traffic Law by failing to yield the right of way to fire equipment at a street or highway intersection, resulting in a collision of vehicles in course of which the fireman is injured. Burigo v Di Leo, 38 Misc. 2d 851, 239 N.Y.S.2d 166, 1963 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2213 (N.Y. County Ct. 1963).

This section was not available to plaintiffs in an action by a fireman against an automobile owner and operator to recover for injuries sustained by the fireman allegedly by reason of defendant's failure to yield right of way to an emergency vehicle. McAvoy v Di Leo, 43 Misc. 2d 164, 250 N.Y.S.2d 444, 1964 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1848 (N.Y. App. Term 1964).

The language of section 205-a of the General Municipal Law, which gives a right of action to a fireman injured in the course of duty by failure of persons to comply with the requirements of an ordinance or statute, is broad enough to cover a motor vehicle accident allegedly resulting from the neglect or omission of defendants in violation of specified sections of the Vehicle and Traffic Law, it not being limited to a fireman sustaining injury on the premises where he is fighting a fire. Donovan v Rapid Ray's Printing & Copying, Inc., 93 Misc. 2d 750, 403 N.Y.S.2d 407, 1978 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2130 (N.Y. City Ct. 1978).

A fireman injured in a vehicular accident while responding to a fire alarm has a right of action pursuant to section 205-a of the General Municipal Law, as well as a common-law negligence action as modified by the no-fault statutes. Donovan v Rapid Ray's Printing & Copying, Inc., 93 Misc. 2d 750, 403 N.Y.S.2d 407, 1978 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2130 (N.Y. City Ct. 1978).

In action against city by firefighter who was injured in accident which occurred while fire truck was being relocated to different fire station, fireman's rule did not bar recovery since firefighter was not engaged in activity which required him to confront hazard for which he was trained and compensated. Weyant v City of New York, 162 Misc. 2d 132, 616 N.Y.S.2d 428, 1994 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 359 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1994).

10. Other causes of action

Statute does not authorize recovery for loss of consortium by spouse of firefighter injured in line of duty. Korfman v Parkway Village Associates, 110 A.D.2d 886, 488 N.Y.S.2d 438, 1985 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 48791 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1985).

Where plaintiff, a fireman who was seriously and permanently injured while fighting fire, commenced action based on negligence against respondents and three years later commenced second negligence action against appellant, the two actions were consolidated, and then plaintiff moved to amend his complaint to include cause of action under General Municipal Law § 205-a, there is relation back such that new claim is deemed to have been interposed at time claim in original pleading was first asserted since earlier pleading sufficiently notifies adverse party of underlying facts out of which new claim arises (see, CPLR 203 [e]); all allegations in amended pleading are duplicative of allegations in first pleading, and amended pleading only adds new theory of recovery based on identical facts alleged in original pleading; appellant has not proved that it has been prejudiced; prejudice is not found in mere exposure of defendant to greater liability. Panto v J & M Salvage Co., 157 A.D.2d 582, 550 N.Y.S.2d 327, 1990 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 574 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1990).

In actions by firefighters and their estates for injuries and deaths sustained in gas explosion which occurred while firefighters were responding to report that propane gas was escaping from tank in warehouse, summary judgment should have been granted to defendant purchaser of radiators manufactured by independent contractor which occupied warehouse, in view of Fireman's rule, rule that employer of independent contractor is not liable for injury to third party caused by contractor's acts or omissions, fact that defendant exercised no control over warehouse, and fact that manufacturing process was unrelated to storage of tank that exploded. Austin v Buffalo, 179 A.D.2d 1075, 580 N.Y.S.2d 604, 1992 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2440 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't), modified, 179 A.D.2d 1079, 580 N.Y.S.2d 679, 1992 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2444 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1992).

In suits by firefighters and their estates for injuries and deaths sustained in gas explosion which occurred while firefighters were responding to report that propane gas was escaping from tank in warehouse, summary judgment was properly denied to defendant occupier of warehouse on causes of action under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a, notwithstanding Fireman's rule, since factual questions existed as to whether defendants violated ordinances, statutes or codes designed for benefit of firefighters. Austin v Buffalo, 179 A.D.2d 1075, 580 N.Y.S.2d 604, 1992 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2440 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't), modified, 179 A.D.2d 1079, 580 N.Y.S.2d 679, 1992 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2444 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1992).

In actions by firefighters and their estates for injuries and deaths sustained in gas explosion which occurred while firefighters were responding to report that propane gas was escaping from tank in warehouse, summary judgment should have been granted to defendants who placed emergency call notifying authorities of leaking propane, notwithstanding their alleged negligence in failing to provide further information that there was lighted stove on premises, since defendants did all they could to notify firefighters of existence of stove when they arrived, and public policy dictates against imposing liability on citizen who places emergency call merely because he fails to give all pertinent information. Waszkielewicz v Buffalo, 179 A.D.2d 1078, 580 N.Y.S.2d 608, 1992 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2441 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't), app. dismissed, app. denied, 79 N.Y.2d 1039, 584 N.Y.S.2d 445, 594 N.E.2d 939, 1992 N.Y. LEXIS 1350 (N.Y. 1992).

Neither comparative negligence nor assumption of risk may be interposed as affirmative defense to claim that is asserted under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a. Mullen v Zoebe, Inc., 205 A.D.2d 598, 613 N.Y.S.2d 272, 1994 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6145 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1994), aff'd, 86 N.Y.2d 135, 630 N.Y.S.2d 269, 654 N.E.2d 90, 1995 N.Y. LEXIS 1807 (N.Y. 1995).

Plaintiff, firefighter who was injured while participating in rescue operation following plane crash, was barred by so-called Fireman's Rule from bringing action against airline; CLS Gen Bus § 245(1) did not trigger statutory exception under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a since former statute is not concerned with safety of premises, avoidance of fire hazards, or enhancement of building safety, and its violation, even if shown, would not create more hazards than those that firefighters already face in performance of their profession. Gardner v U.S. Air, 221 A.D.2d 589, 634 N.Y.S.2d 499, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12436 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1995).

Alleged violation of police department's rules and regulations could support claim under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a against fellow officer. Carlson v City of Tonawanda, 221 A.D.2d 1011, 635 N.Y.S.2d 365, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13525 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1995).

Court erred in granting summary judgment to defendant in action for injuries sustained when firefighter repeatedly threw his body against apartment door in order to open it and rescue occupants of apartment from fire where firefighter alleged that defendant violated municipal ordinance prohibiting storage of combustible materials under stairway, resolution of which was for fact finder at trial. O'Connell v Kavanagh, 231 A.D.2d 29, 662 N.Y.S.2d 1, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7832 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1997).

Court improperly denied plaintiffs' motion to amend complaint to assert cause of action under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a where defendant did not oppose motion on ground relied on by court, and leave to amend complaint to add action based on that statute may be granted even when such action is not specifically mentioned in notice of claim. Reilly v City of New York, 271 A.D.2d 425, 706 N.Y.S.2d 124, 2000 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3737 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2000).

By commencing one action under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a joining 66 plaintiffs rather than 66 separate actions, plaintiffs defeated Legislature's main reason for converting from commencement-by-service to commencement-by-filing system under CLS CPLR § 304; to extent various circumstances concerning various plaintiffs might be similar enough to warrant joinder, such issue would be addressed by motion court after remaining 65 plaintiffs had had fair opportunity to commence separate actions. Bellew v City of New York, 272 A.D.2d 104, 708 N.Y.S.2d 609, 2000 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5430 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 2000).

In personal injury action alleging violation of CLS Gen Mun § 205-a, verdict in favor of defendant building owner was contrary to weight of evidence, warranting new trial, where proof supported jury's finding that defendant failed to install self-closing door in apartment where fire began, thereby violating NYC Admin Code § 27-371, and defendant's expert failed to clearly rebut opinion of plaintiff's expert that absence of self-closing door was reasonably connected to plaintiff's injury. Malzacher v 100 Audubon Corp., 276 A.D.2d 402, 715 N.Y.S.2d 47, 2000 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10740 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 2000).

Trial court erred in granting summary judgment to defendant corporation in an action by an individual who was injured in an apartment fire, as there were material questions of fact as to whether the corporation installed and/or maintained smoke detectors in the apartment as required by New York City, N.Y. Admin. Code § 27-2045(b), and, if it did not, whether the presence of smoke detectors would have obviated the individual's injury. Baker v Riverhouse Realty Co., 300 A.D.2d 214, 751 N.Y.S.2d 361, 2002 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13324 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 2002).

Owner and manager of residential premises would be liable to firefighter who fell down steps while responding to fire if jury found that owner and manager violated any statute governing lighting and stairs in multiple dwellings, and that those violations increased likelihood of firefighter's being injured on premises. Martinez v Federal Home Loan Mortg. Corp., 943 F. Supp. 280, 1996 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 9175 (S.D.N.Y. 1996).

11. Causation

Lower courts improperly granted summary judgment to a building owner in a firefighter's suit under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 205-a to recover damages for injuries the firefighter sustained while fighting a fire on the building owner's property, as the firefighter raised a triable issue of fact as to whether the building owner's code violations directly or indirectly caused the firefighter's injuries. Giuffrida v Citibank Corp., 100 N.Y.2d 72, 760 N.Y.S.2d 397, 790 N.E.2d 772, 2003 N.Y. LEXIS 989 (N.Y. 2003).

In personal injury action brought by firemen who were injured while fighting fire in abandoned car on city street, city could not be held liable under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a on theory that its failure to remove abandoned car constituted noncompliance with CLS Veh & Tr § 1224 and certain administrative regulations, since legal requirements for removing abandoned cars were not fire preventive in nature and city's violation of such requirements were not practically or reasonably connected to firemen's injuries. Kenavan v New York, 120 A.D.2d 24, 507 N.Y.S.2d 193, 1986 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 59000 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1986), aff'd, 70 N.Y.2d 558, 523 N.Y.S.2d 60, 517 N.E.2d 872, 1987 N.Y. LEXIS 19265 (N.Y. 1987).

Where plaintiff firefighters were injured while attempting to enter an adjacent structure while fighting a fire, the plaintiffs' causes of action cannot be predicated upon alleged negligence that created need for their fire-fighting services; neither plaintiffs, whose statutory cause of action permitted showing of causation less burdensome than that normally required, nor defendant established any causal connection between adjacent property owner's alleged negligence and injuries sustained. Rogan v Giannotto, 151 A.D.2d 655, 542 N.Y.S.2d 716, 1989 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8182 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1989).

Firefighter, who was allegedly injured when he jumped off rapidly sliding unsecured 35-foot ladder that had been angled against premises on fire, did not have cause of action for violation of CLS Gen Mun § 205-a, despite contention that premises had building code violations, where there was no reasonable connection between violations and his injuries. Schwarzrock v Thurcon Dev. Co., 193 A.D.2d 357, 597 N.Y.S.2d 41, 1993 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4489 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't), app. dismissed, 82 N.Y.2d 846, 606 N.Y.S.2d 597, 627 N.E.2d 519, 1993 N.Y. LEXIS 3917 (N.Y. 1993).

Property owner should have been granted summary judgment in action brought against it under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a where plaintiffs (firefighters) failed to present any evidence of causal connection between statutes and ordinances that were allegedly violated and their injuries. Patsos v Suffolk Charles Assocs., 226 A.D.2d 608, 641 N.Y.S.2d 370, 1996 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4363 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't), app. denied, 88 N.Y.2d 812, 649 N.Y.S.2d 379, 672 N.E.2d 605, 1996 N.Y. LEXIS 2979 (N.Y. 1996).

Recovery under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a does not require proximate causation or even direct connection between safety violation alleged and resulting injury; criterion for recovery is simply whether connection between statutory violation and resultant injury is sufficiently "practical or reasonable." O'Connell v Kavanagh, 231 A.D.2d 29, 662 N.Y.S.2d 1, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7832 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1997).

In action under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a, it is not necessary to show same degree of proximate cause as that required in common-law negligence action. Dillon v City of New York, 238 A.D.2d 302, 656 N.Y.S.2d 51, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3392 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't), app. denied, 90 N.Y.2d 811, 666 N.Y.S.2d 100, 688 N.E.2d 1382, 1997 N.Y. LEXIS 3592 (N.Y. 1997).

Even if sprinkler system failed to operate, there was no reasonable or practical connection between that failure and injuries to firefighter who was thrown to ground when fire hose, which he was using to extinguish fire, burst. Dillon v City of New York, 238 A.D.2d 302, 656 N.Y.S.2d 51, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3392 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't), app. denied, 90 N.Y.2d 811, 666 N.Y.S.2d 100, 688 N.E.2d 1382, 1997 N.Y. LEXIS 3592 (N.Y. 1997).

Both village and plumbing contractor, which had installed pipe for use as temporary water and sewer connection to police department trailer while police headquarters were undergoing renovations, were entitled to summary judgment in CLS Gen Mun § 205-a action by police officer who, while reporting to trailer after his tour, walked over pipe, which he had done on many prior occasions, tripped, fell and was injured; alleged statutory and code violations did not meet requisite proximate cause standard and, moreover, pipe was open and obvious and could have been avoided by exercise of reasonable care. Brasca v Jessup, 258 A.D.2d 490, 684 N.Y.S.2d 633, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1019 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't), app. denied, 93 N.Y.2d 809, 694 N.Y.S.2d 631, 716 N.E.2d 696, 1999 N.Y. LEXIS 1302 (N.Y. 1999).

Demolition contractor was not entitled to summary judgment in firefighter's action under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a, since there was issue of fact as to whether partial building collapse allegedly caused by its failure to properly shore up building had practical or reasonable relationship to firefighter's use of defective ladder in attempting to rescue worker. Grawin v Tudor Place Assocs., 260 A.D.2d 314, 689 N.Y.S.2d 79, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4363 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1999).

Summary judgment for an owner and a tenant dismissing a firefighter's N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 205-a claim for injuries suffered during fire search operations in the owner's building was proper under circumstances in which the owner and the tenant demonstrated, prima facie, that the firefighter's injuries were not proximately caused by any breach of duty on their part and the building superintendent testified that there was a working smoke detector in the office; the firefighter failed to raise a triable fact issue in opposition. The firefighter's expert failed to state that the conversion of an apartment in the building into an office made the fire more likely or firefighting operations more dangerous, or that any alleged violations in the conversion caused the firefighter's injuries, and the opinion of the firefighter's expert as to causation relating to the alleged lack of a smoke detector was speculative and its theory of causation was too attenuated to raise a triable fact issue. Downey v Beatrice Epstein Family Partnership, L.P., 48 A.D.3d 616, 853 N.Y.S.2d 108, 2008 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1569 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't), app. denied, 11 N.Y.3d 702, 864 N.Y.S.2d 390, 894 N.E.2d 654, 2008 N.Y. LEXIS 2583 (N.Y. 2008).

Because there was an issue of fact as to whether a fire control coordinator gave an order that violated the National Interagency Incident Management System Incident Command System and caused a volunteer firefighter's death, the coordinator and the county were not entitled to summary judgment in the administratrix's N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 205-a cause of action. Donna Prince L. v Waters, 48 A.D.3d 1137, 850 N.Y.S.2d 803, 2008 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 874 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2008).

Trial court did not abuse its discretion by denying the property and business owners' motions for summary judgment and to dismiss for failure to state a claim because the delay by the injured firefighter (and his wife) was excusable given that the bowling alley had been demolished by the time they retained an expert, thereby inhibiting their investigation into the cause and origin of the fire. The firefighter raised a question of fact as to the cause and origin of the fire, thereby warranting denial of the owners' respective motions. Dryer v Musacchio, 117 A.D.3d 1115, 985 N.Y.S.2d 302, 2014 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2918 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2014).

A plaintiff, who seeks to recover under statute affording injured fireman and representatives of deceased fireman a cause of action against persons violating statutes, ordinances, rules and orders, is not required to show the same degree of proximate causal connection as is required in common-law negligence cases, but is required to show some practical or reasonable connection between a violation and the injury. Utica v Holt, 88 Misc. 2d 206, 387 N.Y.S.2d 377, 1976 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2652 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1976).

12. Statute of limitations

A city fireman filed a complaint for injuries sustained while fighting a fire on the defendant's premises. The complaint alleged the violation of § C19-161.1 of the New York City Administrative Code which forbids under certain circumstances the use of draperies or curtains made of combustible materials. Held: the complaint stated a cause of action under § 205-a. Also, the statute of limitations applicable is the six year period of limitations provided by § 48, subd 2 of the CPA, since such a suit is not a suit for a penalty. Sicolo v Prudential Sav. Bank, 5 N.Y.2d 254, 184 N.Y.S.2d 100, 157 N.E.2d 284, 1959 N.Y. LEXIS 1522 (N.Y. 1959).

There was no abuse of discretion in Supreme Court's decision to permit plaintiff firefighters to add cause of action based upon General Municipal Law § 205-a in a suit for injuries related to exposure to polychlorinated biphenyls (PCBs), because original complaint gave defendants sufficient notice of transaction out of which new claim arose. Avery v Shulman, 171 A.D.2d 912, 566 N.Y.S.2d 785, 1991 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2642 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1991).

Discovery accrual rule of CLS CPLR § 214-c applied to cause of action under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a. Scherrer v Time Equities, 218 A.D.2d 116, 634 N.Y.S.2d 680, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12617 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1995).

In action by firefighters who sustained latent injuries as result of inhaling toxic smoke while performing firefighting duties, defendants were not entitled to summary judgment on ground that complaints were time-barred under CLS CPLR § 214-c because each plaintiff should have known of his injury on date of fire alleged to have been proximate cause thereof, where plaintiffs continued to perform full range of firefighting duties after they were treated for smoke inhalation, and assertion that seriousness of each plaintiff's impairment only became manifest when he was afflicted with disabling symptoms was uncontradicted by record on appeal. Scherrer v Time Equities, 218 A.D.2d 116, 634 N.Y.S.2d 680, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12617 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1995).

Action by city against architect, who had supervised construction of premises involved in fire and who was alleged to have contributed to conditions resulting in the fire, for reimbursement for salary, wages and medical and hospital expenses incurred by city on behalf of fireman injured when ladder collapsed during fire was not barred by three-year statute of limitations, in light of fact that statute ran from date of fireman's injury rather than from date of completion of architect's services. Utica v Holt, 88 Misc. 2d 206, 387 N.Y.S.2d 377, 1976 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2652 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1976).

In action by firefighter for damages relating to air pack malfunction, relation back doctrine for statute of limitations purposes did not apply to revive claims under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a(2) based on violations of applicable statutes, ordinances, rules, orders and requirements, where motion to amend complaint to add such claims was not made until October 7, 1997. Wayne v City of New York, 176 Misc. 2d 943, 675 N.Y.S.2d 514, 1998 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 208 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1998).

13. Pleading; specificity required

A city fireman filed a complaint for injuries sustained while fighting a fire on the defendant's premises. The complaint alleged the violation of § C19-161.1 of the New York City Administrative Code which forbids under certain circumstances the use of draperies or curtains made of combustible materials. Held: the complaint stated a cause of action under § 205-a. Also, the statute of limitations applicable is the six year period of limitations provided by § 48, subd 2 of the CPA, since such a suit is not a suit for a penalty. Sicolo v Prudential Sav. Bank, 5 N.Y.2d 254, 184 N.Y.S.2d 100, 157 N.E.2d 284, 1959 N.Y. LEXIS 1522 (N.Y. 1959).

To make out a valid claim under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 205-a and survive a motion to dismiss, a plaintiff must (1) identify the statute or ordinance with which the defendant failed to comply, (2) describe the manner in which the firefighter was injured, and (3) set forth those facts from which it may be inferred that the defendant's negligence directly or indirectly caused the harm to the firefighter. Giuffrida v Citibank Corp., 100 N.Y.2d 72, 760 N.Y.S.2d 397, 790 N.E.2d 772, 2003 N.Y. LEXIS 989 (N.Y. 2003).

The liability imposed by this section is something special and apart from any ordinary liability grounded in negligence and requires specific assertion and submission. Hence, when the specific cause of action under this section was abandoned in a trial of a cause of action based on negligence, there was an abandonment of any claim of liability under this section and no cause of action thereafter remained. Gannon v Royal Properties, Inc., 285 A.D. 131, 136 N.Y.S.2d 129, 1954 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3294 (N.Y. App. Div. 1954), aff'd, 309 N.Y. 819, 130 N.E.2d 616, 309 N.Y. (N.Y.S.) 819, 1955 N.Y. LEXIS 1572 (N.Y. 1955).

In action for injuries sustained by firefighter while extinguishing fire in defendants' vacant building, cause of action under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a was legally insufficient and thus was properly dismissed where firefighter did not identify statute, ordinance, rule, order or regulation allegedly violated by defendants. Brophy v Generoso, 137 A.D.2d 478, 524 N.Y.S.2d 226, 1988 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 751 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1988).

Complaint in special action based on CLS Gen Mun § 205-a must specify or identify statute, ordinances, rules, orders, or requirements with which defendant allegedly failed to comply, manner in which injuries complained of occurred, and facts from which it appears that said neglect or failure directly or indirectly caused injuries; thus, defendant was within its rights to seek such information through bill of particulars. Brannigan v City of New York, 224 A.D.2d 340, 638 N.Y.S.2d 59, 1996 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1467 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1996).

A firefighter's action under the Firefighter's Law was improperly subjected to summary judgment in favor of a building owner because the firefighter had sufficiently pleaded that the owner violated New York City, N.Y., Admin. Code §§ 27-217 and 27-2081 by failing to obtain a certificate of occupancy and by failing to make alterations to a basement apartment to allow additional light and ventilation. The firefighter also demonstrated that his knee injury was a direct result of those violations due to poor visibility in the basement apartment where he was searching for victims of a fire. Foiles v V.L.J. Constr. Corp., 17 A.D.3d 297, 794 N.Y.S.2d 27, 2005 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4497 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 2005).

Injured firefighter could not recover from either a landlord or a tenant where the evidence showed that the fire resulted from overloading a single removable power strip; the landlord had not been shown to have violate any laws at all, the building code provision (New York City, N.Y., Admin. Code § 27-127) that the tenant had violated was not applicable to lessees, and there was no reason, in any case, to believe that the violation had caused the fire. Zvinys v Richfield Inv. Co., 25 A.D.3d 358, 808 N.Y.S.2d 640, 2006 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 98 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 2006), app. denied, 2006 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4430 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't Apr. 11, 2006), app. denied, 7 N.Y.3d 706, 819 N.Y.S.2d 873, 853 N.E.2d 244, 2006 N.Y. LEXIS 1881 (N.Y. 2006).

In action by fireman for personal injuries resulting from defendant's negligence with respect to Christmas decorations, the complaint did not state a cause of action where it did not specifically allege that recovery was sought under the statute or that defendant had failed to comply with the Administrative Code, and that defendant caused plaintiff's injury. Sicolo v Prudential Sav. Bank, 2 Misc. 2d 289, 151 N.Y.S.2d 295, 1956 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2063 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1956), aff'd, 4 A.D.2d 790, 165 N.Y.S.2d 222 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1957).

Defendants were entitled to summary judgment on causes of action based on CLS Gen Mun § 205-a in action brought by firefighters for injuries caused by latent effects of exposure to polyvinylchloride while fighting fire since plaintiffs did not specify any statute, ordinance or rule violated by defendants; plaintiffs could not make broad allegation of violation and then hope to use discovery to determine what statute, ordinance or rule had been violated by defendants. McGowan v New York Tel. Co., 144 Misc. 2d 625, 544 N.Y.S.2d 423, 1989 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 456 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1989).

Court would dismiss firefighter's action under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a brought against construction company, which had performed construction work on firehouse, arising from injury sustained when he slid down fire pole, where firefighter failed to specify statutes with which company failed to comply. Strahl v Dale Constr., 171 Misc. 2d 330, 658 N.Y.S.2d 164, 658 N.Y.S.2d 165, 1997 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 166 (N.Y. App. Term 1997).

14. —Amendment of pleadings

Court improperly denied plaintiffs' motion for leave to amend their bill of particulars and complaint to assert action under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a against individual defendant in order to identify statutes or ordinances which defendant allegedly violated, and court should not have granted defendant's motion to dismiss plaintiffs' action under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a on ground that plaintiffs failed to identify such statutes or ordinances. Shelton v City of New York, 256 A.D.2d 611, 683 N.Y.S.2d 123, 1998 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 14102 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1998).

Portions of New York City Police Department Patrol Guide Procedure that were not part of well-developed body of law and did not impose clear legal duties mandating performance of certain acts could not serve as basis for cause of action under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a, and thus leave to amend personal injury complaint to add such cause of action was properly denied. Malenczak v City of New York, 265 A.D.2d 532, 697 N.Y.S.2d 138, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10791 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1999).

Because the motion court properly conformed the pleadings to evidence that a firefighter was left alone at the fire scene for several minutes without a response to the firefighter's attempt to notify a superior of defective equipment, in violation of N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 205-a, leave to amend the complaint was appropriate. Fisher v City of New York, 48 A.D.3d 303, 851 N.Y.S.2d 497, 2008 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1390 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 2008).

An action for damages by city firemen for injuries sustained in fighting a fire on defendant's premises accrued on June 15, 1954. The plaintiffs could not amend their complaint on April 30, 1958 by including a cause of action under this section, since, to do so, would be prejudicial to the defendant. Izzillo v Mulkor Warehousing Co., 14 Misc. 2d 609, 182 N.Y.S.2d 606, 1958 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2475 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1958).

15. Comparative negligence

Culpability of injured or deceased firefighter in contributing to happening of injury-producing accident may not be invoked by defendant property owner or occupier to reduce damages claimed under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a. Mullen v Zoebe, Inc., 86 N.Y.2d 135, 630 N.Y.S.2d 269, 654 N.E.2d 90, 1995 N.Y. LEXIS 1807 (N.Y. 1995).

Comparative fault principles cannot be applied in defense of a N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 205-a action. Giuffrida v Citibank Corp., 100 N.Y.2d 72, 760 N.Y.S.2d 397, 790 N.E.2d 772, 2003 N.Y. LEXIS 989 (N.Y. 2003).

A participant in an annual fire department parade who had ridden her horse in the parade was riding the horse home afterwards and came upon a parked car causing her to ride onto the lawn of a town resident, across which the owner had strung a wire which touched, and may have been attached to, a utility pole; the horse hit the wire, threw its rider off and ran down the street for about a mile, where it collided head-on with a van and as a result of the collision the plaintiffs, who were passengers in the van, were seriously injured. Plaintiffs need not prove willful negligence or malfeasance on the part of the volunteer fireman who organized the parade since although members of duly organized volunteer fire companies are exempt from civil liability for acts done by them in performance of their duties as volunteer firemen (General Municipal Law, § 205-b), participation in fund-raising activities is not a duty of a volunteer fireman; additionally, although certain parades are not fund-raising activities (General Municipal Law, § 204-a, subd 1, par b), the instant parade is not within the scope of those provisions. Monacelli v Armstrong, 64 A.D.2d 428, 409 N.Y.S.2d 899, 1978 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12745 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1978), app. denied, 46 N.Y.2d 710, 1979 N.Y. LEXIS 2641 (N.Y. 1979), app. denied, 46 N.Y.2d 710, 1979 N.Y. LEXIS 2635 (N.Y. 1979), app. dismissed, app. denied, 46 N.Y.2d 913, 414 N.Y.S.2d 905, 387 N.E.2d 1220, 1979 N.Y. LEXIS 1851 (N.Y. 1979), aff'd, 49 N.Y.2d 971, 428 N.Y.S.2d 949, 406 N.E.2d 804, 1980 N.Y. LEXIS 2321 (N.Y. 1980).

Defense of comparative negligence does not apply to statutory cause of action under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a, and thus in action by injured firefighter, trial court properly dismissed building owners' affirmative defense that injuries were caused by firefighter's own culpable conduct. Johnson v Riggio Realty Corp., 153 A.D.2d 485, 544 N.Y.S.2d 589, 1989 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10613 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't), app. dismissed, 74 N.Y.2d 945, 550 N.Y.S.2d 279, 549 N.E.2d 481, 1989 N.Y. LEXIS 3325 (N.Y. 1989).

A defendant who is sued on a cause of action accruing after September 1, 1975 brought pursuant to section 205-a of the General Municipal Law, which provides for liability of any person who by violation of any statute, ordinance, or rule, directly or indirectly causes a fireman's injury or death, may prove the comparative negligence of a plaintiff under CPLR 1411 since a cause of action under section 205-a depends on proof of some neglect, omission, willful or culpable negligence on the part of the defendant; CPLR 1411 is applicable to all causes of action for personal injury or death regardless of the theory upon which the actions are brought. Koehler v New York, 102 Misc. 2d 398, 423 N.Y.S.2d 431, 1979 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2882 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1979).

16. Contributory negligence and assumption of risk

The plaintiff does not have to establish freedom from contributory negligence in an action under General Municipal Law § 205-a. Lyden v Rasa, 39 A.D.2d 716, 331 N.Y.S.2d 982, 1972 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4738 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1972).

In action by federal agent who was injured when he accidentally stepped into chemical-filled drum while investigating possible fraud fire on defendant's premises, in which it was alleged that defendant negligently failed to warn of hazardous chemicals stored on premises and dangers posed by those chemicals, defendant was not entitled to summary judgment on basis of plaintiff's assumption of risk since triable fact issues existed as to whether, under circumstances, defendant had duty to warn and, if so, whether he failed in that duty. Galgano v FDR Servs. Corp., 206 A.D.2d 453, 614 N.Y.S.2d 447, 1994 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7481 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1994).

Where a fireman is injured as the result of fire set by defendant in violation of a fire prevention or smoke ordinance, the plaintiff has a right to compensation for his injuries under the above statute, and need not prove freedom from contributory negligence and assumption of risk is not a defense. Carroll v Pellicio Bros., Inc., 44 Misc. 2d 832, 255 N.Y.S.2d 771, 1964 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1234 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1964), modified, 26 A.D.2d 552, 271 N.Y.S.2d 7, 1966 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4009 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1966).

Under section 205-a of the General Municipal Law, which permits a fireman injured or killed in the performance of his duty to bring a separate cause of action for damages against any person in violation of a Federal, State or local statute, ordinance or rule where such noncompliance directly or indirectly results in the injury or death complained of, liability may be imposed in any case where there is any practical or reasonable connection between a violation and the injury or death of a fireman; in addition, a plaintiff in a section 205-a action accruing before September 1, 1975 does not have to establish freedom from contributory negligence, nor is assumption of risk a defense to a section 205-a action accruing before September 1, 1975. Koehler v New York, 102 Misc. 2d 398, 423 N.Y.S.2d 431, 1979 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2882 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1979).

Traditional affirmative defenses of assumption of risk and contributory negligence do not apply to cause of action under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a, enacted to allow firefighter injured in performance of his duties to recover damages if causal connection is shown between his injury and violation of statute, law or ordinance, for inasmuch as § 205-a was designed to protect definite class of persons from hazard of definable orbit, which they themselves are incapable of avoiding, it possesses necessary characteristics of strict liability statute. Johnson v Riggio Realty Corp., 141 Misc. 2d 607, 533 N.Y.S.2d 809, 1988 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 647 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1988), aff'd, 153 A.D.2d 485, 544 N.Y.S.2d 589, 1989 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10613 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1989).

Fireman's rule does not encompass every potential risk of injury, but only those risks inherent in firefighter's work. Weyant v City of New York, 162 Misc. 2d 132, 616 N.Y.S.2d 428, 1994 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 359 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1994).

"Firefighter's rule," which bars firefighters injured in line of duty from suing property owners whose negligence occasioned their injury, operates only where performance of firefighter's duties increased risk of injury happening and did not merely furnish occasion for injury. Martinez v Federal Home Loan Mortg. Corp., 943 F. Supp. 280, 1996 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 9175 (S.D.N.Y. 1996).

Firefighter may not recover for injuries in common-law negligence claim if some act taken in furtherance of specific firefighting function imposed officer to heightened risk of sustaining particular injury. Martinez v Federal Home Loan Mortg. Corp., 943 F. Supp. 280, 1996 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 9175 (S.D.N.Y. 1996).

Firefighter was barred under "firefighter's rule" from recovery on common-law negligence claim against owner and manager of premises where firefighter fell backwards after stepping on allegedly defective top step; performance of duties increased risk of injury happening and did not merely furnish occasion for injury as firefighter was wearing heavy protective gear that increased likelihood that step would crumble, his vision was limited by smoky conditions and his face mask, and he was ascending staircase by feeling his way with 6-foot hook in accordance with his training. Martinez v Federal Home Loan Mortg. Corp., 943 F. Supp. 280, 1996 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 9175 (S.D.N.Y. 1996).

17. Jury matters

This statute is quasi-penal, if not entirely penal, and sui generis. How a claim under the statute might be handled when submitted to a jury in conjunction with an ordinary cause of action based on negligence is a question. But with due regard to the special and separate nature of the cause of action created by this section, such cause of action thereunder must be separately stated and submitted. Gannon v Royal Properties, Inc., 285 A.D. 131, 136 N.Y.S.2d 129, 1954 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3294 (N.Y. App. Div. 1954), aff'd, 309 N.Y. 819, 130 N.E.2d 616, 309 N.Y. (N.Y.S.) 819, 1955 N.Y. LEXIS 1572 (N.Y. 1955).

In an action based on this section and brought by a member of the New York City Fire Department against the city for injuries sustained while fighting a fire in a condemned building owned by the city, judgment on a jury verdict for $40,239.50 in favor of plaintiff was affirmed without passing upon a contention of the city that the trial court erred in instructing the jury that plaintiff's disability pension was irrelevant on the question of damages. Nykanen v New York, 19 A.D.2d 535, 240 N.Y.S.2d 67, 1963 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3832 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1963), aff'd, 14 N.Y.2d 697, 250 N.Y.S.2d 53, 199 N.E.2d 155, 1964 N.Y. LEXIS 1190 (N.Y. 1964).

Remarks by counsel for injured firemen, inter alia, that if jury absolved city of common-law liability the firemen might have no one to look to for payment of damages except a corporation which has been dissolved and remarks that shareholder-president was a wealthy and successful businessman were prejudicial and required new trial of common-law crimes asserted against city and claim asserted against the president-shareholder under statute giving additional right of action to certain injured firemen. Adams v Acker, 57 A.D.2d 741, 394 N.Y.S.2d 8, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11871 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't), app. dismissed, 42 N.Y.2d 809, 1977 N.Y. Under section 205-a of the General Municipal Law, which permits a fireman injured or killed in the performance of his duty to bring a separate cause of action for damages against any person in violation of a Federal, State or local statute, ordinance or rule where such noncompliance directly or indirectly results in the injury or death complained of, liability may be imposed in any case where there is any practical or reasonable connection between a violation and the injury or death of a fireman; in addition, a plaintiff in a section 205-a action accruing before September 1, 1975 does not have to establish freedom from contributory negligence, nor is assumption of risk a defense to a section 205-a action accruing before September 1, 1975. Koehler v New York, 102 Misc. 2d 398, 423 N.Y.S.2d 431, 1979 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2882 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1979).

18. Miscellaneous

Party that is properly held liable to injured firefighter under CLS Gen Mun former § 205-a may maintain third-party action for indemnification or contribution from contractors who were not in possession or control of premises but were allegedly responsible in whole or part for accident, even though firefighter does not have direct cause of action against them. Raquet v Braun, 90 N.Y.2d 177, 659 N.Y.S.2d 237, 681 N.E.2d 404, 1997 N.Y. LEXIS 1354 (N.Y. 1997).

In action against New York City by plaintiff who was injured when he fell on defective sidewalk while performing his duties as sanitation worker, it was error for court to set aside jury verdict finding city 83 percent negligent on ground that firefighter's rule articulated in Santangelo v State of New York, 71 NY2d 393, precluded plaintiff's recovery as matter of law; common-law firefighter's rule should not be extended to New York City sanitation workers. Ciervo v City of New York, 93 N.Y.2d 465, 693 N.Y.S.2d 63, 715 N.E.2d 91, 1999 N.Y. LEXIS 773 (N.Y. 1999).

In action under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a for injuries sustained when plastic flowerpot hanging from skylight fell on firefighter as he was exiting from burning building, court erred in excluding testimony of deputy fire chief as to dangers posed by hanging plastic flowerpots and possible hindrance which they could cause in firefighters' performance of their duties, since his testimony would assist jury in comprehending, inter alia, melting qualities of plastic in fire, relative force of water stream from fire hoses, and chances that hanging objects could be dislodged as result of that force, matters not necessarily within knowledge of ordinary jury. Cotter v Spear, 139 A.D.2d 555, 527 N.Y.S.2d 55, 1988 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3856 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1988).

In action by firefighters against various people and companies involved in construction of office building, for injuries sustained by exposure to toxic substances during fire extinguishing and clean-up operations at building, prime electrical contractor was entitled to dismissal of cause of action based upon alleged violation of CLS Gen Mun § 205-a since statute imposes liability upon persons guilty of neglect, omission or negligence "at the time of such injury" and cause of action alleged actions by contractor at time of building construction, about 8 years prior to fire. Furch v General Electric Co., 142 A.D.2d 8, 535 N.Y.S.2d 182, 1988 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10989 (N.Y. Under Fireman's rule, summary judgment should have been granted to defendant warehouse occupiers in action for injury and death of firefighters in gas explosion while responding to report that propane gas was escaping from tank in warehouse, since negligence of defendants in storing propane tank and causing it to leak was not separate and apart from negligence which occasioned emergency for which firefighters were summoned. Austin v Buffalo, 179 A.D.2d 1075, 580 N.Y.S.2d 604, 1992 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2440 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't), modified, 179 A.D.2d 1079, 580 N.Y.S.2d 679, 1992 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2444 (N.Y. Fireman's rule does not bar recovery when negligence that caused injury is separate and apart from negligent acts which occasioned firefighters' presence. Austin v Buffalo, 179 A.D.2d 1075, 580 N.Y.S.2d 604, 1992 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2440 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't), modified, 179 A.D.2d 1079, 580 N.Y.S.2d 679, 1992 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2444 (N.Y. In action for injuries sustained when volunteer firefighter responded to fire call at farm and encountered thick fog of pesticide applied by farmer, court properly denied motion by plaintiff to amend complaint to include cause of action against farmer predicated on CLS Gen Mun § 205-a, notwithstanding contention that farmer committed second degree reckless endangerment, third degree assault and second degree criminal nuisance, and that farmer violated CLS ECL § 33-1301(8) and 6 NYCRR § 325.2, since those statutes were not primarily concerned with averting of fire hazards or with enhancing of fire safety of buildings. June v Laris, 205 A.D.2d 166, 618 N.Y.S.2d 138, 1994 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10857 (N.Y. Demolition contractor, which allegedly violated NYC Admin Code § 27-127 in failing to properly shore up building that collapsed, resulting in injury to firefighter while he attempted to rescue worker, was not entitled to summary judgment in firefighter's action under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a on basis that violation had not been issued to it, but to another entity, since statute imposes liability for violations of regulations relating to safety of premises regardless of violator's ownership or occupancy of premises. Grawin v Tudor Place Assocs., 260 A.D.2d 314, 689 N.Y.S.2d 79, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4363 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1999).

Court properly granted defendant city's motion to dismiss plaintiff firefighter's complaint under CLS Gen Mun § 205-a for failure to state cause of action, notwithstanding plaintiff's argument that issue of whether his disabling lung condition was result of "accident" previously was decided in his favor when he was granted accidental disability pension, and that city was collaterally estopped from relitigating issue, as plaintiff's application for accidental disability pension enjoyed presumption under NYC Admin Code § 13-354 ("Lung Bill") that his condition was accidental in origin, which presumption did not exist under § 205-a. Foulkes v City of New York, 261 A.D.2d 283, 690 N.Y.S.2d 254, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5520 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 1999).

In a personal injury action filed under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 205-a by a fire marshal alleging violations of both New York City, N.Y., Admin. Code §§ 27-127 and 128, the supreme court erroneously granted summary judgment to the city and to a contractor, as clear questions of fact existed as to whether the contractor violated its duty of keeping its construction site clean each day, conflicting testimony was presented as to whether it was on notice of the presence of construction debris before the accident, and it was clear that the accident occurred when the fire marshal fell in the same area that the contractor was responsible for cleaning up; further, the fact that the accident did not take place at the site of the fire did not preclude the applicability of N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 205a. Lynch v City of New York, 14 A.D.3d 347, 787 N.Y.S.2d 308, 2005 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 53 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't 2005).

Award of $1.2 million to a firefighter for past pain and suffering in a case under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 205-a based on injuries to, inter alia, his left wrist, left shoulder, and right knee due to a fall down a stairwell deviated materially from what would be reasonable compensation under N.Y. C.P.L.R. § 5501(c); the court suggested a reduction to $755,000, or a new trial would be awarded to the city under N.Y. C.P.L.R. § 4404(a). Cusumano v City of New York, 63 A.D.3d 5, 877 N.Y.S.2d 153, 2009 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2644 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2009), rev'd, 15 N.Y.3d 319, 910 N.Y.S.2d 410, 937 N.E.2d 74, 2010 N.Y. Safety device manufacturer's motion for summary judgment was properly denied because a question of fact existed as to whether the alleged defect in the firefighter's safety device was a substantial factor in causing or exacerbating his injuries. At best, the firefighters involved in the rescue had only a general idea as to the injured firefighter's approximate location within the debris field, an area that measured approximately 12 feet by 40 feet and was roughly four to six feet deep Dryer v Musacchio, 117 A.D.3d 1115, 985 N.Y.S.2d 302, 2014 N.Y. Where an injured fireman has already recovered damages in an action based upon negligence of defendants in disregarding the statutory right of way for fire equipment and colliding with the equipment upon which he was riding, he is precluded from bringing a second action under this section against the same defendants for further damages based upon the same occurrence. § 205-b. Relief of volunteer firefighters engaged in the performance of duty as such firefighters from civil liability and liability of fire districts for the acts of volunteer firefighters

Members of duly organized volunteer fire companies in this state shall not be liable civilly for any act or acts done by them in the performance of their duty as volunteer firefighters, except for wilful negligence or malfeasance. Nothing in this section contained shall in any manner affect the liability imposed upon cities, towns and villages by sections fifty-a and fifty-b of this chapter, but fire districts created pursuant to law shall be liable for the negligence of volunteer firefighters duly appointed to serve therein in the operation of vehicles owned by the fire district upon the public streets and highways of the fire district, provided such volunteer firefighters, at the time of any accident or injury, were acting in the discharge of their duties. Judgments recovered against a fire district pursuant to this section shall be levied upon the taxable property of such district in the same manner as moneys raised for the support of the district.

1. Generally

Indication of legislative policy toward actions in negligence against fire district may be found in the enactment of this section which creates liability against such district by reason of negligence of a volunteer fireman in performance of his duties, and directs that judgments recovered thereunder shall be levied upon taxable property of district. Miller v Irondequoit, 243 A.D. 240, 276 N.Y.S. 497, 1935 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7041 (N.Y. App. Div.), aff'd, 268 N.Y. 578, 198 N.E. 412, 268 N.Y. (N.Y.S.) 578, 1935 N.Y. LEXIS 1043 (N.Y. 1935).

This section has a twofold purpose one of which is to exonerate members of duly organized volunteer fire companies from liability except for willful negligence or malfeasance and the other of which is to impute legal liability to fire districts for negligence of volunteer firemen in operation of vehicles of the district, and it accordingly applies only to vehicles owned by the fire district, not to privately owned vehicles, and imposes no liability upon an incorporated village. Sikora v Steinberg, 40 Misc. 2d 649, 243 N.Y.S.2d 766, 1963 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1586 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1963), aff'd, 20 A.D.2d 852, 249 N.Y.S.2d 401, 1964 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5056 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1964).

A village may purchase liability insurance covering fire-fighting apparatus owned by a village fire company. 1968 Op St Compt No. 68-672.

2. Construction

A fire district may be held liable for the negligent acts of one of its volunteer firemen committed in the course of duty while operating a privately owned vehicle outside the borders of the fire district; section 205-b of the General Municipal Law, which provides that fire districts shall be liable for the negligence of volunteer firemen in the operation of vehicles owned by the fire district upon the public streets of the district if, at the time of any accident or injury, they were acting in the discharge of their duties, should not be read as an exemption statute which, by implication, would exempt fire districts from liability except as provided by that section, since said statute was enacted to expand, rather than limit, the liability of fire districts and, where the Legislature acts to extend liability, the courts should not reach for such a limiting distinction absent inescapable evidence that there was such a legislative intent. Accordingly, it was error to grant a motion by defendant fire district for summary judgment dismissing a complaint brought by the administratrix of the estate of a seven-year-old girl who was struck and killed by a privately owned car operated by a volunteer fireman answering an alarm, in an accident which took place outside the borders of the fire district. Thomas v Consolidated Fire Dist. No. 1, 50 N.Y.2d 143, 428 N.Y.S.2d 443, 405 N.E.2d 1009, 1980 N.Y. LEXIS 2276 (N.Y. 1980).

3. Scope of protection

This section is intended to protect the fireman from all kinds of claims while in the performance of his duties, such as a decision as to the manner and method of fighting a fire, an order for demolition of the whole or part of a building or its contents and other duties too numerous to mention. Cox v Du Chaine, 29 A.D.2d 814, 287 N.Y.S.2d 106, 1968 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4652 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1968).

4. —Volunteer firefighters

Volunteer firemen of a fire company organized as an unincorporated association under the laws of this state are relieved from liability for negligent acts in the performance of duty as such by virtue of this section. Hence, a valid defense was asserted in an action resulting from a collision between a motor vehicle in which plaintiffs were riding and one owned by the defendant fire department and operated by the individual defendant when it was alleged that the fire department vehicle was being operated by its members in the performance of their duties as volunteer firemen. Heifetz v Rockaway Point Volunteer Fire Dep't, 282 A.D. 1062, 126 N.Y.S.2d 604, 1953 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5825 (N.Y. App. Div. 1953).

Such exemption applies while volunteer firemen are in the performance of their duties and is not restricted to any particular place such as a public street or highway. 1969 NY Ops Atty Gen May 27 (Informal), 1969 N.Y. AG LEXIS 53.

5. —Emergency rescue squads

In an action to recover for personal injuries resulting from a collision between an automobile owned by plaintiff and an ambulance operated by defendant who pleaded as a defense that, at the time of the accident, the driver was a volunteer fireman and that the ambulance was being driven by him in exercise of his duties as a voluntary fireman, evidence was insufficient to establish that the driver in operation of the ambulance was performing his duty as a volunteer fireman within the meaning of § 205-b of the General Municipal Law. Bush v Smith, 276 A.D. 923, 94 N.Y.S.2d 431, 1950 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5152 (N.Y. App. Div. 1950).

Article 30 of the Public Health Law applies to an emergency rescue squad whose members are volunteer firemen that transport sick, disabled or injured persons to or from facilities providing hospital services. A fire department rescue squad providing volunteer ambulance service is required to obtain an ambulance service statement of registration pursuant to section 3004 of the Public Health Law. A fire department rescue squad is not required to obtain an ambulance service certificate pursuant to section 3006 of the Public Health Law. Volunteer firemen who render emergency medical assistance are protected by section 205-b of the General Municipal Law, which relieves volunteer firemen engaged in the performance of duty from civil liability except for willful negligence or malfeasance. 1975 NY Ops Atty Gen May 13 (Informal), 1975 N.Y. AG LEXIS 120.

The immunity granted a voluntary ambulance service in Public Health Law § 3013, subdivision 1 does not apply to a squad. The liability or immunity of the squad, as such, is derived from and through the fire department or company of which it is a part. For this purpose, a squad is not a legal entity and the question is irrelevant. 1976 NY Ops Atty Gen Dec 6 (Informal), 1976 N.Y. AG LEXIS 186.

An emergency medical technician who is not a member of a squad has immunity under Public Health Law § 3013 only for acts in rendering emergency medical assistance to a person who is unconscious, ill or injured. However, if, during the course of transportation of a sick, disabled or injured person under conditions which are not an emergency, that person's condition develops into or reverts to an emergency condition, the technician would receive immunity for the acts done relating to the emergency condition. 1976 NY Ops Atty Gen Dec 6 (Informal), 1976 N.Y. A certified emergency medical technician, whether or not a member of a squad, has immunity when rendering medical assistance in an emergency to a person who is unconscious, ill or injured anywhere within the State. 1976 NY Ops Atty Gen Dec 6 (Informal), 1976 N.Y. AG LEXIS 186.

Members of emergency relief squads not personally liable for injuries for patient in ambulance not due to wilful negligence or malfeasance where services rendered in case of accident, public calamity, or other emergency as determined by person designated to receive calls for emergency service unless they proceed after seeing that no emergency exists. 1953 Op St Compt No. 53-6369.

All members of duly organized volunteer fire companies, as well as members of squads, have immunity when transporting patients under emergency conditions and, if general ambulance service has been authorized, they also have immunity for transporting non-emergency patients. 1976 NY Ops Atty Gen Dec 6 (Informal), 1976 N.Y. AG LEXIS 186.

6. —Fire police

A volunteer fireman, who is not a member of a fire police squad, may not be held personally liable for damages resulting from his negligence in directing traffic as part of a firemanic operation. 1975 NY Ops Atty Gen Jan 17 (Informal), 1975 N.Y. AG LEXIS 57.

The members of a fire police squad are covered against civil liability and may perform services as peace officers when the fire department or fire company is attending a convention, participating in fire drills, tournaments and parades and inspections, answering calls for outside assistance or attending at a public emergency other than a fire. 1953 Op St Compt No. 53-6019.

Barring willful negligence or malfeasance on the part of an individual fire policeman in case of accident occurring while he is directing traffic at an intersection to allow passage of fire apparatus, he is not personally liable for injury or damage sustained, and it is a question of fact whether or not the fire district is liable. 1961 Op St Compt No. 61-328.

7. Entities liable, generally

Town had no vicarious liability under CLS Veh & Tr § 388 as owner of ambulance involved in accident since vicarious liability cannot be imposed on owner unless there is liability on part of driver, and volunteer fireman who was driving ambulance had immunity for his acts of ordinary negligence under CLS Gen Mun § 205-b. Nelson v Garcia, 152 A.D.2d 22, 548 N.Y.S.2d 963, 1989 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 14856 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1989).

Trial court erred in granting fire departments' summary judgment motions in a wrongful death action because the fire departments were not immune from liability pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 205-b, and also erred in denying the administratrix's cross motion to dismiss the fire departments' affirmative defenses pursuant to § 205-b; section 205-b immunity applied only to individual volunteer firefighters, not their municipal employers, and the trial court thus properly granted those parts of the summary judgment motions dismissing the complaint against the individual defendants. The plain language of the statute reflected the legislature's dual purposes in enacting § 205-b: first, to immunize volunteer firefighters from civil liability for ordinary negligence and, second, to shift liability for such negligence to the fire districts that employed them. Lynch v Waters, 82 A.D.3d 1719, 922 N.Y.S.2d 884, 2011 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2304 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2011).

Although members of volunteer fire companies are not civilly liable for any acts done by them in the performance of their duty, except for wilful negligence or malfeasance, liability for negligence against towns, villages, and fire districts is imposed for the negligence of volunteer firemen in the operation of vehicles owned by the fire district while in the discharge of their duties. Hopkins v East Syracuse Fire Dist., 49 Misc. 2d 197, 267 N.Y.S.2d 61, 1966 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2216 (N.Y. City Ct. 1966).

8. —Fire companies

Volunteer firemen of a fire company organized as an unincorporated association under the laws of this state are relieved from liability for negligent acts in the performance of duty as such by virtue of this section. Hence, a valid defense was asserted in an action resulting from a collision between a motor vehicle in which plaintiffs were riding and one owned by the defendant fire department and operated by the individual defendant when it was alleged that the fire department vehicle was being operated by its members in the performance of their duties as volunteer firemen. Heifetz v Rockaway Point Volunteer Fire Dep't, 282 A.D. 1062, 126 N.Y.S.2d 604, 1953 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5825 (N.Y. App. Div. 1953).

Section 205-b of the General Municipal Law does not exempt volunteer fire companies incorporated under Article 10 of the Membership Corporation Law from civil liability. Rosenberg v Fuller Road Fire Dept., Inc., 34 A.D.2d 653, 310 N.Y.S.2d 212, 1970 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5205 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1970), aff'd, 28 N.Y.2d 816, 321 N.Y.S.2d 916, 270 N.E.2d 732, 1971 N.Y. LEXIS 1379 (N.Y. 1971).

Fire company could not be held vicariously liable for alleged negligence of firefighter in operating her vehicle in response to emergency since, under statute, (1) fire district, not fire company, employs, supervises and controls individual firefighters, (2) district is responsible for prevention and extinguishment of fires, (3) district possesses virtually total supervision and control over all aspects of creation and staffing of fire companies as well as over rules and regulations governing firefighting practices and procedures, and (4) district is answerable for negligence of its firefighters committed in course of their duties. Knapp v Union Vale Fire Co., 141 A.D.2d 509, 529 N.Y.S.2d 132, 1988 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6348 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1988).

A municipality or district being aided by an outside fire company is not liable to third parties for torts of firemen rendering assistance where such firemen are not under the control of the officials of the municipality or district being aided. 1956 Op St Compt No. 56-7984.

A town which contracts on behalf of a fire protection district for fire protection is not liable for injuries to a third person caused by the negligent act of a member of an incorporated fire company, located within the fire protection district, in answering an alarm pursuant to contract. However, if the tort was committed by a member of a village fire company under contract, located outside the fire protection district, the village would be liable. 1956 Op St Compt No. 56-7984.

9. —Fire districts

The statute erased any immunity formerly extended to fire districts and replaced it with the common-law rule of master and servant and the doctrine of respondeat superior. Nardone v Milton Fire Dist., 261 A.D. 717, 27 N.Y.S.2d 489, 1941 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7419 (N.Y. App. Div. 1941), aff'd, 288 N.Y. 654, 42 N.E.2d 746, 288 N.Y. (N.Y.S.) 654, 1942 N.Y. LEXIS 1494 (N.Y. 1942).

This section, in providing that members of duly organized volunteer fire companies shall not be civilly liable, in the absence of willful negligence or malfeasance, for acts in performance of duty, will sustain a defense, against certain types of causes of action, not only by individual members of a fire company, but likewise by incorporated fire companies. Ruppel v Middleport Volunteer Fire Co., 12 A.D.2d 871, 210 N.Y.S.2d 67, 1961 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13489 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't), app. denied, 12 A.D.2d 1004, 212 N.Y.S.2d 1022, 1961 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12503 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1961).

Town was not liable under doctrine of respondeat superior as owner of ambulance involved in accident, even though CLS Gen Mun §§ 50-a, 50-b, and 205-b provide that town is liable for negligence of town "appointee" while operating municipally owned vehicle in discharge of his duties, since town had established fire district, thereby creating wholly independent political subdivision whose "members," including voluntary fireman who was driving ambulance, were employees of district and not town. Nelson v Garcia, 152 A.D.2d 22, 548 N.Y.S.2d 963, 1989 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 14856 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1989).

A property damage negligence action brought against an oil burner repair service, a district fire department, and a town, would be dismissed as against the town which could not be held liable for the negligence of members of the fire district, having no control over or responsibility for the acts and conduct of the fire district under Town Law § 176(19) and Gen Mun Law § 205-b. Harland Enterprises, Inc. v Commander Oil Corp., 108 Misc. 2d 511, 437 N.Y.S.2d 506, 1981 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2231 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1981).

The term "fire districts" as used in this section has a distinct meaning in law and does not include a fire department. Heifetz v Rockaway Point Volunteer Fire Dep't, 124 N.Y.S.2d 257, 1953 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2150 (N.Y. Sup. Ct.), aff'd, 282 A.D. 1062, 126 N.Y.S.2d 604, 1953 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5825 (N.Y. App. Div. 1953).

10. —Villages

This section has a twofold purpose one of which is to exonerate members of duly organized volunteer fire companies from liability except for willful negligence or malfeasance and the other of which is to impute legal liability to fire districts for negligence of volunteer firemen in operation of vehicles of the district, and it accordingly applies only to vehicles owned by the fire district, not to privately owned vehicles, and imposes no liability upon an incorporated village. Sikora v Steinberg, 40 Misc. 2d 649, 243 N.Y.S.2d 766, 1963 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1586 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1963), aff'd, 20 A.D.2d 852, 249 N.Y.S.2d 401, 1964 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5056 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1964).

A village is liable for the negligent acts of a volunteer fireman in the discharge of his firemanic duties. 1978 NY Ops Atty Gen Aug 2 (Informal), 1978 N.Y. AG LEXIS 338.

A town which contracts on behalf of a fire protection district for fire protection is not liable for injuries to a third person caused by the negligent act of a member of an incorporated fire company, located within the fire protection district, in answering an alarm pursuant to contract. However, if the tort was committed by a member of a village fire company under contract, located outside the fire protection district, the village would be liable. 1956 Op St Compt No. 56-7984.

11. Liability for vehicle accidents

This section exonerates a volunteer fireman driving a vehicle in response to a fire alarm from personal liability for damage caused in operation of the vehicle. Sikora v Steinberg, 40 Misc. 2d 649, 243 N.Y.S.2d 766, 1963 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1586 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1963), aff'd, 20 A.D.2d 852, 249 N.Y.S.2d 401, 1964 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5056 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1964).

12. —Vehicle owned by fire district

This section has a twofold purpose one of which is to exonerate members of duly organized volunteer fire companies from liability except for willful negligence or malfeasance and the other of which is to impute legal liability to fire districts for negligence of volunteer firemen in operation of vehicles of the district, and it accordingly applies only to vehicles owned by the fire district, not to privately owned vehicles, and imposes no liability upon an incorporated village. Sikora v Steinberg, 40 Misc. 2d 649, 243 N.Y.S.2d 766, 1963 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1586 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1963), aff'd, 20 A.D.2d 852, 249 N.Y.S.2d 401, 1964 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5056 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1964).

In personal injury action arising from collision between car and fire truck driven by volunteer firefighter, defendant volunteer fire department was not entitled CLS CPLR § 4401 dismissal on ground that firefighter had been granted summary judgment due to lack of proof that he acted with reckless disregard for safety of others and only claim against fire department was based on vicarious liability for his conduct, as immunity granted to volunteer firefighters by CLS Gen Mun § 205-b does not extend to volunteer fire departments, which remain liable for negligence of volunteer firefighters while operating department vehicles in discharge of their duties. Tobacco v North Babylon Volunteer Fire Dep't, 182 Misc. 2d 480, 696 N.Y.S.2d 340, 1999 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 403 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1999), app. dismissed, 276 A.D.2d 551, 714 N.Y.S.2d 450, 2000 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10154 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2000).

13. —Accident outside fire district

Fire district may be held liable for negligent acts of one of its volunteer firemen committed in course of duty answering an alarm while operating privately owned vehicle outside borders of fire district. Thomas v Consolidated Fire Dist. No. 1, 50 N.Y.2d 143, 428 N.Y.S.2d 443, 405 N.E.2d 1009, 1980 N.Y. LEXIS 2276 (N.Y. 1980).

Volunteer firemen en route to and attending a fire outside of the fire district, pursuant to an actual call for assistance, are covered by the Volunteer Firemen's Disability Benefits Law and amendments to the General Municipal Law dealing with the liability to the municipality for damages due to negligence of volunteer firemen. 1959 NY Ops Atty Gen March 31 (Informal), 1959 N.Y. AG LEXIS 123.

14. —Willful negligence

Evidence which shows that a collision resulted at an intersection from volunteer fireman's violation of traffic signal is sufficient to establish "wilful negligence" under § 205-b. Pauli v Carncross, 276 N.Y. 509, 12 N.E.2d 453, 276 N.Y. (N.Y.S.) 509, 1937 N.Y. LEXIS 1092 (N.Y. 1937).

Allegations that a volunteer fireman in responding to a fire alarm failed to heed a stop sign; drove at excessive and illegal rate of speed; gave no signal or warning of his approach; and operated his vehicle without regard for the safety of others would warrant a finding that the acts of the fireman were sufficient to constitute wilful negligence or malfeasance. Cox v Du Chaine, 29 A.D.2d 814, 287 N.Y.S.2d 106, 1968 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4652 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1968).

In action by passenger injured when vehicle in which she was riding was struck in rear by fire engine, driver of fire engine was entitled to summary judgment dismissing all cross claim against him where (1) as member of volunteer fire company, he could not be held liable for act done in performance of his duties "except for wilful negligence or malfeasance," (2) on observing vehicle stopped about 200 feet in front of him, fire engine driver repeatedly applied brakes and slowed to 5 to 7 miles per hour when he skidded into stopped vehicle, (3) there was no evidence that his failure to avoid accident was wilful negligence or malfeasance, and (4) he was also entitled to privilege under CLS Veh & Tr § 1104 because there was no evidence that he acted with "reckless disregard for the safety of others." Tobacco v North Babylon

Fire Dep't, 251 A.D.2d 398, 674 N.Y.S.2d 125, 1998 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6646 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1998).

Where plaintiff, a volunteer firefighter, suffered injuries in a traffic accident on the way to a structure fire, his complaint against the driver (another volunteer firefighter) was dismissed, as he failed to demonstrate a triable issue as to whether the conduct of the driver constituted willful negligence or malfeasance, as his driving did not bespeak conscious indifference to a highly probable risk that calamity would ensue. Plaintiff's claims against the town were dismissed, as the benefits of Vehicle and Traffic Law § 19 were the exclusive remedy of a volunteer firefighter for a line of duty injury as against the town. Lee v Verstraete, 65 Misc. 3d 531, 109 N.Y.S.3d 594, 2019 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 4781 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 2019).

15. —Privately-owned vehicle

A fire district may be held liable for the negligent acts of one of its volunteer firemen committed in the course of duty while operating a privately owned vehicle outside the borders of the fire district; section 205-b of the General Municipal Law, which provides that fire districts shall be liable for the negligence of volunteer firemen in the operation of vehicles owned by the fire district upon the public streets of the district if, at the time of any accident or injury, they were acting in the discharge of their duties, should not be read as an exemption statute which, by implication, would exempt fire districts from liability except as provided by that section, since said statute was enacted to expand, rather than limit, the liability of fire districts and, where the Legislature acts to extend liability, the courts should not reach for such a limiting distinction absent inescapable evidence that there was such a legislative intent. Accordingly, it was error to grant a motion by defendant fire district for summary judgment dismissing a complaint brought by the administratrix of the estate of a seven-year-old girl who was struck and killed by a privately owned car operated by a volunteer fireman answering an alarm, in an accident which took place outside the borders of the fire district. Thomas v Consolidated Fire Dist. No. 1, 50 N.Y.2d 143, 428 N.Y.S.2d 443, 405 N.E.2d 1009, 1980 N.Y. LEXIS 2276 (N.Y. 1980).

Use of private vehicles by volunteer firefighters does not vitiate application of CLS Gen Mun § 205-b. Skinner v Scobbo, 221 A.D.2d 334, 633 N.Y.S.2d 208, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11602 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1995).

This section has a twofold purpose one of which is to exonerate members of duly organized volunteer fire companies from liability except for willful negligence or malfeasance and the other of which is to impute legal liability to fire districts for negligence of volunteer firemen in operation of vehicles of the district, and it accordingly applies only to vehicles owned by the fire district, not to privately owned vehicles, and imposes no liability upon an incorporated village. Sikora v Steinberg, 40 Misc. 2d 649, 243 N.Y.S.2d 766, 1963 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1586 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1963), aff'd, 20 A.D.2d 852, 249 N.Y.S.2d 401, 1964 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5056 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1964).

Under this section, a fire district is not responsible for the negligent operation of privately-owned automobiles by volunteer firemen. Mott v Baldwin Fire Dep't, 45 Misc. 2d 813, 257 N.Y.S.2d 630, 1965 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2216 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1965).

16. —Liability of absentee owner of private vehicle

This section, exempting volunteer firemen from liability for ordinary negligence in operation of motor vehicles, transfers their liability to the municipality, thereby effecting a substitution of remedies and parties, and an absentee owner of the vehicle which the fireman is operating at the time in course of duty cannot be held liable for injuries inflicted, because of absence of liability on the part of the fireman, notwithstanding the provisions of § 388 of the Vehicle and Traffic Law. Sikora v Keillor, 17 A.D.2d 6, 230 N.Y.S.2d 571, 1962 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8567 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1962), aff'd, 13 N.Y.2d 610, 240 N.Y.S.2d 601, 191 N.E.2d 88, 1963 N.Y. LEXIS 1220 (N.Y. 1963).

In an action against an automobile owner for damages sustained by reason of its negligent operation by a volunteer fireman acting in course of duty, in the owner's absence, it was error to strike defendant owner's affirmative defense of freedom from liability by reason of this section. Sikora v Keillor, 17 A.D.2d 6, 230 N.Y.S.2d 571, 1962 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8567 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1962), aff'd, 13 N.Y.2d 610, 240 N.Y.S.2d 601, 191 N.E.2d 88, 1963 N.Y. LEXIS 1220 (N.Y. 1963).

17. —Illustrative cases

In an action against fire district on the theory of respondeat superior for the death of plaintiff's testate who was killed while riding on a fire truck owned by defendant and operated by the chief of local fire company, complaint was dismissed where at time of accident plaintiff's testate and the chief, who was operating the truck, were intoxicated, the truck was being driven in a reckless and dangerous manner, and the occupants were shouting and gesticulating in a manner which carried with it much more than the mere suggestion of a test run conducted in the interest of efficiency. Nardone v Milton Fire Dist., 261 A.D. 717, 27 N.Y.S.2d 489, 1941 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7419 (N.Y. App. Div. 1941), aff'd, 288 N.Y. 654, 42 N.E.2d 746, 288 N.Y. (N.Y.S.) 654, 1942 N.Y. LEXIS 1494 (N.Y. 1942).

Volunteer Firemen are not covered by the provisions of the Volunteer Firemen's Benefit Law when attending a funeral, whether such attendance is pursuant to orders or by permission from the chief or fire district commissioners. 1977 NY Ops Atty Gen Dec 7 (Informal), 1977 N.Y. AG LEXIS 361.

18. Liability for other conduct

This section limiting liability to wilful negligence or malfeasance is not confined to motor vehicle litigation. Cox v Du Chaine, 29 A.D.2d 814, 287 N.Y.S.2d 106, 1968 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4652 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1968).

Although this section would appear to involve only vehicular torts, the general rule of Bernardine v New York (1945) 294 NY 361, 62 NE2d 604, 161 ALR 364, would appear to impose a basis for liability upon the charge that volunteer firemen caused injury to, or further injury to a motorist when they attempted to extricate him from a position where he was pinned in his damaged automobile. Hopkins v East Syracuse Fire Dist., 49 Misc. 2d 197, 267 N.Y.S.2d 61, 1966 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2216 (N.Y. City Ct. 1966).

A volunteer fireman, who is not a member of a fire police squad, may not be held personally liable for damages resulting from his negligence in directing traffic as part of a firemanic operation. 1975 NY Ops Atty Gen Jan 17 (Informal), 1975 N.Y. AG LEXIS 57.

It is questionable whether use of fire department apparatus to transport the body of a deceased fireman for burial is authorized by statute. If a court held that there is no such authorization, the immunity statute would not apply, the Volunteer Firemen's Benefit Law would not provide protection and personal liability might result. 1977 NY Ops Atty Gen Dec 7 (Informal), 1977 N.Y. AG LEXIS 361.

There is no authority in this section, or elsewhere, for a fire district to stand the expenses of defending against an action brought against an individual member of the fire department based upon injuries sustained by plaintiff by reason of the diseased condition of a dog which the individual fireman donated for a raffle held at the district fire house. 1960 Op St Compt No. 60-877.

A fire district may not pay the legal expenses of a volunteer fireman charged with criminally assaulting a bystander at a fire. 1967 Op St Compt No. 67-359.

19. Notice of claim

General Municipal Law § 205-b specifically casts liability upon fire districts for the negligence of volunteer firemen in the operation of vehicles owned by the district "upon the public streets and highways of the fire district" but it contains no requirement that a notice of claim be served as a prerequisite to an action. In an action by decedent's administrator for wrongful death, a fire district claimed that it was within the purview of Gen Mun L § 50-b and that by operation of § 50-c thereof, the complaint must allege compliance with § 50-e. Held: §§ 50-b, 50-c, and 50-e do not apply to fire districts nor was § 205-b repealed thereby by implication. Moreover § 50-e(7) by clear exception says that § 50-e shall not be applicable to the article of law containing § 205-b. Seyer v Schoen, 6 A.D.2d 177, 175

N.Y.S.2d 1003, 1958 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5122 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1958).

General Municipal Law § 50-i, which provided that no action shall be maintained for personal injury by reason of the negligence of any volunteer fireman whose services have been accepted pursuant to § 209-i, unless a notice is served pursuant to General Municipal Law § 50-e is misleading, because prior to September 1, 1963, the requirements of General Municipal Law § 50-e did not apply to a claim against a fire district which arose out of the negligence of volunteer firemen pursuant to General Municipal Law § 205-b. Hopkins v East Syracuse Fire Dist., 49 Misc. 2d 197, 267 N.Y.S.2d 61, 1966 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2216 (N.Y. City Ct. 1966).

20. Pleading

In negligence action, court properly dismissed third-party complaint on ground that, at time of accident, third-party defendant was performing his duty as volunteer firefighter and, because complaint contained no allegation of willful negligence or malfeasance, it failed to state cause of action under CLS Gen Mun § 205-b, which provides immunity to firefighters under such circumstances. Lotito v Lund, 129 A.D.2d 776, 514 N.Y.S.2d 770, 1987 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 45471 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1987).

The immunity provisions contained in the cited statutes may both apply to a volunteer fireman and in the event of suit, both should be pleaded as separate, affirmative defenses unless it is clear that only one applies. 1976 NY Ops Atty Gen Dec 6 (Informal), 1976 N.Y. AG LEXIS 186.

21. Illustrative cases

A servant, agent or officer of a municipality is required to do his work in a reasonably careful manner and if he fails to do so and another is injured because of his negligence he is personally responsible, the same as any other person who has by his misconduct caused injury. Ottmann v Rockville Centre, 275 N.Y. 270, 9 N.E.2d 862, 275 N.Y. (N.Y.S.) 270, 1937 N.Y. LEXIS 1426 (N.Y. 1937).

In action to recover damages for personal injuries when volunteer firefighter, while en route to firehouse in response to alarm, struck and seriously injured pedestrian, summary judgment should not be granted where defendants failed to sustain burden of demonstrating, as matter of law, that there was no issue of facts as to whether they were guilty of "willful negligence or malfeasance", and defendant driver's self-serving allegations that he obeyed all traffic rules, did not drive at excessive speed, and ascertain that intersection where accident occurred was clear before turning, did not sustain his burden of proof. Metropolitan Property & Liability Ins. Co. v State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co., 119 A.D.2d 558, 500 N.Y.S.2d 369, 1986 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 55484 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1986).

Court properly granted defendants' motion for leave to serve amended answer to allege that driver of offending vehicle, at time of alleged accident, was volunteer firefighter responding to fire call, and thus was under protection of CLS Gen Mun § 205-b; neither heightened proof requirement under statute nor shortened limitation period against relevant fire district constituted prejudice to plaintiff sufficient to deny motion to amend. Skinner v Scobbo, 221 A.D.2d 334, 633 N.Y.S.2d 208, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11602 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1995).

Where a member of a volunteer fire company is liable for wilful negligence or malfeasance under the exception contained in this section, assuming that fire district could also be held responsible for such act although the statute does not so indicate, it does not follow that such district would have the right to recover over as in the usual case of derivative liability in view of the further provision of the statute that any judgment against fire district shall be levied on its taxable property. Mott v Baldwin Fire Dep't, 45 Misc. 2d 813, 257 N.Y.S.2d 630, 1965 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2216 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1965).

§ 205-c. Payments pending controversies where volunteer firefighters are killed or injured.

In order to provide for the prompt payment of benefits under sections two hundred five and two hundred nine-a of this article, and under the workers' compensation law, where such benefits are conceded to be due to any person because of the death of or injuries to a volunteer firefighter but controversy exists as to which city, village, town or fire district is liable for the payment thereof, the municipalities and districts involved in such controversy and their insurance carriers, if any, may agree that any one or more of such municipalities or districts or its insurance carrier shall pay the benefits to, or in relation to, the person conceded to be entitled to such benefits without waiting for a final determination of the controversy, and may carry out the provisions of such an agreement. Notwithstanding any such payment, any party to the agreement may seek a final determination of the controversy in the same manner as if such payment had not been made. After a final determination the parties to the agreement shall make any necessary and proper reimbursement to conform to the determination. The term "insurance carrier" as used herein shall mean an insurance company, or a county mutual self-insurance plan in accordance with subdivision three-a of section fifty of the workers' compensation law, or any plan which shall be provided for by law in amendment of or substitution for such a plan.

HISTORY:

Revision Notes: Where a volunteer fireman is killed or injured in line of duty there may be no question that he or his family are entitled to certain benefits provided by law; yet there may be a question as to which of two municipalities or fire districts is liable for the benefits. These cases generally arise where service is being rendered outside the "home" area of the fireman's own fire department. The controversies often involve substantial sums and the litigation may be carried to the appellate courts. In some cases firemen and their families have waited for extended periods until the courts decided which of two political subdivisions should pay the benefits. This act permits the parties to pay the fireman or his family and litigate the question of liability between themselves. Insurance companies were doing this by administrative arrangement but there was no statutory authority for municipalities, fire districts and county mutual workmen's compensation plans to enter into such agreements. This act furnishes such authority.

Amendment Notes The 2018 amendment by ch 476, § 49, substituted "firefighters" for "firemen" in the section heading; substituted "workers' compensation law" for "workmen's compensation law" in the first and last sentences; and in the first sentence, substituted "of this article" for "of this chapter" and "firefighter" for "fireman."

A legally organized fire district, department or company shall provide and maintain for each eligible volunteer firefighter, an enhanced cancer disability benefit insurance program.

1. Definitions. As used in this section:

a. "Eligible volunteer firefighter" means:

(i) [Eff until December 23, 2029] A volunteer firefighter having five or more years of faithful and actual service in the protection of life and property from fire in the interior of buildings subsequent to having successfully passed a physical examination which failed to reveal any evidence of cancers as defined in paragraph b of this subdivision; and

(i) [Eff December 23, 2029] A volunteer firefighter having five or more years of faithful and actual service in the protection of life and property from fire in the interior of buildings and having successfully passed a physical examination on entry to the firefighter service, which examination failed to reveal any evidence of cancers as defined in paragraph b of this subdivision; and

(ii) [Eff until December 23, 2029] Having submitted proof of five years of interior firefighting service by providing verification that he or she has passed at least five yearly certified mask fitting tests as set forth in 29 CFR 1910.134 or the applicable National Fire Protection Association standards for mask fit testing or, for firefighters who entered the fire service prior to January first, two thousand twenty, documentation identified by the office of fire prevention and control in rules and regulations promulgated pursuant to subdivision seven of this section which shall include, but not be limited to, training or certification records, health care provider records, internal fire department records, or any combination of official documents capable of evidencing that the firefighter meets the requirements of this section.

(ii) [Eff December 23, 2029] Having submitted proof of five years of interior firefighting service by providing verification that he or she has passed at least five yearly certified mask fitting tests as set forth in 29 CFR 1910.134 or the current National Fire Protection Association standards for mask fit testing.

b. "Cancer" means:

(i) A disease caused by an uncontrolled division of abnormal cells in a part of the body or a malignant growth or tumor resulting from the division of abnormal cells; and

(ii) Affecting the prostate or breast, lymphatic, hematological digestive, urinary, neurological, or reproductive systems, or melanoma.

2. An eligible volunteer firefighter shall be entitled to payment of enhanced cancer benefits as follows:

a. A lump sum benefit of twenty-five thousand dollars for each diagnosis payable to such firefighter upon acceptable proof to the insurance carrier or other payor of a diagnosis by a board certified physician in the medical specialty appropriate for the type of cancer diagnosed that there are one or more malignant tumors characterized by the uncontrollable and abnormal growth and spread of malignant cells with invasion of normal tissue and that either:

(i) There is metastasis; and

(1) surgery, radiotherapy, or chemotherapy is medically necessary; or

(2) there is a tumor of the prostate, provided that it is treated with radical prostatectomy or external beam therapy; or

(ii) The firefighter has terminal cancer, his or her life expectancy is twenty-four months or less from the date of diagnosis, and will not benefit from, or has exhausted, curative therapy.

b. A lump sum benefit of six thousand two hundred fifty dollars for each diagnosis payable to such firefighter upon acceptable proof to the insurance carrier or other payor of a diagnosis by a board certified physician in the medical specialty appropriate for the type of cancer involved that either:

(ii) There are malignant tumors which are treated by endoscopic procedures alone; or

(iii) There are malignant melanomas.

c. A monthly benefit of one thousand five hundred dollars, of which the first payment shall be made six months after total disability and submission of acceptable proof of said disability to the insurance carrier or other payor that such disability is caused by cancer and that such cancer precludes the firefighter from serving as a firefighter. Such benefit shall continue for up to thirty-six consecutive monthly payments.

(i) Such monthly benefit shall be subordinate to any other benefit actually paid to the firefighter solely for such disability from any other source, not including private insurance purchased solely by the firefighter, and shall be limited to the difference between the amount of such other paid benefit and the amount specified herein; and

(ii) Any firefighter receiving such monthly benefits may be required to have his or her condition reevaluated. In the event any such reevaluation reveals that such person has regained the ability to perform duties as a firefighter, then his or her monthly benefits shall cease the last day of the month of reevaluation.

(iii) In the event that there is a subsequent reoccurrence of a disability caused by cancer which precludes the firefighter from serving as a firefighter, he or she shall be entitled to receive any remaining monthly payments.

d. An eligible volunteer firefighter shall also be entitled to an additional payment of enhanced cancer death benefits in the amount of fifty thousand dollars which is payable to such volunteer or his or her beneficiary upon acceptable proof by a board certified physician that such firefighter's death resulted from complications associated with cancer.

e. Provided however, an eligible volunteer firefighter shall be ineligible for these benefits if they are already provided paid firefighter benefits under this article.

3. The combined total of all benefits received by any eligible volunteer firefighter pursuant to paragraphs a and b of subdivision two of this section during his or her lifetime shall not exceed fifty thousand dollars.

4. An eligible volunteer firefighter shall remain eligible for benefits pursuant to paragraphs a, b and d of subdivision two of this section for sixty months after the formal cessation of the volunteer firefighter's status as an active volunteer firefighter. The fire district, department or company in which such firefighter served shall be responsible for payment of all premiums or other costs associated with benefits provided under paragraphs a, b and d of subdivision two of this section throughout the duration of the eligible volunteer firefighter's coverage.

5. A fire district, department or company shall, no later than January first, two thousand nineteen, show proof of insurance coverage that meets the requirements of this section or shall show satisfactory proof of the ability to pay such compensation to ensure adequate coverage for all eligible volunteer firefighters. Such coverage shall remain in effect until sixty months after the fire district, department or company no longer has any volunteer firefighters who could qualify for this benefit.

6. Any fire district, department or company that has had a volunteer firefighter file a claim for or receive an enhanced cancer disability benefit under the provisions of this section shall report such claims filed, claims paid and types of claims to the office of fire prevention and control. Beginning on January first, two thousand twenty, the office of fire and prevention control shall report annually to the governor, the temporary president of the senate, the speaker of the assembly, the chair of the senate finance committee and the chair of the assembly ways and means committee the number of firefighters who have filed claims pursuant to this section and the number of firefighters who have received benefits under the provisions of this section.

7. The office of fire prevention and control, in consultation with the department of financial services and the workers' compensation board, shall adopt such rules and regulations as are reasonable and necessary to implement the provisions of this section. Such regulations shall include establishing acceptable documentation for proof of eligibility, the process by which a firefighter files a claim for the enhanced cancer disability benefit, how the beneficiary of such eligible volunteer firefighter files a claim for the enhanced cancer death benefit, the process by which claimants can appeal a denial of benefits and what proof is deemed acceptable to qualify for such benefits.

HISTORY:

Revision Notes: This act provided that when blanket accident insurance for volunteer firemen was purchased at the expense of a municipal corporation or fire district, the benefit should not be subject to execution for claims against a beneficiary or, in the case of a minor volunteer fireman, for claims against a parent, guardian, person supporting him or chiefly dependent upon him. Exemption from claims against the insured was provided in the Insurance Law, § 166(2). Provisions comparable to those of this act are contained in the General Municipal Law, § 205 (Fourth) and Workmen's Compensation Law, § 33.

Amendment Notes The 2018 amendment by ch 476, § 52, substituted "firefighters" for "firemen" in the section heading; and substituted "firefighter" for "fireman" or variants throughout the section.

§ 207-a. Payment of salary, medical and hospital expenses of firefighters with injuries or illness incurred in performance of duties.

1. Any paid firefighter which term as used in this section shall mean any paid officer or member of an organized fire company or fire department of a city of less than one million population, or town, village or fire district, or any paid employee of a county airport or county aviation department which performs fire response or fire rescue duties, who is injured in the performance of his or her duties or who is taken sick as a result of the performance of his or her duties so as to necessitate medical or other lawful remedial treatment, shall be paid by the municipality or fire district by which he or she is employed the full amount of his or her regular salary or wages until his or her disability arising therefrom has ceased, and, in addition, such municipality or fire district shall be liable for all medical treatment and hospital care furnished during such disability. Provided, however, and notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this section, the municipal health authorities or any physician appointed for the purpose by the municipality or fire district, may attend any such injured or sick firefighter, from time to time, for the purpose of providing medical, surgical or other treatment, or for making inspections and the municipality or fire district shall not be liable for salary or wages payable to such a firefighter, or for the cost of medical or hospital care or treatment furnished, after such date as the health authorities or such physician shall certify that such injured or sick firefighter has recovered and is physically able to perform his or her regular duties in the company or department. Any injured or sick firefighter who shall refuse to accept such medical treatment or hospital care or shall refuse to permit medical inspections as herein authorized, including examinations resulting from the application of subdivision two hereof, shall be deemed to have waived his or her rights under this section in respect to expenses incurred for medical treatment or hospital care or salary or wages payable after such refusal.

Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, a provider of medical treatment or hospital care furnished pursuant to the provisions of this section shall not collect or attempt to collect reimbursement for such treatment or care from any such member of the fire department of any such city.

2. Payment of the full amount of regular salary or wages, as provided by subdivision one of this section, shall be discontinued with respect to any firefighter who is permanently disabled as a result of an injury or sickness incurred or resulting from the performance of his or her duties if such firefighter is granted an accidental disability retirement allowance pursuant to section three hundred sixty-three of the retirement and social security law, a retirement for disability incurred in performance of duty allowance pursuant to section three hundred sixty-three-c of the retirement and social security law or similar accidental disability pension provided by the pension fund of which he or she is a member; provided, however, that in any such case such firefighter shall continue to receive from the municipality or fire district by which he or she is employed, until such time as he or she shall have attained the mandatory service retirement age applicable to him or her or shall have attained the age or performed the period of service specified by applicable law for the termination of his or her service, the difference between the amounts received under such allowance or pension and the amount of his or her regular salary or wages. Any payment made by a municipal corporation or fire district pursuant to the provisions of this subdivision shall be deemed to have been made for a valid and lawful public purpose. If application for such retirement allowance or pension is not made by such firefighter, application therefor may be made by the head of the fire company or fire department or as otherwise provided by the fire district or by the chief executive officer or local legislative body of the municipality by which such firefighter is employed. If such application for accidental disability retirement allowance or retirement for disability incurred in performance of duty allowance is denied, the fire district or municipal corporation by which such firefighter is employed may appeal such determination.

3. If such a firefighter is not eligible for or is not granted such accidental disability retirement allowance or retirement for disability incurred in performance of duty allowance or similar accidental disability pension and is nevertheless, in the opinion of such health authorities or physician, unable to perform his or her regular duties as a result of such injury or sickness but is able, in their opinion, to perform specified types of light duty, payment of the full amount of regular salary or wages, as provided by subdivision one of this section, shall be discontinued with respect to such firefighter if he or she shall refuse to perform such light duty if the same is available and offered to him or her, provided, however, that such light duty shall be consistent with his or her status as a firefighter and shall enable him or her to continue to be entitled to his or her regular salary or wages, including increases thereof and fringe benefits, to which he or she would have been entitled if he or she were able to perform his or her regular duties.

4. If such a firefighter is not eligible for or is not granted an accidental disability retirement allowance or retirement for disability incurred in performance of duty allowance or similar accidental disability pension, he or she shall not be entitled to further payment of the full amount of regular salary or wages, as provided by subdivision one of this section, after he or she shall have attained the mandatory service retirement age applicable to him or her or shall have attained the age or performed the period of service specified by applicable law for the termination of his or her service. Where such a firefighter retires or is retired under any procedure applicable to him or her, including but not limited to circumstances described in subdivision two of this section or in this subdivision, he or she shall thereafter, in addition to any portion of regular wages or salary and/or any retirement allowance or pension to which he or she is then entitled, continue to be entitled to medical treatment and hospital care necessitated by reason of such injury or illness.

4-a. Any benefit payable pursuant to subdivision two of this section to a person who is granted retirement for disability incurred in performance of duty pursuant to section three hundred sixty-three-c of the retirement and social security law shall be reduced by the amount of the benefits that are finally determined payable under the workers' compensation law by reason of accidental disability.

5. The appropriate municipal or fire district officials may transfer such a firefighter to a position in the same or another agency or department where they are able to do so pursuant to applicable civil service requirements and provided the firefighter shall consent thereto.

6. Any firefighter receiving payments or benefits pursuant to this section, who engages in any employment other than as provided in subdivision three or five of this section shall on the commencement of such employment, forfeit his or her entitlement to any payments and benefits hereunder, and any such payment or benefit unlawfully received by such firefighter shall be refunded to and may be recovered by the municipal corporation or fire district employing such firefighter in a civil action. For the purposes of this section, employment shall not include income derived from passive involvement with: gains derived from dealings in property, interest income, rents from real property, royalties, dividends, alimony and separate maintenance payments, annuities, income from life insurance and endowment contracts, other pensions, income from the discharge of indebtedness, income in the respect of a decedent, and income from an interest in an estate or trust.

7. Notwithstanding any provision of law contrary thereto contained herein or elsewhere, a cause of action shall accrue to the municipality or fire district aforesaid for reimbursement in such sum or sums actually paid as a salary or wages and/or for medical or hospital treatment, as against any third party against whom the firefighter shall have a cause of action for the injuries sustained.

1. Generally

Municipal employees were not required to show more than a direct causal relationship between job duties and the resulting illness or injury, such that they were "injured in the performance of their duties" in order to be eligible for benefits under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 207-c, as there was no heightened risk showing required of them in order to qualify for such benefits; the purpose of creating § 207-c was to create parity between police officers and firefighters, who had been eligible for those same types of benefits under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 207-a. Theroux v Reilly, 1 N.Y.3d 232, 771 N.Y.S.2d 43, 803 N.E.2d 364, 2003 N.Y. LEXIS 4029 (N.Y. 2003).

Statute governing disability benefits for firefighters guarantees that any firefighter who suffers employment connected disability will receive a full annual wage not to be interrupted in any respect. Pease v Colucci, 59 A.D.2d 233, 399 N.Y.S.2d 519, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13550 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1977).

Collective bargaining provision which under certain circumstances confers upon private physician selected by mutual agreement of parties power to decide whether firefighter has sustained job related illness or injury for purposes of establishing eligibility for benefits pursuant to § 207-a is valid. Local 589, International Asso. of Fire Fighters v Newburgh, 116 A.D.2d 396, 501 N.Y.S.2d 369, 1986 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 51030 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1986).

In order to obtain benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a, firefighter must show that he was injured in or became sick as result of performance of his or her duties, and he was disabled from performing his regular duties as result of such injury or illness. Flynn v Zaleski, 212 A.D.2d 706, 622 N.Y.S.2d 791, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1662 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't), app. denied, 87 N.Y.2d 802, 638 N.Y.S.2d 425, 661 N.E.2d 999, 1995 N.Y. LEXIS 4975 (N.Y. 1995).

Article 78 proceeding challenging city's denial of benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a is not in nature of mandamus to compel performance of continuing statutory duty, but rather is proceeding to review, subject to 4-month statute of limitations, because city is allowed to make its own determination as to whether petitioner is entitled to § 207-a benefits. Dearman v City of White Plains, 237 A.D.2d 603, 655 N.Y.S.2d 599, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3023 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1997).

CLS Gen Mun § 207-a does not give firefighter right to seek "status" determination from municipality in absence of current need for benefits. Lewis v City of Gloversville, 246 A.D.2d 804, 667 N.Y.S.2d 796, 1998 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 298 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1998).

An action by a firefighter for an injunction restraining a fire chief from terminating his employment would be converted to a CPLR article 78 proceeding to compel an administrative hearing and the firefighter would be reinstated to the payroll until a determination was made pursuant to said hearing, where the firefighter allegedly injured his back in the performance of his duties but received his full regular salary without objection for five years, which both the firefighter and the fire department understood was paid pursuant to Gen Mun L § 207-a, and where the fire chief terminated the firefighter's employment at the end of that time pursuant to Civ S Law § 73 following a physical examination, which termination appeared to be in connection with the firefighter's unsuccessful applications for benefits under § 363 of the Retirement and Social Security Law and the Workers' Compensation Law, since termination of the firefighter's employment for these reasons is inconsistent with Gen Mun L § 207-a. Legg v Fitzmaurice, 112 Misc. 2d 283, 446 N.Y.S.2d 961, 1981 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3423 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1981).

Because a fire district's reclassification of all captains as deputy chiefs except a retired captain, the retired captain was essentially demoted in violation of N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 207-a(2); therefore, pursuant to N.Y. C.P.L.R. art. 78, the district's determination was annulled and set aside; the issue was a question of law that required no evidentiary hearing. Gresis v Fairview Fire Dist., 831 N.Y.S.2d 874, 15 Misc. 3d 209, 237 N.Y.L.J. 21, 2007 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 122 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 2007).

Firemen and policemen injured in performance of their duties are not limited as to remedies exclusively by §§ 207-a and 207-c of this law. 1963 Op St Compt No. 63-248.

Supplemental benefit payments made by a municipality to a permanently disabled fireman who is granted an accidental disability retirement allowance or pension are subject to withholding for income tax purposes but are exempt from social security withholding. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-767.

Village which has terminated its paid fire department is still obligated to pay village firefighter, who was disabled prior to termination of department, his full salary under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a unless there is voluntary agreement to contrary. 1988 Op St Compt No. 88-27, 1988 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 23.

A city may not waive its right to reimbursement for additional expenditures made pursuant to this section and § 207-c. 1964 Op St Compt No. 64-340.

2. Constitutionality

Chapter 965 of the Laws of 1977, which amended section 207-a of the General Municipal Law by providing that a fireman who became disabled because of injury or illness incurred as a result of the performance of his duties is no longer entitled to receive the full amount of his regular salary or wages until his disability has ceased but shall receive instead his regular salary or wages only until he reaches his mandatory retirement age or attains the age or performs the period of service specified by applicable law for the termination of his service, does not work an impairment of rights guaranteed by the contract clause of the Federal Constitution (USCS Const, art I, § 10), since the statute contains no words of contract but rather expresses a public policy as determined by the Legislature and the matters addressed by the statute are among those classes of legislative acts long presumed to create no private contractual rights, and since no consummated unilateral contract arose at the moment of the injuries to plaintiffs, firemen disabled by illness or injury incurred in the line of duty who were receiving full salary and medical expenses pursuant to former section 207-a of the General Municipal Law prior to the effective date of chapter 965; moreover, the operation of chapter 965 does not impair plaintiffs' rights as members of a public pension system in violation of section 7 of article V of the State Constitution, which construes membership in any pension or retirement system as a contractual relationship which shall not be diminished or impaired, since the fact that there can be no constitutional impairment of pension system benefits does not create a constitutional right to stay in public employment. Cook v Binghamton, 48 N.Y.2d 323, 422 N.Y.S.2d 919, 398 N.E.2d 525, 1979 N.Y. LEXIS 2402 (N.Y. 1979).

Former city firemen who had become disabled as a result of injuries sustained in the performance of their duties who were receiving their regular salaries and wages pursuant to Gen Mun Law § 207-a, were not entitled to payment for unused vacation time based upon their collective bargaining agreement with the city or upon any theory of statutory entitlement, where the agreement was silent regarding the status of disabled employees and where their rights under § 207-a were expressly limited to regular salary or wages. Chalachan v Binghamton, 55 N.Y.2d 989, 449 N.Y.S.2d 187, 434 N.E.2d 256, 1982 N.Y. LEXIS 3162 (N.Y. 1982).

Disabled firefighter's right to receive CLS Gen Mun § 207-a disability payments is property interest giving rise to procedural due process protection under Fourteenth Amendment before those payments are terminated. Uniform Firefighters, Local 2562 v City of Cohoes, 94 N.Y.2d 686, 709 N.Y.S.2d 481, 731 N.E.2d 137, 2000 N.Y. LEXIS 901 (N.Y. 2000).

Section of General Municipal Law governing disability benefits for firefighter was intended to treat firefighter who was injured in the performance of his duties as a member of a special class, as such a firefighter receives full salary without being required to perform any work for so long as his disability continues and such a fireman receives special treatment from moment of his injury and disability, and thus continuation of benefits to disabled firefighter does not constitute unequal treatment of employees similarly situated even if others of same rank and comparable seniority are demoted and reduced in salary as the result of abolition of positions for economy reasons. Pease v Colucci, 59 A.D.2d 233, 399 N.Y.S.2d 519, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13550 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1977).

Chapter 965 of the Laws of 1977, which amended section 207-a of the General Municipal Law by providing, inter alia, that a fireman who became disabled because of injury or illness incurred as a result of the performance of his duties is no longer entitled to receive the full amount of his regular salary or wages until his disability has ceased but shall receive instead his regular salary or wages only until he reaches his mandatory retirement age or attains the age or performs the period of service specified by applicable law for the termination of his service, is constitutional inasmuch as it was enacted as a remedial statute to alleviate what were deemed to be the excessively costly and undesirable effects of section 207-a, and, as a remedial statute, it can be given retrospective application to the extent that it does not impair vested rights; accordingly, plaintiffs, disabled firemen receiving benefits pursuant to section 207-a prior to the amendment, may be required to accept the reduced retirement benefits upon their reaching retirement age or the termination of their service inasmuch as the Legislature, in providing for the retirement or termination from service of disabled firemen upon the happening of certain specified events and for the consequent reduction in the payments which they as retirees will receive, was not impairing any vested right of said firemen, whether contractual or otherwise, but rather was merely altering the terms and conditions of the firemen's employment, an action which was clearly within its power. Cook v Binghamton, 67 A.D.2d 469, 416 N.Y.S.2d 349, 1979 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10132 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't), modified, 48 N.Y.2d 323, 422 N.Y.S.2d 919, 398 N.E.2d 525, 1979 N.Y. LEXIS 2402 (N.Y. 1979).

1984 amendments to CLS Gen Mun § 207-a and CLS Retire & S S § 363-c, which added "duty disability retirement" benefit to Retirement and Social Security Law, did not reduce retirement benefits of firefighter who became disabled in 1969, within purview of nonimpairment clause (CLS NY Const Art V § 7), and state comptroller was properly granted summary judgment in action wherein fireman claimed that their application would result in his ultimately receiving less than maximum benefits of 75 percent of his final average salary, which he might have received had he remained on public payroll pursuant to § 207-a, since (1) § 207-a was enacted as matter of public policy and could be amended without violating nonimpairment clause, (2) firefighter's expectation that he would have remained in public employment was not within protection of nonimpairment clause, and (3) 1984 amendments were expressly made retroactive. Lake v Regan, 135 A.D.2d 312, 525 N.Y.S.2d 425, 1988 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2063 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't), app. dismissed, 72 N.Y.2d 840, 530 N.Y.S.2d 555, 526 N.E.2d 46, 1988 N.Y. LEXIS 1047 (N.Y. 1988), app. denied, 72 N.Y.2d 807, 533 N.Y.S.2d 56, 529 N.E.2d 424, 1988 N.Y. LEXIS 2618 (N.Y. 1988).

3. Retroactive effect

Chapter 965 of the Laws of 1977, which amended section 207-a of the General Municipal Law by providing, inter alia, that a fireman who became disabled because of injury or illness incurred as a result of the performance of his duties is no longer entitled to receive the full amount of his regular salary or wages until his disability has ceased but shall receive instead his regular salary or wages only until he reaches his mandatory retirement age or attains the age or performs the period of service specified by applicable law for the termination of his service, is constitutional inasmuch as it was enacted as a remedial statute to alleviate what were deemed to be the excessively costly and undesirable effects of section 207-a, and, as a remedial statute, it can be given retrospective application to the extent that it does not impair vested rights; accordingly, plaintiffs, disabled firemen receiving benefits pursuant to section 207-a prior to the amendment, may be required to accept the reduced retirement benefits upon their reaching retirement age or the termination of their service inasmuch as the Legislature, in providing for the retirement or termination from service of disabled firemen upon the happening of certain specified events and for the consequent reduction in the payments which they as retirees will receive, was not impairing any vested right of said firemen, whether contractual or otherwise, but rather was merely altering the terms and conditions of the firemen's employment, an action which was clearly within its power. Cook v Binghamton, 67 A.D.2d 469, 416 N.Y.S.2d 349, 1979 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10132 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't), modified, 48 N.Y.2d 323, 422 N.Y.S.2d 919, 398 N.E.2d 525, 1979 N.Y. LEXIS 2402 (N.Y. 1979).

This statute is for the benefit of a fireman of a paid fire department, while he remains a member of the fire department. It does not contemplate payment when he ceases to be an employee of the city and a member of the department. It does not cover him after he retires from city employment. Robinson v Cole, 84 N.Y.S.2d 514, 193 Misc. 717, 1948 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3615 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1948).

As a general rule, amendatory statutes are presumed to operate prospectively and not retroactively unless the language of the statute indicates a legislative intent to the contrary; accordingly, plaintiffs, who are partially disabled and thereby incapable of performing active firefighting duties, are entitled to continue receiving disability benefits (General Municipal Law, § 207-a) and may not be forced to perform light duty as a condition to receiving benefits, as their rights became vested as of the dates of their respective injuries and as such remain unaffected by a later amendment (L 1977, ch 965) which permits the termination of benefits for refusing to perform light duty while only partially disabled. Ring v Langdon, 94 Misc. 2d 415, 404 N.Y.S.2d 835, 1978 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2260 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1978), rev'd, 69 A.D.2d 998, 416 N.Y.S.2d 137, 1979 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11776 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1979).

Section 207-a of the General Municipal Law, which, in its amended form, effective June 1, 1978, allows a permanently disabled fireman whose injuries were the result of performance of his duties to obtain the difference between his retirement benefits and his full salary from the employing municipality, may not be applied retroactively to include firemen who retired prior to the effective date of the amendment, since a statute granting a new remedy should not be given retroactive effect unless express words or necessary implication require such an interpretation, and the remedial intent of section 207-a is to relieve a financial burden on municipalities which were, prior to amendment, required to pay disabled firemen their full salaries, and if section 207-a were given retroactive effect, the result would be an increased burden upon them, which is not the intent of the statute. Luisi v Department of Fire, 101 Misc. 2d 529, 421 N.Y.S.2d 338, 1979 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2717 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1979).

Village which has terminated its paid fire department is still obligated to pay village firefighter, who was disabled prior to termination of department, his full salary under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a unless there is voluntary agreement to contrary. 1988 Op St Compt No. 88-27, 1988 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 23.

Whether firefighter waives his rights under § 207-a is a question of fact, not for this Department's determination; § 207-a is applied as it existed at time of disability, not as amended retroactively. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-127.

4. Construction

Statute governing disability benefits to firefighters is a remedial statute enacted for benefit of firefighters and should be liberally construed in their favor. Pease v Colucci, 59 A.D.2d 233, 399 N.Y.S.2d 519, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13550 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1977).

Village was not entitled under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a(3) to make independent determination of firefighter's eligibility for accidental disability retirement allowance or performance of duty disability allowance; Comptroller has exclusive authority under CLS Retire & S S § 374(b) to determine retirement applications, and language of § 207-a(3) permits determination only in event firefighter is either not eligible for, or not granted, accidental disability allowance. Crocker v Endicott, 184 A.D.2d 820, 584 N.Y.S.2d 675, 1992 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7656 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1992).

Since this statute was enacted for the benefit of firemen who were disabled in the performance of their duties it is remedial in nature and must be liberally construed. Tyler v Gadwood, 89 N.Y.S.2d 126, 195 Misc. 674, 1949 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2225 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1949), rev'd, 279 A.D. 1138, 112 N.Y.S.2d 890, 1952 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6089 (N.Y. App. Div. 1952).

5. —Wages

Term "wages" within statute, which requires a municipality of less than one-million to pay fireman the full amount of his regular salary or wages until disability arising from performance of his duties has ceased, does not include, fringe benefits. Geremski v Department of Fire, 78 Misc. 2d 555, 357 N.Y.S.2d 975, 1974 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1445 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1974), aff'd, 49 A.D.2d 1013, 375

N.Y.S.2d 500, 1975 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11366 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1975).

The terms "salary and wages" as used in these sections do not include a uniform allowance. 1982 Op St Compt No. 82-352, 1982 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 376.

The phrase "regular salary or wages" as used in General Municipal Law, § 207-a(2) includes longevity increments. 1982 Op St Compt No. 82-316, 1982 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 414.

6. Relationship to other laws

In enacting this section, the legislature intended no conflict with Civil Service Law § 79, but on the contrary, adopted it in furtherance of its public policy to protect firemen injured and disabled while in the performance of their duties. The legislature did not intend to repeal or make this section ineffective in any way by reason of its amendment in 1946 and again in 1951. Birmingham v Mirrington, 284 A.D. 721, 134 N.Y.S.2d 456, 1954 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3480 (N.Y. App. Div. 1954).

Section of Civil Service Law was intended to implement agreement between city and its firefighters to permit layoffs on basis of service in grade or title rather than on basis of total seniority with employer and was not intended to abrogate or diminish effect of disability benefits provisions of section of General Municipal Law, and thus rights of disabled lieutenant in fire department to disability benefits vested at time of his disability and he could not be divested of those rights by city's abolition of several lieutenants' positions for economy reasons. Pease v Colucci, 59 A.D.2d 233, 399 N.Y.S.2d 519, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13550 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1977).

It was improper for city to deny application for benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a(2) on ground that firefighter was not permanently disabled as result of his performance of duties, where State Comptroller had granted his application for performance of duty disability retirement. Delahunt v City of Oswego, 222 A.D.2d 1078, 636 N.Y.S.2d 238, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 14154 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1995), app. denied, 88 N.Y.2d 801, 644 N.Y.S.2d 688, 667 N.E.2d 338, 1996 N.Y. LEXIS 1048 (N.Y. 1996).

Fire department was subject to liability for alleged negligence in hiring, retaining, training, or supervising firefighter who struck plaintiff firefighter in back, and fact that plaintiff could not sue fire department directly because plaintiff had received benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a did not foreclose offending firefighter from seeking apportionment of liability and contribution from fire department. Mrowczynski v Kerruish, 238 A.D.2d 924, 661 N.Y.S.2d 570, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4729 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't), app. denied, 90 N.Y.2d 806, 663 N.Y.S.2d 511, 686 N.E.2d 223, 1997 N.Y. LEXIS 2976 (N.Y. 1997).

Injured firefighter's receipt of disability benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a constituted his exclusive remedy, barring common-law negligence claims and CLS Gen Mun § 205-a claims against his municipal employer. Petendree v City of Yonkers, 270 A.D.2d 403, 704 N.Y.S.2d 646, 2000 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3238 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2000).

Firefighter could not prohibit a city from making a determination under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 207-a(2) as to whether the firefighter was permanently disabled prior to the receipt of supplemental benefits because receipt of a retirement disability allowance under N.Y. Retire. & Soc. Sec. Law § 363-c did not preclude the city's separate determination of permanent disability. Matter of Solano v City of Mount Vernon, 49 A.D.3d 762, 853 N.Y.S.2d 641, 2008 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2557 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2008).

Provisions of special law Ch. 767 of the laws of 1948, enacted April 3, 1948, amending charter of city of Rochester in relation to compensation for injuries of members of police and fire department of the city, prevail over provisions of this section, insofar, as the two are in conflict. Adam v Farbo, 16 Misc. 2d 614, 184 N.Y.S.2d 772, 1959 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3929 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1959).

7. —Retirement and Social Security Law

Line-of-duty presumption for firefighters' heart-related retirement disability benefits set forth in CLS Retire & S S § 363-a should not be read into CLS Gen Mun § 207-a, since the two statutes represent separate disability systems with differing coverage and consequences. Sutka v Conners, 73 N.Y.2d 395, 541 N.Y.S.2d 191, 538 N.E.2d 1012, 1989 N.Y. LEXIS 466 (N.Y. 1989).

Comptroller's determination that firefighter was permanently incapacitated for performance of duty as result of his service, and was entitled to benefits under CLS Retire & S S § 363-c, was not binding on municipality in separate proceeding to determine firefighter's eligibility for benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a; § 363-c and § 207-a represent separate disability systems with differing coverage and consequences, there is no specific statutory language or history suggesting that eligibility determinations thereunder were not intended to be separately made, and principles of collateral estoppel are inapplicable because municipalities are not parties to proceedings before Comptroller. Cook v City of Utica, 88 N.Y.2d 833, 644 N.Y.S.2d 479, 666 N.E.2d 1352, 1996 N.Y. LEXIS 682 (N.Y. 1996).

Comptroller's determination granting firefighter retirement benefits pursuant to CLS Retire & SS § 363-c did not mandate that fire district pay him benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a. Barson v Regan, 177 A.D.2d 21, 580 N.Y.S.2d 567, 1992 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2835 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1992).

Firefighter who qualifies for disability pension under CLS Retire § S S § 363-c is not automatically entitled to supplemental wage benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a, and determination of whether firefighter is entitled to benefits under § 207-a must be made, in first instance, by municipal employer. Bernhard v Hartsdale Fire Dist., 226 A.D.2d 715, 641 N.Y.S.2d 868, 1996 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4688 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1996).

Petitioner, a disabled firefighter receiving disability retirement benefits under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 207-a(2) sued respondents, a city and its employee benefits coordinator (city), from reducing those benefits by supplemental retirement benefits the firefighter received pursuant to N.Y. Retire. & Soc. Sec. Law § 378; in reversing dismissal of counterclaim, appeals court reinstated city's counterclaim to recoup disability retirement plan benefits it paid to the firefighter for amounts firefighter received under supplemental state plan; city had common law right to recoup overpayments. Farber v City of Utica, 1 A.D.3d 942, 767 N.Y.S.2d 758, 2003 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12254 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2003).

It was not arbitrary, capricious or abuse of discretion for respondent to terminate, at age 62, supplemental benefits paid to petitioner under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a(2) where petitioner had chosen 62-year age retirement option under CLS Retire & S S § 384-d; fact that petitioner was receiving accidental disability retirement benefits under CLS Retire & S S § 363, as well as supplemental benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a, was not controlling. Farrell v Dolce, 170 Misc. 2d 333, 648 N.Y.S.2d 511, 1996 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 372 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1996).

Age Discrimination in Employment Act (29 USCS § 623) did not preempt 62-year age retirement option under CLS Retire & S S chosen by former firefighter who, prior to retirement, was rendered permanently disabled and eligible for accidental disability retirement benefits under CLS Retire & S S § 363 and supplemental benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a, as his work-related injuries terminated his membership in retirement system. Farrell v Dolce, 170 Misc. 2d 333, 648 N.Y.S.2d 511, 1996 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 372 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1996).

8. Scope of coverage

A disabled city fireman, once his entitlement to disabled fire fighter's benefits is established, remains entitled to them for the rest of his life if his disability should last so long. Weber v Department of Fire, 54 A.D.2d 164, 388 N.Y.S.2d 397, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13745 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1976).

Where the retired firefighters acted in accordance with the statutory scheme of N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 207-a(2) and N.Y. Retire. & Soc. Sec. Law § 384-d (b), they did not act in contravention of public policy by selecting a retirement package that they perceived as being the most advantageous; therefore, the trial court properly granted their N.Y.C.P.L.R. art. 78 petition against the city. Bobby v City of Niagara Falls, 5 A.D.3d 997, 774 N.Y.S.2d 899, 2004 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2836 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2004).

9. —Paid firefighters

Since the county airport's fire rescue unit did not fall within any of the statutory categories which could be considered a "fire company" under N.Y. CLS Gen. Mun. § 100, as it was not organized by a county, city, town, village, or fire district department, the employee was not an officer or member of a fire company entitled to benefits under § 207-a. Robbins v County of Broome, 87 N.Y.2d 831, 637 N.Y.S.2d 679, 661 N.E.2d 151, 1995 N.Y. LEXIS 4430 (N.Y. 1995).

Action against county by plaintiff who served on county's crash fire rescue unit at airport, predicated on plaintiff's status as "paid fireman" under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a (which defines term as "any paid officer or member of an organized fire company or fire department"), should not have been dismissed for failure to state cause of action on basis of court's prior holding that airport crash fire rescue personnel are not members of organized "fire department," since definition of "department" is more restrictive than definition of "company," and it was yet to be determined whether plaintiff was member of organized "fire company." Robbins v County of Broome, 186 A.D.2d 973, 589 N.Y.S.2d 116, 1992 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12396 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1992).

That a disabled firefighter was retired and had been absent from duty over 30 days did not preclude his entitlement to a schedule adjustment, equivalent to an additional 5.5 work hours per week, as provided for in the collective bargaining agreement because he was receiving the adjustment when he retired, and an active firefighter currently employed at his rank would likewise have received the adjustment. Matter of McKay v Village of Endicott, 161 A.D.3d 1340, 77 N.Y.S.3d 537, 2018 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3348 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2018), app. denied, 32 N.Y.3d 913, 117 N.E.3d 817, 93 N.Y.S.3d 258, 2019 N.Y. LEXIS 28 (N.Y. 2019).

Disabled firefighter's base salary used to determine his "regular salary or wages" under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 207-a(2) was that of a current firefighter employed at the First Grade/emergency medical services (EMS) rank; thus, the EMS payment was part of his regular salary or wages for the purpose of calculating the amount of his supplemental disability benefits. Matter of McKay v Village of Endicott, 161 A.D.3d 1340, 77 N.Y.S.3d 537, 2018 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3348 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2018), app. denied, 32 N.Y.3d 913, 117 N.E.3d 817, 93 N.Y.S.3d 258, 2019 N.Y. LEXIS 28 (N.Y. 2019).

This statute is for the benefit of a fireman of a paid fire department, while he remains a member of the fire department. It does not contemplate payment when he ceases to be an employee of the city and a member of the department. It does not cover him after he retires from city employment. Robinson v Cole, 84 N.Y.S.2d 514, 193 Misc. 717, 1948 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3615 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1948).

10. —Temporary and call firefighters

Petitioner was appointed a temporary fireman pursuant to chapter 47 of the laws of 1943 and if he received injuries or became ill as a result of the performance of his duties he was entitled to benefits under § 207-a, but defendants should be permitted to answer since affidavits submitted on the motion to dismiss the petition raised questions of fact which must be determined. Tyler v Gadwood, 279 A.D. 1138, 112 N.Y.S.2d 890, 1952 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6089 (N.Y. App. Div. 1952).

A substitute or temporary fireman, who was employed as a substitute for a regular fireman on military service, is entitled to the benefits provided for by this section. Tyler v Gadwood, 89 N.Y.S.2d 126, 195 Misc. 674, 1949 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2225 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1949), rev'd, 279 A.D. 1138, 112 N.Y.S.2d 890, 1952 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6089 (N.Y. App. Div. 1952).

Call firemen compensated on an hourly basis whenever called to duty are covered by this section. In addition to medical treatment and hospital care such a fireman is entitled to be paid at the applicable hourly rate for such occasions when he would have been called but is not called because his injuries or sickness incapacitate him from performing his functions as a call fireman. 1958 NY Ops Atty Gen Jun 18 (Informal), 1958 N.Y. AG LEXIS 169.

11. Injuries constituting disability

In a proceeding in which firefighter sought benefits pursuant to General Municipal Law § 207-a, the parties' collective bargaining agreement (CBA) and State Administrative Procedure Act § 306 required hearing officer to defer to fire district's denial of the firefighter's benefits if that determination was supported by substantial evidence. Therefore, in accordance with that standard and in light of the CBA's terms, the independent hearing officer was required to give deference to the employer's decision, and the firefighter bore the burden of establishing that his employer's denial determination had not been supported by substantial evidence. Matter of Ridge Rd. Fire Dist. v Schiano, 16 N.Y.3d 494, 922 N.Y.S.2d 249, 947 N.E.2d 140, 2011 N.Y. LEXIS 558 (N.Y. 2011).

In an Article 78 proceeding brought by a city fireman to review the denial of his application for salary, medical, and hospital expense benefits pursuant to Gen Mun Law § 207-a, benefits were properly denied where the fireman suffered from a diseased condition of his knee that existed prior to his being hired as a fireman, and where the continuing disease was not a residue of any injury inasmuch as its cause was unknown. Callas v Elmira, 88 A.D.2d 1015, 451 N.Y.S.2d 922, 1982 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 17430 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1982).

Firefighter was not entitled to benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a where his coronary artery disease was not job-related and, instead, was caused by fact that he smoked for decades, had high cholesterol, and was overweight. Flynn v Zaleski, 212 A.D.2d 706, 622 N.Y.S.2d 791, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1662 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't), app. denied, 87 N.Y.2d 802, 638 N.Y.S.2d 425, 661 N.E.2d 999, 1995 N.Y. Denial of supplemental wage benefits to firefighter under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a was supported by facts that he continued to work performing his regular duties for 5 years after his second injury and for 15 years following his first injury until he voluntarily retired. Bernhard v Hartsdale Fire Dist., 226 A.D.2d 715, 641 N.Y.S.2d 868, 1996 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4688 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1996).

In Article 78 proceeding by firefighter seeking disability benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a(1), city manager had authority to evaluate equivocal testimony of petitioner's medical experts regarding cause of petitioner's disability and properly determined that nerve damage to petitioner's leg was not causally related to performance of his duties as firefighter. Curtis v Hiller, 242 A.D.2d 950, 663 N.Y.S.2d 460, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10555 (N.Y. Firefighter was entitled to supplementary benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a where unrebutted medical evidence, including opinions of 2 examining physicians, proved that firefighter was suffering from posttraumatic stress disorder directly related to or aggravated by his work as firefighter. Dembowski v Hanna, 245 A.D.2d 1039, 678 N.Y.S.2d 174, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13783 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1997), app. denied, 91 N.Y.2d 813, 674 N.Y.S.2d 278, 697 N.E.2d 179, 1998 N.Y. When disability is attributable to both line-of-duty injury and preexisting nonwork-related condition, benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a must be provided if job caused or contributed to disability to substantial degree. Dembowski v Hanna, 245 A.D.2d 1039, 678 N.Y.S.2d 174, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13783 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1997), app. denied, 91 N.Y.2d 813, 674 N.Y.S.2d 278, 697 N.E.2d 179, 1998 N.Y. A fireman was injured within the meaning of this section, when, as a result of a slip while standing on a piece of hose, a prior diseased condition of the eye was aggravated and blindness resulted. Adam v Farbo, 16 Misc. 2d 614, 184 N.Y.S.2d 772, 1959 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3929 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1959).

Where expert medical evidence presented by firefighter indicated that he had suffered a coronary occlusion which severely blocked one of the coronary arteries and that such occlusion was caused or contributed to by his strenuous activity as a firefighter, firefighter was disabled within the provisions of General Municipal Law § 207-a. Geremski v Department of Fire, 72 Misc. 2d 166, 338 N.Y.S.2d 543, 1972 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2351 (N.Y. Sup. Ct.

Municipal fire district that had paid N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 207-a(2) disability benefits to a firefighter who had been granted a performance of duty disability retirement was enjoined from terminating the firefighter's § 207-a(2) benefits on the basis of any alleged change in the firefighter's medical condition because § 207-a(2) did not provide a municipality with authority to continue to monitor the medical condition of retired firefighters who were deemed permanently disabled. Matter of McGowan v Fairview Fire Dist., 823 N.Y.S.2d 649, 14 Misc. 3d 270, 2006 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3105 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 2006), aff'd, 51 A.D.3d 796, 858 N.Y.S.2d 278, 2008 N.Y. App. Div. The protections provided by General Municipal Law, §§ 50-c and 207-a apply to a paid city fireman who is occasionally assigned non-firemanic duties and is injured while performing such duties. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-349, 1978 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 83.

12. —Injuries occurring in another municipality

Village paid firemen (injured while answering call for outside assistance) entitled to benefits of this section from village. No provision of law required outside territory from which call is made to reimburse village. 1953 Op St Compt No. 53-6036.

13. Payment of salary or wages

The phrased "amounts received" in N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 207-a(2) includes both base pension benefits and supplemental entitlements received by a disabled firefighter pursuant to New York's Retirement and Social Security Law; therefore, the amount of a pensioner's regular salary or wages is calculated based on the current salary of an active firefighter at the same grade the pensioner held upon retirement. Farber v City of Utica, 97 N.Y.2d 476, 743 N.Y.S.2d 42, 769 N.E.2d 799, 2002 N.Y. LEXIS 490 (N.Y.), cert. denied, 537 U.S. 823, 123 S. Ct. 109, 154 L. Ed. 2d 33, 2002 U.S. LEXIS 6032 (U.S. 2002).

Parties to collective bargaining agreement empowered arbitrator to define "regular salary" as used in statute even though he did so in manner which was at variance with judicial interpretation where, although arbitrator initially exceeded his authority, parties returned to him for sole purpose of having arbitrator ascertain and compute petitioner's damages, and there was no strong public policy issue which would warrant modification. Philson v Philson, 110 A.D.2d 830, 488 N.Y.S.2d 78, 1985 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 48729 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1985).

Court would annul city's determination denying firefighter's application for wage supplement benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a(2) where Comptroller's determination, upon firefighter's timely application made within 2 years from date of his injury (CLS Retire & S S §§ 363(a)(2), 363-c(b)(2)), that firefighter was "permanently incapacitated for the performance of duties...as the natural and proximate result of an accident sustained in service," necessarily decided issue of whether firefighter was "permanently disabled as a result of an injury...incurred or resulting from the performance of his duties" under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a(2). Pidel v City of Yonkers, 208 A.D.2d 845, 617 N.Y.S.2d 844, 1994 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10002 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1994), app. denied, 85 N.Y.2d 812, 631 N.Y.S.2d 288, 655 N.E.2d 401, 1995 N.Y. LEXIS 2196 (N.Y. 1995).

Trial court properly denied the disabled firefighters' petition to annul a city's determination to exclude compensation for night differential, check-in pay, and holiday pay from their prospective benefit payments because they did not sustain their burden of establishing their entitlement to compensation for such pay as part of their disability benefits. Matter of Borelli v City of Yonkers, 187 A.D.3d 897, 134 N.Y.S.3d 41, 2020 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5937 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2020).

Retired/disabled firefighters were not entitled to N.Y. C.P.L.R. art. 78 relief in their action to compel wage payments under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 207-a(1) because a city did not demote or otherwise reclassify them, a salary decrease was applicable to all active firefighters, and the retired/disabled firefighters proffered no persuasive argument why they should not be subject to the same salary decrease as active firefighters. Whitted v City of Newburgh, 961 N.Y.S.2d 727, 39 Misc. 3d 212, 2013 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 319 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 2013), aff'd, 126 A.D.3d 910, 5 N.Y.S.3d 510, 2015 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2124 (N.Y. Municipality's erroneous withholding of taxes from non-taxable disability payments paid to disabled firefighter does not state cause of action under 42 USCS § 1983. DiGiovanni v City of Rochester, 680 F. Supp. 80, 1988 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 1726 (W.D.N.Y. 1988).

A city is obligated to pay full salary to a paid fireman injured in the line of duty. 1962 NY Ops Atty Gen June 22 (Informal), 1962 N.Y. AG LEXIS 160.

Under this section, a city with a population of less than one million must pay a fireman his full salary during his period of disablement from injuries or illness incurred while in the performance of his duties necessitating medical or other lawful treatment. There is no authority permitting the city to assign him to duties outside the fire department during such period. 1966 NY Ops Atty Gen Dec 2 (Informal), 1966 N.Y. AG LEXIS 142.

Salary payments made to disabled firefighter pursuant to subdivision (1) of section 207-a are subject to social security withholding taxes; payments made under subdivision (2) are not so subject. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-426.

14. —Period of entitlement

Inasmuch as chapter 965 of the Laws of 1977 amended section 207-a of the General Municipal Law by providing that a fireman who became disabled because of injury or illness incurred as a result of the performance of his duties is no longer entitled to receive the full amount of his regular salary or wages until his disability has ceased but shall receive instead his regular salary or wages only until he reaches his mandatory retirement age or attains the age or performs the period of service specified by applicable law for the termination of his service, disabled firemen receiving benefits under section 207-a of the General Municipal Law may not be separated from service until they reach the mandatory retirement age of 70, unless they have voluntarily elected additional benefits under section 384 of the Retirement and Social Security Law, since apart from an accidental disability retirement, the only age specified for involuntary retirement occurs at age 70, or at age 62 in the case of those who have voluntarily elected certain additional benefits, and if the additional benefit is not chosen, the member is not subject to separation from service at age 62 and is not subject to mandatory retirement until age 70. Cook v Binghamton, 48 N.Y.2d 323, 422 N.Y.S.2d 919, 398 N.E.2d 525, 1979 N.Y. LEXIS 2402 (N.Y. 1979).

Chapter 965 of the Laws of 1977, which amended section 207-a of the General Municipal Law by providing that a fireman who became disabled because of injury or illness incurred as a result of the performance of his duties is no longer entitled to receive the full amount of his regular salary or wages until his disability has ceased but shall receive instead his regular salary or wages only until he reaches his mandatory retirement age or attains the age or performs the period of service specified by applicable law for the termination of his service, does not work an impairment of rights guaranteed by the contract clause of the Federal Constitution (US Const, art I, § 10), since the statute contains no words of contract but rather expresses a public policy as determined by the Legislature and the matters addressed by the statute are among those classes of legislative acts long presumed to create no private contractual rights, and since no consummated unilateral contract arose at the moment of the injuries to plaintiffs, firemen disabled by illness or injury incurred in the line of duty who were receiving full salary and medical expenses pursuant to former section 207-a of the General Municipal Law prior to the effective date of chapter 965; moreover, the operation of chapter 965 does not impair plaintiffs' rights as members of a public pension system in violation of section 7 of article V of the State Constitution, which construes membership in any pension or retirement system as a contractual relationship which shall not be diminished or impaired, since the fact that there can be no constitutional impairment of pension system benefits does not create a constitutional right to stay in public employment. Cook v Bing-

A fireman who applied for an accidental disability retirement allowance before his voluntary retirement became effective was entitled to receive from the municipality, upon the granting of the accidental disability retirement allowance, the difference between his regular salary and the disability retirement allowance granted him from and after the date of voluntary retirement, since Gen Mun Law § 207-a, as amended, requires payment to a disabled fireman, whether he voluntarily retires or is involuntarily retired, of the "regular wages or salary" to which he was entitled at the time of retirement, except as reduced by the disability allowance or pension; such entitlement runs from the time of retirement, subject only to a subsequent finding that the disabled fireman was in fact eligible for the accidental disability allowance or pension. Klonowski v Department of Fire, 58 N.Y.2d 398, 461 N.Y.S.2d 756, 448 N.E.2d 423, 1983 N.Y. LEXIS 2933 (N.Y. 1983).

If a disabled fireman does not voluntarily retire, he is entitled to compensation under the provisions of the above statute so long as he has not recovered from his injury, even if such recovery does not take place during the rest of his life. Cook v Binghamton, 24 A.D.2d 122, 264 N.Y.S.2d 466, 1965 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2991 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1965).

Once firefighter is qualified for disability benefits pursuant to statute, firefighter is entitled to his compensation as long as he has not recovered from his injury, even if such remains for the rest of his life, and such compensation must include any subsequent raises in salary given to those in the same grade or title held by the injured fireman at the time of his injury. Pease v Colucci, 59 A.D.2d 233, 399 N.Y.S.2d 519, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13550 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1977).

This statute is for the benefit of a fireman of a paid fire department, while he remains a member of the fire department. It does not contemplate payment when he ceases to be an employee of the city and a member of the department. It does not cover him after he retires from city employment. Robinson v Cole, 84 N.Y.S.2d 514, 193 Misc. 717, 1948 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3615 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1948).

A disabled policeman, employed by a city of under one million population, shall receive his salary plus increments accrued during the period of disability until he reaches mandatory retirement age or voluntarily retires prior to such time. 1976 NY Ops Atty Gen Feb 6 (Informal), 1976 N.Y. If a city fireman is certified as being recovered and physically fit to return to duty, the city is no longer liable for payment of his salary. 1955 Op St Compt No. 55-7494.

A paid fireman of a city other than New York City who is injured and disabled in line of duty must be paid full salary until his disability has ceased or until he voluntarily retires, and he cannot be retired otherwise than voluntarily. 1962 Op St Compt No. 62-399.

15. —Salary increases

A fireman disabled in the course of his duties is entitled to receive his "regular salary" including increments and cost of living bonuses. Barber v Lupton, 307 N.Y. 770, 121 N.E.2d 614, 307 N.Y. (N.Y.S.) 770, 1954 N.Y. LEXIS 1479 (N.Y. 1954).

Phrase "regular salary or wages" under General Municipal Law § 207-a(2) includes increases in annual salary, even after retirement of injured fireman. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1985).

Once firefighter is qualified for disability benefits pursuant to statute, firefighter is entitled to his compensation as long as he has not recovered from his injury, even if such remains for the rest of his life, and such compensation must include any subsequent raises in salary given to those in the same grade or title held by the injured fireman at the time of his injury. In an Article 78 proceeding, the trial court properly held that benefits paid to disabled firemen under Gen Mun Law § 207-a include salary increases paid to active firemen. Drahos v Johnson City, 80 A.D.2d 106, 438 N.Y.S.2d 394, 1981 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 9753 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1981).

Because a firefighter was injured while still a probationary employee, the firefighter was not eligible for the salary increases and benefits due to a permanent employee under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 207-a. Matter of Stimpson v DeLong, 30 A.D.3d 532, 817 N.Y.S.2d 112, 2006 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8000 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2006).

The rights of a disabled fireman, receiving his regular salary by reason of injuries sustained in course of duty, are the same as those of any active member of the department, and he is entitled to the benefits of any salary increases based upon length of service without being judged by subjective tests, such as his attitude toward his work, whether he attempts to do more than the minimum assigned to him, or the like. Ellis v Fire Chief of Ithaca, 29 Misc. 2d 37, 215 N.Y.S.2d 520, 1961 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3131 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1961).

Where a fireman becomes disabled and thereafter receives his regular salary, pursuant to the provisions of this section, he is entitled to increments or increases given since the time of his disability. 1959 Op St Compt No. 59-979.

A paid fireman receiving his full salary under General Municipal Law, § 207-a is also entitled to any salary increases granted the collective bargaining unit of which he is a member. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-926.

A disabled fireman or policeman who is receiving his regular salary or wages during the period of his disability is also entitled to negotiated longevity increments where entitlement to such increments accrues during the period of disability. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-80.

A disabled retired firefighter receiving payments pursuant to General Municipal Law § 207-a(2) is entitled to longevity salary increments or steps, but not to holiday pay; a firefighter receiving payments pursuant to § 207-a(2) is subject to the employment restrictions in § 207-a(6). 1991 Op St Compt No. 91-25, 1991 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 23.

16. Medical and hospital expenses

Liability imposed on city under statute, which provides that a municipality of less than one million population shall be liable for all medical treatment and hospital care furnished fireman during disability resulting from performance of his duties, can be discharged by payment directly to doctor or hospital furnishing the treatment. Geremski v Department of Fire, 78 Misc. 2d 555, 357 N.Y.S.2d 975, 1974 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1445 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1974), aff'd, 49 A.D.2d 1013, 375 N.Y.S.2d 500, 1975 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11366 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1975).

Discussion of liability of villages for medical and drug expenses. 1962 Op St Compt No. 62-796.

Where a paid fireman is injured or becomes sick in performance of duty and subsequently is granted an accidental disability retirement allowance, the municipality by which he was employed continues to remain liable for expenses incurred for medical treatment and hospital care. 1963 Op St Compt No. 63-49.

A paid city fireman, injured in the course of his duties, is entitled to payment by the city of the full amount of his regular salary or wages and to costs for medical treatment and hospital care, at any time subsequent to the date of the injury, so long as he remains an employee and he shows that his absence from duty or the incurring of costs for medical treatment and hospital care is causally related or attributed to such injury. 1968 Op St Compt No. 68-95.

17. Sick leave

Court properly remitted matter to city fire department for de novo determination as to whether firefighter was entitled to benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a where firefighter had been placed on "non-line-of-duty" sick leave, without benefit of any investigation, after his physician wrote letter to fire department which stated that he was being treated for coronary artery disease, but fire department had never made proper determination that firefighter was not entitled to such benefits. Flynn v

McLaughlin, 169 A.D.2d 768, 565 N.Y.S.2d 134, 1991 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 926 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1991).

When a paid city fireman, who is injured in performance of duty or is taken sick as the result of duty, is compelled thereby to absent himself from duty, the city may not properly charge his absence to sick leave. 1961 Op St Compt No. 61-60.

Discussion of whether a city fireman accumulates sick leave and vacation leave during the time of a job-related illness or injury which keeps him out of work. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-489.

The payment to him of the full amount of his regular salary or wages, during such absence from duty, does not constitute a payment on account of sickness and is not chargeable to his sick leave credits. 1968 Op St Compt No. 68-95.

18. Vacation leave

In a proceeding to compel a city to pay holiday pay benefits under a collective bargaining agreement to disabled firemen currently receiving their regular salary or wages pursuant to Gen Mun Law § 207-a, the petition was properly denied and dismissed, since case law holds that disabled firemen receiving their regular salary and wages pursuant to § 207-a are not entitled to vacation benefits under the collective bargaining agreement, and since the public policy considerations referred to in that case applied equally when the issue concerned holiday pay. Binghamton Firefighters, etc. v Binghamton, 56 N.Y.2d 731, 451 N.Y.S.2d 739, 436 N.E.2d 1341, 1982 N.Y. LEXIS 3384 (N.Y. 1982).

Firemen disabled as a result of injuries sustained in the performance of their duties, and therefore receiving their regular salary, were not entitled to vacation benefits under the collective bargaining agreement where the agreement made no provision for the payment of vacation benefits to disabled firemen and since the firemen were already paid for the full term of each year. Chalachan v Binghamton, 81 A.D.2d 973, 439 N.Y.S.2d 754, 1981 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11713 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1981), aff'd, 55 N.Y.2d 989, 449 N.Y.S.2d 187, 434 N.E.2d 256, 1982 N.Y. LEXIS 3162 (N.Y. 1982).

Municipality was correct in rejecting demands of disabled firefighter for unused vacation time where such demand is grounded upon collective bargaining agreement and not upon any theory of entitlement under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a, as collective bargaining agreement should not be construed to implicitly expand whatever compensation rights are provided disabled firefighters under statute. Bett v Lackawanna, 132 Misc. 2d 630, 505 N.Y.S.2d 488, 1986 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2749 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1986), aff'd, 132 A.D.2d 951, 518 N.Y.S.2d 367, 1987 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 49409 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1987).

A disabled paid city fireman is entitled to accrue vacation credits, at not less than the minimum prescribed by statute, during his disability, but he is not entitled to additional holiday pay for holidays falling during such period. 1973 Op St Compt No. 73-888.

A city may provide by collective bargaining agreement that only those paid firemen actually performing their regular duties shall be entitled to vacation accruals in excess of the minimum vacation benefits prescribed by statute. 1973 Op St Compt No. 73-888.

Discussion of whether a city fireman accumulates sick leave and vacation leave during the time of a job-related illness or injury which keeps him out of work. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-489.

CLS General Municipal Law § 207-a does not require that firefighter receiving benefits under that section forfeit vacation credits accrued prior to time of disability. 1985 Op St Compt No. 85-54, 1985 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 89.

19. Workers' compensation

Firefighters are entitled to benefits pursuant to CLS Gen Mun § 207-a based on determinations made in workers' compensation proceedings. Fedorczak v Dolce, 202 A.D.2d 668, 609 N.Y.S.2d 292, 1994 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2899 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1994).

Ruling of Workers' Compensation Board in favor of firefighter precluded city from denying benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a(1) on ground that firefighter was not injured as result of his performance of duties. Delahunt v City of Oswego, 222 A.D.2d 1078, 636 N.Y.S.2d 238, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 14154 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1995), app. denied, 88 N.Y.2d 801, 644 N.Y.S.2d 688, 667 N.E.2d 338, 1996 N.Y. LEXIS 1048 (N.Y. 1996).

20. —Eligibility to receive

New York State Public Employment Relations Board did not act irrationally in finding that the union's proposed procedure for arbitral review of N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 207-a eligibility determinations was not mandatorily negotiable; the proposal, calling for an arbitrator to resolve a firefighter's § 207-a claim, could have been interpreted as a redetermination of the City of Poughkeepsie's initial determination, which was not mandatorily negotiable. Matter of Poughkeepsie Professional Firefighters' Assn., Local 596, IAFF, AFL-CIO-CLC v New York State Pub. Empl. Relations Bd., 6 N.Y.3d 514, 814 N.Y.S.2d 572, 847 N.E.2d 1146, 2006 N.Y. LEXIS 569 (N.Y. 2006).

Ruling of Workers' Compensation Board in favor of firefighter was not basis for determining that firefighter was entitled to benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a(2) as it did not necessarily determine that he was permanently disabled as result of his performance of duties. Delahunt v City of Oswego, 222 A.D.2d 1078, 636 N.Y.S.2d 238, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 14154 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1995), app. denied, 88 N.Y.2d 801, 644 N.Y.S.2d 688, 667 N.E.2d 338, 1996 N.Y. LEXIS 1048 (N.Y. 1996).

Firefighter could not bring Article 78 proceeding to compel city to pay him wage supplement and all benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a(2) where he initially followed collectively-bargained procedures for determining entitlement to such benefits, but those procedures were never followed through to determination. D'Onofrio v City of Mount Vernon, 226 A.D.2d 719, 641 N.Y.S.2d 870, 1996 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4569 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1996).

Paid city firemen (other than in New York City) entitled to benefits of workmen's compensation in addition to benefits pursuant to section 207-a of the General Municipal Law. 1947 Op St Compt 210.

21. —Reimbursement of municipality

Where pursuant to section 207-a of the General Municipal Law, a city paid the full wages of an injured fireman during the entire period of his disability and in addition thereto the fireman collected compensation, the city was entitled to reimbursement under section 25 of the Workmen's Compensation Law for "payments to an employee in like manner as wages" even though such payments were made under compulsion of the General Municipal Law. Birmingham v Niagara Falls, 282 A.D. 970, 125 N.Y.S.2d 692, 1953 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5597 (N.Y. App. Div. 1953).

Village, which was paying benefits to retired firemen pursuant to CLS Gen Mun § 207-a, was not entitled to reimbursement out of firemen's unpaid installments of workers' compensation benefits since (1) CLS Work Comp §§ 25 and 30 provide only for reimbursement of "wages," (2) CLS Gen Mun § 207-a does not characterize benefit payments as "wages," and (3) firemen were not rendering services to village at time they received payments, but were in fact retired. Harzinski v Endicott, 126 A.D.2d 56, 512 N.Y.S.2d 525, 1987 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 41030 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1987).

Medical and hospital care furnished firemen and policemen pursuant to this section and § 207-c are to be credited against any award of workmen compensation benefits to them. 1964 Op St Compt No. 64-532.

Where the City of Middletown pays a disabled fireman his full salary pursuant to General Municipal Law, § 207-a, it must contribute to the fireman's retirement system on the basis of his full salary without regard to the reimbursement it received from Workers' Compensation payments. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-97.

22. —Illustrative cases

Court should have dismissed petition to compel city to pay firefighter difference between his disability retirement benefits and his regular salary or wages retroactive to his date of retirement since city's denial of firefighter's demand was not final determination, in that no definite position was ever expressed as to firefighter's eligibility for benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a(2), and any harm could have been ameliorated or prevented by further administrative action that firefighter could have requested. Putnam v City of Watertown, 213 A.D.2d 974, 625 N.Y.S.2d 384, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3753 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1995).

In Article 78 proceeding by petitioner who was diagnosed as suffering from unstable angina, never returned to his job as firefighter, and was initially paid benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a by city on assumption that injury was work-related, court properly annulled city's decision to terminate § 207-a benefits without giving petitioner opportunity to be heard after Workers' Compensation Board had notified city that right to compensation was being controverted on issue of whether injury was work-related; workers' compensation board eventually awarded benefits, and petitioner's treating cardiologist and 2 physicians, who conducted 3 independent medical examinations of petitioner at board's request, found disability to be work-related. McDonough v City of Oneonta, 237 A.D.2d 692, 654 N.Y.S.2d 213, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2229 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't), app. denied, 90 N.Y.2d 803, 660 N.Y.S.2d 869, 683 N.E.2d 775, 1997 N.Y. LEXIS 2216 (N.Y. 1997).

Workers' Compensation Board's finding that firefighter's injury was causally related to his employment did not automatically make firefighter eligible for future CLS Gen Mun § 207-a benefits. Lewis v City of Gloversville, 246 A.D.2d 804, 667 N.Y.S.2d 796, 1998 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 298 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1998).

Determination of Workers' Compensation Law Judge (WCLJ), finding that petitioner's myocardial infarction was causally related to his employment as firefighter, was not entitled to preclusive effect as to respondents, city mayor and commissioner of public safety, where such determination was not "final" because respondents had sought timely review under CLS Work Comp § 23; moreover, underlying determination was clearly nonfinal inasmuch as full Board had rescinded Board panel's decision, which reversed findings of WCLJ, and referred matter for further consideration. Furch v Bucci, 254 A.D.2d 642, 679 N.Y.S.2d 186, 1998 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11477 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1998), app. denied, app. dismissed, 93 N.Y.2d 833, 687 N.Y.S.2d 623, 710 N.E.2d 269, 1999 N.Y. LEXIS 138 (N.Y. 1999).

The right of a fireman injured in the performance of his duties while employed by a city of less than one million who received his regular salary from the time of such injuries was not abrogated by any statute nor was it affected by the city's request that he retire under § 65 of the Civil Service Law where the injured employee protested against such retirement, nor was such right abrogated by the fact that he had accepted Workmen's Compensation. Birmingham v Mirrington, 123 N.Y.S.2d 72, 204 Misc. 821, 1953 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1918 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1953), modified, 284 A.D. 721, 134 N.Y.S.2d 456, 1954 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3480 (N.Y. App. Div. 1954).

A letter written to Commissioner of Public Safety by surgeon of fire bureau of city of Rochester, who had examined injured fireman, which stated that in the opinion of the doctor, the fireman would never be able to return to duty as a fireman, was not a "certificate," as required by Ch. 767, 1948 Acts amending charter for Rochester. Adam v Farbo, 16 Misc. 2d 614, 184 N.Y.S.2d 772, 1959 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3929 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1959).

23. Accidental disability retirement allowance

In a proceeding by retired city firemen seeking to compel a city to restore them to the payroll and to reinstate their disability benefits, the trial court correctly dismissed the fireman's application for relief where it was clear that the firemen voluntarily elected to take the early retirement advantages of Retire & S S Law § 384(h) and where it was also proved clear that the firemen had the opportunity to withdraw that election when Gen Mun Law § 207-a was amended, despite the firemen's contention that their election was not voluntary since they were not afforded an opportunity to withdraw the election when the courts ultimately declared the amendment to be constitutional, after they had reached or passed the age of 62. Conomikes v Binghamton, 81 A.D.2d 992, 440 N.Y.S.2d 71, 1981 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11736 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1981).

Appellate Division would reverse judgment which granted Article 78 petition and directed city to pay petitioner wage supplement benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a(2), where petitioner did not exhaust his administrative remedies before instituting proceeding. Hoffman v City of Yonkers, 231 A.D.2d 520, 647 N.Y.S.2d 263, 1996 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8813 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1996).

Fact that petitioner was awarded accident disability retirement under CLS Retire & S S § 363 did not automatically entitle him to disability differential payments under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a(2). Hoffman v City of Yonkers, 231 A.D.2d 520, 647 N.Y.S.2d 263, 1996 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8813 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1996).

Firefighter's eligibility for wage supplemental benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a(2) from municipality or fire district does not arise until firefighter "is granted an accidental disability retirement allowance" under Retirement and Social Security Law. Brzostek v City of Syracuse, 238 A.D.2d 947, 661 N.Y.S.2d 142, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 14158 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1997), app. denied, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7995 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't July 3, 1997), app. dismissed, 92 N.Y.2d 1026, 684 N.Y.S.2d 490, 707 N.E.2d 445, 1998 N.Y. LEXIS 4303 (N.Y. 1998).

February 1996 decision denying petitioner's request for CLS Gen Mun § 207-a(2) benefits was not "redetermination" of December 1994 decision regarding petitioner's request for CLS Gen Mun § 207-a(1) benefits; those subdivisions, although similar, require separate substantive determinations. Brzostek v City of Syracuse, 238 A.D.2d 947, 661 N.Y.S.2d 142, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 14158 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1997), app. denied, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7995 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't July 3, 1997), app. dismissed, 92 N.Y.2d 1026, 684 N.Y.S.2d 490, 707 N.E.2d 445, 1998 N.Y. LEXIS 4303 (N.Y. 1998).

In Article 78 proceeding by city firefighter to compel restoration of his disability retirement benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a, matter was ripe for appellate review because hearing officer's decision upholding administrative termination of benefits was final and binding, and termination inflicted concrete injury on firefighter, even though he remained on city's payroll, where his accumulated leave time was being exhausted in interim. Giorgio v Bucci, 246 A.D.2d 711, 667 N.Y.S.2d 484, 1998 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 97 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't), app. denied, 91 N.Y.2d 814, 676 N.Y.S.2d 127, 698 N.E.2d 956, 1998 N.Y. LEXIS 1391 (N.Y. 1998).

Although city firefighter had right to administrative appeal from administrative termination of his disability retirement benefits, he was entitled to seek judicial review without exhausting his administrative remedies where he challenged administrative action as unconstitutional. Giorgio v Bucci, 246 A.D.2d 711, 667 N.Y.S.2d 484, 1998 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 97 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't), app. denied, 91 N.Y.2d 814, 676 N.Y.S.2d 127, 698 N.E.2d 956, 1998 N.Y. LEXIS 1391 (N.Y. 1998).

City firefighter was denied his right to full evidentiary hearing before termination of his disability retirement benefits, in violation of due process of law, where he was not allowed to confront and cross-examine witnesses or offer evidence in his own behalf. Giorgio v Bucci, 246 A.D.2d 711, 667 N.Y.S.2d 484, 1998 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 97 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't), app. denied, 91 N.Y.2d 814, 676 N.Y.S.2d 127, 698 N.E.2d 956, 1998 N.Y. LEXIS 1391 (N.Y. 1998).

Where, after returning to work after an injury, a firefighter was receiving his regular wages for a full duty assignment that he was capable of performing within the fire department when he applied for and received accidental disability retirement benefits, a city was not required to provide supplemental benefits pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 207-a(2). Henry v City of Cortland, 19 A.D.3d 988, 797 N.Y.S.2d 649, 2005 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7221 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2005).

Since the trial court erred in determining that the arbitrator's decision concerning N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 207-a(1) benefits was binding with respect to the deputy fire chief's application for N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 207-a(2) benefits as different issues were involved, it erred in dismissing the petition on that ground. Matter of Viscomi v Village of Herkimer, 23 A.D.3d 1049, 803 N.Y.S.2d 873, 2005 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12695 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2005).

Section 207-a of the General Municipal Law, which, in its amended form, effective June 1, 1978, allows a permanently disabled fireman whose injuries were the result of performance of his duties to obtain the difference between his retirement benefits and his full salary from the employing municipality, may not be applied retroactively to include firemen who retired prior to the effective date of the amendment, since a statute granting a new remedy should not be given retroactive effect unless express words or necessary implication require such an interpretation, and the remedial intent of section 207-a is to relieve a financial burden on municipalities which were, prior to amendment, required to pay disabled firemen their full salaries, and if section 207-a were given retroactive effect, the result would be an increased burden upon them, which is not the intent of the statute. Luisi v Department of Fire, 101 Misc. 2d 529, 421 N.Y.S.2d 338, 1979 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2717 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1979).

24. —Municipal liability

Where city agreed that if fireman would retire and apply for state retirement benefits, the city would pay him the difference between his regular pay and the amount received from retirement, and the city could not legally make such payments, the agreement was made under mistake of law and the court directed petitioner's restoration to the city payroll. Robida v Mirrington, 1 Misc. 2d 968, 149 N.Y.S.2d 152, 1956 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2110 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1956).

Where a paid fireman is injured or becomes sick in performance of duty and subsequently is granted an accidental disability retirement allowance, the municipality by which he was employed continues to remain liable for expenses incurred for medical treatment and hospital care. 1963 Op St Compt No. 63-49.

An employer is required to pay to a permanently disabled fireman receiving an accidental disability retirement allowance the difference between the amount of such allowance and the amount of such fireman's regular salary. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-842, 1978 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 75.

Where a city fireman is injured in the performance of his duties prior to Jan. 1, 1978, even if eligibility determination as to disability retirement benefits is made after Jan. 1, 1978, the city is obligated to pay such fireman the difference between his disability allowance and regular salary for so long as his disability continues, even for the duration of his life. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-36.

Under this section, a city must pay a permanently disabled fireman who has been granted an accidental disability retirement allowance the difference between his regular salary and the amount of his disability retirement allowance prior to the exercise of any retirement options. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-771.

25. —Salary increase for firefighters receiving allowance

A fireman disabled during the course of duty who was granted an accidental disability retirement allowance was entitled to receive the difference between his accidental disability allowance and his regular salary, including increases in annual salary, since the phrase "regular salary or wages" contained in General Municipal Law § 207-a(2) as amended encompassed salary increases paid to active firemen including such increases negotiated after the award of the disability allowance. Mashnouk v Miles, 55 N.Y.2d 80, 447 N.Y.S.2d 889, 432 N.E.2d 761, 1982 N.Y. LEXIS 3070 (N.Y. 1982).

In two actions brought by disabled retired firemen seeking declarations determining the amounts of their disability retirement benefits, the firemen's benefits would be entitled to be computed using the "zero option" retirement allowance (the difference between the firemen's salaries at the time of their retirement and the amounts they received under a "zero option" benefit plan, in which the electing retiree choses to receive a maximum amount during his life and no death benefits) inasmuch as the amount received in Gen Mun Law § 207-a included the package of benefits received by the firemen upon retirement. Harzinski v Endicott, 57 N.Y.2d 614, 454 N.Y.S.2d 54, 439 N.E.2d 863, 1982 N.Y. LEXIS 3580 (N.Y. 1982).

N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 207-a(1) guarantees a firefighter pensioner the full amount of regular salary or wages; if a firefighter is granted an accidental disability retirement allowance, pursuant to N.Y. Retire. & Soc. Sec. Law §§ 363, 363-c, or a similar accidental disability pension, however, the municipal employer is liable only for the difference between the amounts received under such allowance or pension and the amount of his or her regular salary or wages. Farber v City of Utica, 97 N.Y.2d 476, 743 N.Y.S.2d 42, 769 N.E.2d 799, 2002 N.Y. LEXIS 490 (N.Y.), cert. denied, 537 U.S. 823, 123 S. Ct. 109, 154 L. Ed. 2d 33, 2002 U.S. LEXIS 6032 (U.S. 2002).

City had rational basis to deny city firefighter supplementary wage benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a(2), on ground that his alleged disability was not caused by "on-line" injury, where he continued to work for approximately 20 years after he first complained of back pain following 1969 on-line injury, and there was no evidence that he missed work or underwent any medical treatment due to his second on-line injury in 1987, prior to his voluntary retirement in 1989. Collins v City of Yonkers, 207 A.D.2d 830, 616 N.Y.S.2d 630, 1994 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8859 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1994).

Because retired firefighters who were receiving benefits pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 207-a(2) were entitled to the benefit of longevity increases provided by contract to active firefighters, the trial court erred in granting summary judgment to the city. Matter of Whitted v City of Newburgh, 65 A.D.3d 1365, 886 N.Y.S.2d 207, 2009 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6677 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2009).

A permanently disabled fireman who is granted an accidental disability retirement allowance and is also receiving the difference between such allowance and his regular salary or wages pursuant to section 207-a(2) of the General Municipal Law is also entitled to salary increases received by the fire department. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-924.

A permanently disabled fireman who has been granted an accidental disability retirement allowance is not entitled to negotiated salary increases which are granted after this retirement. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-771.

It would seem that a permanently disabled fireman who is receiving an accidental disability retirement allowance and who is also receiving the difference between such allowance and his regular salary pursuant to the provisions of this section is not entitled to salary increases received by the fire department after the effective date of his retirement. Opn No. 80-133 superseded. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-133-a.

A fireman who has applied for and been granted an accidental disability retirement is not entitled to continue to receive fringe benefits or negotiated salary increases granted to active members of the fire department after the date of his retirement. 1981 Op St Compt No. 81-12, 1981 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 882.

A permanently disabled fireman receiving a disability retirement allowance and the difference between such allowance and his regular salary or wages pursuant to General Municipal Law, § 207-a(2) is entitled to salary increases granted to other firemen after the date of his disability retirement and, where such salary increase is granted in terms of a percentage, that percentage should be applied to the salary for the position from which the fireman has retired. 1982 Op St Compt No. 82-96, 1982 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 627.

A permanently disabled fireman who is receiving an accidental disability retirement allowance and who is also receiving the difference between such allowance and his regular salary pursuant to the provisions of this section is entitled to salary increases received by the fire department until such time as he reaches mandatory retirement age unless he himself voluntarily applied for accidental disability retirement. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-133.

An Article 78 proceeding by a former fireman, who suffered a heart attack during a tour of duty, seeking payment of one-quarter of his salary in addition to accidental disability retirement benefits of three-quarters of his salary would be set down for a hearing to determine whether city officials formally or informally determined that the fireman was eligible for full salary benefits under former Gen Mun Law § 207-a when the fireman retired in 1976 but nevertheless wrongfully forced his retirement in order to avoid the financial burden of paying his full salary and, if so, whether payments to the fireman of said one-quarter difference that were made after a complete reconsideration of whether he had been wrongfully forced to retire in 1979 would revive the statute of limitations to apply to the instant proceeding, which was commenced within four months of the termination of those one-quarter salary payments by the city. King v Newburgh, 84 A.D.2d 388, 446 N.Y.S.2d 329, 1982 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 14934 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1982).

A city properly deducted a state-mandated cost of living adjustment (COLA) from the supplemental income benefits paid to a firefighter by the city; since the payment of the adjustment by the city was dependent upon the right to receive a disability retirement allowance, the COLA adjustment was generated through that income stream, and with N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 207-a permitting the city to supplement only the difference between the amounts received under such allowance or pension and the amount of the firefighters' regular salary or wages, N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 207-a(2), the deduction of the COLA adjustment was proper. Wise v Jennings, 290 A.D.2d 702, 736 N.Y.S.2d 171, 2002 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 80 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't), app. denied, 97 N.Y.2d 612, 742 N.Y.S.2d 604, 769 N.E.2d 351, 2002 N.Y. LEXIS 468 (N.Y. 2002).

When a firefighters' union proposed, during contract negotiations, a procedure for reviewing a firefighter's entitlement to disability benefits which would submit the issue to binding arbitration by an arbitrator who (1) decided the nature of the claim, (2) decided who had the burden of proof on the nature of the claim, (3) took evidence with respect to the claim, and (4) made a determination as to whether the employee was entitled to benefits, this invaded a municipality's prerogative to initially make this determination, which was not subject to collective bargaining, as it did not merely seek review of the municipality's initial determination but sought a redetermination which, in effect, made the municipality's right to make the initial determination illusory, as it replaced the determination, rather than reviewing it. Poughkeepsie Prof'l Firefighters' Ass'n, Local 596 v N.Y. State Pub. Empl. Rels. Bd., 16 A.D.3d 797, 792 N.Y.S.2d 637, 2005 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2393 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2005).

Where a city fireman was injured in the line of duty prior to January 1, 1978 and such fireman applies for and receives an accidental disability retirement after January 1, 1978, the city is obligated to pay such fireman the difference between his disability retirement allowance and his regular salary for the remainder of the fireman's life. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-828.

27. Light duty assignments

Although administrative hearing might ultimately be required before CLS Gen Mun § 207-a payments are terminated, disabled firefighters are not entitled to hearing before issuance of order to report for light duty following medical determination of capability, unless they bring that determination into issue by submission of report by personal physician expressing contrary opinion. Uniform Firefighters, Local 2562 v City of Cohoes, 94 N.Y.2d 686, 709 N.Y.S.2d 481, 731 N.E.2d 137, 2000 N.Y. LEXIS 901 (N.Y. 2000).

City was not compelled to submit disputed orders directing disabled firefighters to report for light duty assignments to arbitration on union's demand, where parties' collective bargaining agreement was entirely silent as to whether contractual rights accorded regular duty firefighters applied to disabled firefighters on CLS Gen Mun § 207-a status. Uniform Firefighters, Local 2562 v City of Cohoes, 94 N.Y.2d 686, 709 N.Y.S.2d 481, 731 N.E.2d 137, 2000 N.Y. LEXIS 901 (N.Y. 2000).

In an action in which a fireman who was receiving disability benefits under Gen Mun Law § 207-a from the municipality by which he had been employed sought to hold the municipality, which had terminated his benefits upon his refusal to perform light work which the municipality had offered him pursuant to Gen Mun Law § 207-a(3), in contempt of a prior court judgment ordering the municipality to continue to mail him his benefit checks, the trial court properly rendered judgment in favor of the municipality since Gen Mun Law § 207-a(3), which had been enacted subsequent to the prior court judgment, was retroactive. Thayer v Plattsburgh, 80 A.D.2d 938, 437 N.Y.S.2d 765, 1981 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10837 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't), app. denied, in part, app. dismissed, 53 N.Y.2d 608, 1981 N.Y. LEXIS 3547 (N.Y. 1981), app. dismissed, 53 N.Y.2d 1011, 442 N.Y.S.2d 495, 425 N.E.2d 883, 1981 N.Y. LEXIS 2544 (N.Y. 1981).

In a workers' compensation case, village firemen were properly determined not to have voluntarily withdrawn from the labor market by failing to return to work after receiving letters directing them to return for light duty, where the village attorney withdrew the offer of employment for light duty on being advised by the firemen's attorney that a temporary order restraining the village from directing the firemen to report for work would be sought in view of the firemen's pending action to declare the "light duty" provision of Gen Mun Law § 207-a to be unconstitutional. Pezzuti v Endicott, 91 A.D.2d 787, 458 N.Y.S.2d 76, 1982 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 19682 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1982).

Village was not entitled to hearing to determine firefighter's ability to perform light duty after Comptroller had determined that he was physically incapacitated for performance of duty, and had granted him benefits for accidental disability retirement and retirement for disability incurred in performance of duty. Crocker v Endicott, 184 A.D.2d 820, 584 N.Y.S.2d 675, 1992 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7656 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1992).

Due process did not require that disabled firefighters receiving statutory benefits for line-of-duty injuries under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a be given hearing before issuance of orders to return to work; however, once firefighters provided medical documentation contesting their physical capability to return to work, enforcement of return to work orders was effectively postponed, and their § 207-a benefits could not be withheld or terminated pending hearings. Uniform Firefighters of Cohoes, Local 2562 v City of Cohoes, 258 A.D.2d 24, 692 N.Y.S.2d 750, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6537 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1999), aff'd, 94 N.Y.2d 686, 709 N.Y.S.2d 481, 731 N.E.2d 137, 2000 N.Y. LEXIS 901 (N.Y. 2000).

Administrative determination which ordered disabled firefighter receiving benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a to return to light-duty work after obtaining fitness opinion from city's health authority was within city's managerial discretion and not subject to mandatory bargaining or arbitration under Taylor Law, and thus court properly granted city's application to stay arbitration of resulting dispute where arbitration was not mandated by parties' collective bargaining agreement. Uniform Firefighters of Cohoes, Local 2562 v City of Cohoes, 258 A.D.2d 24, 692 N.Y.S.2d 750, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6537 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1999), aff'd, 94 N.Y.2d 686, 709 N.Y.S.2d 481, 731 N.E.2d 137, 2000 N.Y. LEXIS 901 (N.Y. 2000).

Although a prior litigation precluded a city from discharging a firefighter for the firefighter's failure to report for light duty work, res judicata or collateral estoppel did not preclude the city from later evaluating the firefighter's medical condition under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 207-a(1), (3), since the firefighter was required to undergo periodic medical evaluations; accordingly, the firefighter was not entitled to N.Y. C.P.L.R. art. 78 relief. Matter of Bett v City of Lackawanna, 53 A.D.3d 1097, 862 N.Y.S.2d 682, 2008 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5880 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2008).

As a general rule, amendatory statutes are presumed to operate prospectively and not retroactively unless the language of the statute indicates a legislative intent to the contrary; accordingly, plaintiffs, who are partially disabled and thereby incapable of performing active firefighting duties, are entitled to continue receiving disability benefits (General Municipal Law, § 207-a) and may not be forced to perform light duty as a condition to receiving benefits, as their rights became vested as of the dates of their respective injuries and as such remain unaffected by a later amendment (L 1977, ch 965) which permits the termination of benefits for refusing to perform light duty while only partially disabled. Ring v Langdon, 94 Misc. 2d 415, 404 N.Y.S.2d 835, 1978 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2260 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1978), rev'd, 69 A.D.2d 998, 416 N.Y.S.2d 137, 1979 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11776 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1979).

A complaint would be upheld in which a municipality sought to recover those wages and disability benefits which had been paid to a disabled fireman during the period subsequent to his refusal to obey an order to report for light duty, notwithstanding the fact that such refusal had been based upon a constitutional challenge to Gen Mun Law § 207-a, and notwithstanding the fact that the fireman had initially succeeded in obtaining a preliminary injunction against his removal from the payroll, where the granting of the preliminary injunction had subsequently been reversed on appeal and the constitutionality of the challenged statute upheld. Johnson City v Glanville, 108 Misc. 2d 531, 437 N.Y.S.2d 499, 1981 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2234 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1981).

Denial of CLS Retire & S S § 363 benefits to disabled firefighter who is receiving benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a does not automatically entitle municipality to order firefighter to light duty, as standards required by CLS Retire & S S Law § 363 and Gen Mun Law § 207-a for proof of service related injuries are not alike, and firefighter can be ordered to light duty only if he is medically able to work such light duty. Bett v Lackawanna, 132 Misc. 2d 630, 505 N.Y.S.2d 488, 1986 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2749 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1986), aff'd, 132 A.D.2d 951, 518 N.Y.S.2d 367, 1987 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 49409 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1987).

Firefighters who were out of work for extended periods while receiving their salaries under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a were not entitled to hearing prior to city's issuance of orders to return to light duty, where city complied with § 207-a(3) by obtaining medical opinion of fitness. Uniform Firefighters, Local 2562 v City of Cohoes, 175 Misc. 2d 726, 669 N.Y.S.2d 492, 1998 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 33 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1998).

"Nonworking firefighters" who were out of work for extended periods while receiving their salaries under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a, and then were ordered to return to light duty work, had no due process right to have their return dates automatically adjourned until after administrative hearing and determination of their objections to light-duty work, as (1) they had exercised their right to refuse to return to work pending administrative determination, and thus were not actually forced to perform work, (2) employer continued to pay them their salaries, only charging their absence against their available leave credits, and (3) if their claims of complete incapacity had merit, their leave credits would be restored to them. Uniform Firefighters, Local 2562 v City of Cohoes, 175 Misc. 2d 726, 669 N.Y.S.2d 492, 1998 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 33 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1998).

Firefighters who were out of work for extended periods while receiving their salaries under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a, and subsequently filed labor grievance challenging employment terms stated in employer's order to return to light-duty work under § 207-a(3), were not entitled to preliminary injunction staying enforcement of return-to-work order pending arbitration decision on their labor grievance because they failed to establish likelihood of success on merits of their grievance or their objections to light-duty work where, inter alia, their labor grievance contradicted their claim that they were too disabled to perform any work by claiming that they, like their able-bodied colleagues, were entitled (and presumably fit enough) to work for 24 hours straight rather than mere 8-hour shifts; § 207-a(3) does not give employees on light duty any right to increase or select their hours of employment. Uniform Firefighters, Local 2562 v City of Cohoes, 175 Misc. 2d 726, 669 N.Y.S.2d 492, 1998 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 33 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1998).

Provision of CLS Gen Mun § 207-a(3) for returning employees to "light duty" work was outside terms of collective bargaining agreement between city and its firefighters, as matter of strong public policy and decisional law, and thus city was entitled to permanent stay of arbitration of contract grievance filed by members of firefighters' union. City of Cohoes v Uniform Firefighters, Local 2562, 177 Misc. 2d 242, 675 N.Y.S.2d 781, 1998 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 244 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1998), aff'd, 258 A.D.2d 24, 692 N.Y.S.2d 750, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6537 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1999).

Under this section a city with a population of less than one million must pay a fireman his full salary during his period of disablement from injuries or illness incurred while in the performance of his duties necessitating medical or other lawful treatment. There is no authority permitting the city to assign him to duties outside the fire department during such period. 1966 NY Ops Atty Gen Dec 2 (Informal), 1966 N.Y. AG LEXIS 142.

Where a fireman is injured and thereafter seeks to return to work, but is declared to have a ten per cent disability by the city medical examiner, as a result of which the city will not accept him for full duty, the city may not require the fireman to accept limited duty (thereby limiting his advancement opportunities within the department) and the fireman does not lose the statutory benefits by refusing to perform such limited duties. 1968 Op St Compt No. 68-432.

An applicant for an accident disability pension was entitled to have his case presented and determined by an unprejudiced and impartial board of trustees, and those motivated by bias or duress would be disqualified; therefore, the remaining members would have the power to decide the issue. O'Hagan v Board of Trustees, 81 A.D.2d 818, 439 N.Y.S.2d 374, 1981 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11473 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep't), aff'd, 55 N.Y.2d 784, 447 N.Y.S.2d 249, 431 N.E.2d 974, 1981 N.Y. LEXIS 3305 (N.Y. 1981).

Firefighter was not denied due process at administrative hearing to determine his eligibility for supplemental wage benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a where he was given meaningful opportunity to present evidence and cross-examine opposing witnesses, and there was no indication that hearing officer, who was city's Director of Personnel and Safety, was biased or that he considered evidence outside record. Furch v Bucci, 245 A.D.2d 749, 666 N.Y.S.2d 300, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12950 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1997), app. dismissed, 91 N.Y.2d 953, 671 N.Y.S.2d 711, 694 N.E.2d 880, 1998 N.Y. LEXIS 998 (N.Y. 1998).

Firefighter waived doctor-patient privilege by filing application for supplemental wage benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a and contending that his diagnosed arteriosclerosis and myocardial infarction were job related, and thus hearing officer properly allowed testimony by firefighter's treating physicians despite their alleged violation of doctor-patient privilege. Furch v Bucci, 245 A.D.2d 749, 666 N.Y.S.2d 300, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12950 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1997), app. dismissed, 91 N.Y.2d 953, 671 N.Y.S.2d 711, 694 N.E.2d 880, 1998 N.Y. LEXIS 998 (N.Y. 1998).

Substantial evidence supported hearing officer's finding that firefighter's arteriosclerosis was not causally related to performance of his duties as firefighter, for purposes of his eligibility for supplemental wage benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a, where, even accepting that testimony by firefighter's expert was sufficient to support claim that firefighter's arteriosclerosis was caused by job-related stress, there was conflicting medical proof on that issue, and it was exclusive province of hearing officer to evaluate such evidence. Furch v Bucci, 245 A.D.2d 749, 666 N.Y.S.2d 300, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12950 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1997), app. dismissed, 91 N.Y.2d 953, 671 N.Y.S.2d 711, 694 N.E.2d 880, 1998 N.Y. LEXIS 998 (N.Y. 1998).

29. Termination of benefits

Section of Civil Service Law was intended to implement agreement between city and its firefighters to permit layoffs on basis of service in grade or title rather than on basis of total seniority with employer and was not intended to abrogate or diminish effect of disability benefits provisions of section of General Municipal Law, and thus rights of disabled lieutenant in fire department to disability benefits vested at time of his disability and he could not be divested of those rights by city's abolition of several lieutenants' positions for economy reasons. Pease v Colucci, 59 A.D.2d 233, 399 N.Y.S.2d 519, 1977 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13550 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1977).

It was improper to terminate firefighter's disability benefits on ground that he was engaged in "employment" within meaning of CLS Gen Mun § 207-a(6), even though he was both shareholder and officer of corporation that he and partner had formed, and despite fact that he owned real estate that was leased to corporation, since there was no evidence that he was actively working for corporation or improving real estate; as indicated by recent amendment to statute, forfeiture of disability benefits was not intended to apply to those disabled firefighters who earned income through passive involvement with income-producing activities. Penree v City of Utica, 262 A.D.2d 1075, 692 N.Y.S.2d 569, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7336 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1999).

Court would affirm determination terminating firefighter's benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a on basis that firefighter's injury was result of causes unrelated to his duties as firefighter, notwithstanding conflicting evidence as to causal relationship of firefighter's injuries to his duties as firefighter. Giorgio v Bucci, 267 A.D.2d 924, 700 N.Y.S.2d 561, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13592 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1999).

Under Taylor Law, procedures to be used in determining whether to terminate firefighter's CLS Gen Mun § 207-a benefits are subject of mandatory bargaining, and thus city's unilateral implementation of such procedures over union's objection constituted improper practice under CLS Civ S § 209-a(1)(d). City of Syracuse v Public Empl. Rels. Bd., 279 A.D.2d 98, 719 N.Y.S.2d 401, 2000 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13514 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2000), app. denied, 96 N.Y.2d 717, 730 N.Y.S.2d 790, 756 N.E.2d 78, 2001 N.Y. LEXIS 1926 (N.Y. 2001).

District lacked the statutory authority to terminate a firefighter's N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 207-a(2) supplemental benefits from a work-related injury on the basis of alleged improvements in his medical condition because N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 207-a did not contain any language authorizing termination of those benefits on the basis of an improved medical condition; the trial court properly enjoined the district from terminating the firefighter's benefits. Matter of McGowan v Fairview Fire Dist., 51 A.D.3d 796, 858 N.Y.S.2d 278, 2008 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4296 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't), app. denied, 11 N.Y.3d 705, 866 N.Y.S.2d 608, 896 N.E.2d 94, 2008 N.Y. LEXIS 2617 (N.Y. 2008).

Because a city failed to comply with proper procedures in giving notice to a firefighter, its termination of benefits under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 207-a was invalid; accordingly, the firefighter was entitled to N.Y. C.P.L.R. art. 78 relief. Matter of Richards v City of Binghamton, 80 A.D.3d 1022, 915 N.Y.S.2d 396, 2011 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 302 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2011).

Benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a constitute employee benefits that fall within "continued benefit payments" exception of Older Workers Benefit Protection Act (Pub L 101-433, 104 US Stat 978); thus, in Article 78 proceeding by former firefighter who opted for retirement benefits under CLS Retire & S S § 384-d but was rendered permanently disabled prior to retirement, termination of supplemental benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a(2) at age 62 was not shown to violate Age Discrimination in Employment Act (29 USCS § 623). Farrell v Dolce, 170 Misc. 2d 333, 648 N.Y.S.2d 511, 1996 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 372 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1996).

30. —Removal from employment

Member of municipal airport's Crash Fire Rescue (CFR) unit was not officer or member of "fire company" entitled to benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a where airport's CFR unit was not organized by any county, city, town, village or fire district department, it was not "Type B" not-for-profit fire corporation recognized by local entity under CLS N-PCL § 1402, and it was not incorporated under any other law. Robbins v County of Broome, 87 N.Y.2d 831, 637 N.Y.S.2d 679, 661 N.E.2d 151, 1995 N.Y. LEXIS 4430 (N.Y. 1995).

It was error for court to annul respondents' decision to terminate firefighter's CLS Gen Mun § 207-a benefits on ground that respondents should have commenced action in Supreme Court to terminate such benefits; rather, court should have transferred proceeding pursuant to CLS CPLR § 7804(g). Wiley v Hiller, 277 A.D.2d 1024, 716 N.Y.S.2d 226, 2000 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11362 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2000), app. dismissed, 96 N.Y.2d 852, 729 N.Y.S.2d 667, 754 N.E.2d 769, 2001 N.Y. LEXIS 1832 (N.Y. 2001).

Four-month period to challenge a decision to terminate a former fire department dispatcher's disability retirement benefits did not begin to run until the department rejected the dispatcher's demand for a hearing on the decision, so a subsequent mandamus action was timely; after receiving benefits for three years, the dispatcher had a vested property right in continued payments, so payments could not be discontinued without a hearing on the merits. Heck v Keane, 6 A.D.3d 95, 774 N.Y.S.2d 214, 2004 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3116 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2004).

The words, "municipality in which he is employed," refer, not to the time of payment, but to the time when the injuries were received and the benefits provided by this section cannot be nullified by terminating the employment of the injured fireman after the injuries are received. Tyler v Gadwood, 89 N.Y.S.2d 126, 195 Misc. 674, 1949 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2225 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1949), rev'd, 279 A.D. 1138, 112 N.Y.S.2d 890, 1952 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6089 (N.Y. App. Div. 1952).

Mayor's action of removing petitioner, a city fireman who sustained a massive heart attack ten days after fighting a fire in which he inhaled smoke and engaged in strenuous physical exertion, from the payroll of the city fire department solely by virtue of the findings of fact established in a New York state hearing officer's decision on petitioner's application for accidental disability retirement was improper, since the city was required to follow the relevant provisions of the General Municipal Law insofar as it relates to the removal of an employee from the payroll of the city fire department. Kieper v Fitzgibbons, 91 Misc. 2d 1067, 399 N.Y.S.2d 376, 1977 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2482 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1977).

31. —Forced retirement

Inasmuch as chapter 965 of the Laws of 1977 amended section 207-a of the General Municipal Law by providing that a fireman who became disabled because of injury or illness incurred as a result of the performance of his duties is no longer entitled to receive the full amount of his regular salary or wages until his disability has ceased but shall receive instead his regular salary or wages only until he reaches his mandatory retirement age or attains the age or performs the period of service specified by applicable law for the termination of his service, disabled firemen receiving benefits under section 207-a of the General Municipal Law may not be separated from service until they reach the mandatory retirement age of 70, unless they have voluntarily elected additional benefits under section 384 of the Retirement and Social Security Law, since apart from an accidental disability retirement, the only age specified for involuntary retirement occurs at age 70, or at age 62 in the case of those who have voluntarily elected certain additional benefits, and if the additional benefit is not chosen, the member is not subject to separation from service at age 62 and is not subject to mandatory retirement until age 70. Cook v Binghamton, 48 N.Y.2d 323, 422 N.Y.S.2d 919, 398 N.E.2d 525, 1979 N.Y. LEXIS 2402 (N.Y. 1979).

Municipal Home Rule Law § 10 does not authorize a city to prescribe a mandatory retirement age for firemen which infringes on the rights of injured firemen under the above statute. Cook v Binghamton, 24 A.D.2d 122, 264 N.Y.S.2d 466, 1965 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2991 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1965).

Where city fireman was not retired against his will, and his retirement was not prompted by erroneous advice from city official, fireman's retirement was voluntary, and therefore, retired fireman was not entitled to disabled fireman's benefits. Weber v Department of Fire, 54 A.D.2d 164, 388 N.Y.S.2d 397, 1976 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13745 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1976).

The right of a fireman injured in the performance of his duties while employed by a city of less than one million who received his regular salary from the time of such injuries was not abrogated by any statute nor was it affected by the city's request that he retire under § 65 of the Civil Service Law where the injured employee protested against such retirement, nor was such right abrogated by the fact that he had accepted Workmen's Compensation. Birmingham v Mirrington, 123 N.Y.S.2d 72, 204 Misc. 821, 1953 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1918 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1953), modified, 284 A.D. 721, 134 N.Y.S.2d 456, 1954 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3480 (N.Y. App. Div. 1954).

Under a city ordinance authorizing the discharge of any fireman who failed to comply with the rules and regulations of the bureau of fire, the chief engineer of the fire bureau could not discharge a fireman for his refusal to execute medical waivers to be used by the state retirement system in connection with his involuntary retirement following his disablement while in attendance at a fire. Birmingham v Mirrington, 127 N.Y.S.2d 109, 205 Misc. 28, 1953 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2534 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1953), modified, 284 A.D. 721, 134 N.Y.S.2d 456, 1954 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3480 (N.Y. App. Div. 1954).

It is doubted that a city may compel the retirement of a disabled paid city fireman by compelling him to accept a pension from the city's fire and police pension fund. 1954 NY Ops Atty Gen June 29 (Informal), 1954 N.Y. AG LEXIS 309.

A paid fireman of a city other than New York City who is injured and disabled in line of duty must be paid full salary until his disability has ceased or until he voluntarily retires, and he cannot be retired otherwise than voluntarily. 1962 Op St Compt No. 62-399.

32. Waiver of benefits

Firefighter was not entitled to summary judgment against employer (city) in action for breach of contract and improper termination of his full salary following retirement where material issue of fact existed as to whether firefighter's retirement was other than voluntary; if retirement were voluntary, firefighter would not be entitled to benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a. Dempsey v Troy, 146 A.D.2d 931, 537 N.Y.S.2d 329, 1989 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 481 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1989).

A disabled firefighter forfeits his or her entitlement to payments and benefits provided pursuant to General Municipal Law § 207-a upon becoming self-employed, but not upon engaging in uncompensated volunteer work. 1992 Op St Compt No. 92-12, 1992 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 8.

Whether firefighter waives his rights under § 207-a is a question of fact, not for this Department's determination; § 207-a is applied as it existed at time of disability, not as amended retroactively. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-127.

33. —Engaging in other employment

Firefighter injured in motorcycle accident and again later while mowing lawn at fire station forfeited his right to benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a by virtue of his sporadic post-disability outside employment as independent contractor and messenger, despite his claim that § 207-a had to be construed literally and that disabled firefighter could forfeit such benefits only after municipality or fire district had begun payment of benefits; under § 207-a, only those firefighters who are disabled from all employment are entitled to benefits, and forfeiture applies when disability and outside employment occur at same time. Ryan v Brighton Fire Dist., 255 A.D.2d 886, 680 N.Y.S.2d 353, 1998 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12074 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1998), app. denied, 93 N.Y.2d 802, 687 N.Y.S.2d 626, 710 N.E.2d 273, 1999 N.Y. LEXIS 162 (N.Y. 1999).

City's termination of disabled firefighter's CLS Gen Mun § 207-a benefits was not arbitrary, abuse of discretion, or erroneous as matter of law where firefighter owned dry-cleaning business and performed such tasks as cleaning and pressing clothes and waiting on customers, and thus he forfeited his right to benefits by engaging in outside employment while collecting full disability benefits from city. Sawyer v City of Oneonta, 273 A.D.2d 685, 709 N.Y.S.2d 252, 2000 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7235 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2000).

Firefighter's forfeiture of CLS Gen Mun § 207-a benefits by engaging in outside employment while collecting full disability benefits from city was not permanent where he later returned to full-time status without restriction, disposed of his family business, suffered another injury that resulted in award of disability retirement, and did not engage in disqualifying employment during latter disability. Sawyer v City of Oneonta, 273 A.D.2d 685, 709 N.Y.S.2d 252, 2000 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7235 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2000).

Substantial evidence supported termination of firefighter's CLS Gen Mun § 207-a benefits where firefighter stated, in submissions to United States Coast Guard, that he was operating boat "for hire" while receiving benefits. Wiley v Hiller, 277 A.D.2d 1024, 716 N.Y.S.2d 226, 2000 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11362 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2000), app. dismissed, 96 N.Y.2d 852, 729 N.Y.S.2d 667, 754 N.E.2d 769, 2001 N.Y. LEXIS 1832 (N.Y. 2001).

Determination that petitioner was engaged in self-employment as car dealer in violation of CLS Gen Mun § 207-a was supported by evidence, inter alia, that he was registered with Department of Motor Vehicles as car dealer, had sign on his garage advertising same with his business hours, had maintained cars without license plates on his property for purpose of sale, had sold cars subsequent to his receipt of disability benefits, and filed profit and loss statements for such business with his tax returns. Williamson v City of Troy, 284 A.D.2d 649, 726 N.Y.S.2d 178, 2001 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6009 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2001).

A person may jeopardize his right to benefits as a paid city fireman if he also serves as a volunteer member of the city fire department. 1962 Op St Compt No. 62-944.

A disabled retired firefighter receiving payments pursuant to General Municipal Law § 207-a(2) is entitled to longevity salary increments or steps, but not to holiday pay; a firefighter receiving payments pursuant to § 207-a(2) is subject to the employment restrictions in § 207-a(6). 1991 Op St Compt No. 91-25, 1991 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 23.

Subject to any applicable collective bargaining or confidentiality requirements, municipality may monitor compliance with employment restriction in CLS Gen Mun § 207-a(6) by requiring disabled firefighters to certify periodically that they are not engaged in prohibited employment or to file copies of their most recent income tax returns; termination of payments and benefits for engaging in prohibited employment requires adversarial hearing at which municipality has burden of proof. 1994 Op St Compt No. 94-13, 1994 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 11.

A village fireman who was injured in course of duty and has been receiving wages pursuant to this section and working for another employer is still entitled to receive wages unless the municipal health authorities or a physician certifies that he has recovered and is physically able to perform regular duties or he refuses to submit to an examination. 1964 Op St Compt No. 64-30.

34. —Refusal to accept medical treatment

Firefighter's refusal to undergo second surgery did not constitute waiver of his right to benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a in light of his previous unsuccessful surgery and steroid treatments and lack of likelihood of success of proposed surgery. Kauffman v Dolce, 216 A.D.2d 298, 627 N.Y.S.2d 750, 1995 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 5914 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1995).

A forfeiture of statutory benefits to an injured, ill or disabled fireman may be founded upon an unreasonable refusal to submit to surgical treatment. 1967 Op St Compt No. 67-476.

A village fireman who was injured in course of duty and has been receiving wages pursuant to this section and working for another employer is still entitled to receive wages unless the municipal health authorities or a physician certifies that he has recovered and is physically able to perform regular duties or he refuses to submit to an examination. 1964 Op St Compt No. 64-30.

35. —Other acts constituting waiver

Where an injured city fireman first learned of his rights under this section when he consulted an attorney in 1953, delay until 1955 in instituting proceedings in the nature of mandamus to compel reinstatement in employment with full pay precluded him from obtaining such relief. Devens v Gokey, 12 A.D.2d 135, 209 N.Y.S.2d 94, 1961 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13462 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't), aff'd, 10 N.Y.2d 898, 223 N.Y.S.2d 515, 179 N.E.2d 516, 1961 N.Y. LEXIS 931 (N.Y. 1961).

In action by retired fireman seeking difference between his current pension and his full salary until age 62 and difference between his current pension and three-quarter disability pay he would have received from age 62 had his application for accidental disability retirement benefits been accepted, plaintiff has failed to state cause of action in negligence; at time of plaintiff's injury, Retirement and Social Security Law § 363 (former [c]) provided that no application for accidental disability retirement benefits would be approved unless written notice was filed with Comptroller within 30 days of accident; plaintiff failed to file such notice and, despite his claim to contrary, defendant municipality had no obligation to act for him. Moreover, defendant contends that plaintiff voluntarily retired, thereby losing any rights to General Municipal Law § 207-a benefits, and since plaintiff avers that his retirement was other than voluntary, there exists material issue of fact which precludes grant of summary judgment in plaintiff's favor. Dempsey v Troy, 146 A.D.2d 931, 537 N.Y.S.2d 329, 1989 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 481 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1989).

A voluntary application by a fireman, disabled in course of duties, for disability retirement, constitutes a waiver of all rights to benefits under this section. 1963 NY Ops Atty Gen March 15 (Informal), 1963 N.Y. AG LEXIS 102.

36. Insurance

Payment of city fireman's hospital and medical bills by insurer under policy, which was paid for by city on fireman's behalf, were payments "for or on his behalf" within judgment requiring that city, which was ordered to reimburse fireman for medical and hospital costs attributable to his heart condition, be credited with "any and all medical and hospital costs paid to" fireman "or for or on his behalf attributable to his heart condition." Geremski v Department of Fire, 78 Misc. 2d 555, 357 N.Y.S.2d 975, 1974 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1445 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1974), aff'd, 49 A.D.2d 1013, 375 N.Y.S.2d 500, 1975 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11366 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1975).

The town board of a town may insure against the liability imposed by section 207-a of the General Municipal Law arising from injuries to paid town firemen. 1947 Op St Compt 358.

A village may insure against liability imposed by this section. 1953 Op St Compt No. 53-6307.

37. Procedure

Where firemen instituted negligence actions against city, city was permitted to plead as an affirmative defense in mitigation of damages, the amounts paid by city for salary, medical, surgical, hospital and associated expenses arising out of the injury. Szybura v Elmira, 28 A.D.2d 1154, 284 N.Y.S.2d 190, 1967 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3073 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1967).

Supreme Court properly held trial de novo to decide city firefighter's eligibility for benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a since (1) city denied benefits on basis of doctor's report without conducting hearing, (2) statute does not require that municipality be primary arbiter of eligibility, and (3) Supreme Court found there to be triable fact issues as to cause of firefighter's injury. Kirley v Department of Fire, 138 A.D.2d 842, 526 N.Y.S.2d 240, 1988 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2974 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1988).

Former firefighter, who opted for retirement at age 62 under CLS Retire & S S § 384-d but was rendered permanently disabled prior to retirement and eligible for benefits under CLS Retire & S S § 363 and CLS Gen Mun § 207-a(2), was not denied due process of law when respondent commissioner terminated his § 207-a(2) benefits without pretermination hearing when he reached age 62, based solely on interpretation and application of law. Farrell v Dolce, 170 Misc. 2d 333, 648 N.Y.S.2d 511, 1996 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 372 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1996).

38. Illustrative cases

In personal injury action by city firefighter against suppliers of piece of firefighting equipment called "rescue saw," cross claim asserted by city, as third-party defendant, against manufacturer of rescue saw, for reimbursement of medical expenses and salary benefits paid to firefighter under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a, should not have been dismissed on ground that firefighter did not possess viable cause of action against manufacturer since (1) city's cross claim alleged breach of warranties in design, manufacture and sale of saw, (2) as city employee, firefighter was third-party beneficiary of those warranties and possessed cause of action for their breach, and (3) record failed to show when saw was delivered to city, or whether any warranty expressly extended to future performance, and thus manufacturer failed to show that cause of action for breach of warranty, if asserted by firefighter, would have been barred by 4-year statute of limitations. Kurtz v Sanford Fire Apparatus Corp., 147 A.D.2d 952, 537 N.Y.S.2d 407, 1989 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 1415 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1989).

Court should have granted city respondents' motion to dismiss petition on ground that petitioner, city firefighter, failed to exhaust his administrative remedies where he was granted performance of duty disability retirement benefits under CLS Retire & S S § 363-c, he thereafter applied to city for supplemental wage benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a(2), and he commenced instant proceeding before respondents determined his application for § 207-a(2) benefits. Lefford v City of Jamestown, 244 A.D.2d 895, 665 N.Y.S.2d 230, 1997 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12231 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1997).

Article 78 proceeding would be remitted to city respondents for initial determination of petitioner's application for benefits under CLS Gen Mun § 207-a(2) where parties did not create administrative record but submitted set of stipulated facts to Supreme Court, which reviewed matter de novo, and thus there was no administrative decision on merits in first instance. Brzostek v City of Syracuse, 266 A.D.2d 836, 697 N.Y.S.2d 423, 1999 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11776 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1999).

Decision by the board of commissioners of a fire district denying petitioner's application for benefits was supported by substantial evidence. The board was entitled to make a finding contrary to the hearing officer's recommendation and was free to credit the fire district's expert over petitioner's expert. Matter of Delgrande v Greenville Fire Dist., 132 A.D.3d 987, 18 N.Y.S.3d 178, 2015 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7903 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2015), app. denied, 26 N.Y.3d 918, 47 N.E.3d 93, 26 N.Y.S.3d 763, 2016 N.Y. LEXIS 158 (N.Y. 2016).

Petitioner's renewal motion was timely, because a final judgment had not been entered and the petitioner had made the instant motion to renew prior to the entry of a final judgment, and the Diegelman decision reflected a change in the law that would permit the petitioner, who was receiving disability benefits pursuant to this provision, to commence an action against his employer. Lockwood v City of Yonkers, 57 Misc. 3d 728, 60 N.Y.S.3d 798, 2017 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3369 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 2017), rev'd, 179 A.D.3d 688, 116 N.Y.S.3d 383, 2020 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 123 (N.Y. § 207-g. Ordinary death benefits of members of police retirement systems

1. As used in this section:

(a) "Member" means a contributor to the pension system of any city maintaining a police pension fund based upon the accumulation of deductions from the compensation or the contributions of the members thereof and payments made by such city to pension reserves for such members, and such pension system provides for optional retirement allowances.

(b) "Accumulated deductions" shall mean the sum of all the amounts, deducted from the compensation of a member of such pension system or contributed by him, standing to his credit therein; together with the interest thereon, if any, as provided by the law, charter or administrative code governing such system.

(c) "Pension" shall mean payments for life derived from appropriations for and payments into such pension system by such city.

(d) "Minimum period of service" shall mean a fixed number of years of service specified in a plan or option provided by such police pension system and elected by such member, as a necessary pre-requisite for a pension or retirement allowance upon retirement from service.

(e) "Minimum age" means the age specified in a plan or option provided by such police pension system and elected by such member, as a necessary pre-requisite for a pension or retirement allowance upon retirement from service.

2. Notwithstanding the provisions of any general, special or local law, charter or administrative code, and in lieu of any lesser amount therein prescribed, upon the death of a member, prior to the first payment of a retirement benefit, who has attained the minimum age or completed the minimum period of service, as elected by him for retirement, and whether or not such member shall have filed application for retirement, there shall be paid to his estate, or to such person as he has nominated or shall nominate by written designation duly executed and filed in accordance with the requirements of such respective police pension systems:

(a) His accumulated deductions; and in addition thereto,

(b) The amount of the reserve equal to the present value of the pension he would have received, under the provisions of the law, charter or administrative code governing such police pension system, if he had retired and become entitled to a pension on the day immediately preceding the day of his death.

The beneficiary of such deceased member shall have the right to accept such benefits in lump sums or in such periodic payments, on an annuity basis, as such beneficiary shall elect.

3. Nothing contained in the foregoing provisions of this section shall be held or deemed to affect or to lessen any benefits greater than those set forth in the foregoing paragraph two which are or shall be provided for by any such police pension system in respect of a member or members thereof dying in the course of or as the result of the performance of his duties.

4. The provisions of this section shall not apply to members of the New York state and local police and fire retirement system.

§ 209. Outside service by local fire departments, companies, ambulance districts and airport crash-fire-rescue units

1. The fire department of any city, village or fire district, the fire companies serving territory outside of villages and fire districts in any town and the fire departments of any town which has a town fire department, an ambulance district and a county or public authority which operates an airport crash-fire-rescue unit, may answer calls for assistance outside the area regularly served and protected by such fire department or fire companies, ambulance district or crash-fire-rescue unit and may engage and participate in fire training programs in territory outside the area regularly served and protected by such fire department, fire companies, ambulance districts or crash-fire-rescue unit. While in the performance of their duties under this subdivision, the members of such departments, companies, districts or crash-fire-rescue units shall have the same immunities and privileges as if such duties were performed within the area regularly served and protected by such departments, companies, districts or crash-fire-rescue units. While responding to a call for assistance under this subdivision a city, village, fire district, ambulance district, town or county or public authority operating an airport crash-fire-rescue unit shall be liable for the negligence of firefighters of the city fire department, village fire department, fire district fire department, town fire department, ambulance district or crash-fire-rescue unit, respectively, occurring in the performance of their duties in the same manner and to the same extent as if such negligence occurred in the performance of their duties within the area regularly served and protected by such departments, districts or units. The legislative body of any county, city or village, the board of fire commissioners or other governing board of any fire district, ambulance district or public authority or the town board of any town in relation to the fire companies serving territory outside of villages and fire districts or in relation to a town fire department, or ambulance district, as the case may be, by resolution may restrict such outside service and training to such extent as it shall deem advisable. Any such resolution shall continue in effect until amended or repealed by the adoption of a subsequent resolution. The officer in charge of any fire department or fire company or ambulance district shall be notified promptly of the adoption of any such resolution and of any amendment or repeal thereof. In a county, city, or in a village or town, such action may be taken by local law or by ordinance instead of by resolution. As used in this section, the terms "fire department", "fire companies", "ambulance service" and "crash-fire-rescue unit" shall include all companies, squads, patrols or other units of such departments, companies or units, or volunteer ambulance services organized pursuant to section one hundred twenty-two-b of this chapter, and the term "assistance" includes the services of firefighting forces, fire police squads, ambulance services, emergency rescue and first aid squads rendered in case of a fire or other emergency, including stand-by service, to aid (1) a fire department or fire company, and (2) owners or occupants of property, and other persons, whether or not such owners, occupants or persons are receiving fire or other emergency service from another fire department or fire company or ambulance service. Except as otherwise provided by law in the case of natural disaster emergencies, a call to furnish assistance may be made by any person aware of the peril involved and the need for assistance or pursuant to any legally authorized or recognized plan for the furnishing of mutual aid in cases of fire or other emergency. The call need not originate in the municipal corporation, district or area liable for the payment of financial benefits in the event of the death or injury of a firefighter or ambulance or rescue squad member engaged in rendering such assistance. The call may be relayed through one or more persons or mediums of communication. The provisions of this subdivision shall supersede the provisions of any general, special or local law to the extent that there is a conflict between the provisions of this subdivision and such law, except that if (1) any city had, prior to April fifteenth, nineteen hundred fifty, restricted in any manner the fire department of the city from engaging in service outside the city or (2) any city, village, fire district or town has heretofore restricted in any manner a fire department or fire company or ambulance service from engaging in service or training pursuant to the provisions of this subdivision, such restrictions shall continue in effect until changed pursuant to the provisions of this subdivision.

2. Any loss or damage to, or expense incurred in the operation of, fire apparatus or other equipment answering a call for assistance from outside territory, as provided for in subdivision one of this section or otherwise, and the cost of any materials used in connection with such call, shall be a charge against and paid by the city, village, fire district, ambulance district or by the town in relation to territory in the town located in (1) a fire protection district, (2) a fire alarm district, (3) or ambulance district or (4) the territory in the town outside of any village, fire district or any such fire protection district or fire alarm district, ambulance district, which issued the call for assistance. No such claim, however, shall be allowed unless, within sixty days after such loss or damage has been sustained, or such expense has been incurred, or such materials have been used, written notice thereof be served by mail or otherwise on the comptroller or chief financial officer of the city, the village clerk of the village, the secretary of the fire district, the clerk of the ambulance district or the town clerk of the town in relation to the territory in the town located as aforesaid, from which issued the call for assistance.

3. In cities such loss, damage, expense or cost shall be a city charge and audited and paid as other city charges. In villages such loss, damage, expense or cost shall be a village charge and shall be audited and paid in the same manner as village charges, and shall be assessed upon the property liable to taxation in said village, and levied and collected in the same manner as village taxes. In fire districts or ambulance districts such loss, damage, expense or cost shall be audited and paid in the same manner as other fire district or ambulance district charges, and shall be assessed and levied upon the property liable to taxation in such district and collected in the same manner as other fire or ambulance district charges. The limitations on fire district expenditures set forth in subdivision eighteen of section one hundred seventy-six of the town law shall not be applicable to appropriations or expenditures for the purpose of paying any such loss, damage, expense or cost.

4. In towns which do not contain a city, village, fire district, fire protection district, ambulance district or fire alarm district, such loss, damage, expense or cost shall be a town charge audited and paid in the same manner as town charges. In fire protection districts, fire alarm districts, or territory outside of cities, villages, fire districts, ambulance districts or any such fire protection or fire alarm district, such loss, damage, expense or cost shall be a town charge, audited and paid in the same manner as town charges, and shall be assessed upon the property liable to taxation in such fire protection district, fire alarm district or territory outside of cities, villages, fire districts, ambulance districts or such fire protection and fire alarm districts, as the case may be.

5. Provided, however, that nothing contained in this section shall preclude a city, village, fire district, ambulance district or town from entering into a reciprocal fire protection agreement with the state of New York and the head of any military department of the United States government, which agreement shall waive all compensation for any loss, damage, personal injury, or death occurring in consequence of the performance of said reciprocal fire protection agreement. Provided further, however, that any reciprocal fire protection agreement entered into under the authority of this subdivision may provide for the reimbursement for any and all costs incurred by the party issuing the call for assistance.

Editor's Notes: [Laws 1961, ch 867] This act was recommended by the Joint Legislative Committee on Municipal Tort Liability. Under former law the location of liability for the negligence of firemen engaged in answering a call for assistance was left uncertain (see, e.g., Tilson v Kuhner, 1954, 283 App Div 604). It is vital to the fire services and to the development of the mutual aid program authorized by § 209 of the General Municipal Law that liability be located with certainty. Only thus can liability be adequately insured against and costly litigation avoided. This act establishes that certainty by placing liability upon the responding company. Thus each fire department or company is responsible for the negligence of its own firemen—at home and abroad. A contrary rule would place a crushing burden upon the aided district under the broad assistance provisions of § 209.

Amendment Notes The 2018 amendment by ch 476, § 71, in 1, substituted "firefighters" for "firemen" in the third and tenth sentences.

1. Generally

After a hearing to determine the town's liability for damage to a fire truck during a mutual aid call to the town, it was determined that the fire commissioner was not capable of providing a proper foundation to admit the repair invoice as its maker and the fire department did not show that it routinely relied upon the business records of another entity in performance of its business. W. Valley Fire Dist. No. 1 v Vill. of Springville, 294 A.D.2d 949, 743 N.Y.S.2d 215, 2002 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4551 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2002).

The offices of village trustee and chief engineer of the village fire department may not be held by the same person at the same time. 1964 NY Ops Atty Gen Sept 25 (Informal), 1964 N.Y. AG LEXIS 139.

Municipality or district issuing call for assistance is liable for benefits to firemen injured or killed and for equipment damaged and materials used. 1953 Op St Compt No. 53-6285.

A volunteer fireman providing service outside the State pursuant to a fire protection contract is covered by volunteer firemen's benefits payable by his "home area". 1975 Op St Compt No. 75-160.

2. Construction

The word "includes" as used in the phrase that the term "call for assistance includes any call for aid resulting from" the operation of a recognized mutual aid plan, was used as a word of enlargement, specifying a particular case inserted out of abundant caution, and not as a word of restriction. Watertown v Watertown, 139 N.Y.S.2d 198, 207 Misc. 433, 1952 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3002 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1952).

3. Relationship to other laws

This section in no way modifies or changes § 205. In re Young's Estate, 266 N.Y.S. 532, 148 Misc. 431, 1933 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1298 (N.Y. County Ct. 1933), rev'd, 241 A.D. 188, 272 N.Y.S. 167, 1934 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8204 (N.Y. App. Div. 1934).

The village board of trustees, on the recommendation of the council of a fire department in a village having no board of fire commissioners, determines the style of uniforms and the type of equipment to be purchased for use by members of the fire department. The procedures for receiving calls for assistance and responding to such calls by participants in a county mutual aid plan would be those described in the plan. Section 10-1006(16) of the Village Law does not affect the limitation under section 10-1006(7) that not more than thirty percent of the members of a fire company may be non-residents of the village or of the area served by the fire department or a fire company. 1981 NY Ops Atty Gen 81-36 (Informal), 1981 N.Y. AG LEXIS 122.

A fire district fire department is authorized to answer calls for assistance from a county park facility located outside the boundaries of the fire department. Volunteer firemen injured while answering a call for assistance from such area are covered by the provisions of the Volunteer Firemen's Benefit Law. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-793.

4. Authority to provide outside service

A village fire company, under the direction of the chief, may respond to emergency calls from outside the area regularly protected, until such outside service is restricted by action of the governing board of the village. 1957 NY Ops Atty Gen Oct 4 (Informal), 1957 N.Y. AG LEXIS 210.

A village fire department may respond to a call for assistance from an Indian Reservation unless there is a resolution restricting such response. Volunteer firemen injured in the course of such response are covered under the Volunteer Firemen's Benefit Law. 1959 NY Ops Atty Gen Sept 10 (Informal), 1959 N.Y. AG LEXIS 203.

The village board of trustees, on the recommendation of the council of a fire department in a village having no board of fire commissioners, determines the style of uniforms and the type of equipment to be purchased for use by members of the fire department. The procedures for receiving calls for assistance and responding to such calls by participants in a county mutual aid plan would be those described in the plan. Section 10-1006(16) of the Village Law does not affect the limitation under section 10-1006(7) that not more than thirty percent of the members of a fire company may be non-residents of the village or of the area served by the fire department or a fire company. 1981 NY Ops Atty Gen 81-36 (Informal), 1981 N.Y. AG LEXIS 122.

A fire district may answer calls for assistance from town territory outside the area regularly served unless restricted by resolution of the board of fire commissioners. No notice need be given to the taxpayers of an unprotected area before a fire district can render assistance to it. 1955 Op St Compt No. 55-7638.

Under Sections 10-1000 et seq. of the Village Law, a village fire department is a corporation consisting of members of all the fire, hose, protective and hook and ladder companies of a village; it is administered by a board of fire commissioners or, where no board of fire commissioners has been appointed, by the village board of trustees and the council of the fire department. Fire companies in a village are associations or corporations, which must operate in accordance with their certificates of incorporation, bylaws, and statutes; and, although fire companies are separate and distinct from the village, the statutes do permit village authorities to exercise a certain degree of control over their organization, incorporation, governance, and membership, including residency for membership. A fire company must consent to a contract for the provision of fire protection outside the village and the fire chief of the village fire department cannot consent on behalf of members of the company. 1990 Op St Compt No. 90-19, 1990 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 26.

5. —Restriction upon outside service

No restriction may be made, on a local level, as to the source or origin of mutual aid calls to which a village volunteer fire company may respond. 1961 NY Ops Atty Gen Oct 23 (Informal), 1961 N.Y. AG LEXIS 191.

The expenses incurred by a village fire company in answering a call for assistance must be paid by the town which issued the call, although the answering of said call was supposedly prohibited by a resolution of the village board. 1967 Op St Compt No. 67-1006.

6. —Ambulance services

Emergency ambulance service may be rendered outside of the fire district unless limited by the Board of Fire Commissioners, and the village is liable for operation of an ambulance when such ambulance is engaged in duly authorized activities. 1961 NY Ops Atty Gen April 25 (Informal), 1961 N.Y. AG LEXIS 72.

The emergency relief squad of a village fire department may respond to calls for assistance from territory outside the area regularly protected by the fire department. The decision of the dispatcher that the occurrence is a fire, accident, public calamity or other emergency may not be final if the fireman, after arrival at the scene, knows or should know that no emergency exists. 1954 Op St Compt No. 54-6736.

Pursuant to the 1954 amendment to the General Municipal Law, a town may provide general ambulance service or contract with a fire corporation for the furnishing of such service. 1954 Op St Compt No. 54-7057.

There is no authority for a town to contract with a fire company or a fire district to provide for general ambulance service on a town-wide basis. General ambulance service may be provided to fire protection districts within the town pursuant to fire protection contracts. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-684.

An emergency rescue and first aid squad of a village fire department may answer calls for assistance originating in an adjoining village, even though that village contracts with an independent volunteer ambulance corps for ambulance service. The village is liable for the negligence of its emergency rescue and first aid squad while answering such calls for assistance. 1981 Op St Compt No. 81-405, 1981 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 475.

An emergency rescue and first aid squad of a fire department or fire company may answer a call for assistance from an adjacent fire district in cases of fire or other emergency. It may not answer a call from outside the area normally served for general ambulance service in a non-emergency situation—Opns St Comp, 1980, No. 80-465 clarified. Whether a request to transport a person from a hospital located outside the area regularly served to another hospital in an emergency situation is a question of fact which must be determined on the basis of the relevant facts in each situation. 1982 Op St Compt No. 82-147, 1982 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 573.

Fire district with fire department emergency and rescue squad comprised mainly of volunteer firefighters may authorize squad to contract with "ambulance services," as defined in CLS Pub Health § 3000, to provide services when squad is unavailable, and may contract with appropriate private ambulance company for pre-hospital treatment if (1) fire district, as part of fire protection contract, provides general and/or emergency ambulance service under CLS Gen Mun § 209-b and CLS Pub Health Art 30, (2) town or village has not designated itself as primary provider of, or otherwise contracted for, emergency ambulance, general ambulance or combination of such services acting individually or jointly, and (3) contracted-for services are limited to furnishing of supplemental personnel, equipment or service to cover instances or periods of time when fire district's service may not be readily available; however, no fee may be imposed on person served for services provided under contract with private ambulance company. 2010 Op St Compt No. 2010-4, 2010 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 2.

(1) A village fire department or a volunteer fire company serving territory outside a village may respond to a call for assistance to a fire outside its designated area even if the call is not made pursuant to a mutual aid agreement. However, there is no authority to respond to a fire outside the area usually served when no call for assistance is made. (2) A village fire department or volunteer fire company has no authority to contract to provide fire protection to a business establishment or school located outside its designated area. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-568, 1979 N.Y. 9. — —Paid firefighters

Payments by a city for medical and hospital care furnished and salaries paid to three paid firemen injured in a collision of a city fire pumper being used to answer a call for assistance in fighting fire in a nearby town were not expenses incurred in the operation of fire apparatus within the meaning of § 209. Watertown v Watertown, 139 N.Y.S.2d 198, 207 Misc. 433, 1952 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3002 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1952).

13. —Claims for services; timeliness

Where written notice of claim brought by village fire department against town for damage to its fire engine while responding to call in town was mailed to a member of the town board and thereafter presented by that member to the town board at its next regularly scheduled meeting which occurred within the 60 day time limitation, such action constituted timely service upon the town clerk, since the town clerk is required by law to attend all board meetings. Cuba Village v New Hudson, 42 A.D.2d 829, 345 N.Y.S.2d 809, 1973 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3883 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1973).

Where a city sent its fire pumper to fight a fire in a nearby town, the city could not recover from the town the amount of a claim filed against the city by the owner of a truck involved in an accident with the pumper when the claim was barred by the statute of limitations. Nor could it recover the amount of a claim brought by the owner and operator of a truck for personal injuries and damages to the truck when the action was pending and no expense had yet been incurred. Watertown v Watertown, 139 N.Y.S.2d 198, 207 Misc. 433, 1952 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3002 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1952).

However, the amount of such claim must be assessed upon the unorganized territory of the town. 1947 Op St Compt 17.

Where an incorporated fire company suffers damage to its apparatus and equipment in responding to a call for assistance from a fire district situated in two towns, notice of claim should be served upon the town clerk of the town from which issued the call for assistance. Where a village requests outside assistance from a fire company or department, the village is liable for the cost of any damage to equipment occurring at the fire scene and the cost of supplies needed to fight the fire; the village may, in its discretion, purchase mutual aid insurance to insure itself against such liability. 1981 Op St Compt No. 81-99, 1981 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 787.

17. —Negligence claims

As long as a volunteer fireman is in the course of performing a statutorily authorized duty (General Municipal Law, § 209, subd 1) of providing mutual aid as a member of his volunteer fire company, the place of an automobile collision allegedly caused by the negligence of the fireman is irrelevant and the town which established a fire protection district and entered into a contract with the volunteer fire department, of which the fireman was a member, for fire protection within the district may be held liable even though the accident took place in a city which is not part of the town. Cuddy v Amsterdam, 62 A.D.2d 119, 403 N.Y.S.2d 590, 1978 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 10426 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1978).

Subdivision 1 of this section, as amended in 1961, does not impose liability upon a city, village, town or fire district when a volunteer member of the fire department thereof offers his services to the chief engineer of another fire department for firefighting in a place not regularly served by his own fire department and commits some negligent act. 1961 Op St Compt No. 61-438.

18. —Miscellaneous matters

Boards of commissioners of a fire district may permit its fire companies and departments to engage and participate in fire training programs outside the area regularly served by them and may contribute toward the cost of improvements made necessary by such use within the appropriations approved by the taxpayers of the district or within the statutory limitations specified in Town Law, § 176. 1972 NY Ops Atty Gen Aug 31 (Informal), 1972 N.Y. AG LEXIS 127.

A fire district may enter into a municipal cooperation agreement with an adjoining fire district under Article 5-G of the General Municipal Law under which it would provide one of its emergency rescue vehicles not needed for rescue operations in the district to the adjoining district at such times when the latter's rescue vehicle is inoperative. 1983 N.Y. AG LEXIS 53.

Two fire districts may enter into an "automatic mutual aid plan" pursuant to which both fire departments would automatically respond to alarms from certain defined areas within their respective boundaries. Liability for loss or damage to equipment incurred while responding to such alarms would be governed by the provisions of General Municipal Law, § 209(2) and benefits to a fireman injured while responding to such alarms would be the responsibility of the fireman's "home" district. 1982 Op St Compt No. 82-164, 1982 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 561.

One fire district may permit other fire districts located within or outside the county in which the district is located to utilize its training facilities and personnel for reasonable consideration. 1983 Op St Compt No. 83-241, 1983 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 244.

19. Fire protection contracts; generally

A contract for fire protection between a town and a village is not affected by Section 209-g which applies in case of mobilization of fire forces to meet war-born emergencies or similar general dangers, nor by this section, which applies only to a situation in which no contract has been made. 1957 NY Ops Atty Gen May 28 (Informal), 1957 N.Y. AG LEXIS 178.

This section does not authorize participation by fire districts in joint enterprises generally. 1963 Op St Compt No. 63-626.

20. —Authority of cities to enter contract

City empowered to acquire fire apparatus by gift or otherwise, to pay cost of maintenance and operation thereof, to pay rent for housing such apparatus and to have volunteer firemen fight fires. Contract may be made for such fire-fighting force to serve area in another city. 1947 Op St Compt 445.

A town may contract with a city to provide fire protection for fire protection or fire alarm districts within the town. 1954 Op St Compt No. 54-6872.

21. —Authority of towns to enter contract

Town may not contract to pay a fixed sum to a fire district for each call answered in unorganized territory. 1946 Op St Compt 346.

The town board, during the period intervening between the dissolution of a fire district and the establishment of the fire protection district, may not contract for the furnishing of fire protection in the area. 1947 Op St Compt 486.

A town in which there is no fire district or fire protection district may not pay a stipulated sum for call for fire protection furnished such town. 1953 Op St Compt No.. 53-6281.

A town may contract with a city to provide fire protection for fire protection or fire alarm districts within the town. 1954 Op St Compt No. 54-6872.

Towns may not contract with unincorporated fire companies to provide fire protection for fire protection or fire alarm districts within such towns. 1954 Op St Compt No. 54-6872.

A fire protection contract may not be entered into between a town board, on behalf of a fire protection district, and a village whereby the town at large is required to assume the responsibility for any loss or damage sustained to the fire apparatus of the village in answering, attending or returning from calls in the fire protection district and whereby the town will reimburse the village for such damage and also assume the cost of all materials used by the village in its fire department in connection with such calls excepting gasoline and transportation charges. 1956 Op St Compt No. 56-8266.

22. —Authority of villages to enter contract

Incorporation of a volunteer fire company of a village will not affect the control which the village exercises over the fire company. The making of a contract between an incorporated fire company and the village will not operate to make the fire company a paid fire company. Incorporation of a volunteer fire company will not affect the duties and liabilities of the village in regard to its volunteer firemen. An incorporated fire company of a village cannot contract to furnish fire protection outside of the village independently of the village board of trustees. 1947 Op St Compt 414.

Fire department of the village of Bergen may operate outside of the village limits only if the village has authorized such operation. The town of Bergen may contract with the village of Bergen for the furnishing of fire protection outside of the village limits only if a fire protection or fire alarm district has been established. 1947 Op St Compt 441.

A fire protection contract may not be entered into between a town board, on behalf of a fire protection district, and a village whereby the town at large is required to assume the responsibility for any loss or damage sustained to the fire apparatus of the village in answering, attending or returning from calls in the fire protection district and whereby the town will reimburse the village for such damage and also assume the cost of all materials used by the village in its fire department in connection with such calls excepting gasoline and transportation charges. 1956 Op St Compt No. 56-8266.

(1) A village fire department or a volunteer fire company serving territory outside a village may respond to a call for assistance to a fire outside its designated area even if the call is not made pursuant to a mutual aid agreement. However, there is no authority to respond to a fire outside the area usually served when no call for assistance is made. (2) A village fire department or volunteer fire company has no authority to contract to provide fire protection to a business establishment or school located outside its designated area. 1979 Op St Compt No. 79-568, 1979 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 137.

Under Sections 10-1000 et seq. of the Village Law, a village fire department is a corporation consisting of members of all the fire, hose, protective and hook and ladder companies of a village; it is administered by a board of fire commissioners or, where no board of fire commissioners has been appointed, by the village board of trustees and the council of the fire department. Fire companies in a village are associations or corporations, which must operate in accordance with their certificates of incorporation, bylaws, and statutes; and, although fire companies are separate and distinct from the village, the statutes do permit village authorities to exercise a certain degree of control over their organization, incorporation, governance, and membership, including residency for membership. A fire company must consent to a contract for the provision of fire protection outside the village and the fire chief of the village fire department cannot consent on behalf of members of the company. 1990 Op St Compt No. 90-19, 1990 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 26.

23. —Liabilities under contract

This section imposes no liability upon a fire protection district for loss or damage to the apparatus or equipment of the fire company serving the district pursuant to contract. 1955 Op St Compt No. 55-7094.

Unless otherwise provided in the contract, a town which contracts on behalf of a fire protection district is not liable for loss or damage to equipment of the fire companies serving the district. 1956 Op St Compt No. 56-7984.

A town is not liable for damage to the apparatus or equipment of a volunteer fire company answering a call in a fire protection district of such town pursuant to contract. However, the contract for fire protection may include a provision whereby the fire protection district assumes such liability. 1956 Op St Compt No. 56-8086.

A fire district which has contracted with the village for fire protection is not liable for damage to apparatus or equipment of such village fire department while the village fire department is answering a call in the fire district. 1960 Op St Compt No. 60-201.

Where, pursuant to a mutual aid plan, a town, which constitutes a fire protection district served by contract, requests assistance in fighting a fire, such town is liable and responsible for damages occurring to the responding fire apparatus and equipment. 1960 Op St Compt No. 60-970.

A fire district may not contract with a private not-for-profit ambulance service to provide emergency ambulance service to their respective service areas on a mutual aid basis. 1982 Op St Compt No. 82-310, 1982 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 422.

The provisions of section 209 of the General Municipal Law relating to answering calls for assistance outside the area regularly served and protected and financial liability for expenses incurred in use of fire equipment when responding to such calls have no application where fire protection is provided pursuant to contract. 1982 Op St Compt No. 82-276, 1982 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 460.

24. —Noncontractual liabilities

A city whose fire pumper was sent to fight a fire in a nearby town might recover under this section even though the city and the town had not adopted a recognized plan for the furnishing of mutual aid. Watertown v Watertown, 139 N.Y.S.2d 198, 207 Misc. 433, 1952 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3002 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1952).

Absent contract or federal mandate to provide fire protection services to Fire Island National Seashore, fire district has no legal obligation to provide such services to Seashore. 2003 NY Ops Atty Gen 2003-12 (Informal), 2003 N.Y. Op. (Inf.) Att'y Gen. 12, 2003 N.Y. AG LEXIS 15.

Where a town board has contracted with three fire districts to furnish fire protection to a fire protection district, it is nevertheless obligated to pay a claim by a fourth fire department which answered legitimate calls for assistance from the fire protection district. 1956 Op St Compt No. 56-8177.

Where a fire company answers a call for assistance from territory protected by contract with another fire company, the territory is liable for damage to equipment or apparatus of the assisting company. 1954 Op St Compt No. 54-6897.

§ 209-b. Emergency rescue and first aid squads

1. Emergencies. a. The authorities having control of fire departments and fire companies may organize within such departments or companies emergency rescue and first aid squads composed of firefighters who are members of such departments or companies. Such squads, so organized, may render services in case of accidents, calamities or other emergencies in connection with which their services may be required, as well as in case of alarms of fire. Whether or not such squads have been organized, any firefighter may render service in case of accidents, calamities or other emergencies in connection with which the services of firefighters may be required, as well as in case of alarms of fire, unless he or she shall have been duly ordered not to render such service by the authorities having control of the fire department or company of which he or she is a member. If a request for emergency service is made by, or originates from a doctor or peace officer, acting pursuant to his or her special duties, or police officer, and there is any doubt as to whether an emergency exists, the judgment of the doctor or officer that there is, in fact, an emergency may be accepted as conclusive by such squad, or the firefighter responding, or who has responded to such call. The person designated to receive calls for such emergency services, for the purpose of dispatching such squads or firefighters, shall determine in the first instance from the information furnished to him or her whether an emergency exists and his or her decision, if in good faith, as to whether or not there is an emergency shall be final in relation to dispatching such squads or firefighters. Any such preliminary determination shall not be deemed to authorize the rendition of services if, upon arriving at the place to which dispatched, it is found that there is no emergency.

b. The governing board of any city, town, village or fire district which has a fire department but which has not authorized such fire department to render emergency ambulance service, may contract for the furnishing to it of emergency ambulance service with another city, town, village or fire district which has in its fire department an emergency rescue and first aid squad duly authorized to render emergency ambulance service. Before any contract to furnish emergency ambulance service is entered into, the consents of the fire department, the fire company and the emergency rescue and first aid squad to furnish such emergency ambulance service shall be obtained. Each consent shall be evidenced by a copy of a resolution certified respectively by the secretary of the fire department and fire company and by the officer then in command of the emergency rescue and first aid squad.

2. General ambulance service. a. The governing board of any city, town which has a fire department, village or fire district which has in its fire department an emergency rescue and first aid squad composed mainly of volunteer firefighters, by resolution, may authorize any such squad to furnish general ambulance service for the purpose of (1) transporting any sick, injured or disabled resident or person found within the city, town, village or fire district to a hospital, clinic, sanatorium or other place for treatment and care and returning any such person therefrom if still sick, injured or disabled and (2) transporting any sick, injured or disabled resident of the city, town, village or fire district from a hospital, clinic, sanatorium or other place where such person has received treatment and care to any other place for treatment and care or to such person's home whether such hospital, clinic, sanatorium or other place where such person has received treatment and care is within or without the city, town, village or fire district or the territory listed on the ambulance service certificate or certificate of registration as the usual territory within which the ambulance service operates.

b. The town board of a town which does not have a fire department but in which there is a fire corporation located outside any village, fire district, fire alarm district or fire protection district, by resolution, may authorize the emergency rescue and first aid squad of such fire corporation to furnish general ambulance service for the purpose of (1) transporting any sick, injured or disabled resident or person found within the area described in the certificate of incorporation of the fire corporation to a hospital, clinic, sanatorium or other place for treatment and care and returning any such person therefrom if still sick, injured or disabled and (2) transporting any sick, injured or disabled resident of such described area from a hospital, clinic, sanatorium or other place where such person has received treatment and care to any other place for treatment and care or to such person's home whether such hospital, clinic, sanatorium or other place where such person has received treatment and care is within or without the area described in the certificate of incorporation of such fire corporation or the territory listed on the ambulance service certificate or certificate of registration as the usual territory within which the ambulance service operates.

c. The governing board of a city, village or fire district which by law is authorized to contract to have fire protection furnished for any district or area thereof by the fire department or fire company of another city, town, village or fire district, or a town board on behalf of a fire protection district or fire alarm district, may include in any fire protection contract a provision for the furnishing of general ambulance service by the emergency rescue and first aid squad of the fire department or fire company which furnishes such fire protection. Such general ambulance service shall be for the purpose of (1) transporting any sick, injured or disabled resident or person found within the contract district or area to a hospital, clinic, sanatorium or other place for treatment and care and returning any such person therefrom if still sick, injured or disabled and (2) transporting any sick, injured or disabled resident of such contract district or area from a hospital, clinic, sanatorium or other place where such person has received treatment and care to any other place for treatment and care or to such person's home whether such hospital, clinic, sanatorium or other place where such person has received treatment and care is within or without the contract district or area or the territory listed on the ambulance service certificate or certificate of registration as the usual territory within which the ambulance service operates. The city, town, village, fire district or the fire department or fire company thereof which is authorized to furnish such fire protection pursuant to contract shall have power to contract to furnish such general ambulance service.

d. Before any authorization is granted under paragraphs a and b of this subdivision, or before any contract to furnish general abmulance service is entered into pursuant to paragraph c of this subdivision, and before any public hearing is conducted as herein provided, the consents of the fire department, the fire company and the emergency rescue and first aid squad to furnish the general ambulance service shall be obtained. Each consent shall be evidenced by a copy of a resolution certified, respectively, by the secretary of the fire department and fire company and by the officer then in command of the emergency rescue and first aid squad.

e. Before authorizing general ambulance service under paragraphs a and b of this subdivision the governing board of a city, town, village or fire district shall conduct a public hearing. Before the governing board of a city, town, village or fire district enters into a contract for fire protection which contract, for the first time for a specific district or area, provides for the furnishing of general ambulance service pursuant to paragraph c of this subdivision, it shall conduct a public hearing in the manner required by law, if any, for the entering into of a fire protection contract therefor, but if a public hearing is not required in any such case, then the public hearing shall be held as herein provided and the procedure for publishing notice under this paragraph shall be applicable. Notice of such hearing shall be published at least once in a newspaper or newspapers having general circulation in the city, town, village or fire district, or, in the case of contracts, in the fire alarm district, fire protection district, or other contract area. In all cases the notice of hearing shall, in general terms, (1) describe the general ambulance service which is proposed to be furnished, (2) describe the area to be served, (3) state the names of the fire department, fire companies and emergency rescue and first aid squad affected, (4) state the time and place within the city, town, village or fire district, or, in the case of contracts, the fire alarm district, fire protection district, or other contract area, where such hearing will be held and (5) state that all persons residing within the area to be served, all persons, firms and corporations owning real property within the area to be served, and all persons, firms and corporations whose business interests or employment would either be benefited or adversely affected, whether or not a resident or owner of real property within the area to be served, shall have the right to be heard in person or by representative at the public hearing. Such notice shall be published at least ten days prior to the date fixed for the hearing.

f. After the hearing and after considering the statements made at the hearing the governing board shall determine whether authorizing the furnishing of general ambulance service, or the entering into of a contract for general ambulance service, is in the public interest. If the governing board determines that it is in the public interest to authorize the furnishing of general ambulance service, or to enter into a contract for general ambulance service, it shall adopt the resolution authorizing the same and within ten days thereafter cause a certified copy of the resolution and the determination on which it is based to be filed in the office of the clerk of the county or counties in which the city, town, village or fire district is located. The consents required by paragraph d of this subdivision shall be filed with such resolution and determination.

g. The determination of the governing board in relation to the furnishing of general ambulance service shall be subject to review in the manner provided in article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules provided that application has been made therefor within thirty days from the date of the filing thereof. Such determination shall become final and conclusive and the resolution shall become effective at the expiration of such thirty days or, if application for review be made, upon the final determination thereof.

h. When general ambulance service is authorized pursuant to this subdivision, the emergency rescue and first aid squad shall answer all calls and demands for such service to be furnished to sick, injured or disabled persons entitled thereto, subject to such rules and regulations as shall be prescribed by authorities having control of such squad, and subject at all times to the emergency needs of the fire department and any limitations upon such service specified in a fire protection contract. Such rules and regulations may establish limitations on the distances which may be traveled outside the area to be served in order to reach hospitals, clinics, sanatoriums or other places where care and treatment is to be or has been furnished.

i. Any action taken pursuant to this subdivision may be rescinded by resolution of the governing board which has taken such action. The term "resolution", as used in this subdivision two, means resolution, ordinance, act or local law.

j. The provisions of this subdivision two shall apply to all cities, towns, villages and fire districts, except where the provisions of a general or special law expressly prohibit the rendition of general ambulance service by an emergency rescue and first aid squad of the fire department thereof.

3. Transportation of persons. Squads and persons authorized to render service pursuant to this section shall transport sick, injured or disabled persons only in vehicles owned by or under the control of a city, town, village, fire district, a fire department or a fire company unless ordered or permitted to transport such persons in other vehicles by the authorities having control of the fire department or fire company of which he is a member.

3-a. Mutual aid. a. The governing board of any city, town which has a fire department, village or fire district which has in its fire department an emergency rescue and first aid squad composed mainly of volunteer firefighters, may, by resolution authorize any such squad to enter into one or more mutual aid agreements as defined in subdivision twenty of section three thousand one of the public health law, and/or to contract with ambulance services as defined in subdivisions two and three of section three thousand one of the public health law to provide services when the emergency rescue and first aid squad is unavailable.

b. The town board of a town which does not have a fire department but in which there is a fire corporation located outside any village, fire district, fire alarm district or fire protection district may, by resolution, authorize the emergency rescue and first aid squad of such fire corporation to enter into one or more mutual aid agreements as defined in subdivision twenty of section three thousand one of the public health law, and/or to contract with ambulance services as defined in subdivisions two and three of section three thousand one of the public health law to provide services when the emergency rescue and first aid squad is unavailable.

4. Fees and charges prohibited. Emergency and general ambulance service authorized pursuant to this section shall be furnished without cost to the person served. The acceptance by any firefighter of any personal remuneration or gratuity, directly or indirectly, from a person served shall be a ground for his or her expulsion or suspension as a member of the fire department or fire company.

5. The term "emergency", as used in this chapter, or in any other law of general application, in relation to the operations of fire departments, includes, unless a contrary intent is clearly expressed or indicated, the search for persons and the search for, and attempts to recover or the recovery of, bodies of persons even though it is posible [possible]* or is known that all hope of life is gone.

A fire district is not liable for failure to provide fire protection or rescue services. 1983 NY Ops Atty Gen 83-1 (Informal), 1983 N.Y. AG LEXIS 100.

The emergency rescue and first aid squad of a fire district fire department which has been authorized to provide general ambulance service may not transport a non-resident of the district from his home outside the district to a hospital nor may it return a non-resident from a hospital to his home or transport him from a hospital to any other institution unless such non-resident resides in an area receiving general ambulance service from the fire department pursuant to a fire protection contract; A person who has been delivered to a fire district fire department by another rescue squad may be transported from the fire house to the hospital by the department emergency rescue and first aid squad. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-485.

Call firemen who receive compensation for executing firemanic duties are not volunteer firemen. 1954 Op St Compt No. 54-6872.

A village may construct an addition to the village owned fire house for the purpose of housing fire equipment, owned by the incorporated fire company and to be used outside of the village. Providing the arrangement is provident for the village, rental need not be charged the fire company for such use. 1965 Op St Compt No. 65-320.

A statutory conflict of interest does not occur where a village volunteer fire department provides fire protection to a town fire protection district when a town councilman is also a village fire department fire warden. However, he should refrain from participation in any proceedings relating thereto, either as councilman or as fire warden. 1974 Op St Compt No. 74-507.

2. Construction of terms

The term "fire apparatus" as used in section 209-d of the General Municipal Law would not seem to include such items as an air pack, smoke ejector, rescue saw, radios or hydraulic extrication equipment. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-575.

3. Authority to enter contract

Contract to furnish fire protection to fire protection district may be made by village upon consent of fire companies constituting fire department. Such contract may not be made with the individual fire companies located in village. 1945 Op St Compt 215.

City empowered to acquire fire apparatus by gift or otherwise, to pay cost of maintenance and operation thereof, to pay rent for housing such apparatus and to have volunteer firemen fight fires. Contract may be made for such fire-fighting force to serve area in another city. 1947 Op St Compt 445.

While there is no statute requiring fire company which constitutes village fire department to submit its books and records pertaining to receipt and expenditure of proceeds from fire protection contracts and fund raising to village board for audit, village board may make such requirement condition to entering into fire protection contracts for outside service or to allowing company to undertake fund raising activities; financial information concerning fire department may also be obtained under provisions of CLS Not-For-Profit Corporation Law and Freedom of Information Law; board of fire commissioners or, if there is no board of fire commissioners, board of trustees of village may require submission of report by chief of fire department. 1988 Op St Compt No. 88-55, 1988 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 51.

4. Necessary parties to contract

Incorporation of a volunteer fire company of a village will not affect the control which the village exercises over the fire company. The making of a contract between an incorporated fire company and the village will not operate to make the fire company a paid fire company. Incorporation of a volunteer fire company will not affect the duties and liabilities of the village in regard to its volunteer firemen. An incorporated fire company of a village cannot contract to furnish fire protection outside of the village independently of the village board of trustees. 1947 Op St Compt 414.

Both village and fire department or fire company should be parties to contract to furnish fire protection outside of village. Village may retain moneys received pursuant to such contract or pay over a portion to the fire department or fire company. 1954 Op St Compt No. 54-6769.

A village must be a party to all contracts to provide fire protection outside the limits of said village between a fire company, located in said village, and those desiring fire protection outside said village. 1956 Op St Compt No. 56-7934.

A fire district in which a fire company is located is a necessary party to a fire protection contract under which such company provides protection to a fire protection district, notwithstanding the fact that the fire company owns all the buildings and equipment necessary in connection with such fire protection contract. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-300, 1978 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 179.

Under Sections 10-1000 et seq. of the Village Law, a village fire department is a corporation consisting of members of all the fire, hose, protective and hook and ladder companies of a village; it is administered by a board of fire commissioners or, where no board of fire commissioners has been appointed, by the village board of trustees and the council of the fire department. Fire companies in a village are associations or corporations, which must operate in accordance with their certificates of incorporation, bylaws, and statutes; and, although fire companies are separate and distinct from the village, the statutes do permit village authorities to exercise a certain degree of control over their organization, incorporation, governance, and membership, including residency for membership. A fire company must consent to a contract for the provision of fire protection outside the village and the fire chief of the village fire department cannot consent on behalf of members of the company. 1990 Op St Compt No. 90-19, 1990 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 26.

5. Disposition of moneys received under contract

Moneys received for furnishing fire protection in territory outside of the fire district are not required to be kept in a separate account. Both village and fire department or fire company should be parties to contract to furnish fire protection outside of village. Village may retain moneys received pursuant to such contract or pay over a portion to the fire department or fire company. 1954 Op St Compt No. 54-6769.

The word "purposes" as used in that part of this section providing that a certain portion of money received by a municipality from fire protection contracts may be paid to its volunteer fire department for "fire department or company purposes only," includes social and recreational functions, and the fire department is not obliged to account to the board of trustees as to the precise "purposes" for which such money was used. 1960 Op St Compt No. 60-799.

The phrase "for fire department or company purposes only" in this section is not a limitation to specific purposes, but it excludes any use which would be a municipal or fire district charge, and, with respect to volunteer fire companies, the purposes are necessarily confined to those set forth in the company charter and by-laws for expenditure of company funds. 1962 Op St Compt No. 62-172.

6. —Provision in contract for payment to fire company

A fire protection contract made between a village and a town board on behalf of a fire protection district may provide for payment of a portion of the consideration to the village and a portion to the fire department, as limited in § 209-d of the General Municipal Law. 1955 Op St Compt No. 55-7141.

Where a village which owns all of the fire equipment has entered into a contract with a town to furnish fire protection to a fire protection district in the town and the contract does not provide for a payment of any portion of the consideration thereof to the volunteer fire department of the village furnishing the protection, the village may not pay any portion of the contract price to the volunteer fire company if the volunteer fire company has consented to the execution of the contract. 1957 Op St Compt No. 57-461.

A contract for fire protection between Town and Village Boards may provide for payment of a portion of the consideration directly to the fire company furnishing the protection. 1964 Op St Compt No. 64-90.

Moneys received by a village from fire protection contracts may not be paid over to the village volunteer fire company furnishing the fire protection unless such contracts so provide. 1968 Op St Compt No. 68-515.

7. —Limitation on amount payable to fire company

Where a municipality contracts to furnish fire protection to an outside area, there is no limitation on the portion of the contract price which may be paid to the fire company furnishing the fire protection unless the municipality owns all of the equipment used in furnishing the protection. 1960 NY Ops Atty Gen May 6 (Informal), 1960 N.Y. AG LEXIS 102.

Where a fire district contracts to furnish fire protection to a fire protection district, the portion of the consideration which may be paid to the fire company depends upon whether or not the fire district owns all of the apparatus to be used in carrying out the contract. 1954 Op St Compt No. 54-6781.

Where a fire district contracts to furnish fire protection to an outside area, there is no limitation on the portion of the contract price which may be paid to the fire company furnishing the fire protection unless the fire district owns all of the equipment used in furnishing the protection. 1955 Op St Compt No. 55-7588.

Where all of the apparatus used in furnishing fire protection pursuant to contract is owned by the fire district, the portion of the contract price which may be paid over to the volunteer fire department which furnishes the protection may not exceed 35%, unless a greater portion was being paid over to the department on March 15, 1941. 1957 Op St Compt No. 57-227.

Where a fire district contracts with two towns for fire protection, the district may pay a portion of the contract prices equal to or greater than 35%, if the fire department owns part of the apparatus used. Where a village does not own all of the fire apparatus to be used in carrying out a contract for outside service by the village fire department, the portion of consideration for such contract to be paid to the fire company may exceed 35 percent. 1961 Op St Compt No. 61-28.

Members of fire police squads are covered under section 205 of the General Municipal Law and section 10 of the Workmen's Compensation Law and other sections related thereto when injured outside of the village while rendering services pursuant to a mutual aid arrangement or while rendering services pursuant to a contract between the fire protection district and the village of which their fire company and fire police squad is a part. 1955 Op St Compt No. 55-7238.

A fire protection contract may not be entered into between a town board, on behalf of a fire protection district, and a village whereby the town at large is required to assume the responsibility for any loss or damage sustained to the fire apparatus of the village in answering, attending or returning from calls in the fire protection district and whereby the town will reimburse the village for such damage and also assume the cost of all materials used by the village in its fire department in connection with such calls excepting gasoline and transportation charges. 1956 Op St Compt No. 56-8266.

A person who is both a regional fire administrator and a county fire coordinator, who performs services pursuant to the state fire mobilization and mutual aid plan, in either capacity, is not entitled to reimbursement, from the State, the county, or the municipality or fire district requesting assistance for salary lost because of his absence from his regular employment. 1957 Op St Compt No. 57-520.

2. Liability of municipality

Municipality or district issuing call for assistance is liable for benefits to firemen injured or killed and for equipment damaged and materials used. 1953 Op St Compt No. 53-6285.

A town is not liable for damage to the apparatus or equipment of a volunteer fire company answering a call in a fire protection district of such town pursuant to contract. However, the contract for fire protection may include a provision whereby the fire protection district assumes such liability. 1956 Op St Compt No. 56-8086.

2. a. Notwithstanding any inconsistent provision of law, general, special or local, the sheriff of any county may, when the public interest requires it, declare a state of special emergency in any part or parts of his county where the public peace is threatened or where life or property may be endangered, after first advising the governor, by telegram, facsimile or other electronic means that he is about to do so.

b. During the continuance of any such emergency so declared and until it has been terminated by the sheriff who declared it or by the governor, the sheriff who declared such emergency: (1) May, after having received a request for aid from the chief executive officer of a city, town or village located within his county, request the chief executive officer of any other city, town or village located within his county, and the administrative head of any parkway police force and any state park police force which operates within his county, and the head of a county police department in his county, to detail, assign and make available for duty and use in the city, town or village requesting the aid, a part of the forces, equipment and supplies of the police department or police force of the municipality, parkway and state park police force, and county police department whose aid is requested, and the chief executive officer of such city, town or village, and the administrative head of such parkway and state park police force, and the head of a county police department, is hereby authorized and empowered to grant any request so made, and (2) shall have the power to request any or any number of sheriffs in the state to aid him by detailing, assigning and making available to him, for duty and use in his county, such number of their deputy sheriffs as may be available, together with equipment and supplies, and to deputize as emergency special deputy sheriffs of his county any or all personnel so supplied by the sheriff of any other county, and the sheriff of any county to whom such a request is made is hereby authorized and empowered to grant any request so made.

c. All or any part of the personnel, equipment and supplies furnished by the sheriff of another county in response to a request therefor, as aforesaid, may be detailed, assigned and made available for duty and use, by the requesting sheriff, (1) in a city, town or village which had requested aid, as aforesaid, provided there is need therefor to supplement the aid already provided by another municipality or by a parkway and/or state park police force, or a county police department, or any combination thereof, or if there is need therefor because no such aid was provided, or pending the arrival of such other aid, and (2) in any part of the county of the requesting sheriff which is outside a city or incorporated village and which, in the opinion of the requesting sheriff, is in need thereof to maintain the public peace or to prevent life or property becoming endangered.

d. While engaged in duty and rendering service in any city, town, village or elsewhere, as aforesaid, the officers and members of any such police department or police force, and any responding sheriff and his deputies, so assigned and made available for duty and use shall have the same powers, duties, rights, benefits, privileges and immunities as if they were performing their duties in the civil or political subdivision in or by which they are normally employed, and all thereof, for the purpose of the workmen's compensation law, shall be deemed to be engaged in the course of their employment from the time they report for such duty until they return to the civil or political subdivision in or by which they are normally employed.

e. The chief executive officer of a municipality who requested aid, as aforesaid, with the consent of the chief of police of his police department or police force if any such there be, may deactivate any or all of the manpower furnished, upon his request for aid, by another municipality, parkway and/or state park police force, and/or a county police department. Manpower so furnished as aid to a municipality not having a police department or force may be deactivated by the chief executive officer thereof with the consent of the sheriff of the county in which it is located.

f. A municipality may, by local law, delegate to the chief of police of its police department or police force the power hereby granted to its chief executive officer to request aid.

Any such claim for loss, damage, expense or cost shall not be allowed unless within sixty days after the same shall have been sustained or incurred a written notice of such claim, under oath, itemizing such loss, damage, expense or cost, is served by mail or otherwise upon the comptroller or chief fiscal officer of such receiving municipal corporation or fire district. 5. Notwithstanding any inconsistent provision of law, general, special or local, (a) any county whose sheriff, or in the county of Nassau the county executive, declared a state of special emergency within his or her county pursuant to section two hundred nine-f of this article, which resulted in men or women and/or equipment being furnished by the sheriff of another county for use in the county of the sheriff, or in the county of Nassau the county executive, declaring the state of emergency, shall be liable and responsible to the county of the assisting sheriff for salaries or other compensation paid or due the persons comprising the assisting forces during the time they were engaged in performing services in the county of the requesting sheriff, or in the county of Nassau the county executive, and for all loss or damage to apparatus, equipment and supplies used

An assisting city, town, village, parkway police force, state park police force and/or county police department may, however, assume in whole or in part any such cost, loss, damage or other cost or charge sustained or suffered by it which is applicable to its rendering such aid, by taking appropriate action to accomplish the same, and the county of the receiving city, town or village may, by appropriate action, elect to obligate itself to pay all or part of any money which such receiving municipality is obliged to pay arising out of and applicable to its having received such aid, and (c) a regular, part time or special deputy sheriff of a county shall not, for any reason, lose or forfeit any right, benefit or privilege which he or she would have had in the county of his or her residence by becoming and/or acting as an emergency special deputy sheriff of another county during an emergency.

Analysis

2. Liability

1. Generally

This section exempting political subdivisions from liability for acts of fire forces while engaged in assisting another district was intended to apply only to cases of general danger such as war-born emergencies and was not applicable to a case where, pursuant to a mutual aid agreement, a fire district asked for help from an adjoining district and the latter's chief directed one of his volunteer firemen to come to his home for equipment. Such fireman in his own truck and district as a result of a collision caused the death of plaintiff's husband. Hence, she could maintain an action against the fireman's district but her complaint against the requesting district should have been dismissed. Tillson v Kuhner, 283 A.D. 604, 129 N.Y.S.2d 59, 1954 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4742 (N.Y. App. Div. 1954).

CLS Gen Mun § 209-g grants immunity to state and political subdivisions in rendering aid pursuant to state-wide mutual aid plan and not in rendering aid to fire district during routine fire; thus, county was not entitled to dismissal of complaint alleging property damage caused by county employee on neighboring premises while aiding fire department in cleanup of fire debris. § 209-i. Emergency service by volunteer firefighters.

1. Whenever a volunteer firefighter is within this state, but outside the area regularly served by the fire company or fire department of which he or she is a member and has knowledge of a fire or other emergency at or near the place where he or she is for the time being, such volunteer firefighter may report to the officer in command of the paid or volunteer fire company or paid or volunteer fire department, or in command of one of the paid or volunteer fire companies or one of the paid or volunteer fire departments, engaged in the handling of any such fire or other emergency and, on an individual basis, offer his or her services to assist such fire company or fire department. After his or her services are so accepted, the volunteer firefighter shall then be entitled to all powers, rights, privileges and immunities granted by law to volunteer firefighters during the time such services are rendered, in the same manner and to the same extent as if he or she were a volunteer member of the fire company or fire department which he or she is assisting, including benefits under the volunteer firefighters' benefit law. Any such commanding officer shall have power, in his or her discretion, to so accept the services of a volunteer firefighter unless the legislative body of the city or the village, the board of fire commissioners or other governing board of the fire district, or the town board of the town in relation to (a) the fire companies serving territory outside villages and fire districts or (b) a town fire department, as the case may be, by resolution heretofore or hereafter adopted, has forbidden the acceptance of any such services pursuant to this section. Any such resolution shall continue in effect until amended or repealed by the adoption of a subsequent resolution. The officer in charge of any fire company or fire department shall be notified promptly of the adoption of any such resolution and of any amendment or repeal thereof.

1-a. A volunteer firefighter who, because of his residence or usual occupation, is regularly in the area served by a volunteer fire company or department of which he is not a member may nevertheless volunteer his services on an on-going basis to the officer in command thereof to assist such fire company or fire department for the purpose of assisting such company or department's general or emergency ambulance services, or for the purpose of assisting such fire company or fire department at a fire or other emergency scene or for the purpose of training with such fire company or fire department. After his services are so accepted, the volunteer firefighter shall then be entitled to all powers, rights, privileges and immunities granted by law to volunteer firefighters during the time such services are rendered, in the same manner and to the same extent as if he were a volunteer member of the fire company or fire department which he is assisting, including benefits under the volunteer firefighters' benefit law. Any such commanding officer when authorized by the legislative body of the city or the village, the board of fire commissioners or other governing board of the fire district, or the town board of the town in relation to (a) the fire companies serving territory outside villages and fire districts or (b) a town fire department, as the case may be, shall have power, in his discretion, to so accept the services of a volunteer firefighter.

1-b. In the event that an active volunteer firefighter provides services under subdivision one of this section when there is no jurisdictional officer in command present, such volunteer firefighter shall be entitled to coverage under the volunteer firefighters' benefit law provided the fire company or municipality the volunteer serves adopts a resolution granting coverage for the provision of such services. Upon arrival of a jurisdictional officer in command, such volunteer shall be entitled to benefits in the manner set forth in subdivision one of this section.

1-c. A member of a fire company or department of another state who is regularly in an area served by a volunteer fire company or fire department may volunteer their services on an on-going basis to such fire company or fire department for the purpose of assisting such company or department's general or emergency ambulance services, or for the purpose of assisting such fire company or fire department at a fire or other emergency scene or for the purpose of training with such fire company or fire department, provided that such company or department is authorized to accept such services by the governing body of the city or the village, the board of fire commissioners or other governing board of the fire district, or the town board of the town in relation to (a) the fire companies serving territory outside villages and fire districts or (b) a town fire department, as the case may be. Upon application by an out-of-state firefighter, a fire company or fire department shall determine whether such out-of-state firefighter meets state and local requirements for active members of their company or department, including, but not limited to, compliance with a background check pursuant to section eight hundred thirty-seven-o of the executive law, and whether such out-of-state firefighter is in good standing with the fire company or department in which they normally serve. If a volunteer fire company or fire department accepts the services of such an out-of-state firefighter, such firefighter shall be entitled to all powers, rights, privileges and immunities granted by law to volunteer firefighters during the time such services are rendered, in the same manner and to the same extent as if such firefighter were a volunteer member of the fire company or fire department being assisted, including benefits under the volunteer firefighters' benefit law, provided, however, such firefighter shall not be eligible to participate in a service award program as authorized by articles eleven-A and eleven-AAAA of this chapter nor shall such firefighter be eligible for coverage under section eleven-c of the volunteer firefighters' benefit law relating to diseases of the lung and section sixty-one of the volunteer firefighters' benefit law relating to disease or malfunction of heart or coronary arteries and any other presumptive coverage for impairment of health or death. Upon acceptance of such out-of-state firefighter to a fire company or fire department, such company or department shall provide to the applicant, and the applicant shall acknowledge receipt of, the following written statement: If a volunteer fire company or fire department accepts the services of a firefighter who is a member of a fire department or a company of another state, such firefighter shall be entitled to all powers, rights, privileges and immunities granted by law to volunteer firefighters during the time such services are rendered, in the same manner and to the same extent as if such firefighter were a volunteer member of the fire company or fire department being assisted, including benefits under the volunteer firefighters' benefit law, provided, however, such firefighter shall not be eligible to participate in a service award program as authorized by articles 11-A and 11-AAAA of the general municipal law, nor shall such firefighters be eligible for coverage under section eleven-c of the volunteer firefighters' benefit law, relating to diseases of the lung, and section 61 of the volunteer firefighters' benefit law, relating to disease or malfunction of heart or coronary arteries, and any other presumptive coverage for impairment of health or death.

2. The municipal corporation or fire district which would be liable for the negligence of any volunteer members of the fire company or fire department which has accepted the services of the volunteer firefighter pursuant to this section shall be liable for the negligence of such volunteer firefighter while acting, after such acceptance and during the time such services were rendered, in the discharge of his or her duties as a volunteer firefighter in the same manner and to the same extent as if he or she were a volunteer member of the fire company or fire department which he or she assisted. If the fire company or fire department which has so accepted the services of a volunteer firefighter pursuant to this section is a paid fire company or paid fire department, such paid fire company or paid fire department shall, for the purposes of this subdivision and section two hundred five-b of this article, be deemed to be a "duly organized volunteer fire company" within the meaning of such section two hundred five-b.

3. As used in this section, the term "volunteer firefighter" means a "volunteer firefighter" as such term is defined in section three of the volunteer firefighters' benefit law; the term "area regularly served" means the home area of the volunteer firefighter as described in subdivisions one, two, three, four or five of section thirty of the volunteer firefighters' benefit law and, in addition, any other area served pursuant to a contract for fire protection and the terms "fire company" and "fire department" shall include emergency rescue and first aid squads or other squads or units of a fire company or fire department.

Editor's Notes Laws 1956, ch 699, eff March 1, 1957, provided:

§ 26. It is the intent of the legislature, in enacting the amendments contained in this act, to harmonize the statutes of the state and the charter of the city of Rome with the volunteer firemen's benefit law so as to avoid ambiguity and uncertainty in construing the laws by amending or eliminating those provisions of law which are inconsistent with the provisions of the volunteer firemen's benefit law. If in this act there shall have been incorporated or omitted in any provision any grant of power or imposition of a duty which incorporation or omission is not required to harmonize such provision with the volunteer firemen's benefit law, such incorporation or omission shall not become effective but shall be deemed an inadvertence or error.

§ 27. No action, suit or proceeding, pending at the time when this act shall take effect, brought by or against a municipal corporation or a fire district, or any agency, board, commission or official thereof, shall be affected or abated by the adoption of this act or by anything therein contained, and such action, suit or proceeding shall be continued as if this act shall not have taken effect.

§ 28. The provisions of the workmen's compensation law relating to compensation and other benefits when volunteer firemen are killed or injured, and for the securing of such compensation, which were in effect on or prior to the twenty-eighth day of February, nineteen hundred fifty-seven, shall continue to apply in relation to volunteer firemen killed or injured prior to the first day of March, nineteen hundred fifty-seven, or die from the effects of injuries received prior to such latter date, even though such provisions are deleted from the workmen's compensation law by this act.

§ 29. If any clause, sentence, paragraph, subdivision, section or part of this act shall be adjudged by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, such judgment shall not affect, impair or invalidate the remainder thereof, but shall be confined in its operation to the clause, sentence, paragraph, subdivision, section or part thereof directly involved in the controversy in which such judgment shall have been rendered.

[Laws 1959, ch 866] This act was recommended by the Joint Legislative Committee on Municipal Tort Liability. It is part of the Committee's program of fixing with certainty the liability for negligence arising in the operation of the mutual aid plan in the fire services.

Amendment Notes The 2014 amendment by ch 496, § 1, added 1-b.

The 2017 amendment by ch 155, § 1, added 1-c.

The 2018 amendment by ch 476, § 76, substituted "firefighters" for "firemen" in the section heading; substituted "firefighter" for "fireman" or variants throughout the section; substituted "article" for "chapter" in the last sentence of 2; and made stylistic changes.

In connection with the mutual aid program of fire protection and under proper restrictions and safeguards, the Conservation Department [now DEC] may grant revocable permits to county authorities for the construction, maintenance, and operation of radio towers on State lands acquired for reforestation purposes within the forest preserve, provided, however, that if such construction is to be on forest preserve lands within the Adirondack and Catskill Parks there may be no interference with the wild forest character of the land. 1950 N.Y. Section 10-1006(16) of the Village Law does not affect the limitation under section 10-1006(7) that not more than thirty percent of the members of a fire company may be non-residents of the village or of the area served by the fire department or a fire company. 1981 NY Ops Atty Gen 81-36 (Informal), 1981 N.Y. Member of volunteer firefighting company or volunteer ambulance corps who resides in town which receives services from such company only on mutual aid basis is not eligible for partial exemption based on minimum of 5 years' service in volunteer firefighting company or volunteer ambulance corps. 11 Op. 2. Replacement of equipment

When a county has formally adopted a mutual aid plan for fire and other public emergencies, it may pay for the cost of replacing radios in the various ambulances and emergency vehicles of local volunteer fire departments participating in the mutual aid plan, in order to make a required frequency change in the radio system. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-343, 1978 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 82.

3. Communications center

A county and any or all of the towns in the county may enter into agreements under which the county may establish a communications center which would handle all communications for fire districts, including emergency first aid squads of any fire districts maintaining such squads, calls for general ambulance services, calls for highway department operations and for any other purposes which the county is authorized by law to perform and which towns are also authorized by law to perform. Inclusion of the sheriff's department and town police departments in the operation of a county communications center would not be proper, but the board of supervisors may direct that the communications center be operated by sheriff's department personnel and that its facilities be used by and for that department, but it would be unwise if the facility should be located where the sheriff and his personnel cannot observe, control and, if need be, protect the facility. 1974 Ops Atty Gen Sept 11 (Informal), 1974 N.Y. § 209-l. Removal of volunteer officers and volunteer members of fire departments

1. The authorities having control of fire departments of cities, towns, villages and fire districts may make regulations governing the removal of volunteer officers and volunteer members of such departments and the companies thereof.

2. Such officers and members of such departments and companies shall not be removed from office, or membership, as the case may be, by such authorities or by any other officer or body, except for incompetence or misconduct.

3. Removals on the ground of incompetence or misconduct, except for absenteeism at fires or meetings, shall be made only after a hearing upon due notice and upon stated charges and with the right to such officer or member to a review pursuant to article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules. Such charges shall be in writing and may be made by any such authority. The burden of proving incompetency or misconduct shall be upon the person alleging the same.

4. a. Hearings upon such charges shall be held by the officer or body having the power to remove the person charged with incompetency or misconduct or by a deputy or employee of such officer, or body designated in writing for that purpose. In a case where a deputy or other employee is so designated, he or she shall, for the purpose of such hearing, be vested with all the powers of such officer or body, and shall make a record of such hearing, which shall be referred to such officer or body for review within ninety days from the close of such hearing along with his or her recommendations.

b. The notice of such hearing shall specify the time and place of such hearing and state the body or person before whom the hearing will be held.

c. Such notice and a copy of such charges shall be served personally upon the accused officer or member at least ten days but not more than thirty days before the date of the hearing.

d. A stenographer may be employed for the purpose of taking testimony at the hearing.

5. The officer or body having the power to remove the person charged with incompetence or misconduct may suspend such person after charges are filed and pending disposition of the charges, and after the hearing may remove such person or may suspend him or her for a period of time not to exceed one year.

The provisions of this section shall not affect the right of members of any fire company to remove a volunteer officer or voluntary member of such company for failure to comply with the constitution and by-laws of such company.

1. Generally

The delegation to a fire department under its constitution and bylaws to impose limited discipline is a grant of concurrent authority, and does not deprive the board of fire commissioners of its power to remove a volunteer fireman for misconduct after a proper hearing. Acker v Board of Fire Comm'rs, 25 A.D.2d 282, 269 N.Y.S.2d 628, 1966 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4481 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1966).

Summary suspension of petitioner fire company for violation of fire department's "Communications Rule" did not violate CLS Gen Mun § 209-l and was not arbitrary or capricious, as § 209-l did not apply where fire department was authorized by its constitution and bylaws to investigate and discipline its members, including petitioner, and discipline imposed was not unfairly disproportionate. Empire Hook & Ladder Co. No. 1 v Nyack Fire Dep't, 176 Misc. 2d 616, 673 N.Y.S.2d 1, 1998 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 150 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1998).

It may be possible to vote a chaplain or physician into a fire department as an active member so as to be entitled to the benefits of the Volunteer Firemen's Benefit Law, the number of calls to active duty to be responded to by such a member, in view of his professional duties, being a matter of satisfying the authority having control of the fire department. 1961 NY Ops Atty Gen May 23 (Informal), 1961 N.Y. AG LEXIS 94.

Removal of members of a volunteer fire company must be based on incompetency or misconduct, except in instances of absenteeism, and the charges must be filed, notice of hearing given, and a hearing held to establish them. 1962 NY Ops Atty Gen July 31 (Informal), 1962 N.Y. AG LEXIS 201.

Procedure prescribed in this section must be followed in order to remove a fire district officer or employee. 1954 Op St Compt No. 54-7056.

When a volunteer fireman is removed from membership in a volunteer fire company by vote of the members themselves based on the company's constitution and by-laws, rather than by village fire authorities, then the village may not provide a legal defense to the fire department when sued by the discharged fireman for wrongful removal. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-366, 1980 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 295.

A non-resident of a fire district may be allowed membership in a fire company of the fire district fire department if such membership is authorized by the fire company. Where such membership is permitted, the non-resident member shall have all the powers, duties, immunities, and privileges of resident members, including the right to hold a fire company office, unless the nonresident is also a non-resident of the State. A volunteer fireman may belong to only one fire company at a time and where such fireman joins a second company, he may be removed from membership in the original company. 1985 Op St Compt No. 85-31, 1985 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 113.

2. Construction

There is no inconsistency between the main body of this section and the last sentence, giving members of a fire company right to remove an officer or member for failure to comply with the company's constitution and by-laws, and the fact that the members of the company might, under the last sentence, get rid of one of their number for unspecified and general reasons does not extend or expand the powers of the fire council, which can only proceed to oust or suspend a volunteer fireman pursuant to specific charges and a hearing. Schenck v Fire Council of Sea Cliff Fire Dep't, 35 Misc. 2d 685, 231 N.Y.S.2d 511, 1962 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 3004 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1962).

3. Rules and regulations; attendance at fires and meetings

A board of fire commissioners had the power and discretion to approve the recommendation of the board of officers of a fire district to dismiss the appellants (volunteer firemen) for absenteeism at fires and meetings, without serving charges on the appellants and without granting them a hearing. So, summary judgment was granted dismissing a complaint which had sought for a judgment declaring (1) that the rules and regulations of the board of commissioners of the fire district governing the removal of volunteer members were null and void, (2) that their dismissal by the board of fire commissioners (which approved the action of the board of officers of the fire department was null and void), and (3) that they were members in good standing. Iannucci v Summa, 8 A.D.2d 841, 190 N.Y.S.2d 560, 1959 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7887 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1959).

A board of fire commissioners may adopt a rule or regulation providing that membership in a fire company is dependent upon attendance at fires. 1955 NY Ops Atty Gen June 9 (Informal), 1955 N.Y. AG LEXIS 244.

The board of fire commissioners may adopt rules and regulations governing all fire companies and fire departments in its fire district. At the same time, a fire company, may adopt a by-law more stringent, as respects attendance at fires by members of the company, than is provided in rules and regulations of the fire commissioner. 1959 NY Ops Atty Gen Nov 25 (Informal), 1959 N.Y. AG LEXIS 240.

4. —Hair grooming

In Article 78 proceeding voluntary fireman was reinstated to position on basis that chief's bulletin purporting to control the grooming of hair, not intended as an amendment of the by-laws nor adopted as a regulation by the Board of Fire Commissioners, was invalid. Thompson v Bd. of Fire Comm'rs, 64 Misc. 2d 477, 315 N.Y.S.2d 480, 1970 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1345 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1970).

As to a regulation by a board of fire commissioners with reference to the length of hair of firemen, there is, as a matter of substantive due process, a constitutional right to determine one's own hair style and the burden is upon the board of fire commissioners to show substantial justification for the regulation it seeks to impose. Hunt v Board of Fire Comm'rs, 68 Misc. 2d 261, 327 N.Y.S.2d 36, 1971 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1096 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1971).

The evidence presented by a board of fire commissioners with regard to a regulation as to the length of hair of a volunteer fireman did not show any necessity or justification for such regulation and a volunteer fireman, who had been suspended for violation of such regulation, was ordered reinstated as a member of the department. Hunt v Board of Fire Comm'rs, 68 Misc. 2d 261, 327 N.Y.S.2d 36, 1971 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1096 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1971).

5. Suspension

Board of fire commissioners had authority to suspend volunteer firefighter for misconduct although it occurred when he was off-duty and was not directly related to his duties with fire district. Black v Board of Fire Comm'rs, 191 A.D.2d 551, 595 N.Y.S.2d 692, 1993 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2267 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1993).

Where it did not appear that a Board of Fire Commissioners of a town had adopted any particular rules or regulations, it had no power to suspend a volunteer member on the ground of allegedly giving out false information as to condition of the electrical system at the main fire house without establishing that any of its rules were thereby violated or that the information given out was, in fact, false. Burkart v Board of Fire Comm'rs, 28 Misc. 2d 64, 219 N.Y.S.2d 289, 1960 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1947 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1960).

A volunteer fireman may be suspended from duty involving operation of fire vehicles without affecting his other duties, and without first granting him a due process hearing. 1978 Op St Compt No. 78-1086.

6. Hearing procedure

A city fire department sufficiently complied with the requirements of Gen Mun Law § 209-l in its disciplinary proceeding against a volunteer fireman based on the fireman's refusal of a direct order from his officer in charge where the fact that the fire department excluded witnesses from the hearing on the charges until it was their turn to testify did not violate the requirement that such hearings be public, and where, though no transcript of the hearing was kept, the keeping of such transcripts is not a statutory requirement when hearings are held by boards of fire commissioners. Bigando v Quick, 97 A.D.2d 609, 468 N.Y.S.2d 92, 1983 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 20232 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1983).

Notice of discipline served on firefighter did not contain sufficient information to apprise firefighter of charges against him, although charges described specific actions by firefighter that apparently constituted alleged misconduct, since no specific rule or regulation which prohibited such actions was cited or provided. Bigando v Heitzman, 187 A.D.2d 917, 590 N.Y.S.2d 553, 1992 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 13449 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1992).

Although CLS Gen Mun § 209-l did not require vote of membership of volunteer fire company to remove firefighter for violating company's bylaws, which provided that power to remove member rested with board of directors, firefighter's due process rights were nevertheless violated when 2 members of board of directors, who were fact-finders, testified against him at removal hearing, thus depriving firefighter of impartial decision maker. Ferrara v Magee Volunteer Fire Dep't, Inc., 191 A.D.2d 967, 594 N.Y.S.2d 506, 1993 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2914 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 1993).

Hearing is required under CLS Gen Mun § 209-l only for removal of volunteer firefighter on ground of incompetence or misconduct; no hearing is necessary for discharge based on absenteeism. Leahy v Jordan, 207 A.D.2d 385, 615 N.Y.S.2d 706, 1994 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 8222 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1994).

In a N.Y. C.P.L.R. art. 78 proceeding, the former member was entitled to a hearing under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 209-l with respect to the charge that the member lied to the volunteer fire company's board of inquiry where (1) the fire company contended that such conduct violated the fire company's code of ethics and conduct, (2) the bylaws that were in the record did not address such conduct, and the fire company's constitution was not in the record, (3) therefore, the charge of lying alleged misconduct pursuant to § 209-l, entitling the member to a hearing, and (4) the member was denied due process because the member was not afforded those fundamental rights. Pawlowski v Big Tree Volunteer Firemen's Co., 12 A.D.3d 1030, 784 N.Y.S.2d 785, 2004 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 14059 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2004).

Trial court properly remitted a disciplinary matter to a fire department for further proceedings because, while a volunteer firefighter's exempt status, standing alone, did not entitle him to the Civil Service Law protection where he was neither a permanent employee nor a permanent appointee, and the fire department officials were required to comply with the procedures set forth in the General Municipal Law. Matter of McEvoy v Oyster Bay Fire Co. No. 1, 117 A.D.3d 953, 986 N.Y.S.2d 187, 2014 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3628 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 2014).

A hearing on charges of misconduct against a volunteer fireman under this section is very different from that held by administrative agencies as an aid to performing their functions, being quasi-judicial in character and essentially adversary in nature, and the opportunity to confront and cross-examine witnesses is a fundamental part of it. Busking v Kronimus, 41 Misc. 2d 985, 247 N.Y.S.2d 149, 1963 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1711 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1963), aff'd, 22 A.D.2d 888, 255 N.Y.S.2d 312, 1964 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2631 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1964).

A volunteer fireman was not accorded such a hearing as contemplated by this section on charges of misconduct where his counsel was not afforded a chance to cross-examine witnesses called to testify against him. Busking v Kronimus, 41 Misc. 2d 985, 247 N.Y.S.2d 149, 1963 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 1711 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1963), aff'd, 22 A.D.2d 888, 255 N.Y.S.2d 312, 1964 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 2631 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1964).

The procedure outlined in this section, including taking of testimony under oath, must be followed in an investigation by the board of fire wardens of misconduct charges against volunteer members of a fire department, otherwise penalties imposed are subject to annulment. Gardner v Ward, 199 N.Y.S.2d 953 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1960).

Removal of members of a volunteer fire company must be based on incompetency or misconduct, except in instances of absenteeism, and the charges must be filed, notice of hearing given, and a hearing held to establish them. 1962 NY Ops Atty Gen July 31 (Informal), 1962 N.Y. AG LEXIS 201.

7. Removal by membership

The board of fire commissioners of a fire district had jurisdiction, pursuant to Gen Mun Law § 209-l, to entertain removal proceedings based on the misconduct of a volunteer fireman who had the status of a life member of the fire department, and his pleas of guilty to the crimes of filing a false instrument in the second degree and petty larceny, as evidenced by a certified copy of the transcript of minutes of the plea proceedings and a certified copy of the disposition, were sufficient to support the board's determination of misconduct; moreover, the penalty of removal was not so disproportionate to the offenses as to be shocking to one's sense of fairness, where the crimes to which the fireman had pled guilty had been committed against the fire district while he had been a fire commissioner of the fire district. Sommers v Board of Fire Comm'rs, 99 A.D.2d 784, 472 N.Y.S.2d 33, 1984 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 17167 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep't 1984).

CLS Gen Mun § 209-l, which preserves right of members of fire company to remove volunteer officer or voluntary member for failure to comply with company's constitution and by-laws, did not necessitate hearing before majority of members of fire company could vote to expel petitioner as volunteer member and secretary. Armstrong v Centerville Fire Co., 195 A.D.2d 723, 599 N.Y.S.2d 939, 1993 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 7081 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1993), aff'd, 83 N.Y.2d 937, 615 N.Y.S.2d 314, 638 N.E.2d 959, 1994 N.Y. LEXIS 1298 (N.Y. 1994).

Fire department member was not entitled to N.Y. C.P.L.R. art. 78 relief because the board of fire commissioners was justified in finding that the member of a fire department had engaged in misconduct under N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 209-l and expelling the member from membership where the member repeatedly violated direct orders, sent unprofessional emails to other members, and continued to do so even after receiving warnings about the consequences. Matter of Shafer v Board of Fire Commr., Selkirk Fire Dist., 107 A.D.3d 1229, 967 N.Y.S.2d 491, 2013 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 4323 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 2013).

When a volunteer fireman is removed from membership in a volunteer fire company by vote of the members themselves based on the company's constitution and by-laws, rather than by village fire authorities, then the village may not provide a legal defense to the fire department when sued by the discharged fireman for wrongful removal. 1980 Op St Compt No. 80-366, 1980 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 295.

8. Procedure

Doctrine of res judicata did not bar plaintiff from bringing 42 USCS § 1983 civil rights action following court's dismissal "without prejudice" of his § 1983 damage claims in Article 78 proceeding for reinstatement as firefighter, although Article 78 proceeding was ultimately dismissed on merits, where (1) plaintiff did not seek restoration of any economic benefits derivable from his status as member of respondent's volunteer fire company, but rather sought $1 million in damages plus attorneys' fees for embarrassment, loss of reputation and mental anguish, and (2) court had expressly reserved plaintiff's right to maintain plenary action on § 1983 damage claims. Parker v Blauvelt Volunteer Fire Co., 93 N.Y.2d 343, 690 N.Y.S.2d 478, 712 N.E.2d 647, 1999 N.Y. LEXIS 775 (N.Y. 1999).

Plaintiff was collaterally estopped from relitigating, in 42 USCS § 1983 civil rights action, claims of deprivation of his constitutional rights to due process and free speech which were identical to allegations of constitutional violations that he asserted as basis for annulment of CLS Gen Mun § 209-l disciplinary determinations in his prior Article 78 proceeding seeking reinstatement as firefighter. Parker v Blauvelt Volunteer Fire Co., 93 N.Y.2d 343, 690 N.Y.S.2d 478, 712 N.E.2d 647, 1999 N.Y. LEXIS 775 (N.Y. 1999).

Order transferring the N.Y. C.P.L.R. art. 78 proceeding to the appellate court was vacated and the matter was remitted to the trial court for further proceedings where (1) the petition was improperly transferred because the former members were charged with violating a provision of the volunteer fire company's bylaws with respect to fuel use, and the members were not entitled to a hearing on those charges, and (2) although the appellate court had the authority to address the merits of that part of the petition in the interest of judicial economy, it could not have, on the record, resolved the contention of the members that they were denied due process because the record did not contain the written charges filed with the fire company and the appellate court was unable to determine whether the charges were filed by members of the board of inquiry, thereby denying the members the right to impartial decision makers. Pawlowski v Big Tree Volunteer Firemen's Co., 12 A.D.3d 1030, 784 N.Y.S.2d 785, 2004 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 14059 (N.Y. App. Div. 4th Dep't 2004).

9. Illustrative cases

Discipline of volunteer fireman by imposition of 6-month suspension, 6-month probation, and prohibition against holding position as company line officer for 2 years did not constitute impermissible suspension beyond one-year limit fixed by CLS Gen Mun § 209-l, since fireman was suspended for only 6 months; 2-year prohibition affected only his rank or grade. Bigando v Schreiber, 124 A.D.2d 878, 508 N.Y.S.2d 646, 1986 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 62211 (N.Y. App. Div. 3d Dep't 1986).

A volunteer fire company located entirely within city limits would be held covered under the city's excess liability policy in an action to recover for personal injuries sustained in an automobile accident while plaintiff was a passenger in a car owned and operated by a volunteer fireman responding to a fire in the city, since, although the city's three volunteer fire companies were otherwise independent corporations free to carry on their internal affairs without interference by the city, once a fire alarm sounded, the fire chief, a paid civil service employee of the city, by virtue of the city charter assumed command of the city's volunteer companies to coordinate and direct the firefighting efforts (see also, N-PCL § 1402[e][1]; Gen Mun Law § 209-l), thus making the volunteer company a "named insured" as an organization under the "control and management" of the city during a fire; such holding is consistent with the rule that fire districts may be held liable for the negligence of volunteer fireman while operating privately-owned vehicles in responding to an alarm; even if the volunteer company were not a "named insured," it would nevertheless be entitled to coverage as an insured under the city's primary policy. Cook v Geneva, 127 Misc. 2d 261, 485 N.Y.S.2d 497, 1985 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2583 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1985).

Any city accepting and transmitting fire calls from territory outside the city, pursuant to any such contract, shall not be liable for any injury or death to persons or damage to property as the result thereof, when it, in good faith, complies with or attempts to comply with the provisions of this section.

§ 209-u. Notification of presence of hazardous materials

1. The knowledge of the presence of hazardous materials is vital to meeting the contingencies of a fire or other emergency. It is the purpose of this section to secure the health, safety and welfare of the public, protect those called upon to respond to the emergency, encourage preparedness to meet any danger, and promote planning for future demands for emergency services by requiring the reporting of the presence of hazardous materials.

2. As used in this section:

(a) the term "insured" or "policyholder" means the policyholder of a fire insurance policy insuring against a risk located in this state; and

(aa) the term "person" means any individual, partnership, corporation or association; and

(b) the term "insurer" means any insurance company authorized to do the business of fire insurance in this state; and

(c) for the purpose of this section hazardous materials shall be those which bear a label under requirements of the United States Department of Transportation or those listed on the form prescribed by the state fire administrator.

3. Every person engaged in commerce in this state, excepting those operating as a farm, as defined by subdivision one of section six hundred seventy-one of the labor law who, based upon the experience of the business in the use of hazardous materials during the previous year, may have possession of hazardous materials at a permanent place of business, a construction site or a temporary storage depot, shall report the presence of such hazardous materials to the chief of the appropriate fire department, fire corporation, or fire company having responsibility for fire protection of each location at which any such hazardous material may be found. Upon receipt thereof, in counties which have an office of county fire coordinator, the fire department, fire corporation or fire company, shall forward a copy of said report to the office of the county fire coordinator.

4. A separate report shall be filed for each street address at which any such hazardous materials may be found. Such report shall be filed annually with such fire chief on a date to be determined by the state fire administrator in the manner prescribed by the state fire administrator. Upon receipt thereof, in counties which have an office of county fire coordinator, the fire department, fire corporation or fire company, shall forward a copy of said report to the office of the county fire coordinator. Such report shall be printed by and supplied to insurers upon their request by the office of fire prevention and control. Failure to file as required in this section shall not be the basis for denial by an insurer of an insured's claim under any policy in force for said property. The filing by the person of a single report to any one fire department, fire corporation, or fire company shall be sufficient to meet the requirements of this section where hazardous materials may be found at more than one location at each street address for which he must report.

5. An exemption from the provisions of subdivision three of this section may be granted by the chief of the fire department, fire corporation, or fire company where, in cooperation with or at the invitation of the person, he chooses to make or causes his representative to make an inspection of the person's place of business. At the time of such inspection the person is required to inform the chief or his representative of any hazardous materials which are subject to the provisions of this section. Failure to inform shall constitute a violation as set forth in subdivision eight of this section.

6. Exemptions from the provisions of subdivision three of this section may also be granted by said chief as follows: (a) a general exemption if the firefighting capability of the person is sufficient to defend against an emergency involving such hazardous material; (b) an exemption, based upon the need for confidentiality, from the reporting of specific hazardous materials. Requests for exemptions shall be in writing and shall be filed annually with said chief. Such exemptions shall be filed with said chief and in counties which have an office of county fire coordinator, a copy of said exemption shall be forwarded by said chief to the office of county fire coordinator on a date to be determined by the state fire administrator in the manner prescribed by the state fire administrator. Exemptions shall be in writing and shall expire one year from the date granted. An exemption may be revoked if the conditions provided in paragraph (a) or (b) of this subdivision no longer exist.

7. The state fire administrator shall provide that the report form required in subdivision four of this section shall indicate the manner in which the exemption procedures granted herein shall be followed and also that the form shall make provision for the signature of the fire chief for the purpose of certifying that an exemption to subdivision three has been granted.

8. Any person who fails to report the presence of hazardous materials as required in this section shall be subject to a fine of not more than two hundred fifty dollars for the first offense, and upon being found guilty of a second or subsequent offense, by a fine of not less than two hundred fifty dollars or more than one thousand dollars. Except as otherwise provided by law, such a violation shall not be a crime and the penalty or punishment imposed therefor shall not be deemed for any purpose a criminal penalty or punishment and shall not impose any disability upon or affect or impair the credibility as a witness, or otherwise, of a person found guilty thereof.

§ 215. Definitions

As used in this article:

1. "Active volunteer firefighter" means a person who has been approved by the authorities in control of a duly organized volunteer fire company or volunteer fire department as an active volunteer firefighter of such fire company or department and who is faithfully and actually performing service in the protection of life and property from fire or other emergency, accident or calamity in connection with which the services of such fire company or fire department are required.

2. 3. "Defined contribution plan" means any service award program that provides to eligible volunteer firefighters a benefit as the result of definite and determinable contributions under the program, and without reference to any income, expense, gains or losses or forfeitures of other participants under the program.

4. "Entitlement age" means the age designated by the sponsor at which a program participant is entitled to begin receiving an unreduced service award. In no event shall the entitlement age under a program be earlier than age fifty-five nor later than the age at which the participant can receive an unreduced benefit under Title II of the Social Security Act (Public Law 74-271 U.S.C. 306 et seq.). No service award program may provide for the payment of benefits (except in the case of death or disability) before age fifty-five.

1. Generally

While N.Y. Gen. Mun. Law § 215(4) required an eligibility age for length of service award programs (LOSAPs) for volunteer firefighters, it did not require that volunteer firefighters, who reached the eligibility age, could not continue to earn firefighting service; thus, a village was not constrained by § 215(4) to either adopt a LOSAP that did not provide benefits to firefighters age 54 or older, or adopt no LOSAP at all, and compliance with § 215(4) did not provide a defense to allegations by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission that the village discriminated against volunteer firefighters based on their age, in violation of the Age Discrimination in Employment Law, 29 U.S.C.S. § 621 et seq. EEOC v Inc. Vill. of Valley Stream, 535 F. Supp. 2d 323, 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 9316 (E.D.N.Y. 2008).

Joint fire district may establish service award program for volunteer firefighters of joint fire district fire department, but service award program may not provide prior service credit for activities performed under auspices of village fire department. 2000 Op St Compt No. 2000-18, 2000 N.Y. Service award program may provide for participant to earn service credit after attaining program's entitlement age, subject to 40-year maximum provided for in CLS Gen Mun Law Art 11-A; to implement such feature, program may allow participant to waive voluntarily right to begin receiving his or her service award on reaching entitlement age in order to continue to earn credit after entitlement age, but program should not be structured so as to allow participant to begin receiving payment of his or her service award at program's entitlement age and to continue to earn service credit while receiving such payment. 2002 Op St Compt No. 2002-2, 2002 N.Y. § 216. Authorization to establish service award programs for volunteer firefighters of political subdivisions of the state and for volunteer firefighters other than of political subdivisions of the state

1. a. A service award program may be adopted only by resolution of the governing board of a political subdivision, receiving the affirmative vote of at least sixty percent of the governing board of the political subdivision having control of the fire departments and fire companies, and the approval of a mandatory referendum authorizing the adopting of the program by the eligible voters within such political subdivision.

b. The resolution authorizing the adoption of a service award program shall state:

(i) the name of each fire company having volunteer firefighters who are potential participants in the program;

(ii) whether the program will be administered by the political subdivision or the state;

(iii) the entitlement age under the program;

(iv) the estimated annual cost of program, including the estimated annual administration fee;

(v) the number of years of fire service required to obtain a nonforfeitable right to a service award;

(vi) the activities for which points shall be granted toward a year of fire service;

(vii) the amount of the contribution to the program to be made on behalf of each participant credited with a year of fire service;

(viii) the extent to which the program provides for contributions for fire service rendered by a participant during one or more of the five calendar years immediately preceding the adoption of the program;

(ix) in the case of a service award program which provides for contributions for fire service rendered by a participant during one or more of the five calendar years immediately preceding the adoption of the program, the timing and method of financing such contributions;

(x) the date as of which the program shall take effect; in the case of a service award program to take effect on a day other than the first day of January, whether points toward a year of fire service shall be granted for activities performed prior to the effective date of the program and on or after the immediately preceding first day of January; and

(xi) the date on which the proposition authorizing the adoption of the program shall be submitted to referendum.

2. Upon the affirmative vote of at least sixty percent of the governing board of the political subdivision, which political subdivision has contracted with volunteer fire departments or fire companies located in a fire protection district of such political subdivision, there shall be held a mandatory referendum of the eligible voters residing within such fire protection districts to determine whether such governing board shall establish a service award program for the volunteer firefighters of such volunteer fire departments or fire companies.

3. (a) The referendum described in subdivision one or two of this section shall state the type of service award program selected, whether a defined contribution program described in section two hundred eighteen or a defined benefit program described in section two hundred nineteen of this article.

(b) The referendum described in subdivision one or two of this section shall state the estimated annual cost of the service award program, including the estimated annual administration fee, the projected monthly award to be paid to eligible volunteer firefighters and the estimated annual cost per covered participant.

(c) The referendum described in subdivision one or two of this section shall state whether the service award program will be administered by the political subdivision or the state of New York.

(d) Payments under the service award program if adopted, shall not impair any rights of the volunteer firefighters under the volunteer firefighters' benefit law or any other law.

(e) Except as otherwise provided in this paragraph once a service award program has been established, it may be abolished or amended in the same manner as it was created in accordance with the provisions of this article by following the procedures set forth in subdivision one or two of this section. The point system adopted by the governing board of the sponsor of a service award program pursuant to subdivision (c) of section two hundred seventeen of this article may be amended by the affirmative vote of at least sixty percent of such governing board, without referendum, provided, that, consistent with the provisions of subdivision (c) of section two hundred seventeen, the only effect of the amendment is to decrease the number of points granted for the performance of an activity, increase the amount of an activity required to earn the points granted for the performance of the activity, or both. Any amendment to a service award program shall only take effect as of the first day of January next succeeding completion of the proceedings required for adoption of the amendment and shall only apply prospectively.

4. Within thirty days of voter approval of the referendum described in subdivisions one and two of this section, the governing board of the political subdivision shall notify the state comptroller of the adoption of the service award program, whether such service award program will be a defined contribution plan or a defined benefit plan, and whether the plan will be administered by the political subdivision or the state of New York.

5. Notwithstanding any inconsistent provision of law, no member of the governing board of a political subdivision of the state is prohibited by virtue of being a member of a volunteer fire company or department from voting upon a resolution authorizing a referendum on the establishment of a service award program if more than forty percent of the governing board would otherwise be prohibited from voting upon such resolution. Any member of such governing board voting upon such a resolution who serves as a member of a volunteer fire company or department shall publicly disclose in writing to the governing board such status. Such written disclosure shall be part of and set forth in the official record of the proceedings of such governing board.

State-administered defined benefit service award programs for volunteer firefighters. 2 NYCRR §§ 155.1 et seq.

§ 216-b. Continuation of service award programs

1. (a) In the event that a town establishes a service award program for the volunteer firefighters of a fire company located within a fire protection district and, subsequently, the fire protection district is dissolved and the entire area thereof is included in or added to a fire district established pursuant to article eleven of the town law, and the fire district neither has established a service award program nor includes the area of any other jurisdiction which has established a service award program, the service award program established by the town shall be continued as provided in this subdivision.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in this subdivision, as of the date of completion of the proceedings described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision or, in the case of a newly established fire district, as of the date of the first organization meeting of the board of fire commissioners, the town shall have no further responsibility for administering or funding the service award program and the fire district shall assume responsibility for those functions. As of that date, the fire district shall succeed the town as the sponsor of the service award program and the board of fire commissioners shall exercise and perform all of the powers and duties of the sponsor of the program under this article and under any agreements or contracts entered into by the town pursuant thereto in furtherance of its powers and duties as sponsor of the program, including but not limited to the program trust agreement and any contracts relating to the custody, control, investment, or disbursement of program assets. The fire district shall be responsible for funding any unfunded liability of the sponsor of the program existing as of the date the fire district succeeds the town as sponsor of the program.

(c) Upon the fire district's succeeding the town as sponsor of the service award program, the town shall retain responsibility for administering the assets of the program until discharged from such responsibility as provided in this subdivision. Except for those records required for the continued administration of program assets, the town shall turn over immediately to the fire district all records maintained by the town as sponsor of the program.

(d) Within sixty days after the date on which the fire district succeeds the town as sponsor of the service award program, the board of fire commissioners of the fire district shall develop a plan for the continued administration of program assets. Subject to the provisions of the program trust agreement and any contracts entered into by the town in furtherance of its powers and duties as sponsor of the program, such plan may provide for the custody, control, transfer, investment, or disbursement of program assets. Such plan, however, shall provide for the replacement of any individual serving in his or her official capacity as a town officer or employee as trustee or in any other position involving the administration of program assets. In developing such plan, the board of fire commissioners may request from the town information concerning the town's administration of program assets, and the town shall provide promptly such information as the board may reasonably request. Upon completion of the plan, the board of fire commissioners shall submit to the supervisor of the town a copy of the plan and a list of actions required to be taken by the town for implementation of the plan, including but not limited to execution of documents and the transfer of assets. Immediately after receiving such plan and list, the supervisor shall cause the actions on the list to be taken. Upon completion of the actions on the list and submission to the board of fire commissioners of all town records relating to the administration of program assets, the town shall be discharged from any further responsibility for administering the assets of the program. In the event that the board of fire commissioners fails to submit to the supervisor such plan and list within sixty days after the date on which the fire district succeeds the town as sponsor of the program, the supervisor may submit to the board of fire commissioners all town records relating to the administration of program assets, and upon such submission the town shall be discharged from any further responsibility for administering the assets of the program, and the board of fire commissioners shall assume responsibility for administering the assets of the program.

(e) The participants in the service award program as of the date that the fire district succeeds the town as sponsor of the program shall retain all point totals, service credit, contributions, and benefits earned prior to that date, irrespective of whether or not a participant has acquired a nonforfeitable right to a percentage of a service award on or before such date; provided, however, that nothing in this subdivision shall be construed as modifying or eliminating any requirement that a participant obtain a nonforfeitable right to a percentage of a service award in accordance with the provisions of the program. Any other active volunteer firefighters of the fire district fire department shall be eligible to participate in the service award program. Such active volunteer firefighters shall earn credit for years of firefighting service commencing with the calendar year in which the fire district succeeds the town as sponsor of the program, based on activities performed on or after the date that the fire district succeeds the town as sponsor.

(f) Except as provided in this subdivision, the service award program shall continue to be governed by the provisions of this article.

2. (a) In the event that either a town establishes a service award program for the volunteer firefighters of a fire company located within a fire protection district or a village establishes a service award program for the volunteer firefighters of the village fire department or a fire district establishes a service award program for the volunteer firefighters of the fire district fire department and, subsequently, the entire area of the fire protection district, village, or fire district is included in or added to a joint fire district established pursuant to article eleven-A of the town law and article twenty-two-A of the village law, and the joint fire district neither has established a service award program nor includes the area of any other jurisdiction which has established a service award program, the service award program established by the town, village, or fire district shall be continued as provided in this subdivision.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in this subdivision, as of the date of completion of the proceedings described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision or, in the case of a newly established joint fire district, as of the date of the first organization meeting of the board of fire commissioners of the joint fire district, the town, village, or fire district which established the service award program shall have no further responsibility for administering or funding the program and the joint fire district shall assume responsibility for those functions. As of that date, the joint fire district shall succeed the town, village, or fire district as the sponsor of the service award program, and the board of fire commissioners of the joint fire district shall exercise and perform all of the powers and duties of the sponsor of the program under this article and under any agreements entered into by the town, village, or fire district pursuant thereto in furtherance of its powers and duties as sponsor of the program, including but not limited to the program trust agreement and any contracts relating to the custody, control, investment, or disbursement of program assets. Except for those records required for the continued administration of program assets, the town, village, or fire district shall turn over immediately to the joint fire district all records it maintained as sponsor of the program.

(d) Within sixty days after the date on which the joint fire district succeeds the town, village, or fire district which established the service award program as sponsor of the program, the board of fire commissioners of the joint fire district shall develop a plan for the continued administration of program assets. Subject to the provisions of the program trust agreement and any contracts entered into by the town, village, or fire district in furtherance of its powers and duties as sponsor of the program, such plan may provide for the custody, control, transfer, investment, or disbursement of program assets. Such plan, however, shall provide for the replacement of any individual serving in his or her official capacity as a town, village, or fire district officer or employee as trustee or in any other position involving the administration of program assets. (e) The participants in the service award program as of the date that the joint fire district succeeds the town, village or fire district which established the service award program as sponsor of the program shall maintain all point totals, service credit, contributions, and benefits earned prior to that date, irrespective of whether or not a participant has acquired a nonforfeitable right to a percentage of a service award on or before such date; provided, however, that nothing in this subdivision shall be construed as modifying or eliminating any requirement that a participant obtain a nonforfeitable right to a percentage of a service award in accordance with the provisions of the program. Any other active volunteer firefighters of the joint fire district fire department shall be eligible to participate in the service award program. Such active volunteer firefighters shall earn credit for years of firefighting service commencing with the calendar year in which such proceedings are completed, based on activities performed on or after the date of completion of such proceedings.

§ 216-c. State administration of service award programs

1. On or before the fifteenth day of November, two thousand eight and of each succeeding calendar year, the administrator shall determine the amount that each participating program sponsor is required to pay for the state-administered service award programs. The administrator shall submit to the fiscal officer of each political subdivision a statement of the amount so payable. Such amount shall consist of the amount deemed necessary to provide for payment in full of all estimated obligations of the current fiscal year of the fire service awards program and any additional obligations, plus interest on such amount, for fiscal years proceeding the current fiscal year. If, as a result of the amount determined to be paid for any fiscal year, a participating program sponsor over-paid its actual obligation for that year, the amount to be determined by the administrator for the next succeeding November fifteenth shall reflect the amount of the over payment, plus interest, as a reduction in the amount otherwise required to be paid by such participant political subdivision.

2. State-administered service award programs may be centrally administered by the state comptroller, or the comptroller may enter into one or more of the following contracts:

(a) a contract with an administrative service agency or financial organization to serve as program administrator and to perform all or any portion of the functions required to establish and administer such programs including, but not limited to, preparation of a plan document, record keeping, reporting, payment of service awards, and having custody of program moneys and assets;

(b) contracts with one or more financial organizations to invest program moneys; or

(c) a contract with an actuary for the performance of all actuarial calculations required by the program.

If the comptroller contracts for the performance of any function as provided in this subdivision, the comptroller shall be liable only for the exercise of due care in the selection of the administrative service agency, financial organization or actuary performing the function.

3. The state comptroller shall promulgate rules and regulations, as appropriate, for the service award programs. Such rules shall include, but not be limited to, standards for the selection of service providers, the method and timing of the payments required to be made by the sponsor, reporting requirements, matters relating to the preparation of a plan document, application procedures for transfer into the state-administered program, and any other matter relating to the service award programs.

4. (a) The state comptroller, or an administrative service agency or financial organization serving as program administrator, shall prepare and may amend a single plan document setting forth the obligations of sponsors, the rights of the volunteer firefighters, and standards and procedures for the administration of all state-administered service award programs. The plan document and any amendments thereto shall be consistent with the provisions of this article, the rules and regulations promulgated by the comptroller and any amendments thereto. If the plan document or any amendment thereto is prepared by an administrative service agency or financial organization, it shall not take effect until approved by the comptroller.

(b) The program administrator shall cause a summary of the plan document to be provided to each participant within six months from the date that program participation commences. The program administrator shall also cause a summary of any material amendment of the plan document to be provided to each participant within six months of the date the amendment takes effect.

(c) The plan document and the summary of the plan document shall be made available for public inspection and copying.

5. All program assets shall be held in trust for the exclusive purpose of providing service awards to participants and their beneficiaries or for the purpose of defraying the reasonable expenses of the operation and administration of the program. The trust shall be established and may be amended by the state comptroller. The comptroller may designate himself or herself, an administrative service agency, or a financial organization as trustee, and may substitute trustees. If the service award programs and the trust are not tax qualified within the meaning of sections 401 and 501 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 (68A Stat. 3.26 U.S.C. 401 and 501), the trust may provide that assets apportioned to an individual sponsor may be subject to the claims of general creditors, if any, of the sponsor or may contain such other terms and provisions as are necessary to ensure that participation in a service award program does not result in taxable income under any provision of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended.

6. There is hereby established in the custody of the state comptroller a special fund to be known as the volunteer firefighter service award fund. Such fund shall consist of any money of service award programs held by the comptroller. Moneys may be paid from such fund without an appropriation by law. All payments from such fund shall be made only in accordance with the provisions of this article, the rules and regulations promulgated thereto and the plan document.

7. The moneys held for the sponsor of each service award program shall be accounted for separately. The administrator shall cause a statement of contributions to be provided to sponsors at least once annually.

8. The administrator and every fiduciary of a service award program shall be required to act solely in the interest of the program's participants and beneficiaries. Notwithstanding the provisions of any general or special law restricting the power or duty of the state comptroller to invest moneys belonging to a fund which the comptroller is authorized to invest, a fiduciary may accept, hold, invest in and retain any investment if purchased or retained with the care, skill, prudence and diligence under the circumstances then prevailing that a prudent person acting in a like capacity and familiar with such matters would use in the conduct of an enterprise of like character and with like aim.

9. (a) All contracts or agreements with an administrative service agency, financial organization or actuary shall be awarded only after receiving competitive proposals. The preceding shall not preclude amendment of a service award program to provide for an increase in benefits.

If the term of office for a firefighter who has been elected or appointed to a position in a fire company or fire department commences during the month of May, the participant shall receive credit for the full year notwithstanding the fact that the participant has not completed one year in the elected or appointed position at the end of the calendar year in which he or she was elected or appointed.

All forms of benefit payments shall be actuarially equivalent to each other. The sponsor may limit the forms of benefit payment under a service award program or impose conditions concerning the availability of such benefits. Nothing in this subdivision shall require a sponsor of a service award program to purchase annuity contracts from an insurance company.

(i) A participant whose volunteer fire service is interrupted by full-time extended obligatory military service or by a single voluntary enlistment not to exceed four years in the armed forces of the United States shall be considered on military leave. During such period of military leave, the participant shall receive active volunteer service credit of fifty points for each full year, prorated for service of less than a year.

(j) All program assets shall be held in trust for the exclusive purpose of providing benefits to participants and their beneficiaries or for the purpose of defraying the reasonable expenses of the operation and administration of the program. If the service award program and the related trust are not tax qualified within the meaning of sections 401 and 501 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 (68A Stat 3, 26 U.S.C. 401 and 501), the trust referred to in this subdivision may provide that the assets held thereunder may be subject to the claims of general creditors, if any, of the sponsor or may contain such other terms and provisions as are necessary to insure that the participation by an active volunteer firefighter in the service award program does not result in taxable income to such volunteer firefighter under any provision of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended.

(k) Every fiduciary of a service award program will be required to act solely in the interest of the program's participants and beneficiaries. the legally obligated support of minor children or spouse.

(m) A participant who is convicted of the crime of arson in any degree as defined in the penal law shall not be eligible to receive benefits from a service award program and shall forfeit any and all rights he or she may have had to past or future benefits pursuant to a service award program.

(n) An active volunteer firefighters' service award program may provide for the crediting of years of active firefighting service for periods after an active volunteer firefighter has reached the entitlement age and is receiving a service award.

(o) In the case of a state-administered service award program, the state comptroller may promulgate rules and regulations prescribing procedures and forms for the compilation and maintenance of records of the points accumulated by each volunteer firefighter. Each fire company participating in the state-administered program shall compile and maintain such records in the manner prescribed.

3. Eligibility to participate

Volunteer firefighters who also serve as paid employees of political subdivision may not earn credit under service award program for responding to fire alarms during their "regularly assigned work periods" (those times during which individual is ordinarily required to be at work under terms and conditions of his or her employment); permitting volunteer firefighter to take time off to respond to fire alarms does not alter periods when, in fact, volunteer ordinarily is expected to be at work. 1993 Op St Compt No. 93-16, 1993 N.Y. 4. Attending meetings

Volunteer firefighter in fire district department may not be granted points for training unless training is approved by chief or board of fire commissioners. 1997 Op St Compt No. 97-13, 1997 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 2.

6. Illustrative cases

Service award program sponsor may not require accumulation of more than 50 points as condition precedent to crediting active volunteer firefighter with year of firefighting service, sponsor may not require participation in number of calls greater than statutory minimum in order to qualify for 25 points for that activity, and sponsor may not create priorities among activities by conditioning granting of points for one activity on accumulation of points in another category. 2001 Op St Compt No. 2001-2, 2001 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 1.

When establishing service award program for volunteer firefighters, if program is to provide credit for up to 5 years of firefighting service rendered prior to establishment of program, proposition authorizing establishment of program must state, in addition to certain other information, extent to which prior service credit will be provided; however, there is no requirement that proposition contain statement of maximum service credit that may be turned under program, program's entitlement age, or coverage and amount of any life insurance utilized in program. 2002 Op St Compt No. 2002-1, 2001 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 1.

Service award program may provide for participant to earn service credit after attaining program's entitlement age, subject to 40-year maximum provided for in CLS Gen Mun Law Art 11-A; to implement such feature, program may allow participant to waive voluntarily right to begin receiving his or her service award on reaching entitlement age in order to continue to earn credit after entitlement age, but program should not be structured so as to allow participant to begin receiving payment of his or her service award at program's entitlement age and to continue to earn service credit while receiving such payment. 2002 Op St Compt No. 2002-2, 2002 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 5.

For purpose of earning year of firefighting service under fire district service award program that provides points for participation in department responses, volunteer firefighter must be credited with 25 points for responding to minimum number of calls of emergency rescue and first aid squad, as set forth in CLS Gen Mun § 217(c)(vi)(B), and additional 25 points for responding to minimum number of fire company calls other than emergency rescue and first aid squad calls, as set forth in § 217(c)(vi)(A). 2002 Op St Compt No. 2002-11, 2002 N.Y. Comp. LEXIS 11.

Maximum benefit that may be provided under defined benefit plan service award program cannot exceed monthly payment for life of $20 for each year of firefighting service credited under such program, subject to maximum of 40 years of service; fire district may not establish defined benefit plan service award program that provides service award equivalent to $40 per month for each year of firefighting service based on no more than 20 years of service. 2003 Op St Compt No. 2003-3, 2003 N.Y. State-administered defined benefit service award programs for volunteer firefighters. 2 NYCRR §§ 155.1 et seq.

§ 218. Requirements and benefits under a defined contribution plan service award program

(a) An active volunteer firefighter's service award program that is a defined contribution plan shall be subject to minimum and maximum contribution requirements as set forth in subdivision (b) of this section. In determining whether such minimum and maximum contribution requirements have been satisfied, all benefits provided under all service award programs instituted by a sponsor shall be considered as one program.

(b) The sponsor of a defined contribution plan shall contribute to the plan a fixed amount of money, as determined by the sponsor, on behalf of each participant who is credited with a year of service. The minimum and maximum contribution requirements for a defined contribution service award program shall be as follows. The minimum contribution shall be one hundred twenty dollars per year of service. The maximum contribution shall be twelve hundred dollars per year of service. The maximum number of years of service for which a participant may receive a contribution shall be forty years. The sponsor shall appropriate annually an amount sufficient to pay the contributions.

(c) The benefit payable to a participant in a defined contribution plan shall be the resulting amount from a defined annual contribution made by the sponsor less necessary administrative costs and shall include interest and/or other earnings resulting from investment of the annual contribution. The governing board of the sponsor may retain an actuary to provide advice with respect to the investment of annual contributions or any other aspect of the program and the cost thereof shall constitute a necessary administrative cost of the program. Benefits shall be available when the participating volunteer firefighter reaches entitlement age or at the time permanent total disability is established.

(d) In the event that any active volunteer firefighter becomes disabled and in the event that the disability prevents the active volunteer firefighter from pursuing such volunteer's normal occupation and if the disability is total and of a permanent nature as certified by the workers' compensation board or other competent authority approved by the sponsor of the service award program, the volunteer firefighter is entitled to receive the benefits described in this section, regardless of age or length of service. Such benefits shall begin on the first day of the first month following the establishment of such disability.

At the option of the sponsor of the service award program, the sponsor may provide an additional disability benefit in the event that any active volunteer firefighter becomes disabled during the course of service as a volunteer while actively engaged in providing a line of duty services, as defined in subdivision one of section five of the volunteer firefighters' benefit law. The additional disability benefit shall be an amount equal to an amount stated in the referendum under which the program was established or amended and payable to the disabled firefighter monthly for life. The plan sponsor shall provide the plan annually with the additional funds necessary to accommodate this additional disability benefit or the sponsor may purchase an annuity or make other provisions to effectuate the additional disability benefit.

(e) A volunteer firefighter's retirement income plan shall provide that, in the event of the death of an active volunteer firefighter who has a right to a nonforfeitable percentage of retirement income pursuant to subdivision (b) of this section, the designated beneficiaries of such active volunteer firefighter (or his estate if no beneficiary is so designated) shall be entitled to receive death benefits under the service award plan. Such benefits shall be equal to the amount of benefits earned by the volunteer firefighter under the plan at the date of death.

At the option of the sponsor of the services award program, if the active volunteer firefighter dies during the course of service as a volunteer while actively engaged in providing line of duty services, as defined in subdivision one of section five of the volunteer firefighters' benefit law, additional death benefits may be provided by the sponsor. The amount of such death benefit shall be stated in the referendum under which the program was established or amended. In the event of the death of an active volunteer firefighter during the course of service as a volunteer while actively engaged in providing line of duty services, as defined in subdivision one of section five of the volunteer firefighters' benefit law, such death benefit amount shall be paid by the sponsor to the plan for distribution to the beneficiary or the estate if no beneficiary is designated.

(f) In the case of a state-administered service award program, a service award shall be paid only after an application is made to the program administrator and the administrator approves the application.

Jurisprudences:

27 NY Jur 2d Counties, Towns, and Municipal Corporations §§ 1255, 1256.

§ 219. Requirements and benefits under a defined benefit plan service award program

(a) An active volunteer firefighter's service award program that is a defined benefit plan shall be subject to minimum and maximum retirement benefit requirements as set forth in subdivision (b) of this section. In determining whether such minimum and maximum benefit requirements have been satisfied, all benefits provided under all service award programs instituted by a sponsor shall be considered as one program.

(b) The minimum and maximum retirement benefit requirements for a service award program that is a defined benefit plan shall be defined as follows. Each participating active volunteer firefighter shall be entitled to a minimum service award benefit of five dollars per month for each year of firefighting service completed after satisfying the program's eligibility requirement and after establishment of the program. The maximum benefit amount payable to a participating active volunteer firefighter entitled to a benefit shall be determined on the basis of an actuarial valuation. The valuation shall take into account the age, and such other factors as the actuary deems appropriate, of the eligible participating active volunteer firefighters and the amount of available financing available per active covered volunteer firefighter. The maximum service award under a service award program shall be a monthly payment, payable for life, that does not exceed an amount equal to thirty dollars for each year of firefighting service credited under the terms of the program to a maximum of forty years of firefighting service.

(c) No benefit payments may be made under any service award program that is a defined benefit plan until the tenth anniversary of the establishment of the service award program. The foregoing sentence shall not preclude a service award program from providing for additional benefit payments after the tenth anniversary of the establishment of the service award program to reflect the fact that the payment of benefits could not commence until that date.

Notwithstanding the preceding paragraph, if a program sponsor has been authorized pursuant to section two hundred sixteen or two hundred sixteen-a of this article to provide benefits prior to the tenth anniversary of the establishment of the service award program, it may provide for the payment of service awards from the date of establishment of the service award program or from such other date as is set forth in the authorization.

(d) The governing board shall engage the services of an actuary for the purpose of determining the annual amount required to be contributed to a defined benefit service award program, which amount shall be based on the interest and mortality tables or other appropriate assumptions and methods selected by actuary. The sum so determined shall be appropriated annually by the political subdivision. The governing board may also retain an actuary to provide advice with respect to any other aspect of the program.

(e) In the event that any active volunteer firefighter becomes disabled and in the event that the disability prevents the active volunteer firefighter from pursuing such volunteer's normal occupation and if the disability is total and of a permanent nature as certified by the workers' compensation board or other competent authority as approved by the program sponsor, the volunteer firefighter is entitled to receive the benefits described in this section, regardless of age or length of service. Such benefits shall begin on the first day of the first month following the establishment of such disability.

At the option of the sponsor of the service award program, if the active volunteer firefighter becomes disabled during the course of service as a volunteer while actively engaged in providing line of duty services as defined in subdivision one of section five of the volunteer firefighters' benefit law, an additional disability benefit may be authorized. Additional disability benefit shall be equal to the amount of additional benefits that the volunteer firefighter would have been entitled to had he continued to earn years of firefighting service through his entitlement age if the rate of benefits being provided under the service award program at the time of disability continued to be provided through the entitlement age.

(f) A volunteer firefighter's retirement income plan may provide that, in the event of the death of an active volunteer firefighter who has a right to a nonforfeitable percentage of retirement income pursuant to subdivision (b) of this section, the designated beneficiaries of such active volunteer firefighter (or his estate if no beneficiary is so designated) shall be entitled to receive death benefits under the service award plan. Such death benefits shall be payable in the form of a lump sum amount designated by the sponsor as payable at death or a percentage of the retirement benefits otherwise payable. Such benefits shall be equal to the amount of benefits earned by the volunteer firefighter under the plan at the date of death.

At the option of the sponsor of the service award program, if the active volunteer firefighter dies during the course of service as a volunteer while actively engaged in providing line of duty services, as defined in subdivision one of section five of the volunteer firefighters' benefit law, additional death benefits may be provided.

(g) In the case of a state-administered service award program, a service award shall be paid only after an application is made to the program administrator and the administrator approves the application.

ARTICLE 11-AA Defined Contribution Service Award Programs for Volunteer Ambulance Workers

Section

219-e. Participation, vesting and service credit
219-f. Contributions and benefits

HISTORY:

§ 219-e. Participation, vesting and service credit

1. A volunteer ambulance worker must be eligible to participate in any service award program provided under this article if the volunteer ambulance worker has reached the age of eighteen and has completed at least one year of ambulance service.

2. A participant shall have a nonforfeitable right to a service award upon completing five years of ambulance service, provided, however, that a sponsor may reduce the number of years of ambulance service required to obtain a nonforfeitable right to a service award. Any amounts attributable to forfeiture of a participant's service award shall be used to reduce contributions for other service award program participants and shall not in any case be used to increase benefits for other participants. The preceding shall not preclude amendment of a service award program to provide for an increase in benefits.

3. A year of ambulance service shall be credited under a service award program for each calendar year, beginning with the year in which the program is adopted, in which a volunteer ambulance worker accumulates at least fifty points. Except as provided in subdivision five of this section and subdivision eight of section two hundred nineteen-d of this article, points shall be granted for activities performed after the effective date of the program in accordance with a system adopted by the sponsor which shall be applied on a consistent and uniform basis. Such system shall provide that points shall be granted for activities designated by the sponsor, which activities shall be selected from the following:

(a) Training courses–twenty-five points maximum.

(i) Courses under twenty hours duration–one point per hour, with a maximum of five points.

(ii) Courses of twenty to forty-five hours duration–one point per hour for each hour over initial twenty hours, with a maximum of ten points.

(iii) Courses over forty-five hours duration–fifteen points per course.

For purposes of this paragraph, the term "training course" shall mean a course of instruction having a prescribed topic and syllabus. Points for a training course shall be awarded only upon the successful completion of the course and only in the year in which the course is successfully completed.

(b) Drills and seminars – twenty points maximum. One point per minimum two hour drill or seminar. For purposes of this paragraph, the term "drill" shall mean a skills practice or skills training session related to emergency medical service and the term "seminar" shall mean a lecture on a topic relating to the emergency medical service.

(c) Sleep-in or stand-by – twenty points maximum.

(i) Sleep-in – one point each full night.

(ii) Stand-by – one point each. A stand-by is defined as line of duty activity of the volunteer ambulance company, lasting for four hours, not falling under one of the other categories. A service award program may not provide points pursuant to this paragraph if the program provides points for tours of duty pursuant to paragraph (d) of this subdivision.

(d) Tours of duty. A maximum of twenty points may be granted for serving tours of duty at a rate equal to no more than one-sixth of a point per hour served as determined by the sponsor. For purposes of this paragraph, the term "tour of duty" shall mean a line of duty activity, not falling under one of the other paragraphs of this subdivision, involving a period of time scheduled or assigned by an ambulance company during which a volunteer ambulance worker is responsible for providing emergency medical service or general ambulance service, including sleep-ins, stand-bys and backup duty, by reason of being stationed at an event, as part of a rostered duty crew or as otherwise provided by the regular procedures of the ambulance company. A sponsor may also define two or more activities included within the meaning of the term tour of duty and provide for points to be granted for the performance of such activities at different rates, provided, that points for such activities shall not be granted at a rate in excess of one-sixth of a point per hour served and no more than twenty points shall be granted for all such activities. A service award program may not provide points pursuant to this paragraph if the program provides points for sleep-ins or stand-bys pursuant to paragraph (c) of this subdivision.

(e) Elected or appointed position – twenty-five points maximum.

(i) Completion of one year term in an elected or appointed position.

(ii) A volunteer ambulance worker elected to serve as a delegate to an ambulance workers' convention shall also be eligible to receive one point per meeting.

(iii) A volunteer ambulance worker appointed to serve on the New York state emergency medical services council, the state emergency medical advisory committee, a regional emergency medical services council or a regional emergency medical advisory committee, established pursuant to article thirty of the public health law shall also be eligible to receive one point per meeting.

(f) Attendance at meetings – twenty points maximum.

(i) Attendance at any official meetings of the ambulance company – one point per meeting.

(ii) Attendance at official meetings of a standing committee of the ambulance company by a member of the committee — one point per meeting.

(g) Participation in ambulance company responses – twenty-five points for responding on the minimum number of calls, as outlined below:

Total number of calls ambulance company responds to annually	0 to 500	500 to 1000	1000 to 1500	1500 and over
Minimum number of calls volunteer ambulance worker must run annually in order to receive twenty-five points credit	10%	7.5%	5%	2.5%

A volunteer ambulance worker who is granted points toward a year of ambulance service pursuant to this paragraph may not be granted points toward the same year of ambulance service for alternative participation company responses pursuant to paragraph (h) of this subdivision.

(h) Alternative participation in company responses. A maximum of twenty-five points may be granted for participation in company responses at a rate equal to no more than one-half point per response as determined by the sponsor. A volunteer ambulance worker who is granted points toward a year of ambulance service pursuant to this paragraph may not be granted points toward the same year of ambulance service for participation in company responses pursuant to paragraph (g) of this subdivision.

(i) Miscellaneous activities – maximum fifteen points. Participation in inspections and other activities covered by the volunteer ambulance workers' benefit law and not otherwise listed – one point per activity.

(j) The sponsor may designate less than all the activities specified in this subdivision as activities for which points may be earned.

(k) [Expires and repealed December 31, 2022] Determination of points. For purposes of determining total points earned for a calendar year in which a state disaster emergency, as defined in section twenty of the executive law, has been declared pursuant to executive order number two hundred two of two thousand twenty, as amended, to address the outbreak of novel coronavirus, COVID-19, an active volunteer ambulance worker award program may provide for the crediting of up to five additional points per month, prorated for periods of less than one month, to each volunteer ambulance worker for each month that special emergency response rules were in place restricting ambulance workers responses to emergency responses and/or restricting the holding of activities for which points could be earned due to guidelines related to the state disaster emergency. A political subdivision electing to provide the additional points authorized under this subdivision shall adopt a resolution by April thirtieth, two thousand twenty-one determining the number of additional points to be credited per month, provided that any additional points credited pursuant to this paragraph shall be in addition to any other points earned pursuant to this section during the state disaster emergency.

4. Points toward a year of ambulance service may be granted for activities performed after a participant reaches entitlement age, but shall not be granted for activities performed after a participant applies for a service award.

5. A service award program which is to take effect on a day other than the first day of January may provide for points to be granted toward a year of ambulance service for activities performed prior to the effective date of the program and on or after the immediately preceding first day of January, provided, the proposition authorizing adoption of the program contains a statement authorizing points to be granted for such activities. Points attributable to such activities shall be granted in accordance with the point system adopted by the sponsor pursuant to subdivision three of this section.

6. In computing credit for those volunteer ambulance workers who also serve as paid employees within a political subdivision of the state, credit shall not be given for activities performed during the individual's regularly assigned work periods.

7. A participant whose ambulance service is interrupted by full-time extended obligatory military service or by a single voluntary enlistment not to exceed four years in the armed forces of the United States shall be considered on military leave. During such period of military leave, the participant shall receive fifty points for each full year of military service, prorated for military service of less than a year.

7-a. An active volunteer ambulance worker's service award program may provide for the crediting of years of and points for volunteer ambulance service for periods after an active volunteer ambulance worker has reached the entitlement age and is receiving a service award.

8. The state comptroller may promulgate rules and regulations prescribing procedures and forms for the compilation and maintenance of records of the points accumulated by each volunteer ambulance worker. Each ambulance company shall compile and maintain such records in the manner prescribed.

9. The president, secretary and chief or comparable officers of each ambulance company shall submit to the governing board of the sponsor a list of all volunteer members, certified under oath, which shall identify those volunteer members who have qualified for credit under the award program for the previous year. Such list shall be submitted annually by March thirty-first or otherwise as provided in the rules and regulations of the state comptroller and shall be accompanied by such membership records and records of point accumulations as the governing board may require to substantiate the accuracy of the list. Notwithstanding the provisions of this subdivision a volunteer ambulance worker may request that his name be deleted from said list as a "participant". Such request for deletion shall be in writing and shall remain effective until withdrawn in the same manner.

10. The governing board of the sponsor shall review the list of each ambulance company and may delete the name of any person who was not a volunteer ambulance worker during the preceding calendar year or the name of any volunteer ambulance worker who did not earn fifty points during the preceding calendar year or whose point accumulation has not been adequately documented. Thereafter, the governing board shall approve the list and return a copy of the list to the ambulance company and forward a certified copy of the approved list to the program administrator.

The sponsor of a service award program shall contribute to the program a fixed amount of money, as determined by the sponsor, on behalf of each participant who is credited with a year of ambulance service. The minimum contribution shall be one hundred twenty dollars per year of ambulance service. The maximum contribution shall be twelve hundred dollars per year of ambulance service.

2. A service award program may provide for contributions for ambulance service rendered by a participant during one or more of the five calendar years immediately preceding the year in which the program is adopted, but only to the extent authorized pursuant to section two hundred nineteen-d of this article. In order to determine eligibility for such contributions, each ambulance company shall review its prior membership rosters and service records to determine the number of years for which each participant is entitled to a contribution. In making such determination, the point system established pursuant to subdivision three of section two hundred nineteen-e of this article shall be used. The president, secretary and chief or comparable officers of the ambulance company shall submit to the governing board of the sponsor a certified list of participants who are entitled to such contributions and the number of years for which each participant is entitled to a contribution, and such membership and service records as the governing board may require. The list shall be submitted to and approved by the governing board, and posted by the ambulance company, at the same time and in the same manner as provided in subdivisions nine through eleven of section two hundred nineteen-e of this article, and each person named on the list approved by the governing board shall be entitled to the number of contributions indicated thereon. 3. The maximum number of years for which a participant may receive a contribution shall be forty years.

4. A service award shall be the amount resulting from the contributions made by the sponsor on behalf of a participant less necessary administrative costs and shall include interest and/or other earnings resulting from investment of the contributions, determined as of the valuation date or dates provided for in the program. Service awards shall be paid in the form of a lump sum, a life annuity with or without survivor benefits, a period certain annuity, or any other form provided under the program, provided, that all forms of payment shall be actuarially equivalent to each other. The program may limit the forms of payment or impose conditions concerning the availability of a form of payment.

5. Except as otherwise provided in this section, a participant shall be entitled to apply for and receive a service award only when the participant has acquired a nonforfeitable right to a service award and has reached entitlement age.

6. In the event that a participant becomes totally and permanently disabled, as certified by the workers' compensation board or other competent authority approved by the administrator, and the disability prevents the participant from pursuing his or her normal occupation, the participant shall be entitled to apply for and receive a service award, regardless of whether the participant has reached entitlement age or has acquired a nonforfeitable right to a service award.

7. In the event of the death of a participant who has acquired a nonforfeitable right to a service award and who has not previously received all or a portion of a service award, the beneficiaries designated by the participant or, if no beneficiaries have been so designated, the participant's estate, shall be entitled to apply for and receive the participant's service award, regardless of whether the participant reached entitlement age before death.

8. A service award shall be paid only after an application is made to the program administrator and the administrator approves the application. In the event that a participant dies after receiving a portion of a service award, the remaining portion, if any, shall be paid in accordance with the terms and conditions of the form of payment selected by the participant prior to death.

2. A participant shall have a nonforfeitable right to a service award upon completing five years of ambulance service. Any amounts attributable to forfeiture of a participant's service award shall be used to reduce contributions for all other service award program participants and shall not in any case be used to increase benefits for any other participants. The provisions of this subdivision shall not preclude amendment of a service award program to provide for an increase in benefits.

3. A year of ambulance service shall be credited under a service award program for each calendar year, beginning with the year in which the program is adopted, in which a volunteer ambulance worker accumulates at least fifty points. Except as provided in subdivision five of this section and subdivision eight of section two hundred nineteen-l of this article, points shall be granted for activities performed after the effective date of the program in accordance with a system adopted by the sponsor which shall be applied on a consistent and uniform basis. For purposes of this paragraph, the term "tour of duty" shall mean a line of duty activity, not falling under one of the other paragraphs of this subdivision, involving a period of time scheduled or assigned by an ambulance company during which a volunteer ambulance worker is responsible for providing emergency medical service or general ambulance service, including sleep-ins, stand-bys and backup duty, by reason of being stationed at an event, as part of a rostered duty crew or as otherwise provided by the regular procedures of the ambulance company. A sponsor may also define two or more activities included within the meaning of the term tour of duty and provide for points to be granted for the performance of such activities at different rates, provided, that points for such activities shall not be granted at a rate in excess of one-sixth of a point per hour served and no more than twenty points shall be granted for all such activities.
